8. Reports of Select Committees.
9. Motions, Resolutions and Notices.
10. Introduction and First Reading of Bills.
11. Consideration of Daily File.
12. Unfinished Business.
13. Special Order of the Day.
14. Announcement of Committee Meetings.
15. Adjournment.

PRESIDING OFFICERS OF THE SENATE.

The President.

4. The rooms, passages, and buildings set apart for the use of the Senate shall be under the control and direction of the President of the Senate, and he shall have the control and direction of the journals, papers, and bills of the Senate. The President shall preside over the sessions of the Senate. He shall see that all officers of the Senate perform their respective duties, and may assign places to properly accredited newspaper representatives.

The President Pro Tempore.

5. The President pro tempore shall, in the absence of the President, take the chair and call the Senate to order at the hour of the meetings of the Senate, and have the same power as the President; but the President pro tempore shall vote only as any other member of the Senate.

6. The President or President pro tempore, in the absence of the President, shall have the right to name any Senator to perform the duties of the chair, who shall be vested, during such time, with all the powers of the President; but such substitute shall not lose the right of voting on any question while so presiding.

COMMITTEES OF THE SENATE.

Appointment of Committees.

7. All standing committees of the Senate shall be named by the President of the Senate unless otherwise ordered, and the first named shall be the chairman thereof. All other committees shall be appointed in such manner as the Senate shall determine.

Quorum of Standing Committees.

9. Each standing committee shall determine its own quorum: provided, that not less than one-third of the number of members constituting such committee shall in any case constitute such quorum.

No Leave of Absence to Committees.

10. No leave of absence shall be granted any committee, special or standing, to visit any public institution of the State or for any other purpose. Whenever any committee shall report to the Senate that it is desirable that such committee receive information concerning any public institution, the Senate may, by a two-thirds vote of all its members, grant a leave of absence to not more than three members of such committee, to be designated by the chairman thereof. Application for a leave of absence of such members of a committee shall be made to the Senate in writing by the chairman thereof, and such application shall give the name of the institution or institutions to be visited and briefly recite the occasion and necessity for visiting the same, together with the names of the committeemen designated for that purpose. Such application shall immediately, and without debate, be referred to the Committee on Rules, with instructions to report upon the same on the next legislative day. Said members shall be allowed their actual expenses, but no expenses or mileage of attaches shall be allowed.

SPECIAL DUTIES OF CERTAIN COMMITTEES.

Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment.

11. All Senate bills, constitutional amendments, and joint or concurrent resolutions shall be engrossed before final action is taken on them in the Senate. The indications of new matter, omissions, or amendments appearing upon the printed bill shall be omitted from the engrossed copy of the bill. All such bills, amendments, and resolutions, after being engrossed, in pursuance of the order of the Senate, shall be carefully examined and reported back by the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment; the engrossed copy to be transmitted to the Assembly with proper endorsements, and the original retained by the Senate. It shall be in order for the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment to report at any time.

Engrossing and Enrolling Bills.

12. All bills ordered engrossed shall be delivered by the Secretary of the Senate to the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment or to the clerk of that committee and a receipt in writing taken therefor, and all said bills shall be engrossed in the order of their receipt by that committee or its clerk. All Senate bills shall, after their final passage by, and receipt from the Assembly, be delivered by the Secretary of the Senate in the order of their receipt from the Assembly, to the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment or its clerk and a receipt in writing taken therefor; and said bills shall be enrolled in the order of their receipt from the Secretary of the Senate.

Committee on Rules.

13. The Committee on Rules shall have the general duty of proposing or of presenting recommendations as to the Standing Rules of the Senate. The President pro tempore shall be the chairman of this committee, and the President shall be an ex officio nonvoting member. When executive communications or nominations shall be sent by the Governor to the Senate for their confirmation, the same shall be referred to the Committee on Rules, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate, which motion shall be determined without debate.

Committee on Contingent Expenses.

14. No claim shall be paid out of the delinquent fund of the Senate unless the same shall have been referred to and reported on by the Committee on Contingent Expenses.

Committee on Revision and Printing.

15. The Committee on Revision and Printing shall have general charge of matters connected with all printing done for the Senate. It shall have the specific duties prescribed for it in the Joint Rules of Senate and Assembly.

Other Senate Officers—Secretary of the Senate.

16. 1. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Senate to attend every session, call the roll, read all bills, amendments, resolutions, and all papers ordered read by the Senate or the presiding officer.

2. To superintend all copying and work to be done for the Senate. To have supervision over all attaches and employees of the Senate. To assign, reassign or transfer all attaches or employees to their respective duties. To certify to and transmit to the Assembly all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, constitutional amendments and papers requiring the concurrence of the Assembly, immediately after their passage or adoption by the Senate.

3. To keep a correct Journal of the proceedings of the Senate.

4. To notify the Assembly of the action by the Senate on all matters originating in the Assembly, and requiring action on the part of the Senate.

5. To permit no papers or records belonging to the Senate to be taken out of its custody otherwise than in the regular course of business.

Custody of Bills and Papers.

17. The Secretary of the Senate shall not permit any records or papers to be taken from the desk, or out of his custody, by any person except a chairman of a committee; but he shall deliver any bill or paper to be printed to the Superintendent of State Printing, and all bills ordered engrossed or enrolled to the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment, and take receipts therefor.

Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate.

18. A Sergeant-at-Arms shall be elected, to hold his office during the pleasure of the Senate, whose duty it shall be to attend the Senate during all of its sittings, to execute the commands of the Senate from time to time, together with all such process issued by authority thereof, as shall be directed to him by the President. The Sergeant-at-Arms is authorized to arrest for contempt all persons outside the bar, or in the gallery, found in loud conversation, or otherwise making a noise to the disturbance of the Senate. The actual expenses of the Sergeant-at-Arms for every arrest, for each day's custody and releasement, and the traveling expenses for himself and special messenger going and returning shall be paid out of the contingent fund, and no other fees shall be paid him beyond his per diem. It shall also be the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms to keep the accounts for pay and mileage of Senators.

Distribution of Printed Matter.

19. The Sergeant-at-Arms shall place copies of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, constitutional amendments, and journals and histories, when printed, on the desks of Senators, at least one hour previous to the opening of session.

Preparation and Introduction of Bills—Indication of New Matter in Code Bills.

20. When a bill amending a code section is introduced the author of the bill shall cause the new matter, if any, to be underscored, and the place in the bill where portions of the law are proposed to be omitted, if any, to be indicated by closed brackets; provided, however, that where the subject consists of an entirely new section the words thereof need not be underscored, and when any bill introduced repeals an existing law in whole, the matter repealed need not be indicated.

Introduction and First Reading.

21. Any Senator desiring to introduce a bill shall rise in his seat and address the President, and upon being recognized shall present the same. The title shall be announced by the Secretary, the bill shall be read the first time and thereupon referred by the President to a standing committee.

Joint and Concurrent Resolutions and Constitutional Amendments.

22. Joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments shall be treated the same as bills; provided, that they shall have but one reading, which reading shall occur after they have been reported by committee.

Introduction of Bills by a Committee.

23. Any committee may introduce a bill germane to any subject within the proper consideration of such committee, whereupon the bill shall immediately be read the first time, ordered to print and placed upon the second-reading file.

Introduction of Bills after the Constitutional Recess.

24. The Committee on Rules shall constitute a standing committee on introduction of bills to serve after the constitutional recess. All motions for leave to introduce bills after the constitutional recess shall be sent to the desk in writing, under the order of "Introduction of Bills" and at no other time. The motion shall give the title of the bill and shall be accompanied by the bill. The bill shall thereupon be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills.

The committee shall examine bills referred to it with particular reference to the question as to whether there is already any bill in either house of the same character which might be amended to effect the result sought and generally as to the advisability of introducing the measure.

No bill shall be introduced without the consent of three-fourths of the members after report thereupon by the Committee on Introduction of Bills, nor shall more than two bills be introduced by any one member after the constitutional recess.

Joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments shall not be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills and shall not require a vote to authorize their introduction nor shall the number to be introduced by any one member be limited.

Bills in Committees—Reference of Senate Bills.

25. At the time of introduction the President shall first indicate to what committee a bill or resolution ought to be referred and it shall be so referred, unless upon a motion, without debate, the Senate by a majority vote refer it to some other committee. No debate shall be allowed on any motion to refer a bill or resolution to a committee.

Order of Reference.

26. When a resolution shall be offered, or a motion made to refer any subject and a different committee shall be proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order:

1. The Committee of the Whole Senate.
2. A Standing Committee.
3. A Select Committee.

Reference with Special Instructions.

27. No mandment shall be received for discussion at the third reading of any bill; but it shall at all times be in order, before the final passage of such bill, to move its reference to a select committee under special instructions to amend.

Reference of Assembly Bills.

28. When an Assembly bill has been received by the Senate, with a message announcing that it has passed the Assembly, such bill shall be read the first time and be referred by the President to a standing committee; provided, however, that when an Assembly bill is received, the text of which is stated by a member to be identical with that of a Senate bill which has already been considered and reported by a standing committee of the Senate, such Assembly bill shall be referred to the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment for comparison, which committee shall report without delay, whether or not such bill is identical with the Senate bill. If reported identical, such Assembly bill shall be substituted for the Senate bill, shall take its place on the second-reading file and be considered as having received the same committee recommendation as the Senate bill; provided, that the fact that the bills are identical shall be entered in the Journal. Such Senate bill shall thereupon be placed upon the file of unfinished business.

Reference of Appropriation Bills.

29. All bills appropriating money from any fund shall be referred to the Committee on Finance before being read the second time. Concurrent resolutions for adjournment sine die shall in all cases whether originating in the Senate or coming from the Assembly be referred to the Committee on Finance.

Notice to Author of Bill.

30. The chairman or clerk of each committee of the Senate shall notify the author of any bill or resolution pending before such committee of the hour and place of hearing or acting upon such bill or proceeding.

Committee Amendments to Bills.

31. When amendments to a bill are reported by a committee, the clerk of such committee shall prepare three copies of each amendment, one to go with the bill to the Superintendent of State Printing, one to the Minute Clerk, and one to the Secretary of the Senate.

Indication of Committee Amendments.

32. All bills amended or redrafted by committee shall have the new matter, if any, underscored, and the place of omission of parts of the original bill, if any, indicated by brackets.

Reports of Committees.

33. All committees shall act upon bills referred to them as soon as practicable, and when acted upon each bill shall be reported back to the Senate forthwith, and the chairman of each committee is charged with the observance of this rule; provided, that the Senate may at any time, by a majority vote, recall a bill from any committee.

Order of Considering Bills—Order of Making File.

34. When bills are reported from committees they shall be placed upon the General File, to be kept by the Secretary as follows: All bills when reported to the Senate by the committees shall be placed at the foot of the second-reading file, in the order in which the reports are made, and after the second reading they shall be placed at the foot of the third-reading file, in the order of reading, and precedence shall be given in the consideration of bills in the following order: Second-reading file and third-reading file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by a two-thirds vote of the Senate. The bills upon third reading shall be considered in the order in which they appear upon the file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by vote of majority of the members present; such vote to be taken by roll call; provided, that if a bill is passed on file for any reason, other than absence of the author by leave of the Senate, note of the fact shall be made in the General File, and when passed on file a second time, the bill shall be ordered at the foot of the file, and notice of the fact of the bill having been passed on file prior to the order placing it at the foot of the file shall be omitted from the General File.

The General File.

35. The General File shall be the special order for each day between such hours as the Senate may determine, unless sooner disposed of; but no bill shall lose its place upon the file by expiration of the time or by adjournment of the Senate while it is under consideration.

Special Order.

36. Any subject may, by vote of a majority of those voting, be made a special order, and when the time fixed for its consideration arrives, the presiding officer shall lay it before the Senate.

Three Readings of Bills.

37. Every bill shall be read on three several days previous to its passage (unless in case of urgency, two-thirds of the membership of the Senate in which it is being considered shall by vote of the ayes and noes dispense with this provision). The President shall give notice, at each of the second and third readings, which reading it is, and no bills shall be read at either reading until the Senate has so determined by a vote (should any Senator object to such reading).

Ordering Bills to Third Reading.

38. After being read the second time bills shall be ordered by the President to third reading (or, in the case of Senate bills, to engrossment and third reading). When any member makes objection to any bill thus being ordered to third reading, the final question for such bill shall be, "Shall the bill be ordered to third reading?"

Bills Considered During Last Seven Days.

39. No Senate bill shall be passed by the Senate within seven days of the time set for adjournment sine die of the two houses of the Legislature unless permission to vote on such a bill be granted by a three-fourths vote of the entire membership of the Senate, voting by roll-call.

Questions and Motions—Precedence of Motions During Debate.

40. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be followed but the following privileged questions, which shall have precedence in the following order:

1. To adjourn.
2. For a call of the Senate.
3. To lay on the table.
4. To postpone to a day certain.
5. To commit.
6. To amend.
7. To postpone indefinitely.

Provided, however, that during a call of the Senate, it may consider and transact any matter or business that the Senators then present shall unanimously agree to consider, but no call of the Senate shall be had, during a call of the Senate, on any matter so taken up or considered while the Senate is under call. When a call of the Senate is ordered, pending the completion of a roll call, the pending roll call shall become unfinished business, the consideration of which shall be resumed until further proceedings under the call of the Senate are dispensed with, when it will forthwith become the order of business before the Senate.

Amendment or Division of Questions.

41. An amendment may be laid on the table without prejudice to the bill. When an amendment proposed to any pending measure shall be laid on the table, it shall not carry with it or prejudice such measure.

If the question in debate contains several propositions any Senator may have the same divided; except a motion to strike out and insert shall not be divided. The rejection of a motion to strike out and insert one proposition shall not prevent a motion to strike out and insert a different proposition, nor shall it prevent a motion to simply strike out, nor shall the rejection of a motion to strike out prevent a motion to strike out and insert; but pending a motion to strike out and insert, the part to be stricken out and the part to be inserted shall each be regarded, for the purpose of amendment, as a question. Motions to amend the part to be stricken out shall have precedence.

Restriction as to Amendments.

42. A substitute or amendment must relate to the same subject as the original bill, resolution or constitutional amendment under consideration.

Vote Required for Amendments.

43. A constitutional amendment or bill requiring a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to the Senate for final adoption or passage may be amended by a majority of those voting.

Procedure of Debate—Seconding and Announcement of Motion.

44. No motion shall be debated until the same be seconded and distinctly announced by the President; and it shall be reduced to writing if desired by the President or any Senator, and read by the Secretary, before the same shall be debated.

Regulations as to Speaking.

45. 1. When a Senator desires to address the Senate he shall rise in his place, address the President, and when recognized he shall proceed to speak.

2. No Senator shall speak more than twice in any one debate on the same day, and at the same stage of the bill, without leave; and Senators who have once spoken shall not again be entitled to the floor (except for explanation) so long as any Senator who has not spoken desires to speak.

3. No Senator shall be interrupted when speaking, and no question shall be asked him except those through the presiding officer.

4. The author of a bill, motion, or resolution shall have the privilege of closing the debate.

Securing of the Floor.

46. When two or more Senators arise at the same time to address the Senate, the presiding officer shall designate the Senator who is entitled to the floor.

Order in Debate.

47. When a Senator shall be called to order he shall sit down until the President shall have determined whether he is in order or not; and every question of order shall be decided by the President, subject to an appeal to the Senate by any Senator. If a Senator be called to order for words spoken, the objectionable language shall immediately be taken down in writing by the Secretary of the Senate.

The Previous Question.

48. The previous question shall be put in the following form: "Shall the question be now put?" It shall only be admitted when demanded by a majority of the Senators present upon division; and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate except that the author of the bill or the amendments shall have the right to close, and the question under discussion shall thereupon be immediately put to a vote. On a motion for the previous question prior to a vote being taken by the Senate, a call of the Senate shall be in order.

Executive Session.

49. When a motion is adopted to close the doors of the Senate, on the discussion of any business, which may, in the opinion of the Senate, require an executive session, the President shall require all persons, except the Senators, President of the Senate, Secretary, Minute Clerk, and Sergeant-at-Arms, to withdraw, and during the discussion of said business the doors shall remain closed. Every Senator and officer present shall keep secret all matters and proceedings concerning which secrecy shall be enjoined by order of the Senate.

Committee of the Whole.

50. The rules of the Senate shall be observed in the Committee of the Whole so far as they may be applicable, except in the matter of limiting the number of times a Senator may speak, and except that the ayes and noes need not be taken. A motion that the committee rise shall always be in order, and shall be decided without debate.

Voting by Senate—Calling Ayes and Noes.

51. When the ayes and noes shall be called for by three members present, every member within the bar of the Senate at the time the question was put shall declare openly, and without debate, assent or dissent to the question. In taking the ayes and noes, and upon the call of the Senate, the names of the Senators shall be taken alphabetically. When the ayes and noes shall be taken upon any question in pursuance of this rule, no Senator shall be permitted, under any circumstances whatever to vote after the announcement of the vote by the presiding officer.

Excuse from Voting.

52. When a Senator declines to vote on a call of his name he shall be required to assign his reasons therefor, and having assigned them, the presiding officer shall submit the question to the Senate: "Shall the Senator, for the reasons assigned by him, be excused from voting?" which shall be decided without debate. And these proceedings shall be had after the roll call and before the result is announced, and any further proceedings in reference thereto shall be after such announcement.

Reconsideration of Vote.

53. On the day succeeding that on which a final vote on any bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment has been taken, said vote may be reconsidered on motion of any Senator; provided, notice of intention to move such reconsideration shall have been given on the day on which such final vote was taken by a Senator voting with the prevailing side; and it shall not be in order to reconsider on the day on which such final vote was taken. Said motion for reconsideration shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn. It shall require twenty-one votes to carry any motion to reconsider the vote by which any bill, concurrent or joint resolution, has been passed or defeated, fourteen votes to reconsider the vote by which any constitutional amendment has been passed, and twenty-seven votes to carry any motion to reconsider the vote by which any constitutional amendment has been defeated. Notice of reconsideration of the vote by which a Senate bill was passed, or a Senate joint resolution, Senate concurrent resolution or Senate constitutional amendment adopted, shall not be in order on or after the eighth day preceding the last day of the session. No notice of reconsideration shall be in order on the day preceding the last day of the session.

When Bill Is Held for Reconsideration.

54. If a Senator gives notice that he intends to move a reconsideration, the Secretary shall not transmit the bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment to the Assembly till the reconsideration is disposed of, or the time for moving the same has expired, unless the bill or resolution has already been transmitted to the Assembly.

When Bill Is Recalled for Reconsideration.

55. When a bill, resolution, amendment, order or message upon which a vote has been taken shall have gone out of the possession of the Senate and been communicated to the Assembly, a motion to reconsider shall be preceded by a motion to request the Assembly to return the same, which last-named motion shall be acted upon immediately and without debate, and if determined in the negative shall be a final disposition of the motion to reconsider.

Debate on Motion to Reconsider.

56. A Senator, after a notice to reconsider is given, as provided in Rule 53, shall, at the reconsideration thereof, present the main question in his argument thereon, and the same shall be debated by the Senate, provided that the subject matter is debatable, and the vote on reconsideration shall be on the merits of the main question.

Messages and Other Papers—Messengers from the Governor.

57. Messengers from the Governor may be introduced at any stage of business except while a question is being put, while the ayes and noes are being called, while ballots are being counted or while a Senator is addressing the Senate.

Consideration of Governor's Messages.

58. When executive communications shall be sent by the Governor to the Senate for their confirmation, the same shall be referred to the Committee on Rules, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate, which motion shall be determined without debate. They shall be considered when indicated by the Order of Business, or at any other time by vote of the Senate.

Messengers from the Assembly.

59. Messengers from the Assembly may be introduced at any stage of business, except while a question is being put, while the ayes and noes are being called, while ballots are being counted, or while a member is addressing the Senate.

Consideration of Assembly Messages.

60. Messages from the Assembly may be considered when indicated by the Order of Business or at any other time, by vote of the Senate.

Reading of Papers.

61. When the reading of a paper (except a petition) is called for, and the same is objected to by any Senator, the question shall be determined by a vote of the Senate.

Contents of Senate Journal—Proceedings to Be Printed.

62. The proceedings of the Senate, when not acting as a Committee of the Whole, shall be entered in the Journal as concisely as possible, care being taken to record a true and accurate account of the proceedings.

Titles of Bills to Be Printed.

63. The titles of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, and constitutional amendments introduced shall be printed in the Journal.

Statement of Petitions to Be Printed.

64. Every vote and a brief statement of the contents of each petition, memorial, or paper presented to the Senate shall be entered in the Journal.

Other Matter to Be Printed.

65. Messages from the Governor (other than biennial messages and inaugural addresses), joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments, when adopted, and the titles of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments, when acted upon by the Senate, shall be printed in the Journal in full, provided, that in case of a concurrent resolution offering the adoption of a charter or charter amendments of any kind, the text of such charter or charter amendments shall not be printed in the Journal.

Legislative Printing—Number of Bills Printed.

66. Fifteen hundred copies of all bills shall be printed; and the Sergeant-at-Arms shall be required to certify to the reception by the Senate of all printed matter, and the quantity. One copy of each bill or paper printed by order of the Senate shall be delivered to each Senator at his desk, and the balance shall be distributed according to law.

Number of Journals Printed.

67. The Superintendent of State Printing shall print one thousand copies of the Journal of each day's proceedings of the Senate, and one copy of the same shall be placed upon each Senator's desk, and a sufficient number sent to the Assembly to supply each Assemblyman with one copy; he shall also print a sufficient number of copies, properly paged, to bind in book form as the Journal of the Senate, at the end of the session, as required by law.

Number of Other Documents Printed.

68. Seven hundred fifty copies shall be printed of each document or other matter ordered, unless the Senate especially directs a different number.

Excess Printing Only on Written Order.

69. The Superintendent of State Printing shall not print for the use of the Senate any matter other than provided by law, unless upon a written order signed by the Secretary. The Secretary may, when necessity requires it, order from the State Printer such printing as he deems necessary to be printed in advance of the regular order of business, under a specially prepared written order, to be known as a "Rush Order."

Reprinting of Amended Bills.

70. All bills amended on second or third reading shall immediately be reprinted.

Form of Printing Amendments.

71. All rules amended shall immediately be reprinted; the new matter added by any amendments to be enclosed in heavy brackets, and the omission of any matter to be indicated by the insertion of heavy parentheses.

The Senate Chamber—Admission Within Bar of Senate.

72. It shall be the duty of the doorkeeper to prevent all persons, except Senators, ex-Senators, members of the Assembly, State officers, officers of the two houses, and such accredited newspaper representatives as have seats assigned to them by the President, from coming within the bar of the Senate, unless upon written invitation of the President or a Senator; provided, that no visitor shall be allowed upon the floor while the Senate is in session.

No Lobbying in Senate Chamber.

73. No person, engaged in presenting to the Senate or any of its committees any business, claim, or legislation, shall be permitted, to engage in such business in the Senate Chamber or be permitted on the floor of the Senate at any time while the Senate is in session. Any person transgressing this rule shall be removed from the floor of the Senate and shall be debarred from the privilege of the floor during the remainder of the entire session. The President and President pro tempore are charged with the enforcement of this rule, and this rule can not be suspended except by a two-thirds vote of the entire Senate.

Maintenance of Order.

74. In case of a disturbance or disorderly conduct in the lobbies, the President (or Chairman of the Committee of the Whole) shall have the power to order the same cleared.

Smoking Within Senate Chamber.

75. No smoking shall be allowed within the Senate Chamber.

Miscellaneous Provisions—Duties of Members.

76. No Senator shall absent himself from attendance upon the Senate without leave first obtained. A less number than a quorum of the Senate is hereby authorized to send the Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person, for any and all absent Senators at the expense of such absent Senators, respectively, unless such excuse for nonattendance as shall be made to the Senate, when a quorum is convened, shall be judged sufficient, and in that case the expense shall be paid out of the Contingent Fund of the Senate; and this rule shall apply as well to the first convention of the Senate at the legal time of meeting, as to each day of the session after the hour has arrived to which the Senate stood adjourned. The President or Acting President of the Senate, or less than a quorum present, shall have the power to issue process directed to the Sergeant-at-Arms, or to any other person, to compel the attendance of Senators absent without leave. Any Senator who shall refuse to obey such process unless sick or unable to attend, shall be deemed guilty of contempt of the Senate, and the Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person, to whom such process may be directed, shall have power to use such force as may be necessary to compel the attendance of such absent Senator, and for this purpose he may command the force of the county, or of any county in the State.

Parliamentary Rules.

77. In all cases not provided for by these rules, or by the Joint Rules of Senate and Assembly, the authority shall be Robert's Rules of Order.

Suspension or Change of Rules.

78. No standing rules or order of the Senate shall be rescinded or changed without a vote of two-thirds of the entire Senate, and one day's notice being given of the motion therefor; but a rule or order may be suspended temporarily by a vote of two-thirds of the members of the Senate, except that portion of Rule 21, relating to the order of enrolling bills. All proposed amendments to these rules shall, upon presentation, be referred to the Committee on Rules without debate.

RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were offered:

By Senator Flaherty:

Resolved, That a special committee of three be appointed on contingent expenses and mileage.

Resolution read, and on motion of Senator Flaherty adopted.

APPOINTMENT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

The President announced, in accordance with the above resolution, the appointment of Senators Flaherty, Johnson and Lyon.

By Senator Sharkey:

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 3, 1921.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your special committee appointed to notify the Governor of the organization of the Senate and that the Senate is now ready to receive any communication he may have to make, respectfully reports that they have communicated with the Governor as directed, and that his Excellency informed the committee that the biennial message would be presented to the Senate in person.

SAMPLE,
RUSH,
SLATER, Committee.

ADDRESSES TO SENATE.

Preceding adjournment the Senate was addressed by ex-Governor James N. Gillett and ex-Senator John W. Ballard.

MESSAGE FROM THE ASSEMBLY.

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 3, 1921.

MR. PRESIDENT: I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Assembly on this day organized and elected the following officers:

1. Speaker, Henry W. Wright.
2. Speaker pro tempore, Albert A. Rosenshine.
3. Chief Clerk, Jerome B. Kavanaugh.
4. Minute Clerk, Mrs. Hattie Jewell Anderson.
5. Sergeant-at-Arms, W. J. Leflar.
6. Chaplain, Rev. W. E. Harrison.
7. First Assistant Clerk, W. E. Monahan.

JEROME B. KAVANAUGH, Chief Clerk of Assembly.

EX-SECRETARY JOSEPH A. BEEK AT THE DESK.

RESOLUTIONS.

By Senator Rush:

WHEREAS, The members of this Senate have learned with profound grief of the death of one of the former officers of the Senate, J. William Kavanagh; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Kavanagh, throughout many succeeding sessions of faithful service to this body as its Assistant Secretary and as its Minute Clerk, distinguished himself by his earnest devotion to duty, his constant appreciation of the dignity of the Senate and his intimate knowledge of legislative procedure; and

WHEREAS, His career, as an officer of this body, has been marked by a spirit of cordial helpfulness toward the members of the Senate and generous good fellowship with his fellow officers; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate declares its sense of loss in his death, and pauses this moment in its labors to pay tribute to the memory of one who served faithfully and well.

Resolution read, and on motion of Senator Rush adopted by a rising vote.

SECRETARY GRACE S. STOERMER AT THE DESK.

By Senator Godsil:

WHEREAS, The Senate of the State of California, recognizing the sterling worth of the late James Callaghan Nealon, who represented the Twenty-first Senatorial District during the forty-second and forty-third sessions, and his loyal service to the people of this great State; and

WHEREAS, His lovable and kindly disposition has endeared him to all those who became associated with him throughout his entire life; and

WHEREAS, His death has removed from among us one who desired most to be of service to his fellow men and counted not the personal sacrifice entailed therein; and

WHEREAS, The members of this body desire thus to voice their respect for his memory and to extend to the loved ones he has left their heartfelt sympathy for the loss of their loved father; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the State of California declares its sense of the loss the State has suffered in his death; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate is hereby directed to convey to the family this expression of tribute from this body; and be it further

Resolved, That when the Senate adjourns this day, it adjourns in honor of the memory of James Callaghan Nealon.

Resolution read, and on motion of Senator Breed adopted by a rising vote.

ADJOURNMENT.

At two o'clock p.m., on motion of Senator Breed, the President declared the Senate adjourned in honor of the memory of James Callaghan Nealon.

Senators Allen, Anderson, Arbuckle, Boggs, Breed, Burnett, Canepa, Carr, F. M., Carr, W. J., Chandler, Crowley, Dennett, Duncan, Eden, Flaherty, Gates, Godsil, Harris, Ingram, Inman, Irwin, Johnson, Jones, King, Lyon, McDonald, Nelson, Osborne, Otis, Purkitt, Rigdon, Rush, Sample, Scott, Sharkey, Shearer, Slater, and Yonkin—38.

Quorum present.

PRAYER.

Prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Rev. Bryant Wilson.

READING OF THE JOURNAL.

During the reading of the Journal of Monday, January 3, 1921, the further reading was dispensed with, on motion of Senator Rush.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Senator Irwin was, on motion of Senator Shearer, granted leave of absence for this day.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED.

Senator Hart of the Twenty-ninth District, who was absent from the session of the previous legislative day and had not taken his oath of office, being now present, at the request of the President came forward, presented his certificate of election, and took and subscribed to the following constitutional oath of office, administered by the Hon. Elijah C. Hart, Justice of the District Court of Appeal, Third District:

I do solemnly swear that I will support the constitution of the United States and the constitution of the State of California, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of the office of State Senator, according to the best of my ability.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were received by the Senate, and ordered printed in the Journal:

OFFICE OF SURVEYOR GENERAL AND REGISTER STATE LAND OFFICE,
STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

SACRAMENTO, January 3, 1921.

To the Legislature of the State of California:

Pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 800, Statutes of California, 1917, I beg to report that the Registrars of Titles under "The Torrens Law" in the various counties of the State in which registrations of land have been made up to August 1, 1920, advised me as follows:

Humboldt County.

"The number of original registrations under the Torrens Land Act in this county up to August 1, 1920, is 55. The total number of all registrations, including the new ones by reason of transfers, is 105."

Imperial County.

"Up to August 1, 1920, I had issued 158 certificates of title under the Torrens Land System."

Kern County.

Thirteen certificates of title issued.

Orange County.

"There have been 670 parcels placed under the Torrens System and I have issued 1067 certificates."

Los Angeles County.

"Up to the first of August, 1920, this office had written 10,597 Torrens certificates of title. During the fiscal year of 1919-1920, there were 1419 original registrations. The number of instruments filed and entered by this office during the same period was greater than all of the preceding period since the Land Registration Act was put in operation."

Riverside County.

"There have been 64 certificates issued from this office up to August 1, 1920."

San Bernardino County.

"The total number of certificates issued up to August was 500. There have been cancellations by transfer, court orders, etc., during that time, amounting to 136, leaving 364 live certificates."

San Diego County.

"The number of parcels of land registered in San Diego County up to August 1, 1920, is 993. The number of certificates issued up to August 1, 1920, is 1187."

San Francisco County.

"During the life of the act but five decrees have been filed in my department."

Santa Cruz County.

"In regard to the number of land registrations made in our county under the Torrens Act, up to August 1, 1920, we wish to say that there has been only one."

Tulare County.

"I have issued sixteen certificates of title under Torrens System."

The Torrens Act provides that upon the original registration of any land, a sum equal to one-tenth of one per cent of the assessed value of the land, including permanent improvements thereon as the same were valued for county taxation the last time said land and permanent improvements or either thereof were assessed for county taxes next preceding the filing of the petition, shall be collected by the registrar and paid to the State Treasurer to be credited to the "Torrens title assurance fund." The books of the State Treasurer show that on August 1, 1920, the "Torrens title assurance fund" contained $16,528.38.

Respectfully submitted.

W. S. KINGSBURY, Surveyor General.

Also:

Ways and Means Committee, California State Legislature, Sacramento, California.

GENTLEMEN: The following is copy of resolution passed by the Northern California Hotel Association at its annual meeting held at the Hotel Rafael, San Rafael, Saturday, December 18, 1920:

WHEREAS, John L. Davie, Mayor of Oakland, has instituted a campaign for an appropriation from the State of California, which will provide for a combination armory and exposition building for that city; and in which building will be located permanent exhibits of the prize products of every county in the State; and

WHEREAS, Oakland, the third largest city in California, has never received an appropriation from the State for a building of any description; and as the city is continually becoming a more important center for tourists and visitors, and a building of this type is an especial attraction and center of interest for these tourists and visitors; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Northern California Hotel Association unanimously endorses this project for a combination armory and exposition building in Oakland, and pledges its active support to the end that an appropriation be made by the Legislature which will provide for this building; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Ways and Means Committee of the Legislature.

Yours very respectfully,

JOHN F. SHEA.

[SEAL] Secretary Northern California Hotel Association.

APPOINTMENT BY THE SERGEANT-AT-ARMS.

Stephens to inform him that the Joint Convention is now in session and to escort him to the convention.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF ESCORT.

Senator Frank M. Carr, Chairman of the Joint Committee of Escort of the Senate and Assembly, appeared at the bar of the House and announced the presence of His Excellency William D. Stephens, Governor of the State of California.

PRESENTATION OF GOVERNOR WILLIAM D. STEPHENS.

Hon. H. W. Wright, Speaker of the Assembly, then presented Governor William D. Stephens to the Joint Convention; the Governor then delivered his second biennial message as follows:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

SECOND BIENNIAL MESSAGE TO THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

To the Senate and Assembly.

In obedience to my constitutional duty, I am presenting to you herewith my biennial message and report of the affairs of our State covering the period since the adjournment of the Legislature in April, 1919.

While the war problems confronting the entire world at that time, and affecting necessarily our own State, no longer so vitally concern us, still the more intricate problems connected with the readjustment process are now fully upon us. Their solution has not yet been completely attained. It was to have been expected that with five years of hatred and bitterness, destruction of property and impairment of character and morale, a stunned civilization would reel aimlessly for some period of time and until sounder judgment, clearer vision and calmer passions had restored the world to normal conditions.

I refer to this world situation, because in almost every way, our country and our State are deeply concerned—indeed, the economic life of the world is but a unit of which every country and people on earth are a part. Europe is, however, staggering to her feet again. The debt that she has accumulated is an almost insupportable burden, and the calmest wisdom and keenest judgment are essential to her full recovery.

This world condition, which has affected the people of the State of California, presents elements of latent danger to the institutions under which we have lived and succeeded. Obedience to the law and the orderly processes of government are cornerstones upon which the structure of free government rests, and it is of prime importance that in this economic turmoil, through which we must necessarily pass, we do not complicate our difficulties by toleration of any attack upon these fundamentals. A free people exercise their governmental functions and attain their political ideals through instrumentalities of their own selection, and any attack made upon these means chosen by a free people, of expressing their will, is necessarily an indirect attack upon the ability of the people to govern themselves.

Our constitutional forms have been the medium through which our people for more than one hundred and forty-four years have developed their aspirations. They contain within them means for their own modification or alteration to keep step with the evolution of the times. They are the model by which a majority, subjected to certain criminal institutions, corrupts government, and, as such, should be most ruthlessly stamped out. I commend to your especially considered attention the measure introduced in the House by Assemblyman [illegible] at the instance of a large number of our people. Besides the I. W. W. and kindred organizations, and all the other criminal and seditious factions and societies of criminal minds have been determined in this State by the Anti-syndicalism bill passed by the last Legislature, whose provisions have so materially assisted in the preservation of order these last two years. Any attempt at this time to interfere with or modify in any sense its salutary provisions should be most sternly resisted.

The deplorable incident which happened in this State recently, and in which three notorious criminal anarchists escaped the hands of a mob, serves to remind us of a growing disrespect of our people with the primitive method of summary justice and their slackening faith in the effectiveness of our courts in dealing with crime commission. While it is true that every effort should be made by society to redeem those of its members who have criminally fallen by the wayside, it is imperative that the too prevailing indulgence with criminals and criminal tendencies which has, in a measure, encouraged crime, must be brought to a stop. Security of life, home and property and the sanctity of our women are the essentials of social existence, and no dangerous principles of [illegible] should be tolerated. Mob violence, after all, is a physical manifestation of discontent with the processes of criminal justice. I recommend to your consideration, therefore, such a revision of our penal statutes as will insure to the people of this State a speedy and rational mode of dealing with crimes and criminals and of protecting the law-abiding from their depredations and assaults.

A mere revision of law, however, will not accomplish the full purpose that the people have in mind. There must be an end to the indecent haste upon the prosecution of so many of our criminal charges. It has been wisely said that delayed justice is denied justice, and if the spirit of this axiom could but be instilled into the minds of all those charged with the administration of the law, more could be accomplished toward a remedying of these evil conditions than by mere legislation.

The people of our country have other and more important things to consider without being embarrassed by a series of criminal depredations. We have the vision of the new adjustment, the development of a new economic future staring us immediately in the face.

The power of the State of California to deal with economic problems is, of course, limited by the inflexible economic law. We are but one of the states of this Union, and, as such, being part of a common country, are subjected to the same economic forces, influenced by the same economic and political legislation as the rest of the country. The most that the State can do is to use every economic ability, even to the extent of frugality, where that frugality is not wasteful in its, to husband the resources of our State, to limit so far as possible its expenditures; to develop all latent powers of wealth, equipping ourselves, as nature has so bountifully enabled us to do, with the inexhaustible power of our water resources, and our fuel oil; and with this all, practicing a rigid economy.

In furtherance of this principle of rigid economy, I will shortly recommend to you the consolidation of certain State agencies wherever such consolidation can eliminate unnecessary duplication and cut down unnecessary expense. A complete plan of consolidation, unfortunately, can not be prepared, because many of our commissions are constitutional commissions, while others in turn are only statutory. Manifestly, legislation can not be enacted trenching in any degree on the functions and powers of the constitutional commissions or offices. It is clear to be borne in mind, of course, that the large, social, humanitarian and industrial work assigned for our commissions and departments to perform must not be interfered with to the impairment of service. These boards and commissions, in the main, have rendered good service and have performed exactly the work for which they were created. A financial frugality that is obtained by curtailing service is an economic loss and not a saving.

I call to your serious attention the fiscal problems that have been presented to the State of California within the last two years by legislation enacted by the people directly. Our fiscal offices until recently felt assured that prevailing income and revenue would be ample to provide for all necessary State expenditures, and that no unusual tax would be made upon the people of the State. At the last election, however, the people voluntarily assumed an additional large burden of taxes by passing legislation calling for heavy appropriations, and it is because of this voluntary action of the people themselves that the financial difficulties referred to have arisen.

I am, indeed, glad of the increase in teachers' wages and that finally justice is rendered to an important class of our community whose pecuniary compensation has been utterly disproportionate to the invaluable service rendered. The cost is going to be a high one, but I deem the obligation a just one. The measure providing for a new teachers' wage is estimated to impose an additional financial burden of over thirteen millions of dollars biennially; the highway bonds involve an additional financial burden of approximately four millions of dollars biennially. In other words, these two measures alone, adopted by the people by means of the initiative, mean an increased biennial expenditure of about seventeen and one-half millions of dollars. Means must, of course, be found to raise these sums of money in order to carry out the will of the people.

And while speaking of the subject of education I strongly urge some [illegible] policy on the part of the State towards the University, which will enable the Regents of that institution of learning to make their general plans with some reasonable assurance of having [illegible]. I think it is well understood that public moneys cannot be spent except by proper legal appropriation, therefore, I think a [illegible] dealing with the University and its needs should be followed.

I deem it quite appropriate to mention the fact that during my administration as Governor the State tax rate has not been raised [illegible] in the same period of time taxes have been materially raised by every city and county within the State.

It is also happily true that during the last four years of stress and strain, in which we have seen [illegible] ingly rise, California has kept well within the limits of her revenues and is today in as sound and stable a [illegible] well to pause and reflect upon everything that this signifies.

All thoughtful persons recognize that the period through which we have been passing since the close of the war has been a most extraordinary one, and the results have been far-reaching [illegible] both our economic and social conditions. [illegible] and sharp increase in labor and all materials [illegible] months. The purchasing power of the [illegible] costs have rapidly increased. These conditions [illegible] and have touched every individual. They also have directly affected the costs of State and local government.

Neither in our private nor in our public affairs is it safe to measure the present or the future by the standards of the past, rendered obsolete by changed conditions. All of us, taxpayers and officials alike, must face the fact, however disagreeable it may be and however much we may wish it otherwise, that governmental costs as well as all other costs cannot reasonably be expected to return to the levels that were prevalent under pre-war conditions.

The State Board of Control is now estimating the relative [illegible] borne by private taxpayers and by those public utility corporations from which the State derives its income, and I am advised that the figures indicate that an additional tax can be imposed upon the public service corporations which would not be disproportionate to the common tax paid by all. In any event, however, more than seventeen millions of dollars of additional revenue must be found somewhere, even if it comes to the necessity of imposing an ad valorem tax. Every means will be sought to avoid such a tax and it will be resorted to only in the event that this tremendous additional tax burden voluntarily assumed by the people themselves at the last election cannot be take care of in any other way.

In additon to the increased revenues to be raised to meet the needs of legislation recently adopted by the people, we are confronted with a pressing condition of affairs in our State University and the State institutions deserving of your most serious reflection. I am speaking now not of current revenues for current disbursements, but of moneys vitally needed for permanent improvements such as buildings, halls, laboratories, hospitals, etc. There can be no question in the mind of anyone who has visited our State University of its urgent need for a considerable sum of money for the erection of structures to take care of the 10,000 students who throng its halls of learning. The University is the highest seat of learning of the people of this State. Its popularity is attested by the [illegible] to its doors year by year. As a part of our State system of education, its doors are open without charge to the students. It will not be challenged [illegible] of the prime functions of government, particularly of the government of a free people. Means must be immediately devised for taking care of the sons and daughters of California who are seeking their education in the halls of our University. The Board of Regents has indicated that a minimum of $5,000,000 will be required for the erection of such permanent structures as will reasonably accommodate the needs of the University.

In addition to the University, we find a deplorable condition of overcrowding in every one of our State institutions. Our hospitals, our reformatories, are all seriously overcrowded, and unless steps are promptly taken to supply existing needs the State may be compelled regretfully to acknowledge dereliction in duty. A survey presented to me indicates another $5,000,000 to be requisite to take care of the crying needs of our public institutions. The needs to which I refer are for permanent structures and in no sense for running costs. We have here, therefore, some $10,000,000 most urgently needed in the various public institutions of the State for permanent improvements and for the erection of permanent structures. Such a sum can not be drawn out of the usual revenues of the State. Nor would it be fair that the entire burden of these improvements should be borne by the taxpayer of today. The benefits will flow to the coming generation and a part of the burden should be borne by that generation. I recommend, therefore, the necessary legislation for a submission to the people of the State of a bond issue of $10,000,000 to cover the cost of erecting these permanent structures for the University and institutions of this State.

Along the line of economic development, I believe one of the most important sources of wealth within our border, thus far only partially developed, is hydro-electric energy. Our State, with its mighty sweep of snow-clad mountains, is a natural storehouse for developing a volume of energy that will largely supplant coal and oil. I am most heartily in favor of encouraging its development to the maximum extent consistent with public policy. In these modern days, water and power have become the necessities of actual living—less important only than air—and wherever the means can be created for the development and the utilization of these latent resources of the State without sacrificing the public good to private and selfish advantage, I am most heartily in favor of such measure. More strongly do I feel so now in view of the general fuel situation in our State. California, without coal fields of any kind, has learned to depend upon fuel oil, and now the demands of industry upon fuel oil are greater than oil development.

The economic seriousness of the situation has been most forcibly presented to my mind by the drought of the last few years, which has compelled the public utility corporations, on account of lack of water-developed energy, to resort in larger quantities to that developed out of oil.

During the last year the citizens of California have been confronted with a shortage of water for irrigation and for power purposes. In some sections of the State this shortage became so acute that it placed a limit upon production. While this shortage now has passed and copious early rains give indication that it will not recur during the coming year, the situation through which we have just passed gives emphasis to the need of impounding every available drop of water and preventing, so far as possible, any future shortage either of water or electric power.

There is no subject that is of more vital importance to the people of the State than the systematic and wise development of our water resources for irrigation and power purposes, therefore I urgently recommend that you make an adequate and comprehensive investigation of the water resources of the State.

I am sure that every citizen of California is fully aware of the vital necessity of so conserving the waters of the State that they may be made available for the production of the valuable and widely diversified crops which, under our wonderful climatic and soil conditions, can be produced in such great abundance. Ample water for irrigation is the only needful thing for practical unlimited production of all the essential needs and comforts demanded by our complex civilization. California is not lacking in rainfall. In the opinion of experts and engineers who have given the subject special study the waters of the State, if properly conserved and put to beneficial use, are sufficient to irrigate practically every acre of arable land.

Our manufactories and our industrial development are limited only by two things—the agricultural expansion of the State and the availability of cheap power. Given cheap power and practically unlimited production from the land, California can take first rank in the industrial states of the Union.

Happily, hydro-electric power development and irrigation go hand in hand. Almost every drop of water may be made to do a double duty. Before being ultimately used for irrigation, it may be made to produce electric energy. The power produced from falling water is the cheapest power yet discovered by man. This cheap power, applied to industry, will make California a leading manufacturing state.

California already is in the front rank in production of hydro-electric energy. No other state, save one, now has or possibly can develop so much hydro-electric power. Great as our development in this direction has been, it is, however, but a small part of the potential development under wise and carefully considered plans that will utilize to the fullest extent and without waste the possibilities that exist.

I am most happy to refer to the overwhelming vote with which the people of California adopted the Anti-Alien Land bill, and to express the hope that the new statute may to a material extent meet the land problem developing within our borders this past decade. This State has the unquestioned right to regulate the ownership of its lands within its borders, and in the exercise of that right has resorted to the Anti-Alien Land Law. The step was made necessary by a real and growing menace. California, however, can not by legislation prevent the admission of Japanese into the United States. That question must be left to the Federal Government.

Since the adjournment of the last Legislature, our State Board of Control has made an exhaustive report of the entire Oriental situation as it exists within our State, copies of which were duly forwarded to all the members of the last Legislature, and additional copies of which are available. Shortly after its presentation to me, I forwarded the report to the Secretary of State at Washington, together with my letter of transmittal, in which I sought briefly to present to the State Department the views of the people of our State.

I have also taken steps to keep the members of Congress advised of the California attitude on this Japanese question, having transmitted to each of them copies of the report made by the State Board of Control, together with my letter of transmittal to the Secretary of State. In addition, I have particularly called to the attention of the representatives of the Pacific Coast states the common interest which all of the states bordering on the western ocean must have in this question that has arisen. We stand as a common bulwark against the orientalization of our western civilization, and I have no doubt that the people of the entire Pacific Slope feel as the people of California feel on this subject.

I shall take the liberty from time to time, as questions concerning the State arise, to communicate further with you, laying before you such problems as may come up and recommending such methods of dealing with them as suggest themselves to my mind. I can not conclude, however, without expressing sincerely the pleasure I feel at having your cooperation in these important matters of state affecting the good of our whole people. Animated as we are by the one purpose of serving our people, we can, with quickened zeal, apply ourselves to the task before us with mutual confidence and with common strength. The people of the State of California look to us to serve the best interests of the State of California. Let us so serve that when the session is adjourned each of us may with clear conscience return our accounting to the commonwealth.

In conclusion, let me call your attention to the printed reports of the various departments of state now on file and available for your earnest study. The information and statistics contained therein will be found valuable and helpful in all legislation dealing with the respective departments.

WM. D. STEPHENS, Governor.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 3.

Relating to the protection of the quicksilver mining industry.

WHEREAS, Foreign competition is desperately seeking our unprotected markets; and

WHEREAS, Our country is becoming the dumping ground for the convict produced quicksilver of Spain; and

WHEREAS, The quicksilver industry of California, which is one of the oldest and most distinctive industries of the State, now faces extinction unless such protection is granted as will equalize the price of the convict produced metal, and make it possible for American laborers to compete with this foreign product; and

WHEREAS, At the present date all of the quicksilver mines of California are closed or in the hands of receivers; and

WHEREAS, Quicksilver is a basic metal, essential and indispensable to many industries of this country, both in time of peace and in time of war; now therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly, jointly, That the Legislature of the State of California hereby memoralize Congress to provide adequate protection to the quicksilver industry of this country so as to equalize the price of that locally produced and the foreign product of convict labor; and be it further

Resolved, That our Senators and Representatives in Congress be and they are hereby requested, to use all honorable means to secure the adoption of such measures; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be and he is hereby instructed to forward duly certified copies of these resolutions to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress and to each of the members of the respective Committees of Mines and Mining of the Senate and of the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives and of the House of Representatives of the United States.

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 7, 1921.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment has examined Senate Joint Resolution No. 4—Relative to naturalization and property rights of aliens—and reports that the same has been correctly engrossed.

OSBORNE, Chairman.

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION—(OUT OF ORDER).

Senator Inman asked for and was granted unanimous consent to take up for consideration at this time Senate Joint Resolution No. 4 for the purpose of adoption.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 4.

Relative to naturalization and property rights of aliens.

WHEREAS, At the general election held on the second day of November, 1920, the people of the State of California, in the exercise of their right reserved under the constitution, by an overwhelming majority, adopted the "Alien Land Law," which, among other things, provides that all aliens ineligible to citizenship under the laws of the United States, may acquire, possess, enjoy and transfer real property or any interest therein in this state in the manner and to the extent and for the purposes prescribed by any treaty now existing between the government of the United States and the nation or country of which such alien is a citizen or subject and not otherwise; and

WHEREAS, The present treaty of commerce and navigation, between the United States and Japan, proclaimed on the fifth day of April, 1911, in fixing the rights of the nationals of both contracting parties, provides that—

> "The citizens or subjects of each of the high contracting parties shall have liberty to enter, travel and reside in the territories of the other to carry on trade, wholesale and retail, to own or lease and occupy houses, manufactories, warehouses and shops, to employ agents of their choice, to lease land for residential and commercial purposes; and generally, to do anything incident to or necessary for trade, upon the same terms as native citizens or subjects submitting themselves to the laws and regulations there established"; and

WHEREAS, Notwithstanding the aforesaid provision of the treaty limiting the purposes for which the subjects of Japan may enter, travel and reside in the United States, approximately one hundred thousand Japanese are now residing in California, comparatively few of whom are engaged in trade, while the great majority are engaged in agriculture, owning, leasing and farming lands, and now control one-eighth of the entire acreage of rich irrigated lands in the state, as shown by the official report of the state board of control; and

WHEREAS, Japanese, as well as American authorities concede the unassimilability of the two races, and grant that a continuance of existing conditions may develop a racial question and grave international complications out of the present economic problem; and

WHEREAS, The evidence before the house immigration committee, in hearings held on the Pacific coast in July and August, 1920, clearly indicates the impracticability of making homogeneous American citizenship out of the material coming to us from Japan, and the impossibility of a white community holding its own either in increase of numbers or in economic competition against the racial advantages and birth rate of the Japanese; and

WHEREAS, Preliminary negotiations are now pending between the state department at Washington and representatives of the empire of Japan with a view of entering into a treaty dealing with the subject of immigration; and

WHEREAS, Reports have come to us from our representatives in congress that Japan insists that the proposed treaty shall grant the right of citizenship to the subjects of Japan now in the United States, and shall, in effect, nullify the aforesaid "Alien Land Law"; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate and Assembly, jointly, That the Legislature of the State of California protests against any treaty being made between the United States and Japan whereby the right to citizenship shall be extended to the subjects of Japan; and be it further

Resolved, That any attempt by the treaty-making power of the United States to nullify the aforesaid "Alien Land Law" or to confer upon the subjects of Japan, the right to acquire, own or possess lands within this state, in violation of our State laws, should be opposed, as destructive of state's rights reserved under the constitution of the United States; and be it further

Resolved, That in any treaty hereafter made by the United States and Japan, said "Alien Land Law" be held inviolate and that the rights of the states of the Union to enact legislation respecting the acquisition and ownership of land by aliens within their respective borders be properly safeguarded; and be it further

Resolved, That in any such treaty, provision be made prohibiting the further immigration of the subjects of Japan to the United States, save and except merchants, students and teachers, their servants and employees; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forthwith dispatched to the President of the United States, the Secretary of State of the United States, to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress and to each member of the Committee on Foreign Relations of the United States Senate.

No Committee Expenditures Permitted.

11. No member of any committee shall, except by resolution of the Senate, be permitted to incur any expense by visiting any part of the State on official business, except that the chairman of the Committee on Finance shall, during the Constitutional Recess, be permitted to visit State institutions for which appropriations are asked and shall be allowed his actual expenses while on such business.

SPECIAL DUTIES OF CERTAIN COMMITTEES.

Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment.

12. All Senate bills, constitutional amendments, and joint or concurrent resolutions shall be engrossed before final action is taken on them in the Senate. The indications of new matter, omissions, or amendments appearing upon the printed bill shall be omitted from the engrossed copy of the bill. All such bills, amendments, and resolutions, after being engrossed, in pursuance of the order of the Senate, shall be carefully examined and reported back by the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment; the engrossed copy to be transmitted to the Assembly with proper endorsements, and the original retained by the Senate. It shall be in order for the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment to report at any time.

Engrossing and Enrolling Bills.

13. All bills ordered engrossed shall be delivered by the Secretary of the Senate to the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment or to the clerk of that committee and a receipt in writing taken therefor, and all said bills shall be engrossed in the order of their receipt by that committee or its clerk. All Senate bills shall, after their final passage by, and receipt from the Assembly, be delivered by the Secretary of the Senate in the order of their receipt from the Assembly, to the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment or its clerk and a receipt in writing taken therefor; and said bills shall be enrolled in the order of their receipt from the Secretary of the Senate.

Committee on Rules.

14. The Committee on Rules shall have the general duty of proposing or of presenting recommendations as to the Standing Rules of the Senate. The President pro tempore shall be the chairman of this committee, and the President shall be an ex officio nonvoting member. When executive communication of nominations shall be sent by the Governor to the Senate for their confirmation, the same shall be referred to the Committee on Rules, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate, which motion shall be determined without debate.

Committee on Contingent Expenses.

15. No claim shall be paid out of the contingent fund of the Senate unless the same shall have been referred to and reported on by the Committee on Contingent Expenses.

Committee on Revision and Printing.

16. The Committee on Revision and Printing shall have general charge of matters connected with all printing done for the Senate. It shall have the specific duties prescribed for it in the Joint Rules of Senate and Assembly.

OTHER SENATE OFFICERS.

Secretary of the Senate.

17. 1. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Senate to attend every session, call the roll, read all bills, amendments, resolutions, and all papers ordered read by the Senate or the presiding officer.

2. To superintend all copying and work to be done for the Senate. To have supervision over all attaches and employees of the Senate. To assign, reassign or transfer all attaches or employees to their respective duties. To certify to and transmit to the Assembly all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, constitutional amendments and papers requiring the concurrence of the Assembly, immediately after their passage or adoption by the Senate.

3. To keep a correct Journal of the proceedings of the Senate.

4. To notify the Assembly of the action by the Senate on all matters originating in the Assembly, and requiring action on the part of the Senate.

5. To permit no papers or records belonging to the Senate to be taken out of its custody otherwise than in the regular course of business.

Custody of Bills and Papers.

18. The Secretary of the Senate shall not permit any records or papers to be taken from the desk, or out of his custody, by any person except a chairman of a committee; but he shall deliver any bill or paper to be printed to the Superintendent of State Printing, and all bills ordered engrossed or enrolled to the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment, and take receipts therefor.

Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate.

19. A Sergeant-at-Arms shall be elected, to hold his office during the pleasure of the Senate, whose duty it shall be to attend the Senate during all of its sittings, to execute the commands of the Senate from time to time, together with all such process issued by authority thereof, as shall be directed to him by the President. The Sergeant-at-Arms is authorized to arrest for contempt all persons outside the bar, or in the gallery, found in loud conversation, or otherwise making a noise to the disturbance of the Senate. The actual expenses of the Sergeant-at-Arms for every arrest, for each day's custody and releasement, and the traveling expenses for himself and special messenger going and returning shall be paid out of the contingent fund, and no other fees shall be paid him beyond his per diem. It shall also be the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms to keep the accounts for pay and mileage of Senators.

Distribution of Printed Matter.

20. The Sergeant-at-Arms shall place copies of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, constitutional amendments, and journals and histories, when printed, on the desks of Senators, at least one hour previous to the opening of session.

PREPARATION AND INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

Introduction and First Reading.

21. Any Senator desiring to introduce a bill shall rise in his seat and address the President, and upon being recognized shall present the same. The title shall be announced by the Secretary, the bill shall be read the first time and the reason referred by the President to a standing committee.

Joint and Concurrent Resolutions and Constitutional Amendments.

22. Joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments shall be treated the same as bills; provided, that they shall have but one reading, which reading shall occur after they have been reported by committee.

Introduction of Bills by a Committee.

23. Any committee may introduce a bill germane to any subject within the proper consideration of such committee, whereupon the bill shall immediately be read the first time, ordered to print and placed upon the second-reading file.

Introduction of Bills after the Constitutional Recess.

24. The Committee on Rules shall constitute a standing committee on introduction of bills to serve after the constitutional recess. All motions for leave to introduce bills after the constitutional recess shall be sent to the desk in writing, under the order of "Introduction of Bills." The motion shall give the title of the bill and shall be accompanied by the bill. The bill shall thereupon be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills.

The committee shall examine bills referred to it with particular reference to the question as to whether there is already any bill in either house of the same character which might be amended to effect the result sought and generally as to the advisability of introducing the measure.

No bill shall be introduced without the consent of three-fourths of the members after report thereupon by the Committee on Introduction of Bills, nor shall more than two bills be introduced by any one member after the constitutional recess.

Joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments shall not be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills, and shall not require a vote to authorize their introduction, nor shall the number to be introduced by any one member be limited.

BILLS IN COMMITTEES.

Reference of Senate Bills.

25. At the time of introduction the President shall first indicate to what committee a bill or resolution should be referred, and it shall be so referred, unless upon a motion, without debate, the Senate by a majority vote refer it to some other committee. No debate shall be allowed on any motion to refer a bill or resolution to a committee.

Order of Reference.

26. When a resolution shall be offered, or a motion made to refer any subject and a different committee shall be proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order:

1. The Committee of the Whole Senate.
2. A Standing Committee.
3. A Select Committee.

Reference with Special Instructions.

27. No amendment shall be received for discussion at the third reading of any bill; but it shall at all times be in order, before the final passage of such bill, to move its reference to a select committee under special instructions to amend.

Reference of Assembly Bills.

28. When an Assembly bill has been received by the Senate, with a message announcing that it has passed the Assembly, such bill shall be read the first time and be referred by the President to a standing committee; provided, however, that when an Assembly bill is received, the text of which is stated by a member to be identical with that of a Senate bill which has already been considered and reported by a standing committee of the Senate, such Assembly bill shall be referred to the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment for comparison, which committee shall report without delay, whether or not such bill is identical with the Senate bill. If reported identical, such Assembly bill shall be substituted for the Senate bill, shall take its place on the second reading file and be considered as having received the same committee recommendation as the Senate bill; provided, that the fact that the bills are identical shall be entered in the Journal. Such Senate bill shall thereupon be placed upon the file of unfinished business.

Reference of Appropriation Bills.

29. All bills appropriating money from any fund shall be referred to the Committee on Finance before being read the second time. Concurrent resolutions for adjournment sine die shall in all cases whether originating in the Senate or coming from the Assembly be referred to the Committee on Finance.

Notice to Author of Bill.

30. The chairman or clerk of each committee of the Senate shall notify the author of any bill or resolution pending before such committee of the hour and place of hearing or acting upon such bill or proceeding.

Committee Amendments to Bills.

31. When amendments to a bill are reported by a committee, the clerk of such committee shall prepare three copies of each amendment, one to go with the bill to the Superintendent of State Printing, one to the Minute Clerk, and one to the Secretary of the Senate.

Reports of Committees.

32. All committees shall act upon bills referred to them as soon as practicable, and when acted upon each bill shall be reported back to the Senate forthwith, and the chairman of each committee is charged with the observance of this rule; provided, that the Senate may at any time, by a majority vote, recall a bill from any committee.

ORDER OF CONSIDERING BILLS.

Order of Making File.

33. When bills are reported from committees they shall be placed upon the General File, to be kept by the Secretary as follows: All bills when reported to the Senate by the committees shall be placed at the foot of the second-reading file, in the order in which the reports are made, and after the second reading they shall be placed at the foot of the third-reading file, in the order of reading, and precedence shall be given in the consideration of bills in the following order: Second-reading file and third-reading file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by a two-thirds vote of the Senate. The bills upon third reading shall be considered in the order in which they appear upon the file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by vote of majority of the members present; such vote to be taken by roll call; provided, that if a bill is passed on file for any reason, other than absence of the author by leave of the Senate, note of the fact shall be made in the General File, and when passed on file a second time, the bill shall be ordered at the foot of the file, and notice of the fact of the bill having been passed on file prior to the order placing it at the foot of the file shall be omitted from the General File.

The General File.

34. The General File shall be the special order for each day between such hours as the Senate may determine, unless sooner disposed of; but no bill shall lose its place upon the file by expiration of the time or by adjournment of the Senate while it is under consideration.

Special Order.

35. Any subject may, by vote of a majority of those voting, be made a special order, and when the time fixed for its consideration arrives, the presiding officer shall lay it before the Senate.

Three Readings of Bills.

36. Every bill shall be read on three several days previous to its passage (unless in case of urgency, two-thirds of the membership of the Senate in which it is being considered shall by vote of the ayes and noes dispense with this provision).

Ordering Bills to Third Reading.

37. After being read the second time bills shall be ordered by the President to third reading (or, in the case of Senate bills, to engrossment and third reading). When any member makes objection to any bill thus being ordered to third reading, the final question for such bill shall be, "Shall the bill be ordered to third reading?"

Bills Considered During Last Seven Days.

38. No Senate bill shall be passed by the Senate within seven days of the time set for adjournment sine die of the two houses of the Legislature unless permission to vote on such a bill be granted by a three-fourths vote of the entire membership of the Senate, voting by roll-call.

QUESTIONS AND MOTIONS.

39. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but the following privileged questions, which shall have precedence in the following order:

1. To adjourn.
2. For a call of the Senate.
3. To lay on the table.
4. To postpone to a day certain.
5. To commit.
6. To amend.
7. To postpone indefinitely.

Provided, however, that during a call of the Senate, it may consider and transact any matter or business that the Senators then present shall unanimously decide to consider, but no call of the Senate shall be had during a roll call of the Senate, on any matter so taken up or considered while the Senate is under call. When a call of the Senate is ordered, pending the completion of a roll call, the pending roll call shall become unfinished business the consideration of which shall be continued until further proceedings under the call of the Senate are dispensed with, when it will forthwith become the order of business before the Senate.

Amendment or Division of Questions.

40. An amendment may be laid on the table without prejudice to the bill. When an amendment proposed to any pending measure shall be laid on the table, it shall not carry with it or prejudice such measure.

If the question in debate contains several propositions, any Senator may have the same divided; except a motion to strike out and insert shall not be divided. The rejection of a motion to strike out and insert one proposition shall not prevent a motion to strike out and insert a different proposition, nor shall it prevent a motion to simply strike out, nor shall the rejection of a motion to strike out prevent a motion to strike out and insert; but pending a motion to strike out and insert, the part to be stricken out and the part to be inserted shall each be regarded, for the purpose of amendment, as a question. Motions to amend the part to be stricken out shall have precedence.

Restriction as to Amendments.

41. A substitute or amendment must relate to the same subject as the original bill, resolution or constitutional amendment under consideration.

Vote Required for Amendments.

42. A constitutional amendment or bill requiring a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to the Senate for final adoption or passage may be amended by a majority of those voting.

PROCEDURE OF DEBATE.

Seconding and Announcement of Motion.

43. No motion shall be debated until the same be seconded and distinctly announced by the President; and it shall be reduced to writing if desired by the President or any Senator, and read by the Secretary, before the same shall be debated.

Regulation as to Speaking.

44. 1. When a Senator desires to address the Senate he shall rise in his place, address the President, and when recognized he shall proceed to speak.

2. No Senator shall speak more than twice in any one debate on the same day, and at the same stage of the bill, without leave; and Senators who have once spoken shall not again be entitled to the floor (except for explanation) so long as any Senator who has not spoken desires to speak.

3. No Senator shall be interrupted when speaking, and no question shall be asked him except those through the presiding officer.

4. The author of a bill, motion, or resolution shall have the privilege of closing the debate.

Securing of the Floor.

45. When two or more Senators arise at the same time to address the Senate, the presiding officer shall designate the Senator who is entitled to the floor.

Order in Debate.

46. When a Senator shall be called to order he shall sit down until the President shall have determined whether he is in order or not; and every question of order shall be decided by the President, subject to an appeal to the Senate by any Senator. If a Senator be called to order for words spoken, the objectionable language shall immediately be taken down in writing by the Secretary of the Senate.

The Previous Question.

47. The previous question shall be put in the following form: "Shall the question be now put?" It shall be admitted only when demanded by a majority of the Senators present upon division; and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate except that the author of the bill or the amendments shall have the right to close, and the question under discussion shall thereupon be immediately put to a vote. On a motion for the previous question prior to a vote being taken by the Senate, a call of the Senate shall be in order.

Executive Session.

48. When a motion is adopted to close the doors of the Senate, on the discussion of any business, which may, in the opinion of the Senate, require an executive session, the President shall require all persons, except the Senators, President of the Senate, Secretary, Minute Clerk, and Sergeant-at-Arms, to withdraw, and during the discussion of said business the doors shall remain closed. Every Senator and officer present shall keep secret all matters and proceedings concerning which secrecy shall be enjoined by order of the Senate.

VOTING BY SENATE.

Calling Ayes and Noes.

49. When the ayes and noes shall be called for by three members present, every member within the bar of the Senate at the time the question was put shall declare openly, and without debate, assent or dissent to the question. In taking the ayes and noes, and upon the call of the Senate, the names of the Senators shall be taken alphabetically. When the ayes and noes shall be taken upon any question in pursuance of this rule, no Senator shall be permitted, under any circumstances whatever, to vote after the announcement of the vote by the presiding officer.

Excuse from Voting.

50. When a Senator declines to vote on a call of his name he shall be required to assign his reasons therefor, and having assigned them, the presiding officer shall submit the question to the Senate: "Shall the Senator, for the reasons assigned by him, be excused from voting?" which shall be decided without debate. And these proceedings shall be had after the roll call and before the result is announced, and any further proceedings in reference thereto shall be after such announcement.

Reconsideration of Vote.

51. On the day succeeding that on which a final vote on any bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment has been taken, said vote may be reconsidered on motion of any Senator; provided, notice of intention to move such reconsideration shall have been given on the day on which such final vote was taken, by a Senator voting with the prevailing side; and it shall not be in order to reconsider on the day on which such final vote was taken. Said motion for reconsideration shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn. It shall require twenty-one votes to carry any motion to reconsider the vote by which any bill, concurrent or joint resolution, has been passed or defeated, fourteen votes to reconsider the vote by which any constitutional amendment has been passed, and twenty-seven votes to carry any motion to reconsider the vote by which any constitutional amendment has been defeated. Notice of reconsideration of the vote by which a Senate bill was passed, or a Senate joint resolution, Senate concurrent resolution or Senate constitutional amendment adopted, shall not be in order on or after the eighth day preceding the last day of the session. No notice of reconsideration shall be in order on the day preceding the last day of the session.

When Bill Is Held for Reconsideration.

52. If a Senator gives notice that he intends to move a reconsideration, the Secretary shall not transmit the bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment to the Assembly till the reconsideration is disposed of, or the time for moving the same has expired, unless the bill or resolution has already been transmitted to the Assembly.

When Bill Is Recalled for Reconsideration.

53. When a bill, resolution, amendment, order or message upon which a vote has been taken shall have gone out of the possession of the Senate and been communicated to the Assembly, a motion to reconsider shall be preceded by a motion to request the Assembly to return the same, which last-named motion shall be acted upon immediately and without debate, and if determined in the negative shall be a final disposition of the motion to reconsider.

Debate on Motion to Reconsider.

54. A Senator, after a notice to reconsider is given, as provided in Rule 53, shall, at the reconsideration thereof, present the main question in his argument thereon, and the same shall be debated by the Senate, provided that the subject matter is debatable, and the vote on reconsideration shall be on the merits of the main question

MESSAGES AND OTHER PAPERS.

Messengers from the Governor.

55. Messengers from the Governor may be introduced at any stage of business except while a question is being put, while the ayes and noes are being called, while ballots are being counted, or while a Senator is addressing the Senate.

Messengers from the Assembly.

56. Messengers from the Assembly may be introduced at any stage of business, except while a question is being put, while the ayes and noes are being called, while ballots are being counted, or while a member is addressing the Senate.

Consideration of Assembly Messages.

57. Messages from the Assembly may be considered when indicated by the Order of Business, or at any other time, by unanimous consent, or by vote of the Senate.

Reading of Papers.

58. When the reading of a paper (except a petition) is called for, and the same is objected to by any Senator, the question shall be determined by a vote of the Senate.

CONTENTS OF SENATE JOURNAL.

Proceedings to Be Printed.

59. The proceedings of the Senate, when not acting as a Committee of the Whole, shall be entered in the Journal as concisely as possible, care being taken to record a true and accurate account of the proceedings.

Titles of Bills to Be Printed.

60. The titles of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, and constitutional amendments introduced shall be printed in the Journal.

Statement of Petitions to Be Printed.

61. Every vote and a brief statement of the contents of each petition, memorial, or paper presented to the Senate shall be entered in the Journal.

Other Matter to Be Printed.

62. Messages from the Governor (other than biennial messages and inaugural addresses), joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments, when adopted, and the titles of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments, when acted upon by the Senate, shall be printed in the Journal in full, provided, that in case of a concurrent resolution offering the adoption of a charter or charter amendments of any kind, the text of such charter or charter amendments shall not be printed in the Journal.

LEGISLATIVE PRINTING.

Number of Bills Printed.

63. Fifteen hundred copies of all bills shall be printed; and the Sergeant-at-Arms shall be required to certify to the reception by the Senate of all printed matter, and the quantity. One copy of each bill or paper printed by order of the Senate shall be delivered to each Senator at his desk, and the balance shall be distributed according to law.

Number of Journals Printed.

64. The Superintendent of State Printing shall print one thousand copies of the Journal of each day's proceedings of the Senate, and one copy of the same shall be placed upon each Senator's desk, and a sufficient number sent to the Assembly to supply each Assemblyman with one copy; he shall also print a sufficient number of copies, properly paged, to bind in book form as the Journal of the Senate, at the end of the session, as required by law.

Number of Other Documents Printed.

65. Seven hundred fifty copies shall be printed of each document or other matter ordered, unless the Senate especially directs a different number.

Excess Printing Only on Written Order.

66. The Superintendent of State Printing shall not print for the use of the Senate any matter other than provided by law, unless upon a written order signed by the Secretary. The Secretary may, when necessity requires it, order from the State Printer such printing as he deems necessary to be printed in advance of the regular order of business, under a specially prepared written order, to be known as a "Rush Order."

Form of Printing Amendments.

67. All bills amended shall immediately be reprinted: the new matter added by any amendments to be enclosed in heavy brackets, and the omission of any matter to be indicated by the insertion of heavy parentheses.

THE SENATE CHAMBER.

Admission Within Bar of Senate.

68. It shall be the duty of the gatekeeper to prevent all persons, except Senators, ex-Senators, members of the Assembly, State officers, officers of the two houses, and such accredited newspaper representatives as have seats assigned to them by the President, from coming within the bar of the Senate, unless upon invitation of the President or a Senator; provided, that no visitor shall be allowed upon the floor while the Senate is in session.

No Lobbying in Senate Chamber.

69. No person engaged in presenting to the Senate or any of its committees any business, claim, or legislation, shall be permitted to engage in such business in the Senate Chamber or be permitted on the floor of the Senate at any time while the Senate is in session. Any person transgressing this rule shall be removed from the floor of the Senate and shall be debarred from the privilege of the floor during the remainder of the entire session. The President and President pro tempore are charged with the enforcement of this rule, and this rule can not be suspended except by a two-thirds vote of the entire Senate.

Maintaining of Order.

70. In case of a disturbance or disorderly conduct in the lobbies, the President (or Chairman of the Committee of the Whole) shall have the power to order the same cleared.

Smoking Within Senate Chamber.

71. No smoking shall be allowed within the Senate Chamber when objected to by the presiding officer or by any five members.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

Duties of Members.

72. No Senator shall absent himself from attendance upon the Senate without leave first obtained. A less number than a quorum of the Senate is hereby authorized to send the Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person, for any and all absent Senators at the expense of such absent Senators, respectively, unless such excuse for nonattendance as shall be made to the Senate, when a quorum is convened, shall be judged sufficient, and in that case the expense shall be paid out of the Contingent Fund of the Senate; and this rule shall apply as well to the first convention of the Senate, at the legal time of meeting, as to each day of the session after the hour has arrived to which the Senate stood adjourned. The President or Acting President of the Senate, or less than a quorum present, shall have the power to issue process directed to the Sergeant-at-Arms, or to any other person, to compel the attendance of Senators absent without leave. Any Senator who shall refuse to obey such process unless sick or unable to attend, shall be deemed guilty of contempt of the Senate, and the Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person, to whom such process may be directed, shall have power to use such force as may be necessary to compel the attendance of such absent Senator, and for this purpose he may command the force of the county, or of any county in the State.

Parliamentary Rules.

73. In all cases not provided for by these rules, or by the Joint Rules of Senate and Assembly, the authority shall be Robert's Rules of Order.

Suspension or Change of Rules.

74. No standing rules or order of the Senate shall be rescinded or changed without a vote of two-thirds of the entire Senate, and one day's notice being given of the motion therefor; but a rule or order may be suspended temporarily by a vote of two-thirds of the members of the Senate, except that portion of Rule 13, relating to the order of enrolling bills. All proposed amendments to these rules shall, upon presentation, be referred to the Committee on Rules without debate.

REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES.

The following reports of standing committees were received and read:

ON FEDERAL RELATIONS.

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 10, 1921.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Committee on Federal Relations, to which was referred Senate Joint Resolution No. 7—Relative to protection of poultry industry—has had the same under consideration, and respectfully reports the same back, and recommends that it be adopted.

EDEN, Chairman.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 7 ordered to engrossment.

ON ENGROSSMENT AND ENROLLMENT.

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 10, 1921.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment has examined Senate Joint Resolution No. 7—Relative to the protection of the poultry industry—and reports that the same has been correctly engrossed.

OSBORNE, Chairman.

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION—(OUT OF ORDER).

Senator Slater asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up for consideration, at this time, Senate Joint Resolution No. 7 for the purpose of adoption.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 7.

Relative to the protection of the poultry industry.

WHEREAS, The poultry industry of California is one of the most important industries of the country and producing annually many millions of dollars; and

WHEREAS, Eggs are being imported in enormous quantities into our local markets; and

WHEREAS, The poultry industry of California now faces a grave menace which can not be avoided unless such protection is granted as will afford an adequate safeguard to the investments of American poultry men; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly, jointly, That the Legislature of the State of California hereby memorializes Congress to adopt such measures as will afford adequate and proper protection to the poultry industry of this country; and be it further

Resolved, That our Senators and Representatives in Congress be and they are hereby urged and requested to use all honorable means to secure the adoption of such a tariff; and be it further

Resolved, That duly authenticated copies of these resolutions be transmitted to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress, to each of the members of the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives and to the members of the United States Tariff Commission now meeting at Washington.

Resolution read.

By Senator Irwin: Senate Bill No. 99—An act to amend section 7 of an act entitled "An act to amend the Vehicle Act approved May 10, 1915, as amended by an act entitled, 'An act to amend the Vehicle Act, approved May 10, 1915, by repealing sections 10, 18, 23, 33, and 42 thereof, and by amending sections 1, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 11, 13, 15, 17, 20, 22, 24, 26, 27, 28, 32, 34, 35, and 37 thereof, said amendments to provide for the regulation of the use and occupation of the public highways by vehicles and otherwise, for the registration and identification of motor and other vehicles, and for the payment of registration fees therefor; to prohibit the operation of any motor vehicle without the consent of the owner thereof; to limit the power of local authorities to enact or enforce ordinances, rules or regulations in regard to matter embraced within the provisions of this act; to provide for the organization and conduct of the Motor Vehicle Department created by this act, and to provide for the disposition of registration and license fees, fines and forfeitures collected under the provisions of said act; to provide for carrying out the objects of said act and of said amendments thereto, and to make appropriation therefor; to provide for the printing and distribution of said act as amended, and to provide for the time that said amendments shall go into effect,' approved May 10, 1917, by amending sections 1, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 11, 13, 15, 17, 20, 22, 24, 28, 32, 34, 36, and 37 thereof, said amendments to provide for the regulation of the use and occupation of the public highways by vehicles and otherwise and for the regulation of traffic and travel over such highways for the registration and identification of motor and other vehicles and for the payment of registration fees therefor; to provide for the licensing of persons operating motor vehicles, and for the payment of license fees therefor; to prohibit the operation or use of any vehicle by any person under the influence of intoxicating liquor and the use of any motor vehicle without the consent of the owner thereof; to limit the power of local authorities to enact or enforce ordinances, rules or regulations in regard to any of the matters embraced within the provisions of this act; to provide for the organization and conduct of the Motor Vehicle Department created by this act and the salaries of the officers and employees thereof; to provide for the disposition of registration and license fees, fines and forfeitures collected under the provisions of said act; to provide for the carrying out of the object of said act as amended as aforesaid and of these amendments thereto, and to make appropriation therefor; to provide for the printing and distribution of said act as amended as aforesaid and as hereby amended, and to provide for the time that said amendments shall go into effect, and repealing all acts or parts of acts in conflict herewith," approved May 2, 1919, and repealing all acts or parts of acts in conflict herewith.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Roads and Highways.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE.

The following report of committee was received and read:

ON RULES.

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 12, 1921.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Committee on Rules begs leave to submit the following as the Standing Rules of the Senate for the forty-fourth session of the Legislature of the State of California, and respectfully recommends that they be adopted:

STANDING RULES OF THE SENATE.

CONVENING AND ORDER OF BUSINESS.

Hour of Meeting.

1. The sessions of the Senate shall be daily (Sundays excepted) beginning at ten o'clock a.m. Commencing on the second day after the constitutional recess, a recess shall be taken daily at the hour of twelve o'clock and thirty minutes p.m. until the hour of two o'clock p.m., unless otherwise ordered by a vote of the Senate.

Calling to Order.

2. The President, President pro tempore, or senior member present, shall call the Senate to order at the hour stated, and if a quorum be present proceed with the order of business.

Order of Business.

12. Unfinished Business.
13. Special Orders of the Day.
14. Announcement of Committee Meetings.
15. Adjournment.

PRESIDING OFFICERS OF THE SENATE.

The President.

4. The rooms, passages, and buildings set apart for the use of the Senate shall be under the control and direction of the President of the Senate, and he shall have the control and direction of the journals, papers, and bills of the Senate. The President shall preside over the sessions of the Senate. He shall see that all officers of the Senate perform their respective duties, and may assign places to properly accredited newspaper representatives.

The President Pro Tempore.

5. The President pro tempore shall, in the absence of the President, take the chair and call the Senate to order at the hour of the meetings of the Senate, and have the same powers as the President; but the President pro tempore shall vote only as any other member of the Senate.

Presiding by Senators.

6. The President or President pro tempore, in the absence of the President, shall have the right to name any Senator to perform the duties of the chair, who shall be vested, during such time, with all the powers of the President; but such substitute shall not lose the right of voting on any question while so presiding.

COMMITTEES OF THE SENATE.

Appointment of Committees.

7. All standing committees of the Senate shall be named by the President of the Senate unless otherwise ordered, and the first named shall be the chairman thereof. All other committees shall be appointed in such manner as the Senate shall determine.

Schedules for Committee Meetings.

9. The President shall be empowered to propose to the Senate such schedules for regular meetings of the standing committees as shall permit a full attendance of their members without conflict of committee engagements.

Quorum of Standing Committees.

10. Each standing committee shall determine (a) its own quorum, and (b) the number of votes necessary to take any action upon any bill, resolution, or other matter referred to it.

The vote by the number of ayes and noes on each bill reported back on all committee reports shall be noted in such reports and recorded in the Journal. When a committee report is signed out, the Journal shall note such fact.

No Committee Expenditures Permitted.

11. No member of any committee shall, except by resolution of the Senate, be permitted to incur any expense by visiting any part of the State on official business, except that the chairman of the Committee on Finance shall, during the Constitutional Recess, be permitted to visit State institutions for which appropriations are asked and shall be allowed his actual expenses while on such business.

SPECIAL DUTIES OF CERTAIN COMMITTEES.

Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment.

12. All Senate bills, constitutional amendments, and joint or concurrent resolutions shall be engrossed before final action is taken on them in the Senate. The indications of new matter, omissions, or amendments appearing upon the printed bill shall be omitted from the engrossed copy of the bill. All such bills, amendments, and resolutions, after being engrossed, in pursuance of the order of the Senate, shall be carefully examined and reported back by the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment; the engrossed copy to be transmitted to the Assembly with proper endorsements, and the original retained by the Senate. It shall be in order for the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment to report at any time.

Engrossing and Enrolling Bills.

13. All bills ordered engrossed shall be delivered by the Secretary of the Senate to the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment or to the clerk of that committee and a receipt in writing taken therefor, and all said bills shall be engrossed in the order of their receipt by that committee or its clerk. All Senate bills shall, after their final passage by, and receipt from the Assembly, be delivered by the Secretary of the Senate in the order of their receipt from the Assembly, to the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment or its clerk and a receipt in writing taken therefor; and said bills shall be enrolled in the order of their receipt from the Secretary of the Senate.

Committee on Rules.

14. The Committee on Rules shall have the general duty of proposing or of presenting recommendations as to the Standing Rules of the Senate. The President pro tempore shall be the chairman of this committee, and the President shall be an ex officio nonvoting member. When executive communication of nominations shall be sent by the Governor to the Senate for their confirmation, the same shall be referred to the Committee on Rules, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate, which motion shall be determined without debate.

Committee on Contingent Expenses.

15. No claim shall be paid out of the contingent fund of the Senate unless the same shall have been referred to and reported on by the Committee on Contingent Expenses.

Committee on Revision and Printing.

16. The Committee on Revision and Printing shall have general charge of matters connected with all printing done for the Senate. It shall have the specific duties prescribed for it in the Joint Rules of Senate and Assembly.

OTHER SENATE OFFICERS.

Secretary of the Senate.

17. 1. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Senate to attend every session, call the roll, read all bills, amendments, resolutions, and all papers ordered read by the Senate or the presiding officer.

2. To superintend all copying and work to be done for the Senate. To have supervision over all attaches and employees of the Senate. To assign, reassign or transfer all attaches or employees to their respective duties. To certify to and transmit to the Assembly all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, constitutional amendments and papers requiring the concurrence of the Assembly, immediately after their passage or adoption by the Senate.

3. To keep a correct Journal of the proceedings of the Senate.

4. To notify the Assembly of the action by the Senate on all matters originating in the Assembly, and requiring action on the part of the Senate.

5. To permit no papers or records belonging to the Senate to be taken out of its custody otherwise than in the regular course of business.

Custody of Bills and Papers.

18. The Secretary of the Senate shall not permit any records or papers to be taken from the desk, or out of his custody, by any person except a chairman of a committee; but he shall deliver any bill or paper to be printed to the Superintendent of State Printing, and all bills ordered engrossed or enrolled to the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment, and take receipts therefor.

Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate.

19. A Sergeant-at-Arms shall be elected, to hold his office during the pleasure of the Senate, whose duty it shall be to attend the Senate during all of its sittings, to execute the commands of the Senate from time to time, together with all such process issued by authority thereof, as shall be directed to him by the President. The Sergeant-at-Arms is authorized to arrest for contempt all persons outside the bar, or in the gallery, found in loud conversation, or otherwise making a noise to the disturbance of the Senate. The actual expenses of the Sergeant-at-Arms for every arrest, for each day's custody and releasement, and the traveling expenses for himself and special messenger going and returning shall be paid out of the contingent fund, and no other fees shall be paid him beyond his per diem. It shall also be the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms to keep the accounts for pay and mileage of Senators.

Distribution of Printed Matter.

20. The Sergeant-at-Arms shall place copies of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, constitutional amendments, and journals and histories, when printed, on the desks of Senators, at least one hour previous to the opening of session.

PREPARATION AND INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

Introduction and First Reading.

21. Any Senator desiring to introduce a bill shall rise in his seat and address the President, and upon being recognized shall present the same. The title shall be announced by the Secretary, the bill shall be read the first time and thereupon referred by the President to a standing committee.

Joint and Concurrent Resolutions and Constitutional Amendments.

22. Joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments shall be treated the same as bills; provided, that they shall have but one reading, which reading shall occur after they have been reported by committee.

Introduction of Bills by a Committee.

23. Any committee may introduce a bill germane to any subject within the proper consideration of such committee, whereupon the bill shall immediately be read the first time, ordered to print and placed upon the second-reading file.

Introduction of Bills after the Constitutional Recess.

24. The Committee on Rules shall constitute a standing committee on introduction of bills to serve after the constitutional recess. All motions for leave to introduce bills after the constitutional recess shall be sent to the desk in writing, under the order of "Introduction of Bills." The motion shall give the title of the bill and shall be accompanied by the bill. The bill shall thereupon be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills.

The committee shall examine bills referred to it with particular reference to the question as to whether there is already any bill in either house of the same character which might be amended to effect the result sought and generally as to the advisability of introducing the measure.

No bill shall be introduced without the consent of three-fourths of the members after report thereupon by the Committee on Introduction of Bills, nor shall more than two bills be introduced by any one member after the constitutional recess.

Joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments shall not be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills, and shall not require a vote to authorize their introduction, nor shall the number to be introduced by any one member be limited.

BILLS IN COMMITTEES.

Reference of Senate Bills.

25. At the time of introduction the President shall first indicate to what committee a bill or resolution should be referred, and it shall be so referred, unless upon a motion, without debate, the Senate by a majority vote refer it to some other committee. No debate shall be allowed on any motion to refer a bill or resolution to a committee.

Order of Reference.

26. When a resolution shall be offered, or a motion made to refer any subject and a different committee shall be proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order:

1. The Committee of the Whole Senate.
2. A Standing Committee.
3. A Select Committee.

Reference with Special Instructions.

27. No amendment shall be received for discussion at the third reading of any bill; but it shall at all times be in order, before the final passage of such bill, to move its reference to a select committee under special instructions to amend.

Reference of Assembly Bills.

28. When an Assembly bill has been received by the Senate, with a message announcing that it has passed the Assembly, such bill shall be read the first time and be referred by the President to a standing committee; provided, however, that when an Assembly bill is received, the text of which is stated by a member to be identical with that of a Senate bill which has already been considered and reported by a standing committee of the Senate, such Assembly bill shall be referred to the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment for comparison, which committee shall report without delay, whether or not such bill is identical with the Senate bill. If reported identical, such Assembly bill shall be substituted for the Senate bill, shall take its place on the second-reading file and be considered as having received the same committee recommendation as the Senate bill; provided, that the fact that the bills are identical shall be entered in the Journal. Such Senate bill shall thereupon be placed upon the file of unfinished business.

Reference of Appropriation Bills.

29. All bills appropriating money from any fund shall be referred to the Committee on Finance before being read the second time. Concurrent resolutions for adjournment sine die shall in all cases whether originating in the Senate or coming from the Assembly be referred to the Committee on Finance.

Notice to Author of Bill.

30. The chairman or clerk of each committee of the Senate shall notify the author of any bill or resolution pending before such committee of the hour and place of hearing or acting upon such bill or proceeding.

Committee Amendments to Bills.

31. When amendments to a bill are reported by a committee, the clerk of such committee shall prepare three copies of each amendment, one to go with the bill to the Superintendent of State Printing, one to the Minute Clerk, and one to the Secretary of the Senate.

Reports of Committees.

32. All committees shall act upon bills referred to them as soon as practicable, and when acted upon each bill shall be reported back to the Senate forthwith, and the chairman of each committee is charged with the observance of this rule; provided, that the Senate may at any time, by a majority vote, recall a bill from any committee.

ORDER OF CONSIDERING BILLS.

Order of Making File.

33. When bills are reported from committees they shall be placed upon the General File, to be kept by the Secretary as follows: All bills when reported to the Senate by the committees shall be placed at the foot of the second-reading file, in the order in which the reports are made, and after the second reading they shall be placed at the foot of the third-reading file, in the order of reading, and precedence shall be given in the consideration of bills in the following order: Second-reading file and third-reading file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by a two-thirds vote of the Senate. The bills upon third reading shall be considered in the order in which they appear upon the file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by vote of majority of the members present; such vote to be taken by roll call; provided, that if a bill is passed on file for any reason, other than absence of the author by leave of the Senate, note of the fact shall be made in the General File, and when passed on file a second time, the bill shall be ordered at the foot of the file, and notice of the fact of the bill having been passed on file prior to the order placing it at the foot of the file shall be omitted from the General File.

The General File.

34. The General File shall be the special order for each day between such hours as the Senate may determine, unless sooner disposed of; but no bill shall lose its place upon the file by expiration of the time or by adjournment of the Senate while it is under consideration.

Special Order.

35. Any subject may, by vote of a majority of those voting, be made a special order, and when the time fixed for its consideration arrives, the presiding officer shall lay it before the Senate.

Three Readings of Bills.

36. Every bill shall be read on three several days previous to its passage (unless in case of urgency, two-thirds of the membership of the Senate in which it is being considered shall by vote of the ayes and noes dispense with this provision).

Ordering Bills to Third Reading.

37. After being read the second time bills shall be ordered by the President to third reading (or, in the case of Senate bills, to engrossment and third reading). When any member makes objection to any bill thus being ordered to third reading, the final question for such bill shall be, "Shall the bill be ordered to third reading?"

Bills Considered During Last Seven Days.

38. No Senate bill shall be passed by the Senate within seven days of the time set for adjournment sine die of the two houses of the Legislature unless permission to vote on such a bill be granted by a three-fourths vote of the entire membership of the Senate, voting by roll-call.

QUESTIONS AND MOTIONS.

39. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but the following privileged questions, which shall have precedence in the following order:

1. To adjourn.
2. For a call of the Senate.
3. To lay on the table.
4. To postpone to a day certain.
5. To commit.
6. To amend.
7. To postpone indefinitely.

Provided, however, that during a call of the Senate, it may consider and transact any matter or business that the Senators then present shall unanimously decide to consider, but no call of the Senate shall be had, during a call of the Senate, on any matter so taken up or considered while the Senate is under call. When a call of the Senate is ordered, pending the completion of a roll call, the pending roll call shall become unfinished business, the consideration of which shall be continued until further proceedings under the call of the Senate are dispensed with, when it will forthwith become the order of business before the Senate.

Amendment or Division of Questions.

40. An amendment may be laid on the table without prejudice to the bill. When an amendment proposed to any pending measure shall be laid on the table, it shall not carry with it or prejudice such measure.

If the question in debate contains several propositions, any Senator may have the same divided; except a motion to strike out and insert shall not be divided. The rejection of a motion to strike out and insert one proposition shall not prevent a motion to strike out and insert a different proposition, nor shall it prevent a motion to simply strike out, nor shall the rejection of a motion to strike out prevent a motion to strike out and insert; but pending a motion to strike out and insert, the part to be stricken out and the part to be inserted shall each be regarded, for the purpose of amendment, as a question. Motions to amend the part to be stricken out shall have precedence.

Restriction as to Amendments.

41. A substitute or amendment must relate to the same subject as the original bill, resolution or constitutional amendment under consideration.

Vote Required for Amendments.

42. A constitutional amendment or bill requiring a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to the Senate for final adoption or passage may be amended by a majority of those voting.

PROCEDURE OF DEBATE.

Seconding and Announcement of Motion.

43. No motion shall be debated until the same be seconded and distinctly announced by the President; and it shall be reduced to writing if desired by the President or any Senator, and read by the Secretary, before the same shall be debated.

Regulation as to Speaking.

44. 1. When a Senator desires to address the Senate he shall rise in his place, address the President, and when recognized he shall proceed to speak.

2. No Senator shall speak more than twice in any one debate on the same day, and at the same stage of the bill, without leave; and Senators who have once spoken shall not again be entitled to the floor (except for explanation) so long as any Senator who has not spoken desires to speak.

3. No Senator shall be interrupted when speaking, and no question shall be asked him except those through the presiding officer.

4. The author of a bill, motion, or resolution shall have the privilege of closing the debate.

Securing of the Floor.

45. When two or more Senators arise at the same time to address the Senate, the presiding officer shall designate the Senator who is entitled to the floor.

Order in Debate.

46. When a Senator shall be called to order he shall sit down until the President shall have determined whether he is in order or not; and every question of order shall be decided by the President, subject to an appeal to the Senate by any Senator. If a Senator be called to order for words spoken, the objectionable language shall immediately be taken down in writing by the Secretary of the Senate.

The Previous Question.

47. The previous question shall be put in the following form: "Shall the question be now put?" It shall be admitted only when demanded by a majority of the Senators present upon division; and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate except that the author of the bill or the amendments shall have the right to close, and the question under discussion shall thereupon be immediately put to a vote. On a motion for the previous question prior to a vote being taken by the Senate, a call of the Senate shall be in order.

Executive Session.

48. When a motion is adopted to close the doors of the Senate, on the discussion of any business, which may, in the opinion of the Senate, require an executive session, the President shall require all persons, except the Senators, President of the Senate, Secretary, Minute Clerk, and Sergeant-at-Arms, to withdraw, and during the discussion of said business the doors shall remain closed. Every Senator and officer present shall keep secret all matters and proceedings concerning which secrecy shall be enjoined by order of the Senate.

VOTING BY SENATE.

Calling Ayes and Noes.

49. When the ayes and noes shall be called for by three members present, every member within the bar of the Senate at the time the question was put shall declare openly, and without debate, assent or dissent to the question. In taking the ayes and noes, and upon the call of the Senate, the names of the Senators shall be taken alphabetically. When the ayes and noes shall be taken upon any question in pursuance of this rule, no Senator shall be permitted, under any circumstances whatever, to vote after the announcement of the vote by the presiding officer.

Excuse from Voting.

50. When a Senator declines to vote on a call of his name he shall be required to assign his reasons therefor, and having assigned them, the presiding officer shall submit the question to the Senate: "Shall the Senator, for the reasons assigned by him, be excused from voting?" which shall be decided without debate. And these proceedings shall be had after the roll call and before the result is announced, and any further proceedings in reference thereto shall be after such announcement.

Reconsideration of Vote.

51. On the day succeeding that on which a final vote on any bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment has been taken, said vote may be reconsidered on motion of any Senator; provided, notice of intention to move such reconsideration shall have been given on the day on which such final vote was taken, by a Senator voting with the prevailing side; and it shall not be in order to reconsider on the day on which such final vote was taken. Said motion for reconsideration shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn. It shall require twenty-one votes to carry any motion to reconsider the vote by which any bill, concurrent or joint resolution, has been passed or defeated, fourteen votes to reconsider the vote by which any constitutional amendment has been passed, and twenty-seven votes to carry any motion to reconsider the vote by which any constitutional amendment has been defeated. Notice of reconsideration of the vote by which a Senate bill was passed, or a Senate joint resolution, Senate concurrent resolution or Senate constitutional amendment adopted, shall not be in order on or after the eighth day preceding the last day of the session. No notice of reconsideration shall be in order on the day preceding the last day of the session.

When Bill Is Held for Reconsideration.

52. If a Senator gives notice that he intends to move a reconsideration, the Secretary shall not transmit the bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment to the Assembly till the reconsideration is disposed of, or the time for moving the same has expired, unless the bill or resolution has already been transmitted to the Assembly.

When Bill Is Recalled for Reconsideration.

53. When a bill, resolution, amendment, order or message upon which a vote has been taken shall have gone out of the possession of the Senate and been communicated to the Assembly, a motion to reconsider shall be preceded by a motion to request the Assembly to return the same, which last-named motion shall be acted upon immediately and without debate, and if determined in the negative shall be a final disposition of the motion to reconsider.

Debate on Motion to Reconsider.

54. A Senator, after a notice to reconsider is given, as provided in Rule 53, shall, at the reconsideration thereof, present the main question in his argument thereon, and the same shall be debated by the Senate, provided that the subject matter is debatable, and the vote on reconsideration shall be on the merits of the main question.

MESSAGES AND OTHER PAPERS.

Messengers from the Governor.

55. Messengers from the Governor may be introduced at any stage of business except while a question is being put, while the ayes and noes are being called, while ballots are being counted, or while a Senator is addressing the Senate.

Messengers from the Assembly.

56. Messengers from the Assembly may be introduced at any stage of business, except while a question is being put, while the ayes and noes are being called, while ballots are being counted, or while a member is addressing the Senate.

Consideration of Assembly Messages.

57. Messages from the Assembly may be considered when indicated by the Order of Business, or at any other time, by unanimous consent, or by vote of the Senate.

Reading of Papers.

58. When the reading of a paper (except a petition) is called for, and the same is objected to by any Senator, the question shall be determined by a vote of the Senate.

CONTENTS OF SENATE JOURNAL.

Proceedings to Be Printed.

59. The proceedings of the Senate, when not acting as a Committee of the Whole, shall be entered in the Journal as concisely as possible, care being taken to record a true and accurate account of the proceedings.

Titles of Bills to Be Printed.

60. The titles of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, and constitutional amendments introduced shall be printed in the Journal.

Statement of Petitions to Be Printed.

61. Every vote and a brief statement of the contents of each petition, memorial, or paper presented to the Senate shall be entered in the Journal.

Other Matter to Be Printed.

62. Messages from the Governor (other than biennial messages and inaugural addresses), joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments, when adopted, and the titles of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments, when acted upon by the Senate, shall be printed in the Journal in full; provided, that in case of a concurrent resolution offering the adoption of a charter or charter amendments of any kind, the text of such charter or charter amendments shall not be printed in the Journal.

LEGISLATIVE PRINTING.

Number of Bills Printed.

63. Fifteen hundred copies of all bills shall be printed; and the Sergeant-at-Arms shall be required to certify to the reception by the Senate of all printed matter, and the quantity. One copy of each bill or paper printed by order of the Senate shall be delivered to each Senator at his desk, and the balance shall be distributed according to law.

Number of Journals Printed.

64. The Superintendent of State Printing shall print one thousand copies of the Journal of each day's proceedings of the Senate, and one copy of the same shall be placed upon each Senator's desk, and a sufficient number sent to the Assembly to supply each Assemblyman with one copy; he shall also print a sufficient number of copies, properly paged, to bind in book form as the Journal of the Senate, at the end of the session, as required by law.

Number of Other Documents Printed.

65. Seven hundred fifty copies shall be printed of each document or other matter ordered, unless the Senate especially directs a different number.

Excess Printing Only on Written Order.

66. The Superintendent of State Printing shall not print for the use of the Senate any matter other than provided by law, unless upon a written order signed by the Secretary. The Secretary may, when necessity requires it, order from the State Printer such printing as he deems necessary to be printed in advance of the regular order of business, under a specially prepared written order, to be known as a "Rush Order."

Form of Printing Amendments.

67. All bills amended shall immediately be reprinted; the new matter added by any amendments to be enclosed in heavy brackets, and the omission of any matter to be indicated by the insertion of heavy parentheses.

THE SENATE CHAMBER.

Admission Within Bar of Senate.

68. It shall be the duty of the gatekeeper to prevent all persons, except Senators, ex-Senators, members of the Assembly, State officers, officers of the two houses, and such accredited newspaper representatives as have seats assigned to them by the President, from coming within the bar of the Senate, unless upon invitation of the President or a Senator; provided, that no visitor shall be allowed upon the floor while the Senate is in session.

No Lobbying in Senate Chamber.

69. No person engaged in presenting to the Senate or any of its committees any business, claim, or legislation, shall be permitted to engage in such business in the Senate Chamber or be permitted on the floor of the Senate at any time while the Senate is in session. Any person transgressing this rule shall be removed from the floor of the Senate and shall be debarred from the privilege of the floor during the remainder of the entire session. The President and President pro tempore are charged with the enforcement of this rule, and this rule can not be suspended except by a two-thirds vote of the entire Senate.

Maintaining of Order.

70. In case of a disturbance or disorderly conduct in the lobbies, the President (or Chairman of the Committee of the Whole) shall have the power to order the same cleared.

Smoking Within Senate Chamber.

71. No smoking shall be allowed within the Senate Chamber when objected to by the presiding officer or by any five members.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

Duties of Members.

72. No Senator shall absent himself from attendance upon the Senate without leave first obtained. A less number than a quorum of the Senate is hereby authorized to send the Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person, for any and all absent Senators at the expense of such absent Senators, respectively, unless such excuse for nonattendance as shall be made to the Senate, when a quorum is convened, shall be judged sufficient, and in that case the expense shall be paid out of the Contingent Fund of the Senate; and this rule shall apply as well to the first convention of the Senate, at the legal time of meeting, as to each day of the session after the hour has arrived to which the Senate stood adjourned. The President or Acting President of the Senate, or less than a quorum present, shall have the power to issue process directed to the Sergeant-at-Arms, or to any other person, to compel the attendance of Senators absent without leave. Any Senator who shall refuse to obey such process unless sick or unable to attend, shall be deemed guilty of contempt of the Senate, and the Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person, to whom such process may be directed, shall have power to use such force as may be necessary to compel the attendance of such absent Senator, and for this purpose he may command the force of the county, or of any county in the State.

Parliamentary Rules.

73. In all cases not provided for by these rules, or by the Joint Rules of Senate and Assembly, the authority shall be Robert's Rules of Order.

Suspension or Change of Rules.

74. No standing rules or order of the Senate shall be rescinded or changed without a vote of two-thirds of the entire Senate, and one day's notice being given of the motion therefor; but a rule or order may be suspended temporarily by a vote of two-thirds of the members of the Senate, except that portion of Rule 13, relating to the order of enrolling bills. All proposed amendments to these rules shall, upon presentation, be referred to the Committee on Rules without debate.

Report received.

RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were offered:

By Senator Chamberlin:

Resolved, That the Standing Rules of the Senate be and the same are hereby amended by adding thereto a new rule or section, to be known and numbered as 13¾, and to read as follows:

13¾. When any standing committee of the Senate other than the Judiciary Committee thereof, shall report any bill referred thereto, which bill is in the form of a general law, the same shall be placed on file, retain its place thereon, and be referred to the Judiciary Committee; whereupon such committee must, if the bill relates to and should form a part of any subject contained in either one or more of the codes of this State, codify the same, and within two days after such reference, unless additional time is granted, report a substitute or substitutes therefor, containing a suitable title and the provisions of such bill as theretofore referred to it, in codified form, and numbered so as to indicate in what code, and what part thereof, it is proposed to insert the same in the event of enactment.

Also:

Resolved, That the Standing Rules of the Senate be and the same are hereby amended by adding thereto a section to be known and numbered as 20¾, to read as follows:

20¾. Before any bill amending any existing law is introduced, the new matter, if any therein, shall be underscored, and the matter, if any, omitted therein, shall be indicated by closed parentheses; provided, however, that where the new matter consists of an entirely new section or sections, the same shall not be required to be underscored, and in any bill repealing any existing law, the section or sections repealed need not be indicated.

In the printing of said bills, the underscored matter shall be enclosed in black faced brackets, and any omitted matter shall be enclosed in black faced closed parentheses. Any bill introduced which is not certified by the Legislative Counsel Bureau to be in conformity with this rule, shall, before being printed or transmitted to the committee to which the same is referred for consideration, be referred to the Committee on Revision and Printing, to be marked in compliance with this rule. Such clerical help as is necessary to enable the Committee on Revision and Printing to carry out the purpose of this rule shall be assigned by the Secretary of the Senate from the list of attaches of the Senate.

Resolution read, and referred to Committee on Rules.

NOTICE TO AMEND.

Senator Chamberlin gave notice that, on the next legislative day, he would move to amend the Standing Rules of the Senate in accordance with the foregoing resolutions.

By the Committee on Contingent Expenses:

Resolved, That the persons hereinafter named be allowed the several sums set opposite their respective names, for services as stated, rendered to the Senate preliminary to the organization of the forty-fourth session, payable out of the contingent fund of the Senate, and the Controller be and he is hereby directed to draw his warrant on the contingent fund in favor of each of the several persons hereinafter named for the sums set opposite their respective names, and the Treasurer is directed to pay the same:

Joseph A. Beek, Secretary, 2 days at $10	$20 00

AYES—Senators Allen, Anderson, Arbuckle, Boggs, Breed, Burnett, Canepa, Carr, F. M., Carr, W. J., Chamberlin, Crowley, Dennett, Duncan, Eden, Flaherty, Gates, Hart, Inman, Irwin, Johnson, Lyon, McDonald, Nelson, Otis, Rominger, Rush, Sample, Scott, Sharkey, Shearer, Slater, and Yonkin—32.

NOES—None.

By Senator Inman:

WHEREAS, It has been suggested and proposed to the American Legion, Department of California, that a request be made at this session of the Legislature for legislation granting to the ex-service people of this State a cash bonus, based upon military service; and

WHEREAS, After deliberation by the representatives of the Executive Committee and the Legislative Committee of the American Legion, Department of California, it has appeared to these committees that owing to present conditions the welfare of the State of California would be seriously impaired by such request for a cash bonus; therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of this committee that no such legislation looking to the payment of a cash bonus be presented at the present time to the State Legislature of the State of California, by the American Legion of California, but that we do urge upon the Legislature of the State of California, now in session, the passage of a bill providing for land settlement, home aid, and vocational training as they are now presented by the American Legion, Department of California, believing, as they do, that the bills so presented will redound to the welfare of the State of California, as well as that of the ex-service men of this State.

On motion of Senator Inman, resolution ordered printed in the Journal.

COMMUNICATION.

The following communication was presented by Senator Slater, and ordered printed in the Journal:

SACRAMENTO, January 15, 1921.

Hon. Frank S. Boggs, Hon. Edwin M. Otis, Hon. Herbert W. Slater.

GENTLEMEN: In answer to your joint verbal inquiry of the twelfth instant, wherein you ask if the various provisions of the Juvenile Court Law which deal with the salaries of probation officers and their assistants and deputies may be amended so as to confine the operation of such amendments to certain counties, without interfering with other counties, I respectfully advise you as follows:

Upon an examination of the statute I find that the provisions governing probation officers, their deputies, and assistants and the compensation to be paid each are set forth in a number of sections commencing with section 19*a* (Stats. 1915, page 1242) to and including section 19*w*, page 1245. The various counties up to counties of the ninth class are independently treated, each having a section of its own. Consequently, no difficulty will be experienced in preparing appropriate bills to amend sections 19*e* (Alameda County) and 19*h* (San Joaquin County). A complication is presented, however, in the case of Sonoma County, which is grouped with Orange County in section 19*k*. An amendment to this section which would have the effect of changing the salaries in Sonoma County would operate to make the same change in Orange County. Hence, it is suggested that unless it is desired to provide for payment of identical salaries in the two counties, the amendment to section 19*k* should be so prepared as to effect a segregation of the counties. This may be accomplished by transferring Orange County to one of the other sections pertaining to a county or counties wherein it is desired to pay the same salaries that are to be paid by Orange County. It will, of course, be necessary to amend the other section as well as section 19*k*. If this plan proves to be not feasible by reason of the fact that no other county desires to pay identical salaries with those to be paid by Orange County, Sonoma County could be eliminated from section 19*k* and be adequately provided for in a new section to be numbered 19*kk*.

By reason of the fact that the counties are treated in separate sections, I am of opinion that it will not be necessary to amend the sections other than those specifically pertaining to counties of the class or classes in which changes are proposed.

Very truly yours,

U. S. WEBB, Attorney General.

PRESENTATION OF PETITIONS.

The following petitions were presented, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Senator Inman:

January 15, 1921.

DEAR SIR: Just a line from the wife of an ex-service man and the sister of three others, on the subject of the bonus bill. Will you please tell Senator Scott (with all due regard to his sincere interest in the boys) to "sit down, he's rocking the boat."

We all know that under the present conditions a cash bonus is next to an impossibility, so why spoil our chance of getting anything. Of course, most of the boys would prefer a cash bonus, for exactly the same reason that a poverty stricken urchin would prefer a bag of candy to a pair of shoes.

I have never met an ex-service man who couldn't profit by either vocational training or help in paying for a home. If the State would lend a hand to the hundreds of young men who are trying to pay for a home, it might help solve this Jap problem that causes you Senators so much loss of sleep.

Sincerely yours,

MRS. MARGARET BEHRENT.
354 North C Street, San Mateo.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 16, 1921.

DEAR SIR: Seeing in the Examiner of today that there is a disposition not to accept the intent of the Scott bill, as to a cash bonus, I for one wish to say: I resigned from the United States Customs service, at the Port of San Francisco, to serve the United States in the great war. I served as a lieutenant in the navy, in European waters, for a period of thirteen months. According to the Scott bill I would be entitled to one hundred and thirty dollars. Such legislation would incur an additional heavy tax on the people of California.

I for one do not want any such legislation, for the reason that I consider it beneath the dignity of anyone with the courage to fight for his country to stand in line and be so cheap.

However, I would suggest this: As the people of this great State are overburdened with taxation, let the ex-service men help them out in this way: There are many that are in a position to improve their condition with financial assistance. There are also others that would appreciate, and accept, such assistance. This is a great State. We have thousands of acres of idle land that could be brought under cultivation by ex-service men if they were given the right kind of assistance. On the other hand, there are many owning lands, that could be brought under cultivation, if given financial assistance. In this way, the ex-service men, in addition to winning the war for the taxpayers, will help them to reduce their taxation.

Sincerely yours,

A. I. SMITH.

By the President:

SAN FRANCISCO, January 14, 1921.

DEAR SIR: By direction of the board of supervisors I am transmitting herewith copy of Resolution No. 18538 (new series), unanimously adopted by the board of supervisors at its meeting held January 3, 1921, favoring prompt and adequate bonuses for veterans of the World War.

Respectfully,

J. S. DUNNIGAN, Clerk.

By JOHN W. ROGERS, Chief Assistant Clerk.

WHEREAS, The States of Washington, North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, New York, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Maine have recently voted bonuses to the veterans of the World War; and

WHEREAS, No other measure submitted to the electorate has brought forth so emphatic an expression of popular approval;

WHEREAS, The Legislature of the State of California has this day convened, and now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That this board go on record as favoring prompt and adequate bonuses for the young men of this State who sacrificed all and left lucrative positions and business interests to defend their country; be it further

Resolved, That the Clerk of this board be and he is hereby directed to forthwith send a copy of this resolution to Hon. William D. Stephens, Governor of this State; to C. C. Young, Lieutenant Governor, and also to each member of the State Legislature.

Adopted by the board of supervisors January 3, 1921.

Ayes—Supervisors Bath, Deasy, Hayden, Hilmer, Hynes, Lahaney, McLeran, McSheehy, Mulvihill, Nelson, Powers, Schmitz, Shannon, Suhr, Welch, Wolfe—16.

Absent—Supervisors Power, Scott—2.

J. S. DUNNIGAN, Clerk.

Approved January 6, 1921.

JAMES ROLPH, JR., Mayor.

By Senator Dennett:

AUBURN, January 15, 1921.

WHEREAS, The subject of water storage and irrigation is of paramount importance to the development and prosperity of this State; and

WHEREAS, A general and comprehensive plan of storage and irrigation is being advocated by the California Irrigation Association in furtherance of what is known as the Marshall Plan; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Placer County Farm Bureau favors an appropriation of State funds by our present Legislature to pay the cost of the necessary preliminary services for this project, and we request that the members from our district support such a measure;

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the chairman of the Irrigation Committee of both the Assembly and the Senate and the Assemblymen and Senator from this District, and one to the State Farm Bureau Federation and all county farm bureaus.

THE PLACER COUNTY FARM BUREAU.
JOHN A. LIVINGSTON, President.

MAUDE ELKUS, Secretary.

In accordance with section 1 of article VII of the constitution of California, I hereby transmit to you a list of the cases of pardon, commutation and reprieve granted by me from January 9, 1919, to December 4, 1920. The list is as follows:

PARDONS.

GROVER C. ROGERS, pardoned January 23, 1919. Convicted in Fresno County of kidnapping and sentenced October 3, 1908, to term of twenty years in Folsom Prison. Pardon recommended by Superior Judge M. F. McCormick, who, as district attorney, prosecuted, and by Superior Judge H. Z. Austin, who imposed the sentence.

GEORGE KOSTA, pardoned March 31, 1919. Convicted in the city and county of San Francisco of arson in the first degree and sentenced June 5, 1910, to term of twenty-five years in San Quentin Prison. Pardon recommended by Superior Judge George H. Cabaniss; also by Reverend D. O. Colegrove of San Jose, who made investigation.

O. L. BLUNKALL, pardoned April 19, 1919. Convicted in Tehama County of grand larceny and sentenced February 14, 1916, to serve four years in San Quentin Prison. Term expired February 19, 1919. Pardon recommended by Judge J. F. Ellison, who imposed sentence, and by N. A. Gernon, who, as district attorney, prosecuted.

HENRY J. BLUNKALL, pardoned April 19, 1919. Convicted in Tehama County of grand larceny and sentenced February 14, 1916, to term of four years in San Quentin Prison. Term expired February 19, 1919. Recommended by Judge J. F. Ellison, who imposed the sentence, and by N. A. Gernon, who, as district attorney, conducted prosecution.

ALBERT FRANCIS WATSON, pardoned April 21, 1919. Convicted in San Joaquin County of burglary, and sentenced March 31, 1914, to serve ten years in San Quentin Prison. On parole he became a private in the machine gun company of 364th infantry during the war. He was in thick of fighting in Argonne Forest. Former District Attorney Folts of San Joaquin County, who conducted prosecution, and Superior Judge J. A. Plummer, who imposed the sentence, recommended pardon.

CLARENCE R. DEVEREUX, pardoned May 3, 1919. Convicted in the city and county of San Francisco of obtaining money under false pretenses and sentenced to imprisonment for three years, by Superior Judge George H. Cabaniss, who suspended sentence upon condition that Devereux undergo one year of confinement in the county jail of the city and county of San Francisco. Judge Cabaniss explained that inadvertently a probation officer was not appointed, and he therefore asked for pardon of prisoner. Aylett R. Cotton, assistant district attorney of San Francisco, joined in request.

T. J. BROWN, pardoned May 29, 1919. Convicted in Tulare County of bigamy and sentenced May 18, 1915, to term of six years in San Quentin Prison. Pardon recommended by Warden J. A. Johnston, Owen Duffy, manager of Napa State Farm, Superior Judge Wallace, who imposed sentence, and District Attorney Lamberson of Tulare County.

RUSSELL MILLER, pardoned May 29, 1919. Convicted in Placer County of rape and sentenced on July 15, 1916, to serve term of five years at Folsom Prison. Pardon recommended by Advisory Pardon Board, by Superior Judge J. E. Prewett, District Attorney J. B. Landis and County Clerk Fleming of Placer County.

JAMES L. DAUSMAN, pardoned May 29, 1919. Convicted in Sonoma County of embezzlement and sentenced on May 1, 1917, to serve three years in San Quentin Prison. Served in U. S. Army during war. Pardon recommended by Judge Emmet Seawell, who imposed sentence, and by Advisory Pardon Board.

PEDRO A. BERNAL, pardoned June 7, 1919. Convicted in Santa Clara County of lewd and lascivious conduct and sentenced July 6, 1917, to serve one year in San Quentin Prison. Clemency recommended by Superior Judge J. R. Welch, who presided at trial; by former District Attorney A. M. Free on condition that prisoner should be held for observation; by former State Senator Frank H. Benson, who declared his belief that Bernal was not guilty; by Walter G. Mathewson, J. O. Hayes, Nicholas Bowden and Ray W. Harden, and other citizens of Santa Clara County.

JEFFERSON GRIFFITH, pardoned June 10, 1919. Convicted in San Joaquin County of burglary in the first degree and sentenced March 9, 1913, to serve ten years in Folsom Prison. Served in France with the 91st Division and fought through the Argonne battle. Term would have expired on September 9, 1919. Relieved of three months of sentence because of service in army.

ARMADO ARMENTA, pardoned June 10, 1919. Convicted in Los Angeles County of murder in 1883 and received at Folsom November 23, 1883, to serve life sentence. Recommended by Advisory Pardon Board.

FRANK FORD CARLILE, pardoned June 16, 1919. Convicted in Sonoma County on February 3, 1913, of assault with intent to commit murder, and sentenced to term of fourteen years in San Quentin Prison. Pardon recommended by Judge Emmet Seawell, who imposed sentence; by Hon. Clarence F. Lea, who, as district attorney, conducted prosecution; W. W. Felt, county clerk of Sonoma County; George H. Warfield, president of the Healdsburg National Bank; A. S. Foster, and R. R. Byrnes, sheriff of Mendocino County.

DAVID I. DAVIDSON, pardoned May 10, 1919. Convicted of murder in Kern County on December 11, 1897, and sentenced to life imprisonment in San Quentin Prison. Recommended by Advisory Pardon Board.

ANTONIO FODERA, pardoned July 11, 1919. Convicted in Santa Clara County on April 23, 1916, of failing to stop his motor vehicle and render assistance to person injured, and sentenced to term of five years in San Quentin prison. Pardon recommended by Judge W. A. Beasly, who sentenced Fodera; by Associate Justices Henry A. Melvin, Thomas J. Lennon of the Supreme Court; by Rolla V. Watt and John F. Davis, of San Francisco, and former State Senator Frank H. Benson.

JOHN TULLY, pardoned July 27, 1919. Convicted in city and county of San Francisco of murder in first degree and sentenced to life imprisonment in San Quentin Prison, where he was received on October 3, 1916. Pardoned on statement of Warden J. A. Johnston and Dr. L. L. Stanley, prison physician, that prisoner was about to die. Relatives and friends petitioned that he be permitted to die outside the prison walls.

RAYMOND J. VENING, pardoned September 12, 1919. Convicted of embezzlement in Los Angeles County May 21, 1917, and sentenced to three years in San Quentin Prison. Term expired June 30, 1919. Clemency recommended by Judge Gavin W. Craig, who imposed sentence, and by Advisory Pardon Board.

RESOLUTION—(OUT OF ORDER).

By consent of the Senate, the following resolution was offered out of the regular order:

By Senator Purkitt:

WHEREAS, The State of California, at heavy expense to the taxpayers thereof, maintains the State University at Berkeley for the education of its citizens; and

WHEREAS, Said university has asked this Legislature for largely increased appropriations for the support of said institution; and

WHEREAS, It has been openly charged through the public press that said university is educating an unduly large proportion of foreign and nonresident students at the expense of the State; therefore, in order to ascertain whether discrimination is made against resident students in favor of foreign and nonresident students, and whether there exists a necessity for the increased appropriation asked for, be it

Resolved, by the Senate, That a committee of five Senators be appointed, with directions to ascertain and report the following facts:

1. The number respectively of resident and nonresident and foreign students enrolled in said university.
2. The number of resident students "flunked out" by the university authorities at the end of the last semester.
3. The number of foreign and nonresident students "flunked out" at the same time.
4. Whether the work of students is graded by other students or by teachers and professors.
5. The average annual expense per student of maintaining said institution.
6. The annual tuition fee, if any, charged nonresident and foreign students.
7. Any other facts which, in the judgment of the committee, tend to show discrimination or the necessity for increase of appropriation.

Resolution referred to Committee on Universities, and ordered printed in Journal.

By the President:

LOS ANGELES, January 16, 1921.

Resolved, By this great concourse of Los Angeles voters on this first anniversary of constitutional prohibition, that messages be sent to Governor Stephens and the presiding officers of the Senate and Assembly, calling attention to the fact that Los Angeles City and County, Fresno City and County, Bakersfield City and Kern County have passed ordinances in complete harmony with the Volstead National Enforcement Law, and we urge that California take similar action. While expressing hearty appreciation for past record and confidence in the administration, we call upon our Governor and Legislature to complete the job and place our State in line with other states and with the nation.

MRS. C. C. ASHLEY, Chairman of the Meeting.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The following message from the Governor was received, and on motion of Senator Breed, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

To the Members of the Senate and Assembly.

There will be introduced today a group of eight bills to which I call your earnest attention. They deal with the subject of governmental economy and efficiency, and the consolidation of many boards, commissions and other state agencies. The problem is one that commands the interest of the people of California and claims a large part of our attention at this session. I therefore deem it my duty to point out the things sought to be accomplished in this legislation, and at the same time give reasons why in my judgment the particular means proposed should be resorted to.

I wish again to speak in commendation of the valuable services rendered to the state two years ago by the "Boynton Efficiency Committee," which, after several months of labor, filed a comprehensive report on the general subject of state reorganization. The work done by this committee is an invaluable contribution to the development of an intelligent plan of reorganizing our state government along lines of efficiency and economy. The plan involved such decided and untried changes in our governmental system that it seemed prudent to make a beginning. We therefore adopted one of the governmental units along the lines then suggested for the purpose of having some concrete evidence not only of the practical working advantage of the system proposed, but of the actual economies in money and service. This evidence we now have before us in tangible form. In the operation of the Department of Agriculture so created this department has not only functioned with increased efficiency, as compared with many of the boards and offices theretofore performing the functions that were transferred to the department, but in the matter of expenditures I am informed by the Board of Control that there has been substantial saving. Not only in actual saving of money is this success evidenced, but in more and better service rendered for each dollar expended; and the increased service to the State from the consolidation of these various activities in the Agricultural Department has been so marked as to justify the experiment and warrant us in proceeding further.

While these bills now introduced make some changes and modifications of the Boynton Committee recommendations, they proceed upon the same fundamental lines and have the same common object, to wit, the abolition of many boards and commissions; the elimination of duplication and overlapping, and the consolidation, so far as our constitution, laws and the public good permit, of such governmental agencies and activities as efficiently and economically group themselves together.

The legal advice given me constrains me to abandon my original desire to present a single comprehensive bill dealing with the entire subject matter, and to resort to a number of different bills for the accomplishment of what is, after all, but one purpose. The proposal of a single bill was abandoned when my attention was called to the attempt made nearly twenty years ago to revise a Code by the enactment of a single, comprehensive bill which, to lay minds, dealt logically and effectively with a single subject matter. A subsequent legal attack was made upon the validity of such legislation, and the Supreme Court of this State in the case of Lewis vs. Dunne, 134 Cal., 291, by unanimous decision, held that under the constitution of California such a comprehensive statute dealing, it is true, with but one system of legal procedure, but covering many important subjects thereunder, could not be included in one bill. I have been warned, in view of this decision, that an attempt to reorganize our governmental agencies by a single statute would be equally invalid and fatal to the successful accomplishment of what I deem to be your purpose as well as mine. Let me emphasize the fact that I should have preferred to have included the entire subject of state reorganization in a single bill, so that the whole plan might be dealt with as one legislative enactment; and let me repeat that the only thing that has deterred me from adopting this course is the warning of the legal invalidity of such a procedure.

With these prefatory statements, I invite your scrutiny of the proposed bills and beg the liberty of pointing out to you the reasons that underlie some of the changes suggested, as well as giving you some explanations for the retention of certain boards which may seem to be superfluous in the light of the recommended reorganization. The bills respond to a prevailing present-day judgment in favor of centralization of power and consequent fixing of certain responsibilities. In other words, the movement is toward centralization, the elimination of separated boards and others with duplicated functions and the substitution therefor of single departmental heads.

The first of the bills provides a new article to be added to the Political Code containing certain general provisions applying to all departments which are created by the proposed reorganization plan. In this article the clearly declared policy is to vest in the Governor the civil administration of the laws, and to divide the general subject of executive and administrative work into departments with heads appointed by the Governor, responsible to the Governor and holding office at his pleasure. This is in harmony with the provisions of sections 1 and 7 of article V of the constitution, which provide:

> "The supreme executive power of this state shall be vested in a chief magistrate, who shall be styled the Governor" and "He shall see that the laws are faithfully executed."

The power is expressly given to the head of each department, subject to the approval of the Governor, to arrange and classify the work, to adopt necessary rules and regulations and to assign to the employees thereof such labors as may be conducive to the utmost efficiency. The full significance of these broad powers given to the department heads will be understood after a perusal of the submitted bills and a realization of the many activities merged into one department.

While a substantial financial saving will be accomplished by the adoption of these reorganization laws, in my judgment a greater money saving as well as increased efficiency will be attained by this grant of power to the department heads to assign all the employees of the department, and to make the temporary transfers of employees between branches of the department whenever there may occur a shortage of work in one branch and an excess of work in another.

Within the departments are created various divisions, each in charge of a chief to be appointed by the head of his department and to receive such compensation as may be fixed by law. A certain flexibility is obtained by enabling the head of the department, with the approval of the Governor, to create additional divisions as the needs of the department may require. Provision is also made for the fixing of salaries by the department head in accordance with the Civil Service standards. Control is retained by the Legislature in the matter of salary fixing, through the appropriations made for salaries in the department. Ample provision is made to protect the civil service standing of the employees in these departments.

Provision is further made for a detailed report to the Legislature by each department at least sixty days prior to the biennial session of each Legislature. The Attorney General is made the legal adviser of the departments and is empowered, upon the request of any department, to direct the district attorney of any county to appear in any hearing or prosecution under any law which the department is required to administer.

The first bill concludes with provisions transferring the powers and jurisdictions of the present boards and commissions to the newly created departments. Thus far the general provisions applicable to all of the departments intended to be created have been dealt with.

The second bill creates the Department of Finance, in which have been consolidated the powers and duties of the following boards, officials and commissions when not expressly abolished by the bill: The State Board of Control, State Purchasing Department, Superintendent of Capitol Building and Grounds, State Commission in Lunacy, Boards of Managers of the Stockton State Hospital, Napa State Hospital, Agnews State Hospital, Norwalk State Hospital, Southern California State Hospital,

Mendocino State Hospital, Sonoma State Home, Board of Trustees of Pacific Colony, Board of Directors of the Industrial School for Adult Blind, Board of Trustees of Whittier State School, Board of Trustees of Preston School of Industry, Board of Trustees of California School for Girls, Board of Trustees of California Industrial Farm for Women, Superintendent of State Printing, Motor Vehicle Department, Superintendent of Motor Vehicle Department, State Librarian, State Dental Surgeon, General Superintendent of State Hospitals, Children's Agents, Department of Public Accounting, Board of Trustees State Burial Grounds, Board of Cohen Hall Trustees, Board of Monterey Custom House Trustees, Board of Pio Pico Mansion Trustees, Board of Sutter's Fort Trustees, Capitol Planning Commission, California Redwood Park Commission, and Historical Survey Commission.

The work of the department is divided into seven divisions, to be known respectively as the division of institutions, the division of budget and accounts, the division of purchases and custody, the division of printing, the division of motor vehicles, the division of capitol building and grounds, and the division of libraries and history.

The chief of each of the three divisions of institutions, of budgets and accounts and of purchases and custody, is to receive a salary of $5000 a year, which is the present salary paid to each of the three members of the Board of Control. The chiefs of the other divisions, such as printing, motor vehicle, capitol building and grounds and libraries are likewise to receive the present salaries paid for like character of work. It is provided that the chiefs of the three divisions of institutions, budgets and accounts and of purchases and custody shall constitute the governing body of the Department of Finance, and that each of the division chiefs shall be in charge of his own particular division. Certain constitutional requirements concerning the State Board of Control make it necessary to retain nominally this board, and therefore it is expressly provided that these three chiefs shall be ex officio members of the State Board of Control. The reasons for this apparent departure from the principle of individual department control are certain constitutional provisions dealing with the authorization and issue of bonds, in which bond issues the specific sanctioning of the chairman of a State Board of Control is indispensable. In addition board action is required for the final determination of the state budget, a duty of such great importance and magnitude that in my judgment it will be more wisely and equitably performed by a board than by a single individual.

The active control of all state institutions, save those of an educational character, is centralized in the chief of the division of institutions. Thereby we obtain an administration of uniform policy by a single responsible head for all these institutions, instead of having the management of such institutions, geographically widely separated, under the control of a number of uncoordinated boards without common policy.

The bill retains purely advisory boards for these institutions without power of any kind except visitation and advice. No compensation is allowed. The bill itself provides for quarterly meetings only, which in my judgment will limit the traveling expenses to a nominal sum. I deem it quite proper at this time to submit my reasons for the retention of even these advisory boards to certain of our institutions. A general classification of the institutions is made: those dealing with the custody and control of wards as distinguished from those having none but a perfunctory control. The first class includes the hospitals, reformatories, and homes in which the state lodges, feeds and clothes its wards. All other institutions belong to the second class. In making this segregation and recommending the retention of advisory boards for the former class of institutions, I am guided by the experience of other states and the best available opinion of those having experience with institutional life.

The wards of the state are the ailing, the defective and the wayward. Over them the state holds the protecting, as well as the deterring parental hand. Experience, unfortunately, has too frequently shown the tendency of institutional experts to lose sight of the human factor in dealing with this class of dependents and wards. Experience has also shown the value of outside, even inexpert contact with these institutions, the beneficent influence of the ordinary every-day human being, whose views and tenderness frequently soften the strict expert discipline of the trained institutional man. I believe the state owes it to itself, as well as to its wards and their friends and relatives, to accord to these institutions the influence of these boards, the members of which serve the state in this worthy and humanitarian work without compensation other than the satisfaction of aiding the unfortunates.

The bill preserves the State Board of Charities and Corrections, uncontrolled by any department or chief of department, and retaining all of its present powers of visitation, inspection and correction. In my judgment, there should exist some independent body possessing these powers that may at all times act as a mediary or correctional agent between the wards of the state and official control of such wards.

The third bill proposed adds to the Department of Agriculture the functions of the State Superintendent of Weights and Measures, the State Board of Forestry, the State Fish and Game Commission, the State Market Director and the State Market Commission. I shall not pause at this time longer than merely to refer again to the exceptional economies effected by the Department of Agriculture as it was constituted two years ago, and to express my confidence that the transfer of these additional responsibilities to this department will be amply justified. In addition to the existing divisions, the bill contemplates additional divisions for fish and game, forestry, markets and weights and measures. The Fish and Game Commission is abolished and a single chief is substituted. A Board of Forestry, to consist of five members serving without compensation and having only advisory powers, seems justified by the geographical extent of our state and the diversity of forestry problems presented.

The fourth bill creates a Department of Education. In the creation of this department we are confronted with certain problems arising by reason of the fact that so many of our offices and boards are constitutional, and therefore the powers can not be curtailed nor can they be shifted in such a way as wholly to accomplish a consolidation along the lines of the general plan. An executive officer is created to be known as the director of education and the work of the department is divided into two divisions; first, the division of text books, certification and trust funds, and, second, the division of normal and special schools. For the first division the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and the State Board of Education are continued as required by the constitution. The second division is given certain powers heretofore possessed by the respective boards and trustees of the state normal schools, California Polytechnic School and the California School for the Deaf and Blind. In this way all the educational institutions are made closely correlated and placed under the charge of one department.

The fifth bill creates a Department of Public Works, to be conducted under the control of a division chief, who is also Director of Public Works and State Engineer. The work of the department is divided into four divisions, to be known respectively as the Division of Engineering, the Division of Irrigation, the Division of Highways, and the Division of Lands. A Board of Public Works is retained, consisting of the Governor, Director of Public Works and State Engineer, the chief of the Division of Irrigation and three other members to be appointed by the Governor. This board is to consider and advise upon matters of department policies and plans of development. The three appointed members of the Board of Public Works compose a subdivision of the Department of Public Works designated as the California Highway Commission. The Governor designates the [illegible] upon becomes a member of the Highway Finance Board. Preservation of this title and commission is necessary by reason of reference thereto in certain bond issues heretofore voted by the people. Moreover, the state has embarked upon a program of forty millions of dollars of highway construction. The creation of this department will consolidate the State Engineer, the State Land Settlement Board, the State Water Commission, the State Highway Engineer and the California Highway Commission into one department, and will abolish the Carey Act Commission and the advisory board to the Carey Act Commission. The general purpose of the bill is to put into one department all the big constructive work to be done by the state.

At the last session of the Legislature, the Department of Agriculture was created. The Horticultural Commissioner, Board of Horticultural Examiners, State Dairy Bureau, State Veterinarian, Stallion Registration Board, Viticultural Commission, Cattle Protection Board, and Board of Citrus Fruit Shipping were abolished, and the powers and duties of such boards and others were transferred to the Department of Agriculture.

The sixth bill creates the Department of Labor, with a Director of Labor at its head. The work of the department is divided into two divisions, the first to be known as the Division of Employment and Statistics, and the second as the Division of Industrial Relations. The director of the department is made ex officio chief of the first division, and a Board of Industrial Welfare is made the head of the second division. The members of this board receive no compensation. This board succeeds to all the powers of the present Industrial Welfare Commission to [illegible] of minimum wages, and the establishment of hours and conditions of labor for women and minors, and is to exercise the powers of the present Immigration and Housing Commission in so far as the same relate to the prescribing of rules and regulations regarding immigration and housing. This board thus exercises the judicial power previously conferred upon the former boards, while the duty of enforcing its decisions is placed upon the director of the department. To the head of the department is given full power to enforce all labor laws and the rules, regulations and orders of this board. It is appropriate to confide the important judicial task of making findings of fact on such matters as minimum wage, hours of employment, conditions of labor and housing regulations upon a board. In the creation of this department we abolish the State Bureau of Labor Statistics, the office of Commissioner of the State Bureau of Labor Statistics, the Industrial Welfare Commission and the Immigration and Housing Commission.

The seventh bill creates the Department of Professional Standards. In this department are merged all the duties heretofore exercised by the various state boards empowered to examine applicants for license to practice certain professional callings. The following boards are abolished: Accountancy, Architecture, Dental Examiners, Embalmers, Library Examiners, Medical Examiners, Optometry, Pharmacy and Veterinary Medicine. The head of this department succeeds to all the powers at present possessed by these boards, but is authorized to select from time to time temporary boards of three persons, each from the profession concerned, to conduct examinations of applicants for license and hear charges of professional misconduct.

These examining boards serve without compensation. The duty of enforcing such laws as the narcotic law, prohibiting practicing professions without license, etc., is imposed upon the head of this department.

The eighth bill amends the present Civil Service statute in accordance with the recommendation of the Boynton Efficiency Committee, by substituting in lieu of the present commission a board consisting of three members, one of whom shall be the executive member and the other two but associate members. An important change is the matter of compensation. In lieu of $5000 per annum now paid to the three commissioners, the bill provides that the executive member of the commission shall receive $5000 per annum, and be required to devote all his time to the office. A per diem compensation is allowed the two associate members, the total not to exceed $900 each in any one year.

In the bills you will note that I have refrained from proposing any change affecting the Legislative Counsel Bureau. This has been done because that Bureau is really an adjunct to the Legislature.

Several bills, other than those herein discussed, have been prepared and submitted. They have for their purpose the repeal of certain statutes and will serve to abolish certain boards and commissions that have ceased to function.

We already have several departments with departmental heads, such as the Superintendent of Banks, Insurance Commissioner, Building and Loan Commissioner, Real Estate Commissioner and Corporation Commissioner, which apparently are not subject to practical consolidation with any of the other governmental agencies. This was also the conclusion reached by the Boynton Efficiency Committee.

After a careful comparison of statutory and constitutional provisions, it has been found that in the case of the Corporation Commissioner, who authorizes the issue of corporate securities, that it is impossible to merge his functions with the Railroad Commission, which authorizes the issue of utility securities, inasmuch as the Commissioner is a statutory officer, while the Railroad Commission's duties are prescribed by the constitution.

It was found equally infeasible to merge the functions of the Building and Loan Commissioner with the Bank Commissioner. Savings banks and building and loan institutions receive their deposits in general from the savings of people. The building and loan associations usually accept small deposits on fixed terms while savings banks ordinarily receive deposits payable on demand. The difference in their financial methods and purposes is an important one. They are competitors for the same credits and any attempt to merge them would, in my judgment, be an attempt to merge antagonistic and competitive interests.

The Insurance Commissioner can not, in my judgment, be dealt with save as a single unit, unless constitutional amendments are some day adopted that will permit the entire system of trade, commerce and finance to be adjusted. The same thing is true of the Real Estate Commissioner.

By no logical classification can the State Mining Bureau be put under any of the departments proposed, inasmuch as it is now conducted by a departmental head, and of itself responds to the principles sought to be put into execution by these bills. It has been deemed wise to let the Bureau stand as it now exists.

Upon the fundamental theory maintained throughout of retaining boards exercising judicial functions, no attempt has been made to interfere with the Industrial Accident Commission. It is essentially the poor man's court, created to afford relief to him who in the discharge of his occupational duties suffered misfortune.

The State Board of Health, dealing with the single important subject of public health and sanitation, is a constitutional board. Its functions can not be trenched upon.

The Railroad Commission, which deals with the entire subject of public service, derives all its powers from the constitution. The powers granted by the constitution can not be interfered with.

It has been found impossible for obvious financial reasons to disturb the Reclamation and Irrigation Boards without jeopardizing the validity of outstanding bond issues as well as those now under way. The same reason applies to the various small district reclamation and irrigation boards.

There are two cogent reasons for leaving the State Board of Harbor Commissioners as it now stands. In the first place, the State of California has voted bond issues in excess of $16,000,000 to be handled by the State Board of Harbor Commissioners. Of this amount about one-half has already been issued and the other half is in reserve to issue when the needs of the Board require it. Another reason is, one that looks to future harbor development. Modern transportation recognizes that a harbor such as the San Francisco harbor can not be a local project. It is essentially the harbor of every county bordering upon it and the natural harbor and outlet of most of northern California. In my judgment it will not be very long before the State of California will treat the harbor of San Francisco as modern harbor engineers are treating similar ports. The New York Harbor is no longer even a state project. It has become an interstate project. The same situation is true of New Orleans and other eastern harbors. The State Board of Harbor Commissioners should be preserved as the necessary instrumentality for the operation of the harbor in San Francisco along modern port and harbor lines.

In the foregoing comments, I have but touched upon the salient features of these bills, and have in only a slight way referred to the various commissions and offices abolished as well as those consolidated. In the case of the offices, boards and commissions abolished, the state will save not merely the direct items of compensation and the expense of the boards, commissions and offices themselves, but also the larger expense incurred in their work. Numerous deputies, officers, agents, attorneys, and employees are dispensed with. Nor have I sufficiently called attention to the larger economies effected with equal, if not superior efficiency, by reason of that flexibility which can (but is impossible with scattered boards, officials and conflicting authority) be obtained by merging so many state activities in one departmental head.

It is no doubt true that under existing conditions, with the rigid but necessary system of legislative appropriation, some departments are frequently strained to the utmost in the discharge of their duties at a time when other departments are but slightly burdened. Instead of disorganization of a force by dismissal in the latter case, and in place of the inevitable inefficiency of employing temporary help in times of rush and stress, the power given in the creation of these departments to the respective heads thereof, will, in my judgment, take care of the state's needs at a substantial saving in salary cost.

In recommending for your favorable consideration these bills, I recognize in the draftsmanship thereof a human fallibility, but I am firmly convinced that the reorganization of our government along the lines indicated will be a marked step forward. Indeed, I am hopeful that the result of the present changes may be a complete justification for a more comprehensive reorganization of our state activities. A complete reorganization can not be accomplished, however, without substantial constitutional changes.

In submitting these measures, I do so with the sanguine feeling that I have your full cooperation in my determined purpose of attaining such economies and efficiencies as are possible. I ask your consideration of these bills in the spirit of that cooperation that I know I have from you.

No single function or duty of the state is by any of these measures curtailed or discontinued. On the contrary, the fusion or merger of activities will give us the much desired economy, and, at the same time, a greater efficiency and a more beneficial functioning than we have attained in the past. The people of this state are anxiously and properly looking to every governmental agency, federal and municipal, as well as state, to curtail expense and maintain efficiency. We are but servants of the people seeking to discharge a solemn obligation imposed upon us. While we can not control expenditures authorized by the people themselves, we can control unnecessary expense in the functioning of governmental agencies.

We shall have gone a long step forward by reorganizing our state as proposed by these bills, and consolidating into six or seven departments a large number of state boards, commissions and other officials.

In this common service, which we are both anxious to render to the commonwealth, I urge your earnest and mature deliberation and effective cooperation. The task before us is an important one. Its very size challenges the best thought that we all possess. I trust you will find in these bills the accomplishment of our common purpose of rendering to the people of this state the greatest possible service at the least possible cost.

Respectfully submitted.

WM. D. STEPHENS,
Governor.

By Senator Arbuckle: Senate Bill No. 274—An act to control the spread of the walnut codling moth; to govern the movement of and treatment of any shipment of walnuts, sacks, trays and other orchard appliances into or from any premises or districts known and believed to be infested with the walnut codling moth; to make rules and regulations for such or other control of said pest, and to provide a penalty for the violation thereof.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Agriculture.

By Senator Harris: Senate Bill No. 275—An act to amend an act entitled "An act to prevent the manufacture or sale of dairy products from unhealthy animals, or that are produced under unsanitary conditions; to prevent deception or fraud in the production and sale of dairy products and in the manufacture and sale of renovated butter and oleomargarine; to license the manufacture and sale of renovated butter, and oleomargarine; to regulate the business of producing, buying and selling dairy products, oleomargarine, renovated or imitation butter and cheese; to provide for the enforcement of its provisions and for the punishment of violations thereof, and appropriating money therefor, and to repeal section 17 of an act approved March 4, 1897, entitled 'An act to prevent deception in the manufacture and sale of butter and cheese, to secure its enforcement, and to appropriate money therefor,' and to repeal all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act and amendments thereto."

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Public Health and Quarantine.

By Senator Crowley: Senate Bill No. 276—An act to amend section 117 of the Political Code, relating to congressional districts.

Bill read first time, and referred to Committee on Reapportionment.

CONSIDERATION OF DAILY FILE.

THIRD READING OF SENATE BILLS.

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 5—Relative to the adjournment of the Legislature for the constitutional recess and to the reassembling of the Legislature after said recess and fixing the date for said adjournment and reassembling.

On motion of Senator Breed, Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 5 was passed on file.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 8.

Relating to an investigation of the procedure and decisions of the Railroad Commission.

WHEREAS, It is reported that a large number of consumers of products and services dispensed by public service corporations are dissatisfied with the decisions and procedure of the Railroad Commission of the State of California and are demanding relief; and

WHEREAS, Whether or not this dissatisfaction is well founded or is brought about by misinformation or ignorance of the legal points involved, it is for the best interest of both the people as a whole and of the commission itself that these consumers be given an opportunity to present their complaints and of expressing their views thereon to the end that the said commission may be restored to that confidence in the minds of the people that it once enjoyed, or if said complaints be found to be based upon facts, that a remedy be found through legislative action; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That the Speaker of the Assembly shall appoint three members and the President of the Senate shall appoint two members, comprising members of the Committees on Public Utilities in each House, who shall act as a committee of the Legislature to investigate the matters herein referred to and of affording the public an opportunity of presenting their complaints and their suggestions as to remedies; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall hold hearings during the constitutional recess to obtain data in regard to said matters and to submit their report thereon to the Committees on Public Utilities of both Houses on the first legislative day following the constitutional recess; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall have power to employ such assistants as it may deem necessary and that the expenses incurred in such investigation, not to exceed the sum of fifteen hundred dollars, shall be paid equally by the Assembly and Senate out of their respective contingent funds.

Resolution read.

The question being on the adoption of the resolution.

AYES—Senators Allen, Boggs, Breed, Canepa, Carr, E. M., Chamberlin, Crowley, Dennett, Duncan, Eden, Flaherty, Gates, Harris, Hart, Ingram, Inman, Irwin, Johnson, Lyon, Osborne, Otis, Rigdon, Rominger, Rush, Sample, Sharkey, Slater, and Yonkin—28.

NOES—None.

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 8 ordered transmitted to the Assembly.

Senate Bill No. 49—An act giving and granting to the Board of Park Commissioners of the city of San Diego the right to use and the right to authorize the use of Balboa Park in said city for exposition purposes.

On motion of Senator Sample, Senate Bill No. 49 was passed on file.

RECESS.

At twelve o'clock and ten minutes p.m., on motion of Senator Breed, the President declared the Senate at recess until the hour of three o'clock p.m.

RECONVENED.

At three o'clock p.m., the Senate reconvened.

Lieutenant Governor C. C. Young, President of the Senate, in the chair.

Secretary Grace S. Stoermer, at the desk.

MESSAGE FROM THE ASSEMBLY—(OUT OF ORDER.)

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 18, 1921.

MR. PRESIDENT: I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Assembly on this day passed, as a case of urgency, Senate Bill No. 62, An act making an appropriation to defray the expenses of legislative mailing handled by the Superintendent of State Printing, for the forty-fourth session of the Legislature of the State of California.

JEROME B. KAVANAUGH, Chief Clerk.
By E. E. EUSTICE, Assistant Chief Clerk.

Senate Bill No. 62 ordered to enrollment.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were presented, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Senator King:

In view of the tremendous importance of the revenue legislation that is under consideration, will you be good enough to read this letter to the Senate.

The State Board of Equalization in its letter to Governor Stephens of January 11, 1921, states that the average taxes paid by the non-operative property, that is, the general property in the State, for the current year amounted to $1.63 per one hundred dollars of its full value.

In order that the members of the Legislature and the people of California may have the facts in plain terms, we state that the railroads and street railroads are perfectly willing to pay the average rate of $1.63 per hundred dollars of the full value of their property in this State, and ask that such a value be placed on their railroads and street railroads in order that they may know at what amount their property is valued for tax purposes—a right enjoyed by all other property owners.

The Seavey Tax Commission, four years ago, valued the railroads and street railroads at $519,620,000. At the time it was made, we thought this valuation too high and because of the disastrous times during which the railroads and street railroads are passing, we think it is much too high a value for the present time. But, entirely in disregard of the fall in the value of public utility properties, the State Board of Equalization bases its proposal to raise the percentage rates on the gross earnings of the railroads and street railroads, entirely on the assumption that the value of the railroads and street railroads has increased during the last four years at the same rate as the gross earnings of the railroads and street railroads, that is by 47.5 per cent, an assumed amount so manifestly grotesque as to condemn as ridiculous the proposal of the State Board of Equalization that the percentage tax on gross earnings be increased from 5.25 to 7 per cent. The State Board of Equalization, however, nowhere openly declares that its proposal is based on this assumption for, if it did, its proposal would fail by the weight of its own absurdity. However, upon no other hypothesis could the State Board of Equalization propose that the percentage tax rates on gross earnings of the railroads and street railroads should be increased by 34.98 per cent, which is the percentage of increase in the tax rate that the State Board reports to have taken place on the general property since the Seavey tax report was made. If the railroads and street railroads were now valued at $519,620,000, the sum at which they were valued by the Seavey Tax Commission, their average tax rate would be $1.94 per one hundred dollars of full value against an average tax rate, reported by the State Board of Equalization, of $1.63 on the full value of the general property.

If the State will place a value on the railroads and street railroads it will become possible by direct and simple computations to determine whether the railroads and street railroads are now bearing their proportionate share of the total tax burden.

This statement is made because no man, unless extra- in the handling of figures, can understand the involved mathematical computations of the State Board of Equalization in its letter to Governor Stephens, and see just how they do the railroads and street railroads the gravest injustice.

We are sending a letter identical with this to the chairman of the Assembly Committee on Revenue and Taxation.

Respectfully submitted.

George G. Tunell, Commissioner of Taxes, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe System; D. V. Cowden, Tax Attorney, Southern Pacific Co.; Frank Karr, Chief Counsel, Pacific Electric Railway Co.; Clarence M. Oddie, Western Representative American Short Line Railroad Association; W. R. Alberger, Vice President and General Manager San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railways; Read G. Dilworth, General Counsel San Diego Electric Railway Co.; E. H. Maggard, Vice President and General Manager Petaluma & Santa Rosa Railroad Co.; D. M. Swobe, Vice President McCloud River Railroad; W. F. Palmer, President Northwestern Pacific Railroad; C. A. Contos, California Western Railway and Navigation Co.; S. M. Haskins, Attorney Los Angeles Railway Corporation; Lester J. Hinsdale, General Attorney Western Pacific Railroad Co.; W. V. Hill, Manager California Electric Railway Association.

January 17, 1921.

By Senator Breed:

Drum's figures submitted for banks show that on actual value of bank property and actual taxes paid in 1920, the ratio was 1.455, to true value after eliminating .045 paid for maintenance of State Banking Department. This was acknowledged by Seavey and Lack. They, however, contend that their ratio of 1.632 was arrived at by taking figures of 1916 made up by obtaining true value of certain typical properties and then by certain methods bringing these 1916 figures up to date. They hold that the same assumptions and theories that they have used in working out 1.632 should also be used in determining the bank ratio, irrespective of the actual facts pertaining to banks and actual payments made by the banks. In all fairness we insist that the method of arriving at 1.632 should be obtained in writing and in detail from Lack and Seavey, and also that they should give the method by which in applying the same formula to the banks 1.45 is obtained. Our figures show conclusively that our total present rate of 1.455 with the addition of 29 points to the State rate would make the average ratio paid by banks on true value 1.738 instead of 1.632. Will you not demand these data immediately from floor before any vote is taken, so that the figures themselves will show their inaccuracy and absurdity as compared with the actual facts presented by the banks.

CALIFORNIA BANKERS ASSOCIATION.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were received, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By the President:

WHEREAS, The effort of the United States to throw off the yoke of the liquor traffic and to become a sober people looks large in the interest of the whole civilized world, which gathers hope and inspiration from every victory in the struggle; and

WHEREAS, The constitution of the United States lays upon every state in the Union the duty of cooperation in the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment, which duty the State of California has hitherto declined to assume; and

WHEREAS, By its evasion of the Hotel Law, and by its failure to enact any other enforcement measure, California has deliberately registered herself as a state defying to the defiance of law, and has invited contempt for the constitution of the United States, and has confirmed in the minds of great numbers of foreign born residents and citizens of the United States the belief that our laws may safely and without rebuke be disregarded and defied; and

WHEREAS, The present administration of the State of California has hitherto given effective service to the cause of national prohibition, in that Governor William D. Stephens gave the strength of his influence, first, to the adoption of a plank in the platform of the Republican party in 1918, committing that party to a dry program; and second, to the ratification of the Eighteenth Amendment by the legislature of California, and third, to the enactment, by the Legislature of 1919, of the Harris Law; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, citizens of the city of Sacramento, in mass meeting assembled, in celebration of the ratification by the states of the Union of the Eighteenth Amendment, hereby record our conviction:

That the supreme issue before the State of California is the issue of respect for and obedience to law; and specifically, to the Eighteenth Amendment, as interpreted by the Supreme Court of the United States; and,

That the State of California cannot escape the odium and the guilt of disloyalty unless it shall obey the plain mandate of the constitution and of the Supreme Court of the United States, by enacting a law to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment, through the police and judicial machinery of the state; and be it further

Resolved, That we urge upon the Legislature of 1921 the passage of Senate Bill No. 4, and upon the administration that it should demonstrate its sense as a moral and political obligation to the nation, that we assure Senator Harris of our moral support of this measure, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to each branch of the State Legislature, to the Governor of the State, and that copies be furnished the press for publication.

Above resolution offered by C. M. Warner, A. F. Ritchie and H. P. Anderson and adopted at mass meeting held January 17, 1921.

MRS. J. L. HARBAUGH,
Secretary Sacramento Church Federation.

Also:

Be it resolved by the council of the city of Berkeley as follows:

WHEREAS, A bill has been prepared by the city attorney upon the recommendation of the committee appointed by the council for cooperating with the Regents of the University of California in the improvement of the memorial entrance to the campus, for the appropriation by the Legislature of money to be expended for the grading and repaving of Oxford street, in front of property owned by the University of California; and

WHEREAS, Said bill is about to be introduced in the Senate at the instance of Lieutenant Governor C. C. Young, and Senators A. H. Breed and A. P. Anderson, and in the Assembly at the instance of Assemblymen A. L. Saylor and A. A. Wendering; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of the council of the city of Berkeley that the necessary appropriation shall be made by the Legislature to be expended by the Board of Regents for the improvement of the property of the University of California fronting on Oxford street, in order that like improvement may be simultaneously made by other property owners along said street between Allston way and Hearst avenue, and be it further

Resolved, That the city clerk be and she is hereby instructed to forward a copy of this resolution to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the Assembly.

Dated January 4, 1921.

Adopted by the council of the city of Berkeley by the following vote: Ayes—Councilmen Bartlett, Harms, Heywood, Schmidt, and President Bartlett. Noes—None. Absent—None.

LOUIS BARTLETT,
Mayor and President of the Council.

Attest: E. M. HANN, City Clerk and Clerk of the Council.

Also:

Be it resolved by the council of the city of Berkeley as follows:

WHEREAS, The California State Automobile Association and other interested organizations are preparing a bill to be presented to the Legislature of the State of California, by which a portion of the funds derived under the Motor Vehicle Act of the State of California shall be apportioned to municipalities for the improvement of main thoroughfares therein; and

WHEREAS, College avenue and Telegraph avenue are properly parts of the State highway system leading to the University of California, through the city of Berkeley; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That this council requests the Legislature to enact a law permitting the use of a portion of the funds thus obtained for the improvement in part of portions of the State highway system within municipalities, and particularly permitting a contribution toward the improvement of College avenue and Telegraph avenue in Berkeley, said streets being parts of the State highway system to the University of California; be it further

Resolved, That the city clerk be and she is hereby instructed to forward a copy of this resolution to the President of the Senate and to the Speaker of the Assembly.

Dated January 4, 1921.

Adopted by the council of the city of Berkeley by the following vote: Ayes—Councilmen Bartlett, Harms, Heywood, Schmidt, and President Bartlett. Noes—None. Absent—None.

LOUIS BARTLETT,
Mayor and President of the Council.

Attest: E. M. HANN, City Clerk and Clerk of the Council.

HOLLYWOOD, January 16, 1921.

Resolved, That upon this, the anniversary of the going into effect of the Eighteenth Amendment to the constitution of the United States, emancipating this country from a condition of moral slavery, that the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Hollywood express its appreciation of the noble and untiring work of our Governor and legislators in the necessary endeavor to bring our laws into harmony with the provisions of the Volstead Act of the government; that we call upon them for renewed zeal and continuing efforts to bring this about by appropriate legislation; and that we assure them of our hearty support and cooperation at all times; be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be immediately sent to Governor Stephens, whose decided stand and untiring work have meant so much, not only to the people of this State, but of the nation; that a copy be sent to Lieutenant Governor Young, President of the Senate, whose allegiance to every moral cause has endeared him to the people of the State, and a copy to Henry W. Wright, Speaker of the Assembly, whose staunch efforts and work in the interests of State and national prohibition we recognize and appreciate.

Passed by the unanimous vote of the congregation Sunday morning, January 16, 1921.

LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, January 17, 1921.

His Excellency, William D. Stephens,
Governor of California, Sacramento, California.

SIR: In accordance with an act of the Legislature approved March 25, 1919, directing an investigation of the laws relative to roads and streets, I submit herewith the report called for in the act.

Respectfully submitted.

Legislative Counsel.

REPORT ON ROAD AND STREET LAWS BY THE LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL.

The statute calling for the investigation obviously directs particular attention to the consideration of consolidating and revising the street laws, to the end that the administration thereof may be rendered more simple and less burdensome.

We first assembled in loose leaf form a complete set of all the laws of this State in any way bearing upon the subject of roads, streets, highways, bridges, or ferries under the control of cities, counties or the State.

It then appeared that the several laws known as street improvement acts present the greatest source of confusion, and we therefore made a special study of that subject in the hope that a new and complete code of street improvement laws might be perfected.

A letter was sent to all of the city attorneys and district attorneys in the State and to other persons who might be interested in the subject, enclosing a copy of the statute directing the work to be done and inviting suggestions for amendment or revision. A copy of this letter is appended hereto, as exhibit "A." Numerous replies were received and suggestions made. These are appended hereto, as exhibits "B" to "J" inclusive.

This department sent representatives to the convention of the League of California Municipalities at Chico, November 8 to 10, 1920, who met with the city attorneys' section of the league for the consideration of amendments to the street laws. Excerpts from the principal address at the meeting of this section are appended hereto, as exhibit "K."

At this meeting a committee on revision of street improvement laws was appointed. The members of this committee were as follows: Messrs. C. N. Kirkbride, city attorney of San Mateo; D. J. Hall, city attorney of Richmond; Wm. J. Locke, city attorney of Alameda; R. M. Reed, city attorney of Oakdale; J. W. Coleberd, city attorney of South San Francisco; E. W. Matoon, assistant city attorney of Los Angeles; Albert Mansfield, city attorney of Redwood City; Raymond Leonard, city attorney of Oroville, and representatives of the Legislative Counsel Bureau.

The committee met at San Francisco on the eleventh day of December, 1920, at which conference various recommendations were adopted. Specific amendments to the various statutes will be presented by the representatives of the League of California Municipalities. Plans for revision and consolidation of the laws affecting streets are presented herein.

We made an examination of the street codes of other states, but do not recommend the adoption of any of them. To do so, in our opinion, would complicate rather than simplify the administration of the street laws of this State. However, as an illustration of a noteworthy codification of street improvement laws, we append hereto, as exhibit "L," an outline of the appropriate provisions of the statute of Pennsylvania relating to borough government.

It developed during our investigation, and at the conferences that were held, that it would be unwise to adopt a new street code. Some of the old acts, particularly the Vrooman Act, have been adopted and incorporated in several city charters. The public has grown accustomed to the names of these old acts. Many persons who have to do with the administration of the street laws hesitate to advocate an extensive revision and reenactment of a street code, if that should involve the repeal of existing provisions. This is true, not only in respect to any new street law that might be adapted from the code of another state, but even in respect to a mere revision of our own law.

Such was the experience in 1911 when the improvement act of that year was adopted. It was essentially a revision of the Vrooman Act of 1885 and the Bond Act of 1893. The committee that prepared that revision had hoped to repeal the old acts, but found it impossible to do so for the reason that the Vrooman Act had been incorporated by reference in numerous city charters. The proposal and adoption of a new act on the subject, consolidating existing provisions, would, in our opinion, enhance rather than mitigate the confusion that may now exist, were the old statutes to be left standing.

It, therefore, became necessary to devise, if possible, an alternative that would accomplish the purpose of a consolidation act. We believe that we have devised such a plan. It furnishes an opportunity of meeting the demand for codification and consolidation without necessitating the repeal of the fundamental substantive features of existing law.

This plan is an adaptation of the familiar principle of legislation by reference. The chief cause of confusion arises from the repetition of minor procedural features in various statutes adopted from time to time. In preparing a new act it obviously has been the practice to copy the detail provisions from one of the earlier statutes on the subject. By way of illustration we append hereto a table designating those sections of the Vrooman Act and the Improvement Act of 1911, which are substantially parallel. This is merely an illustration of the parallelism in respect to procedural details that runs all through the street improvement laws. This table is appended hereto, as Exhibit "M."

Another illustration of duplication and overlapping is furnished in the form of a brief summary of the several acts authorizing the issuance of bonds to represent assessments levied for street improvement work. This summary is appended hereto, as Exhibit "N."

If it be possible to standardize the minor procedural provisions and place them in the Political Code, under appropriate chapter, article and section numbers, they will become available for reference and may readily be incorporated into the several improvement acts such as the Vrooman Act, the Improvement Act of 1911, and the Improvement Act of 1919. Such incorporation could be accomplished by amending separately the existing statutes, eliminating from each the detailed procedural provisions, such as forms of notices, times for hearings, appeals from hearings and recording of assessment plats. The codified common or general provisions would at the same time be made a part of each of the said acts by reference. Each part so set, such as the Vrooman Act and the Improvement Act of 1911, would then contain only the fundamental substantive features with which they deal, and would, therefore, be greatly reduced in length.

An additional feature is included as an important part of the plan, to wit: The code sections embodying the proposed standardized provisions should not be self-executing, but should require further legislation to make them operative; that is, such provisions should become operative as law, in the sense of authorizing street work to be done thereunder, when, and only when, incorporated by reference into the several principal street improvement acts heretofore enacted or that hereafter may be adopted.

The best illustration of standardization as herein proposed is furnished by title III of part IV of the Political Code, comprised originally of sections 4351 to 4442, inclusive. Those sections contain general provisions applicable to cities, but not self-executing. They have become operative only to the extent that they have been incorporated by reference in special statutes chartering particular cities. In re Pfahler, 150 Cal. 71, 88.

For example, the statute incorporating the city of Marysville provided in part as follows:

"Section 1. The territory described in section 2 of this act, and the inhabitants therein residing, are hereby declared to be a municipal corporation, with the powers and under the provisions of title III of the Political Code of this State, to be known in law as the 'City of Marysville.'"

Then followed other sections containing provisions specially applicable to the city of Marysville. (Statutes 1875-6, p. 149.)

The device of incorporation by reference is not novel in the history of street laws. In 1913 the Improvement Act of 1911, the Vrooman Act, and the Bond Act of 1893 were respectively amended to extend the provisions thereof to county roadwork. Unfortunately the title of each act thus amended was restricted by its terms to work "within municipalities," and for that reason probably not susceptible to extension to outside territory.

In 1917 a legislative bill passed both Houses which provided for improvement work by counties in unincorporated territory. The text thereof was a copy verbatim of the provisions of the Improvement Act of 1911 except for the substitution of the word "county" for the word "city"; the words "county surveyor" for the words "superintendent of streets"; etc.

In 1919 another measure passed the two Houses of the Legislature which provided for improvement work in unincorporated territory. It was a short bill of one section. The first portion of the section followed very closely the provisions of section 1 of the Improvement Act of 1911, with appropriate changes in the wording so that it would apply to highways as well as to streets and to counties instead of to cities.

These illustrations would seem to indicate that there is a real need for a set of provisions properly sectionized and arranged and adapted for the purpose of incorporation by reference, in whole or in part, as the particular occasion may require.

A realization of this object is not attainable at present, by virtue of the fact that the incorporation of the provisions of an existing law (such as the Improvement Act of 1911) may incorporate too much. Thus, to extend and apply to county roadwork the provisions (suitable in cities) for sewers, sidewalks, poles and wires, and assessment plats showing the areas of all lots in square feet, might not be desirable.

It seems possible to place in the Political Code a set of provisions so sectionized, grouped, and arranged under suitable divisions and subjects, that, when desired either in amending existing laws or proposing new statutes, it will be possible to incorporate precisely the provisions needed and no more.

What part of the Political Code is available?

Part IV, consisting of five titles, beginning with section 3901 and ending with section 4462, relates to the "government of counties, cities, and towns."

If it were certain that Title III of Part IV were no longer needed, the sections in that title might be repealed and a new group relating to streets could be inserted. However, there are two or three cities still operating under special statutes enacted prior to the adoption of the constitution of 1879. It would not be possible to eliminate Title III.

We recommend the addition of a sixth title to Part IV of the Political Code comprising the proposed standardized provisions classified and arranged under appropriate chapters and articles. Bills, in skeleton form, to add such a title to the Code are appended hereto as Exhibit "O" to "V," inclusive.

In order to make available enough section numbers for this purpose, it will be necessary to renumber sections of Part V of the Political Code. A bill for this purpose, in skeleton form, is appended hereto as Exhibit "V."

In concluding this phase of the subject, we suggest that the adoption of this plan would accomplish the following results:

1. Local authorities and others would be relieved of an unnecessary burden in the administration of statutes relating to street improvements.

2. Mistakes that may now occur because of overlapping and duplication of minor provisions would be largely prevented.

3. Whenever legislative measures might be proposed for the purpose of authorizing new types of street improvements, attention could be focused upon the substantive features for the proposed measures could be in the form of short bills, not burdened with intricate procedural details.

4. The procedural details could more readily be perfected from time to time, because they would be assembled in one place and proper attention could more easily be focussed upon them. Under the present practice of presenting a great mass of procedural items at the same time that a new policy is offered, it is difficult for anyone to give any considerable attention to the procedural features while the policy of the bill is under consideration.

Though this report is confined to a consideration of the street laws, it may not be inappropriate to point out that the principle discussed herein is applicable not alone to the improvement acts. There is no sound reason why local administrative procedure should vary to the extent that our law does in such matters. The observation that we have made as to street laws can be made with equal force as to the laws governing municipal corporations generally, such as the numerous acts providing for change of boundaries and consolidation of cities; or the issuance, registration, and redemption of municipal bonds.

Judicial procedure furnishes a significant example by way of contrast. We have a single civil action. Summons is issued and return thereof is made in a certain time regardless of the subject matter of the action, and the defendant has a certain time in which to appear. The result is that whenever the Legislature creates a new right of action it is not necessary in the same statute to reenact the judicial procedure for the enforcement of that right. Nor is there any fundamental reason why any act declaring a new policy and authorizing a new type of street improvement or improvement district, should at the same time set forth all of the procedural provisions necessary to carry the new policy into effect.

Turning to matters less fundamental in character, we would suggest consideration of certain amendments and repeals that may be timely. They are as follows:

1. Sections fifty-seven to sixty-two, inclusive, were added to the Vrooman Act in 1913, purporting to extend the provisions of that act to unincorporated territory. The title of the principal act is expressly limited to work within municipalities.

These sections should be repealed. A bill to accomplish the purpose is appended hereto as Exhibit "W."

2. Sections ten to thirteen, inclusive, were added in 1913 to the Bond Act of 1893, purporting to extend the provisions of that act to unincorporated territory. These sections should be repealed for the reasons stated in paragraph one, above. A bill, therefor is appended as Exhibit "X."

3. The Sewer District Act of 1911 should be repealed. It has been held unconstitutional. See Brookes vs. City of Oakland, 169 Cal. 423. A bill for this purpose is appended hereto, as Exhibit "Y."

4. We suggest consideration of the question if an amendment of the Vrooman Act is necessary properly to revive the sidewalk provisions stricken [illegible] sions were superseded by an act of 1909 (Statutes of 1909 page 165). The latter act was repealed in 1911 and the repealing statute declared that the sidewalk provisions of the Vrooman Act should thereby be deemed revived (Statutes of 1911, page 618). We entertain serious doubt if a statute, or any portion thereof, can be re-enacted or revived in this manner.

5. The street opening and closing act of 1903 should be repealed. It is probably invalid as not conforming to the classification of cities which obtained in 1903. In this connection, see Darcy vs. Mayor, 104 Cal. 642. A bill to effect this repeal is appended hereto, as Exhibit "Z."

In conclusion, we wish to express our sincere thanks to those who rendered advice and counsel during the course of the inquiry.

LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL BUREAU, SACRAMENTO.

DEAR SIR: I am enclosing a copy of chapter XII of the Statutes of 1919 by which the Legislative Counsel is directed to examine the statutes of this and other states relating to roads, streets, highways and bridges, and to prepare for the use of the Legislature a report thereon.

I shall appreciate it very much if, at your earliest convenience, you will advise me of whatever occurs to you that may be of assistance in this connection.

Very truly yours,

LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL.

OFFICE OF DISTRICT ATTORNEY, VENTURA, CALIFORNIA.

DEAR SIR: In this county we feel that it would be [illegible] section 2646 of the Political Code amended so that it [illegible] give the board of supervisors power to employ a superintendent or engineer to have charge of repairing all roads therein constructed at the present time, [illegible] other roads or highways within the county that may have been [illegible] by a bond election.

In this county we are improving highways with a bond election, but not in conformity with the act of March 19, 1907. We have done away with the highway commission and the board of supervisors are constructing the roads with the funds derived from a sale of bonds.

I can see no reason why this should not be included, and believe it would be a splendid amendment, and know it would be most satisfactory to this county.

Yours truly,

DON G. BOWKER,
District Attorney.

EXHIBIT C.

COUNTY OF SACRAMENTO, OFFICE OF DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

DEAR SIR: In response to your letter I will send several suggestions that have occurred to me in advising on road work.

In section 4041, Political Code, subdivision IX, insert the word "hire." It is sometimes much cheaper to hire a caterpillar engine or other very expensive machinery than to purchase it, especially if it is for a small job.

In section 4041, Political Code, subdivision IX, add "and material to be used in construction work for the county."

In section 4041, Political Code, subdivision XXI, after word "material" add "to be used in construction work for the county."

In section 4041, Political Code, subdivision XXII, add "and it shall not be necessary for them to advertise for bids for materials to be used in construction work for the county when the work is to be done by day's work or by day labor as provided by law."

Section 2643, Political Code, subdivision XI, provides for day labor in constructing roads and section 4041, Political Code, subdivision VII, provides for day's work in constructing bridges, etc. These amendments would make plain that, in such event, the board could buy the materials without advertising. It has been construed that the board now has such power but this would be well to make clear, for, I understand some grand jury experts have questioned the right. As bearing upon this matter you might read the following cases: McCarthy vs. Board of Supervisors, 15 Cal. App. 576; Perry vs. City of Los Angeles, 157 Cal. 146, 150; Henry Cowell Lime and Cement Co. vs. Williams, dated April 19, 1920, Vol. 59 Cal. Dec. 499.

In section 2643, Political Code, subdivision XI, after the word "situated" in the clause providing for the bids to be rejected and the work done by day labor, insert "by day labor or by contract or by combination of both; if wholly or in part by contract, after the rejection of bids as above provided, the contractor to be paid the actual cost of material and labor expended by him in doing the work plus an amount not to exceed twenty per cent to cover all profit, supervision, use of machinery and tools and other expenses; provided that no more than the lowest current market prices shall be paid for material."

This provision is taken from the last lines of section 4041, Political Code, subdivision VII, as it stood in 1915. It is to allow a county to use what is called "force account," which is the method largely used on railroad work and now on nearly all work because of fluctuating costs of labor and material.

It would be well to insert the same clause in the body of section 4041, Political Code, subdivision VII, and not confine it only to emergency work.

In section 2643, Poltical Code, subdivision XI, after word "situated" in the clause dealing with rejection of bids which are too high, or immediately following the last suggestion, insert, "and in the event that no bids are received, the board may order the work to be so done."

In this county on many jobs but little over the one thousand dollar limit, no bids have been received; in such case I have advised the board that they may proceed as if the bid had been too high. This matter should be provided for specifically.

To Section 2643 Political Code, Sub. XI add a paragraph, "Whenever it appears proper or necessary, the board may cause any construction work done to be divided into sections or classes and let separate contracts therefor. Whenever any county has employed a purchasing agent, the board of supervisors thereof may by resolution determine in any construction work to be done for said county, to furnish to the contractor the material or supplies or any part thereof, to be used; and shall in such event purchase said material through said purchasing agent in the open market with or without advertising for bids; provided, however, that no material shall be furnished to a contractor unless the specifications contain a statement of the kind and amount of material to be furnished."

The first clause above is to cover the point that a proposed improvement may not be separated into different parts.

This is sanctioned by McPherson vs. San Joaquin County, 6 Cal. Unrep. 257; Perry vs. County of Los Angeles, 157 Cal. 150.

Doubt was cast upon this method by Cowell Lime and Cement Co. vs. Williams, Vol. 28, Cal. App. Dec. 189. But the method was finally approved in Cowell Lime and Cement Co. vs. Williams, Vol. 59, Cal. Dec. 499.

It should be made clear so that he who runs may read.

The second clause above is based upon the provisions found in Section 13*a* of the Highway Improvement Act, Statutes 1917, page 1374. This method had proved a great benefit, especially in furnishing cement, thus removing any temptation for a contractor to stint the number of barrels in any mixture.

To Section 2643 Political Code, Subdivision XI add a paragraph, "Whenever a highway is once improved by oil, macadam, concrete or other permanent improvement and accepted by the Board of Supervisors it may be placed upon a continuous basis of repair such as provided for highways improved under a county bond issue and may be repaired in the same manner and the cost of such maintenance and repairs may be paid out of the county general fund, the general road fund, the district fund of the district or districts benefited, or the county highway maintenance fund."

This is to cover repairs on roads built other than under a bond issue. In this county we have some stretches of road built out of the general fund, other than by Section 2643 Political Code, Subdivision X.

Act 1468*a* General Laws (small) or Statutes 1911, Chapter 709, and Section 2646 Political Code cover roads built under a bond issue.

In Section 2646 Political Code after words "supplementary thereto" insert "or constructed or improved by proceeds of bonds issued and sold under and by virtue of Section 4088 Political Code."

After words "Out of general fund of the county", same section, insert "or general road fund, district road funds or the county highway maintenance fund."

This will allow maintenance work on highways built under any bond issue to be paid for out of any road fund or the general fund.

In Section 2713 Political Code the limit should be raised from five hundred dollars to one thousand dollars to conform to Section 2643 Political Code, Subdivision XI. There is no real distinction between bridges and roads.

If any other matters occur to me I will advise you.

Yours truly,

HUGH B. BRADFORD,
District Attorney.

ROWAN HARBIN, DISTRICT ATTORNEY, SONORA

DEAR SIR: I am in receipt of your letter of the twenty-eighth instant asking for any suggestions which I might be able to make relative to the road and street laws of the State, etc.

There is but one suggestion I can think of at the present time and that relates to the general road fund as provided for by section 2651 of the Political Code. This county is one of the counties in the State which has adopted the provisions of the County Engineers Act, and we have observed that in proceeding with road work under the laws which have established and still maintain the same old road system there which have always existed, it becomes impossible to carry out certain improvements which could be done to advantage and benefit, owing to the fact that the supervisor is compelled to expend a certain amount of money in each district regardless of whether the work is actually required there, and regardless of how necessary it might be in the public interest on the main highways in some other district.

It occurs to me that this condition could be corrected by amending section 2651 of the Political Code providing for a greater percentage of the road moneys to be placed in the general road fund. At the present time only fifty per cent of road moneys can be placed in the said general road fund, and I believe that it could work to a better advantage if this percentage could be raised to fifty per cent or even seventy-five per cent of all road moneys, especially in those counties where the engineering bill has been adopted. Road work has been done to much advantage in this county where road machinery is used entirely and the work is performed by one crew, and it happens that just when good work is being done in some district, owing to the funds, the crew has to be switched to another district, leaving the first piece of work uncompleted.

Very truly yours.

ROWAN HARBIN.

EXHIBIT F.

OFFICE OF DISTRICT ATTORNEY, SANTA ROSA

MY DEAR SIR: Your favor of recent date came to hand in due time and in reply will say I will be glad to furnish you with certain suggestions relative to the County Engineer Act and point out to you what seems to me certain defects.

In the first place section one says that the county engineer shall be deemed an employee and not a county officer." This it seems to me is inconsistent with the fact that under certain conditions the county engineer takes the place and performs the duties of a county official as defined by the laws of this State, to wit: the office of county surveyor.

Section two provides "The county engineer shall hold his employment for the term of four years." Owing to the fact that under the act the county engineer is merely an employee and not a county official it seems inconsistent that this law should attempt to fix the term of employment.

Section two further provides that "prior to entering upon the duties of his employment the county engineer shall file with the county clerk the oath of office as prescribed for the county officers." You are no doubt familiar with the language of the oath of a county official and consequently it seems to me that that is inconsistent with any oath to be taken by a mere employee of the county.

Section four of the act provides "The county engineer shall be ex officio road commissioner of and for each and every road district." By virtue of what office can he act as road commissioner? Under the law supervisors are ex officio road commissioners in and for their respective districts, but they occupy that position by reason of the fact that they hold an office recognized by law with the office of supervisor.

Subdivision D, section 5, provides that the county engineer shall "supervise or cause to be inspected, all county roads, highways and bridges within the county, and keep such roads, highways and bridges clear from obstructions, and when authorized by the board of supervisors he may employ all men, teams and equipment necessary to keep such roads in good repair when the same is not let by contract, and report to the board of supervisors with respect to such inspection and such work from time to time as said board shall require;" if the board of supervisors fail to authorize the county engineer to employ all men, teams and equipment necessary to keep such roads in good repair when the same is not let by contract, who is to perform that work? Does the supervisor as road commissioner retain that authority or are the roads to be left without care from any source?

Under subdivision F of section 5, it is provided, "He may also hold and perform the duties of the office of county surveyor." This to my mind is inconsistent in as the fact that under the provisions of this law whenever the county engineer assumes the duties now performed by the county surveyor the office of county surveyor is abolished in its entirety as provided by section 11 of the said act. Consequently he could not hold the office of county surveyor, because upon his taking up the duties of county surveyor the office is immediately abolished.

Subdivision H of section 5 provides that "This report shall contain the recommendation of acceptance or rejection of any work completed, and all official announcements or statements which the engineer is required to make to the board." This statement is entirely inconsistent from the fact that he is not an officer and consequently cannot make any official announcement.

Section 9 of said act provides, "He must submit to the board of supervisors a certificate over his signature and official seal to the effect that such work by the contractors thereof has been completed in accordance with the specifications thereof and recommending its acceptance." The county engineer is not an officer and has no official seal, hence the statement contained in section 9 is inconsistent with the balance of the act.

Section 12 of said act provides that "Nothing herein contained shall be held, deemed or construed to prevent members of boards of supervisors from visiting and inspecting work in progress within the county or from receiving for such services the mileage now allowed by law." The mileage now allowed by law to supervisors for visiting and inspecting work in progress and so forth is paid them as road commissioners and not as supervisors, and hence if as provided in section 4, the engineer is ex officio road commissioner then that would deprive the supervisors of any mileage for visiting and inspecting work. If section 4 does not apply, then both the county engineer and the supervisors would each be paid for performing the same service.

The foregoing constitutes some of the objections and criticisms that I have of the County Engineer Act. I will be glad to go into this matter further with you if you so desire.

Awaiting your further pleasure, I remain

Sincerely yours,

G. W. HOYLE.

OFFICE OF CITY ATTORNEY, CITY OF SAN MATEO.

DEAR SIR: Answering yours of the twenty-eighth instant, concerning the codification of road and street improvement acts, will state that I thank you for the invitation therein made.

When the Improvement Act of 1911 was adopted, as the result of an extended conference of different city attorneys, we had in mind that a single street improvement act for municipalities should be adopted, and expected in that connection to repeal the Vrooman Act. However, after mature consideration, the committee decided that it was unsafe to undertake anything of a drastic nature, and it would be safer to leave the existing statutes in force, gradually permitting public authorities to work out their individual solution and if they preferred the new act to utilize it in preference to the other. The Improvement Act of 1911 was really nothing more or less than a rearrangement of the Vrooman Act, so far as to enable it to be more conveniently used. Certainly the judgment of the committee was well placed as experience has shown that serious difficulties would have been encountered had the original act been actually repealed. It had been adopted in many charters under ironclad conditions which might have precluded the use of a new statute until such charters had been amended. The new act, however, has come into almost universal use, but we still find a good many cities clinging to the original statute.

This same argument and situation will have to be seriously considered in connection with any change now contemplated. That is to say, it will be dangerous to actually repeal the substantive features of these statutes in the process of codification.

Of course, such arguments should not be permitted to stand in the way of actual improvement, and I am much pleased with any attempt that shall be made toward codifying the laws in this respect. You have doubtless found that many of the statutes are based on different theories. Mr. Locke, in preparing a statute which was passed last year, was endeavoring to get away from the old principle of the frontage assessment, and in that respect certainly was proceeding along very laudable lines. At the same time the principle of frontage assessment has become so ingrained into our community methods that it will be difficult to part from it absolutely. It would seem to me that it would be better to permit the city councils to use the frontage basis if so discussed, but at least allow for an apportionment of benefit based upon a more equitable principle, as upon the assessed values as provided in the Locke bill.

We encountered the same conflict of theories as between the old methods and new methods, when we attempted to get a good workable bond provision, as illustrated by the Improvement Bond Act of 1915, which I had the pleasure of drafting at the request of a committee of city attorneys. That act was not intended in any way as an attack upon the existing bond companies, but simply to provide a bond which would be more marketable on the open market and then be free of the difficulties of the old street assessment bond. In actual practice we found, however, that the bond companies theretofore doing business in California were partial to the new bond scheme, finding that some of the profits which they had previously enjoyed were not obtainable under the new method. Nevertheless the Bond Act of 1915 is becoming of increasing use and I have knowledge of many instances where remarkable results have been obtained with it.

I am now writing to Mr. W. J. Locke, executive secretary of the League of Municipalities, and suggesting that a committee of attorneys be [illegible] for the purpose of considering the subject matter of your communication and in order that there may be submitted for your consideration the [illegible] of municipal attorneys.

Independently of any action that may be taken upon this letter or upon any association of attorneys, I shall be pleased to give you any time we [illegible] upon any question concerning the assessment acts of the city and county street and road assessment acts.

Yours truly,

CHARLES N. KIRKBRIDE,
City Attorney.

EXHIBIT H.

OFFICE OF CITY ATTORNEY, WOODLAND.

GENTLEMEN: In reply to your letter of July 28, relative to road, street, and highway legislation, will say that the only act I am familiar with is the Improvement Act of 1911.

This act requires the work to be determined upon before advertising for bids. It would be of great assistance to cities and would prevent the monopolies on certain classes of pavement by allowing the cities to adopt different types of pavements and to call for authoritative bids.

This act requires demands for incidental expenses to be filed with the superintendent of streets and to be paid by him. In small cities (under [illegible] thousand, it is much more convenient to pay the demands from the [illegible] by demand on the board of trustees, and to have the superintendent of streets, upon receiving the incidental expense, to pay it directly into the treasury. Generally in cities of this size, the superintendent of streets' office is saddled on to a marshal, whose time is already fully occupied, and the result is that in case of an audit, the records are in poor shape. If the incidental expenses are paid by demand on the city and incidental expenses when received paid into the treasury, there will always be a record.

This act fixes the maximum compensation of an assessor appointed by the superintendent of streets at five dollars a day. Inasmuch as pick and shovelers are receiving six and seven dollars a day, inspectors can not be had at this price. It appears to me every right would be safeguarded by allowing the board of trustees to fix the compensation of the inspectors so appointed, in view of the fact that the board of trustees in other cases have been granted a good deal larger powers than these.

I might mention the fact that the law in my opinion should be amended so as to allow the city to bid on the proposed work, and if successful, to do the work under the supervision of the engineer and to assess the property owners for the actual cost. There are many incidental expenses incident to street work that are really property charges against the improvement, but under the present act are not allowed to be assessed against the property owner. It would help matters if this act increases the items that are incidental expenses.

The above suggestions are my opinion of this matter, and are offered accordingly.

Yours truly,

J. H. LANGENOUR,
City Attorney.

EXHIBIT I.

OFFICE OF THE CITY ATTORNEY, CITY OF ALAMEDA.

MY DEAR MR. WILL: Your circular letter of July 28 duly received. As a member of the Legislature, I distinctly remember the bill in question, and as I have devoted a great deal of attention to street improvement laws, I was naturally very much interested. As a matter of fact, I have served as secretary of the committee which framed the Improvement Act of 1911. This act was framed by a committee of nine city attorneys appointed by the League of California Municipalities and consisted of such men as Hugh R. Osborn, former city attorney of Santa Cruz and now city attorney of King City, as chairman; Chas. N. Kirkbride, city attorney of San Mateo; Senator William J. Carr, then city attorney of Pasadena, and your humble servant.

It was the original intention of the committee to frame an entirely new act without any regard to the provisions of existing laws, but the contractors throughout the entire State urged that we adhere as closely as possible to the old Vrooman Act on account of the fact that it had been so thoroughly adjudicated by the courts. In their judgment it was possible to retain it despite the fact that it was somewhat cumbersome and could no doubt be improved upon. For this reason we adhered pretty closely to the provisions of the Vrooman Act in framing the Improvement Act of 1911.

We have a procedure ordinance here in Alameda for constructing sidewalks which is not quite so cumbersome as the present street laws of the State, and enables the city to do the work under the supervision of its own street department.

The League of California Municipalities is going to hold its next annual meeting in Chico on November 8. It occurs to me that this would afford a good opportunity for discussing this very important question with the city attorneys who will attend to the number of perhaps forty or fifty. I would be glad to put you on the program for a discussion of this particular subject before the department of city attorneys and I think that in that way we can achieve some valuable results. Kindly let me hear from you at your earliest convenience.

Yours very truly,

WM. J. LOCKE,
City Attorney.

EXHIBIT J.

OFFICE OF DISTRICT ATTORNEY, STOCKTON.

DEAR SIR: Your letter dated July 28, relating to roads, streets, highways and bridges received and contents noted.

Under subdivision XI of section 2634, Political Code of California, it appears necessary to have prepared profiles and cross-sections and to advertise for bids for the improvement of any road where the amount involved exceeds $1,000. If the road has been previously improved under the Savage Act, or under section 2634 of the Political Code, it appears that it can be reconstructed or repaired under the supervision of the highway maintenance department, as provided in section 2713 of the Political Code.

Would it not be a desirable change to modify the law so that any road might be repaired by the highway maintenance department of the county where the board of supervisors of the county in their discretion believed it could be done more economically than by letting it to bids? Of course the board of supervisors could reject all bids and do it by day work anyway, as I understand it, but this would occasion unnecessary delay.

It appears to me that 800 pounds per linear inch of tire is too big a load, especially where a vehicle is propelled by its own power, even though rubber tires are used. Concrete roads may stand this weight, but roads that are not so well constructed are soon cut up. I believe that this weight limit should be lessened, and further it might be an advantage if very heavy loads were compelled to move at night time during summer season, as the road is colder and harder at night.

Yours truly,

EDWARD VAN VRANKEN,
District Attorney.

EXHIBIT K.

Remarks by C. N. Kirkbride, at the convention of the League of California Municipalities, November 1920:

At the convention of last year, in remarks of mine before the section of city attorneys, I expressed the view that in some respects we had been proceeding too fast in the assessment of private property for street work, and that in many instances it would be well to call a halt. The year's experience has tended to confirm the views then set forth.

All street assessment work is based on theory that the private property will be benefited by the improvement and therefore should pay for the cost of the work.

No one will dispute this principle and where it can be said as a matter of fact that property will be benefited by the work to the extent of the cost of same then no question can be raised as to the propriety of ordering the work to be done.

My point is that in many cases work has been done which is not of benefit to the land assessed for the cost of the work to the extent of this cost.

I think city officials should ask themselves certain concrete questions before instituting any assessment proceedings:

1. Will the property within the assessment district be benefited to the extent of the cost of the proposed work?

2. Will each lot according to the proposed method of assessment be benefited to the extent of the proposed charge upon it?

3. Will the charge upon any lot be so great as to amount to virtual confiscation?

4. Could a more equitable plan of assessment be provided than that proposed?

If these questions were asked and honestly answered it would be found that in many cases, the proposed assessment would amount to virtual confiscation upon individual lots, and some more equitable arrangement should be provided, or else a portion of the cost of the proposed improvement either be assumed by the public through general taxes or be spread upon a much larger district than that contemplated.

It should be admitted as an abstract rule, that no assessment should be placed upon private property where confiscation will ensue.

Some persons may think this does not happen, but I have seen case after case where it has happened.

Some far sighted owners abandon their lots right off to the contractors. Others carry their property for awhile and then see new assessments piling up against it and finally quit. Then the contractors come to grips as to who has priority of right as between successive improvements.

In the act prepared by Mr Locke and passed by the last Legislature, an attempt was made to remedy some of the evils of the front foot basis of assessment by adopting the tax assessment roll as a basis. In numerous instances this would remedy a phase of the trouble, but a study of the matter has lead me to the opinion that it will not entirely meet the issue, particularly for the reason that assessment rolls for general taxes are made up to accomplish a different purpose and do not lend themselves as readily to the street assessment issue as might be desired.

I am now particularly asked to speak upon the subject of amendments to the street laws and what I have said is preliminary to a suggestion which I have to make.

I propose to adopt as the general principle of assessments [illegible] as well as in theory the doctrine of benefits, and then to endeavor actually to [illegible] what these benefits are. As a matter of fact in practice, even under the district plan, we have never made a real study of the question of benefits, save for the reason that the custom in regard to frontage assessments has been so engrafted upon our nature that we have been unable to get away from it. I suggest, therefore, that in making an assessment, consideration be given first to what it would be as to particular lots upon the basis of assessed values then upon the question whether the value of the lot is such that it can reasonably carry the burden of the assessment, then upon the question as to whether some other lot or property should not carry a portion of the burden of cost of the particular improvement or of an individual item thereon. After such a study a [illegible] developed, which I believe in practice would on the average be more equitable than the average assessment found at present.

I see no statutory difficulty in the way of these suggestions, but submit the following as in line with my views:

Amend subdivision 1 of section 20 of the Improvement Act of 1911, relating to frontage assessments, by changing the last portion of [illegible] clause to read as follows:

* * * "shall be assessed upon the several lots, parcels or subdivisions of land or portion thereof fronting thereon, or situate in any block or irregular block fronting thereon, or in any such block adjoining or cornering upon any crossing on which work is to be done, or adjoining or cornering upon any main street opposite termination referred to in subdivision 3 hereof on which work is done, or situate within the assessment district, in manner following, to wit: upon each such lot or portion of a lot being separately assessed in proportion to the estimated benefits to be received by it from such work, and consideration shall be given to previous burdens for public improvements placed upon the lots assessed [illegible] being made therefor if equitable, in the distribution of the charges; provided that the assessment may be made on each lot or portion of a lot being separately assessed in proportion to the frontage, at a rate per front foot sufficient to cover the total expense of the work, or may be made in proportion to the assessed values of the property charged as appearing upon the last equalized assessment roll for collection of general municipal taxes prepared next before the passage of the resolution of intention; and provided further that the [illegible] ing proviso and in subdivisions 2 to 7 of this section both inclusive are merely directory."

A corresponding provision could be inserted in the Vrooman Act. It is believed that such a provision would permit much more equitable assessments and would also obviate some of the technical objections which are made now to assessments on the ground that they are not strictly in accord with the law. It would, for instance, make possible a more equitable division of frontage assessments where a street is not uniform width throughout its length.

Upon the general subject of amendments, I will state there is not such a demand for change as one might suppose. I am inclined to think that the time is ripe for eliminating some of the laws and consolidating some of the others.

I think the Tree Planting Act of 1913 might be repealed, the later statute being more acceptable.

I think the Change of Grade Act of 1909 might be well made a part of the Improvement Act of 1911.

We might well consider an amplification of the Street Widening Act so as to provide a method for accomplishing set back lines and compensating owners damaged thereby.

We might well consider the subject of reassessments in the event of defective proceedings. The provision in the Vrooman Act (section 124) needs overhauling. The provision in the Improvement Act of 1911 (section 28) does not entirely meet the purposes of the reassessment contemplated under the Vrooman Act, and provided for in some other states, namely, defects in the initial proceedings not substantially affecting the rights of property owners.

With reference to the Bond Act of 1915, the following suggestions for improvement are made:

1. To cover cases where municipal taxes are collected at inappropriate dates, as in Stockton, permit the council to direct a portion of the principal or interest to be collected a year earlier.

2. Provide that the time of hearing on the assessment list fixed by the clerk (section 5) may be that of any meeting of the council, either regular or special, and that the matter may be heard at the time so fixed or at the next subsequent meeting thereof, if no meeting is held on the date fixed.

3. Provide for a supplemental assessment to meet cases of default in the payment of bonds, any moneys paid on which shall be refunded in case of recovery from delinquent property.

4. Provide a brief form of complaint to foreclose where same is directed by the council, the same to include only an allegation of the passage of a resolution ordering work; that some work was done thereunder; that an assessment to pay for the cost thereof was duly given and made; that certain property (describing it) was assessed a stated amount therein; that bonds upon the security of said assessment were issued under the act; that on a date stated a certain amount came due against said property and was not paid and that the council had directed the action to foreclose.

5. Direct the auditor or clerk in all cases to make a distribution register showing the amounts due in each year on each assessment, so as to facilitate extension in the tax rolls. This is now being done by all well informed officials.

6. Provide for credit to tax collector where suit is ordered after property has been entered on the tax rolls.

Among other things for which suggestions have been made for amendment to the street laws, I note the following:

1. Revamp the sections in regard to counsel fees (section 27 of the 1911 act).

2. Provide for relief to the contractor where the street superintendent delays the preparation of the assessment after the work is done.

3. Consider the question of eliminating priority in liens and making all assessments independent liens till satisfaction.

4. Require establishment of grades after notice and provide a time limit thereafter after which no objection to subsequent street work proceeding can be made on the ground of a lack of grades. I advance this for your consideration, but without opinion either for or against it.

5. Why require the signature of the mayor to the warrant? He is not given supervisory power over the assessment.

6. Consider the question of making street work a lien on school and certain other property by statute, by removing the exemption.

Finally, I think we should appoint a committee to sit between now and the meeting of the Legislature to consider the subject of the street laws, and if possible sit at Sacramento or San Francisco with a representative of the Legislative Counsel Bureau.

Bonds may be issued to represent assessments levied for street improvement work (References are to Deering's General Laws).

(a) Upon this subject several acts have been passed attempting to provide a uniform procedure:

Act No. 3932 prescribes the method of issuing bonds to represent assessment for street work performed under the provisions of the Vrooman Act of 1885.

Act No. 390 prescribes a similar procedure for street improvements effected under any of the following statutes:

I—Street Opening Act of 1903.

II—Park and Playground Act of 1909.

III—Street Improvement Act of 1909 (latter has since been repealed).

Act No. 3932*a* prescribes a similar procedure in the case of improvements made pursuant to the provisions of the following statutes:

I—Vrooman Act of 1885.

II—Street Improvement Act of 1911.

III—"Also any and all other acts for the doing of work and making of other improvements within municipalities whereby the cost is charged upon real property."

(b) Certain provisions are contained in the various acts which provide for the making of the improvement and the levying of the assessment:

Act No. 3929—Local Improvement Act of 1901. Sections 5, 16 and 21 set forth a procedure for the issuance of bonds to represent unpaid assessments.

Act No. 3937—Improvement Act of 1911. Part III, comprised of sections 59-76, sets forth the complete procedure for the issuance of bonds representing unpaid assessments.

Act No. 3937c—Street Improvement Act of 1913. Sections 23-48 set forth procedure for the issuance of bonds representing unpaid assessments.

Act No. 3936b—Chapter 322—Local Improvement Act of 1919. Sections 17-24, set forth procedure for issuance of bonds representing special assessments for work performed in accordance with the provisions of the act.

(c) A special act authorizes the issuance of revenue bonds by joint highway districts.

Act No. 1458f—At any time after the assessments against the state, the several counties or the land within a special assessment district, have been levied, payment of the assessments may be anticipated by the issuance of revenue bonds against the fund into which the assessments are to be paid. (Section 21.)

(d) Municipal improvement acts incorporating such bond provisions by reference.

Act No. 2389g—Provides for the acquisition and maintenance of various municipal utilities. Section 18 authorizes the city council at or before the time of levying an assessment to provide that improvement bonds shall issue. In such a case the provisions of Deering Act No. 390 govern with certain exceptions.

Act No. 3928—Street Opening Act of 1903. All bonds representing assessments under this act are issued under the provisions of Act No. 390. Act No. 3928 contains no mention of such bonds except in Sec. 26*a* thereof.

RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were offered:

By Senator Rigdon:

WHEREAS, California Ripe Olive Day is planned to induce a more general acquaintance upon the part of the people of America with the flavorous ripe olive of California; and

WHEREAS, From the dawn of history the olive has been considered as one of nature's most nutritious and delicious fruit products; and

WHEREAS, The ripe olive of California represents the evolutionary perfection of the fruit which Biblical students assert originated in the Garden of Eden as a gift from God to man by special creative act.

Resolved, That the twenty-first day of February, 1921, be set apart and observed as Ripe Olive Day.

Resolution read, and on motion of Senator Rigdon adopted.

By Senator McDonald:

WHEREAS, The Foreign Trade Club of San Francisco, on behalf of the importers, exporters, manufacturers and producers of this State, desires to bring before the State Legislature now assembled the realization of the absolute necessity for full and adequate fire protection for the docks, shipping and cargo on the wharves of the city of San Francisco; and

WHEREAS, It has been called to our attention that the port of New York has thirteen fire boats and Chicago has five fire boats in active service; and

WHEREAS, If this port is to develop into a great world trade port, every protection from fire hazard must be given to our overseas trade; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the Foreign Trade Club of San Francisco, petition the California State Legislature now assembled to act with the municipal authorities of San Francisco and to provide ways and means to immediately place in active service the two fire boats now out of service.

Resolution read, and on motion of Senator McDonald ordered printed in Journal.

By Committee on Contingent Expenses:

Resolved, That the Controller be and he is hereby authorized and directed to draw his warrant on the contingent fund of the Senate in the sum of one hundred dollars in favor of the Secretary of the Senate, for the purchase of postage stamps, and the State Treasurer is hereby directed to pay the same.

THIRD READING OF ASSEMBLY BILLS.

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION No. 2.

Relative to the endorsement of the McFadden bill; to conserve the gold ore resources of the nation in the interest of monetary security.

WHEREAS, There is now pending before the Congress of the United States a bill known as "the McFadden bill," H. R. 13201, which said bill has for its objects the following:

1. To prevent a still further and more rapid decline in the production of gold in the United States, which has already decreased from 101 millions in 1915 to an estimated production of less than 50 millions in 1920.

2. To conserve the known gold ore resources of the United States from entire loss, due to the continued shutting down of the gold mines and the flooding and caving of ore incident thereto; and

WHEREAS, The government of the United States has adopted gold as the unit of monetary measurement and the standard medium of exchange; and

WHEREAS, The present condition of the gold mining industry of the United States constitutes a menace to the gold standard and in the interest of the monetary security of the nation demands an immediate remedy; and

WHEREAS, Conditions confronting the gold mining industry in California, the premier gold mining state of the union, call for the prompt and early enactment of the legislation proposed; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and Senate, jointly, That the Legislature of the State of California at its forty-fourth session, urges upon the Congress of the United States the adoption of said McFadden bill and the imperative need for the immediate enactment of the same; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this joint resolution be sent to the President of the United States, to the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, to the governor of each of the states of the United States, to the members of the respective Committees of Mines and Mining of the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States, and to each member of the Congress of the United States from the State of California.

Resolution read.

OSBORNE, Chairman.

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION—OUT OF ORDER.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 11.

Relating to directing the Civil Service Commission to issue instruction to certain employees of the State to refrain attempting to influence certain proposed legislation.

WHEREAS, Legislation, pending and proposed, affecting various commissions, boards and bureaus of the State government will come before this Legislature for consideration; and

WHEREAS, Efficiency and economy is the platform upon which many of the members of this Legislature were elected, and it is therefore the duty of the Legislature to afford to the people of the State some measure of relief from the burden of taxes now borne by them, through the abolition and consolidation of many of the commissions, boards and bureaus of the State; and

WHEREAS, Said consolidation and abolition of said commissions, boards and bureaus will affect many thousands of employees of the State; and

WHEREAS, Said employees number many friends among the members of the Legislature whose duty it may become to vote either for or against measures directly affecting the positions and salaries of said employees; and

WHEREAS, It may become embarassing to the members of the Legislature, in the calm and deliberate consideration of said measures to be canvassed and importuned by said employees to vote either for or against said measures, and the attendance upon the Legislature, or in devising methods of influencing said legislation will tend to demoralize the efficiency of said employees and of their departments; and

WHEREAS, It becomes increasingly apparent that, unless this Legislature takes a determined stand large numbers of said employees will be in attendance upon said Legislature or will expend much of their time in devising methods of influencing said legislation; therefore be it

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That the Civil Service Commission be and it is hereby directed to immediately instruct the heads of the various commissions, boards and bureaus of the State, whether the same be under Civil Service or not, that they and their subordinates shall refrain from influencing or attempting to influence, directly or indirectly, by personal solicitation or otherwise, the members of the Legislature, in the consideration of said measures, unless expressly invited so to do by the said Legislature or the members thereof, and that said heads of the various departments of the State government immediately issue a bulletin directed to the subordinates of his department calling attention to the matters herein referred to.

Resolution read.

The question being on the adoption of the resolution.

The roll was called, and Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 11 adopted by the following vote:

AYES—Senators Allen, Arbuckle, Boggs, Breed, Canepa, Carr, F. M., Carr, W. J., Crowley, Dennett, Duncan, Eden, Gates, Harris, Ingram, Inman, Irwin, Johnson, King, Nelson, Osborne, Otis, Purkitt, Rush, Sample, Sharkey, Shearer, and Slater—27.

NOTICE OF MOTION TO RECONSIDER.

Senator McDonald gave notice that on the next legislative day he would move to reconsider the vote by which Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 11 was adopted.

CASE OF URGENCY.

The following resolution was offered:

By Senator Harris:

Resolved, That Senate Bill No. 126 presents a case of urgency, as that term is used in section 15 of article IV of the constitution, and the provision of that section requiring that the bill shall be read on three several days in each House is hereby dispensed with, and it is ordered that said bill be read third time, and placed upon its passage.

Resolution read.

The question being on the adoption of the resolution.

The roll was called, and the resolution adopted by the following vote:

AYES—Senators Allen, Arbuckle, Boggs, Breed, Burnett, Canepa, Carr, W. J., Chamberlin, Crowley, Dennett, Duncan, Eden, Flaherty, Gates, Harris, Hart, Ingram, Inman, Irwin, Johnson, King, Lyon, McDonald, Nelson, Osborne, Rigdon, Rush, Sample, Scott, Shearer, Slater, and Yonkin—32.

NOES—None.

Whereupon, the President declared the provision of section 15 of article IV of the constitution suspended for the purpose of considering at this time Senate Bill No. 126.

Senate Bill No. 126—An act to provide for the classification of municipal corporations and adopting the federal census of all municipal corporations in the State of California taken in the year 1920, and repealing all acts or parts of acts in conflict herewith.

Bill read third time.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 9.

Relative to the construction by the United States Reclamation Service or other public agency in Long Valley, Lassen County, California, of a unit of the Truckee-Carson project under construction by the United States Reclamation Service in Nevada.

WHEREAS, In the organization of the United States Reclamation Service it was understood that the proceeds from the sale of public lands should be used so far as practicable in the states from which such money was received for the construction of works for the reclamation of arid lands therein; and

WHEREAS, The amount of money so received from the State of [illegible] has been greatly in excess of such reclamation work done in the State of California; and

WHEREAS, The water from streams having their source in California is being used for the irrigation of lands in the Truckee-Carson project in Nevada; and

WHEREAS, The land lying in Long Valley in Lassen County in the State of California must depend for its supply of water for irrigation [illegible] upon the Little Truckee River, some of the waters of which are used in the Truckee-Carson project in Nevada; and

WHEREAS, Said Long Valley, from an engineering and physical standpoint can be made a logical unit of the Truckee-Carson project, is exceedingly fertile, and would be occupied and cultivated without the long delay in development which is taking place in other units of said project, and affords an ideal opportunity for the application of the principles underlying the work of the Reclamation Service;

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly, jointly, That the Legislature of the State of California hereby memorializes Congress to provide for the incorporation of Long Valley, and more particularly of the lands lying within the southern Lassen and Long Valley irrigation districts within such Truckee-Carson project, or otherwise to provide for the immediate construction of works for the irrigation thereof from the Little Truckee River; and be it further

Resolved, That our Senators and Representatives in Congress be and they are hereby urgently requested to take such steps as may be necessary to bring about the commencement of such work at the earliest possible date, and that the United States Reclamation Service be urged to incorporate the said territory within the plans adopted for the utilization of the waters of the Truckee and Little Truckee rivers;

Resolved, further, That the Secretary of the Senate be and is hereby directed to forward copies of this resolution to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, each of the Senators and Representatives from California in Congress, and to the United States Reclamation Service at Washington.

Resolution read.

The question being on the adoption of the resolution.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were received, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By the President:

LOS ANGELES, January 18, 1921.

WHEREAS, The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which embodies all of the great industries, civic and representative bodies of every community in the United States, has submitted for approval Referendum 33, with reference to the electrical railways of the country, of which the three principal recommendations are

1. Existing traction facilities should be preserved;
2. Provision should be made against unfair competition;
3. All burdens unrelated to the service performed should be removed from the street railways;

WHEREAS, The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce has approved said Referendum 33 as submitted; and

WHEREAS, We are informed that there has been greatly increased cost of labor and materials, and that the operating ratio of steam railroads has increased from 56 per cent of gross revenues in 1916 to 78 per cent in 1920; and

WHEREAS, We are informed that the operating ratio of the electric railways has increased to approximately 90 per cent of their gross revenues; and

WHEREAS, It has been suggested that the State Legislature increase the percentage of gross revenue levied against all public utilities of the State, in order to raise additional revenue for State purposes; and

WHEREAS, The revenue from railroad taxes automatically increases as the gross revenues of these railroads increase; and

WHEREAS, The auto trucks and buses using our roads for business are in effect given practically a free use of highways, as compared to large expenditures to the railroads for the acquisition and maintenance of their rights of way and roads; and

WHEREAS, We are informed that the Pacific Electric Interurban Railway are now taxed 54 per cent of their gross for State purposes, it cost them 7¼ per cent for 1920 of their gross for maintenance and 18 per cent of their gross for the interest on the capitalized value of private rights of way and facilities, now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we urge the State Legislature to provide for necessary increase of taxation by the following methods:

1. The present license fees for motor driven vehicles to be continued with necessary modification.
2. California State Railroad Commission to be given authority to impose upon concerns operating auto buses and trucks upon public roads, streets and highways, a proper license fee commensurate with the tax and costs already imposed on other forms of transportation.
3. A tax of one cent a gallon on all gasoline, this to be collected through the selling agencies; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be immediately forwarded to the Governor, the Senate and the Assembly of the State Legislature.

I hereby certify that the above is a true and correct copy of resolution adopted by a special committee appointed by the board of directors of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

SYLVESTER L. WEAVER, President.

Attest: FRANK WIGGINS, Secretary.

Also:

Be it resolved by the Council of the city of Berkeley as follows:

That this Council hereby endorses the plan of the city of San Francisco to request the State of California to contribute one-half of the funds of the expense of maintaining a fire boat for the protection of commercial establishments and shipping on the entire bay of San Francisco; and

That the city clerk be and she is hereby instructed to forward a copy of this resolution to the President of the Senate and to the Speaker of the Assembly.

Dated January 18, 1921.

Adopted by the Council of the city of Berkeley by the following vote: Ayes—Councilmen Bartlett, Harms, Heywood, Schmidt, and President Bartlett. Noes—none. Absent—none.

LOUIS BARTLETT,
Mayor and President of the Council.

Attest: E. M. HANN, City Clerk and Clerk of the Council.

By Senator Purkitt:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, } ss.
COUNTY OF SACRAMENTO, }

Robert G. Sproul, after being first duly sworn deposes and says:

That he is and has been for the past four months Comptroller of the University of California, and of his own knowledge and belief states the following to be facts with reference to the institution:

First—Of the 9659 students in the Berkeley departments of the university for the period August-December, 1920, there were 1151 nonresidents of the State of California, and approximately 240 foreigners, of whom only 46 were bona fide students. The distribution of nonresident students is as follows:

United States	942
Territorial possessions of United States	61
China	38
Japan	8
India	12
All other countries	90
Total	1151

Second and Third—The number of students disqualified or "flunked out" is shown in the following table:

Birthplaces.	California residents.	Nonresidents of California.	Total.
(a) U. S. A. or Alaska	399	54	453
(b) Hawaii or possessions	6	10	16
(c) Foreign	29	17	46
Totals	434	81	515

As will be seen, the percentage of nonresidents of California among the disqualified students is 15.7 per cent, although the percentage of these students in the total student body is 11.9 per cent; also the percentage of foreign students in the report of disqualified students is 8.9 per cent, although the percentage of such students in the total student body is only 2.4 per cent. Therefore, the percentage of non-Californians disqualified on account of unsatisfactory scholarship is considerably greater than in the case of California's residents, and the percentage of foreign born disqualified is three times as great as the percentage of foreign born in the student body.

Fourth—The work of students in some courses is graded by readers, who are advanced students. A final grade is decided by the instructor, who is not a student, after a personal examination of the data submitted by the reader. The university does not permit any one below the rank of instructor to have responsible charge of a course and requires that all official reports be signed by a person of at least the rank of instructor.

Fifth—The average annual expense per student of maintaining the institution varies from one hundred fifty ($150) dollars per year in some courses in the college of letters and science, to approximately two thousand ($2000) dollars per year for students in the professional school of medicine. The average figure for the student body as a whole is probably about two hundred fifty ($250) dollars per year, which corresponds with the amount described in the Joint Legislative Committee on Education, to be the cost in other universities.

Sixth—The annual tuition fee charged nonresidents students is now twenty ($20) dollars per year, but the Regents about one month ago publicly announced that beginning August 15, 1921, this fee would be increased to one hundred fifty ($150) dollars per year. The law of the State does not permit charging a fee to foreign students, who are residents of the State.

ROBERT G. SPROUL.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this twenty-first day of January, 1921.

[SEAL] MARIE A. HAMMOND,
Notary Public in and for the County of Sacramento,
State of California.

Senator Irwin moved that the Assembly be requested to return to the Senate, Assembly bills Nos. 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 189 and 190, passed by the Senate this day as cases of urgency, for the purpose of reconsideration.

Motion carried unanimously.

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION (OUT OF ORDER).

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 16.

Relative to Joint Rules of Senate and Assembly.

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That the following be adopted as the Joint Rules of the two Houses of the Legislature for its forty-fourth session:

COMMITTEES AND COMMITTEE MEETINGS.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

1. Subject to the right of either House to appoint additional committees, the following standing committees shall be appointed in the Senate and Assembly, the number of members and the manner of selection to be determined by the rules of each House:

(1) Agriculture.
(2) Banking.
(3) Commerce and Navigation.
(4) Corporations.
(5) County Government.
(6) Drainage, Swamp and Overflowed Lands.
(7) Education.
(8) Elections.
(9) Federal Relations.
(10) Finance in the Senate and Ways and Means in the Assembly.
(11) Fish and Game.
(12) Hospitals and Asylums.
(13) Insurance.
(14) Irrigation.

(15) Judiciary.
(16) Labor and Capital.
(17) Military Affairs.
(18) Mines and Mining.
(19) Municipal Corporations.
(20) Oil Industries.
(21) Prisons and Reformatories.
(22) Public Health and Quarantine.
(23) Public Morals.
(24) Public Utilities.
(25) Revenue and Taxation.
(26) Roads and Highways.
(27) Rules.

JOINT COMMITTEES.

2. Joint standing committees of Senate and Assembly shall be appointed as follows:

(1) Committee on Revision and Printing, to consist of three (3) members from the Senate and five (5) from the Assembly.

(2) Committee on Joint Rules, to consist of the members of the Rules Committee of each House.

JOINT MEETING OF COMMITTEES.

3. Whenever any bill has been referred by the Senate to one of its committees, and the same or a like bill has been referred by the Assembly to one of its committees, the chairmen of the respective committees, when in their judgment the interests of legislation or the expedition of business will be better served thereby, shall arrange for a joint meeting of their committees for the consideration of such bill.

BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS.

SCOPE OF WORD "BILL."

4. Whenever the word "bill" is used in these rules it shall include constitutional amendments, joint and concurrent resolutions.

JOINT AND CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS.

5. Joint resolutions are those which relate to matters connected with the federal government. All other resolutions relating to matters to be treated by both Houses of the Legislature are concurrent resolutions.

RESOLUTIONS TREATED AS BILLS.

6. Joint resolutions, concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments shall be treated in all respects as bills; except that they shall be read but one time in each House, and that they shall not be deemed bills within the meaning of section 2 of article IV of the constitution and shall not be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills, and shall not require a vote to authorize their introduction. As in the case of bills, they shall be engrossed in the House in which they originate before being voted upon.

PREPARATION AND INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

TITLE OF BILL.

7. The title of every bill introduced shall convey an accurate idea of the contents of the bill and shall be indicative of the scope of the act and the object to be accomplished. In amending a code section, the mere reference to the section by number shall not be deemed sufficient.

DIVISION OF BILL INTO SECTIONS.

8. Bills amending more than one section of existing laws shall contain a separate section for each section amended.

Bills which are not amendatory of existing laws shall be divided into short sections, where this can be done without destroying the sense of any particular section, to the end that future amendments may be made without the necessity of setting forth and repeating sections of unnecessary length.

CHANGES FROM EXISTING LAWS TO BE MARKED BY AUTHOR.

9. In case of a bill amending a code section, or general law, all omissions must be shown by the insertion of heavy parentheses or brackets without including the omitted matter; all additions must be shown by underlining the new matter. When printed, the new matter so underlined shall be enclosed in heavy brackets in the printed bill and also heavy brackets shall be retained to show omissions.

COMMITTEE ON REVISION AND PRINTING TO EXAMINE BILLS WHEN INTRODUCED.

10. Unless otherwise ordered by the House in which the bill was introduced, all bills before being printed shall be immediately sent to the Committee on Revision and Printing, which shall examine the bill, with the aid of the Legislative Counsel Bureau. The committee, by and with the written assent of the author filed with it, shall have authority to correct any clerical error such as in orthography, adding or correcting the enacting clause, mistakes in numbering sections and references thereto, errors in grammar, phraseology, or in the form of the bill: provided, that no bill which bears the stamp of the Legislative Counsel Bureau showing that before introduction it has been examined as to form, shall be sent to the Committee on Revision and Printing.

NOTE—The submission of bill copy to Legislative Counsel Bureau for approval of form before introduction will expedite its course.

BILLS INTRODUCED TO INDICATE CHANGES IN EXISTING LAWS.

11. The Committee on Revision and Printing shall see to it that rules 7 and 9 of these Joint Rules are observed by the author, and that the bill shall not be sent to the printer until the provisions of these rules have been carried out.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEE ON REVISION AND PRINTING.

12. The Committee on Revision and Printing shall return to the Secretary of the Senate or Chief Clerk of the Assembly all bills in the order in which they were sent to it, but shall not retain any bill for longer than three legislative days, unless otherwise ordered.

ENDORSEMENT OF DATE OF INTRODUCTION.

13. Bills introduced in either House shall be endorsed with the date of introduction.

PRINTING AND DISTRIBUTION OF BILLS.

MANNER OF PRINTING BILLS, ETC.

14. The State Printer shall observe the following directions in printing all bills, constitutional amendments, joint and concurrent resolutions:

(a) The body of such bills and resolutions shall be printed in solid unspaced form so that the same type shall be used both before and after enrollment.

(b) All titles of bills, resolutions, etc., shall be set in italics, statute form, and the length of the lines used in the bills shall not exceed that of the body of the bill.

(c) The lines of all printed bills shall be numbered by page and not by sections, and amendments shall be identified by reference to title, page and line only; provided, however, that concurrent resolutions approving city or county or city and county charters or amendments thereto may be set in smaller type and without line numbers.

(d) Enrolled bills may be inclosed in stock cover.

PRINTING OF AMENDMENTS.

15. All bills amended by either House shall be immediately reprinted; in the case new matter is added by the amendments, such new matter shall be inclosed in heavy parentheses in the printed bill, and in the case of matter being omitted, the omission shall also be indicated by heavy parentheses. When a bill is amended in either House, the first or previous markings, except that showing change from code provision or former law, shall be omitted. When a bill amendatory of a code section is engrossed, all figures or symbols shall be removed.

DISTRIBUTION OF BILLS DURING CONSTITUTIONAL RECESS.

16. All requests for mailing or distribution by the members shall be filed with the Secretary of the Senate or Chief Clerk of the Assembly who shall compile the same with the elimination of duplication as a general mailing list. The distribution of bills, constitutional amendments, joint and concurrent resolutions shall be systematized as follows: Members' desks and legislative officers' files 150 full sets; to authors 50 copies of their own bills; accredited newspaper representatives 25; to public and law libraries, newspapers, county officials, and other civic, commercial, fraternal or industrial organizations as the Secretary of the Senate and Chief Clerk of the Assembly may compile from the recommendations of the members of both Houses, 1200 copies; to State officers, State Library and Secretary of State, 200 copies; to legislative committees, bill room files and public requests—confined to single copies of bills designated, 1000 copies. The State Printer shall cause to be printed in the standard form adopted by the Senate and the Assembly as many copies of all bills, constitutional amendments and joint or concurrent resolutions as may be necessary to conform to the provisions of this rule.

A similar number and distribution shall be made of the semifinal history and final calendar.

DISTRIBUTION OF BILLS AFTER CONSTITUTIONAL RECESS.

17. Following the recess, new bills introduced shall be forwarded to the public libraries and law libraries only, and one copy each of amended bills as may be requested. Weekly histories and journals shall be distributed generally, following the recess, upon such schedule as the Secretary of the Senate and Chief Clerk of the Assembly may designate.

OTHER LEGISLATIVE PRINTING.

PRINTING OF THE DAILY JOURNAL.

18. The State Printer shall print 1000 copies of the Journal of each day's proceedings of each House; at the end of the session he shall also print a sufficient number of copies, properly paged after being corrected and indexed by the Secretary of the Senate and Chief Clerk of the Assembly, to bind in book form as the Journal of the respective Houses of the Legislature as required by law.

WHAT SHALL BE PRINTED IN THE JOURNAL.

19. The following shall always be printed in the Journal of each House:

(a) Messages from the Governor and messages from the other House, and the titles of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments when introduced in, offered to, or acted upon by the House, and the title and text of joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments when adopted by the House; provided, that in the case of a concurrent resolution approving the adoption of a charter or charter amendments of any kind, the text of such charter or charter amendments need not be printed in the Journal.

(b) Every vote taken in the House, and a statement of the contents of each petition, memorial, or paper presented to the House.

(c) A true and accurate account of the proceedings of the House, when not acting as a committee of the whole.

PRINTING OF THE DAILY FILE.

20. A daily file of bills ready for consideration shall be printed each day for each House, and copies of the file of each House shall be distributed each day to all of the members of both Houses.

PRINTING OF HISTORY.

21. Each House shall cause to be printed on Monday of each week, during the session, a complete History of all bills, joint or concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments originating in, or acted upon by the respective Houses.

Such History shall show the action taken upon each measure up to and including the legislative day preceding its issuance.

For each legislative day intervening there shall be printed a supplementary History showing the action taken upon any measure since the issuance of the complete History. A regular form shall be prescribed and no other form shall be used.

Immediately following the adjournment for the constitutional recess the History shall be compiled and printed to date of recess.

AUTHORITY FOR PRINTING ORDERS.

22. The Superintendent of State Printing shall not print for use of either House any matter other than provided by law or by these rules, except upon a written order signed by the Secretary of the Senate or the Chief Clerk of the Assembly. The Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the Assembly may also, when necessity requires it, order certain matter printed in advance of the regular order, by the issuance of a rush order.

RECORD OF BILLS.

SECRETARY AND CHIEF CLERK TO KEEP REGISTER.

23. The Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the Assembly shall keep a register, in which shall be recorded every action taken by the Senate and Assembly on every bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment.

SECRETARY AND CHIEF CLERK SHALL ENDORSE BILLS.

24. The Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the Assembly shall endorse on every original bill a statement of any action taken by the Senate and Assembly.

ACTION IN ONE HOUSE ON BILL TRANSMITTED FROM THE OTHER.

BILLS READ AND REFERRED TO COMMITTEE.

25. When a Senate bill has been received by the Assembly or an Assembly bill by the Senate, with a message announcing that the same has passed the Senate or Assembly, such bill shall be read the first time by the Secretary or the Chief Clerk and referred to a standing committee by the presiding officer, unless otherwise ordered by the House.

AFTER A BILL HAS BEEN PASSED BY THE SENATE OR ASSEMBLY.

26. When a bill (if it be a Senate bill) has been received from the Senate by the Assembly, after its passage, or (if it be an Assembly bill) has been received from the Assembly by the Senate after its passage, it shall be taken up by the Senate or Assembly, as the case may be, under the regular order of business ("Senate messages" or "Assembly messages"), read the first time, unless otherwise ordered by the House, and shall then be assigned to the proper committee, unless otherwise ordered, who shall act upon the same as soon as practicable, and report the same back to the Senate or Assembly forthwith, and the chairman of each committee is charged with observance of this rule.

SPECIAL FILE.

27. On the second day after the close of the recess provided for in section 2, article IV of the constitution, the Senate and Assembly shall each adopt and provide a special file upon which shall be placed: In the Senate, only Assembly bills that have passed the Assembly; and in the Assembly, only Senate bills that have passed the Senate. Such special file shall be taken up at two o'clock p.m. of each day, and be considered at least one hour and a half after being so taken up unless its consideration shall be completed in a lesser period of time. This rule shall not be suspended in either House except by a three-fourths vote of such House.

REPORTS FROM ONE HOUSE TO THE OTHER AS TO ACTION ON BILL.

BILL OR RESOLUTION IN ONE HOUSE, REJECTED IN THE OTHER, REQUIRES NOTICE.

28. When a bill or resolution which shall have passed one House is rejected by the other, notice thereof shall be given immediately to the House in which the same shall have passed.

EACH HOUSE TO TRANSMIT PAPERS.

29. Each House shall transmit to the other papers on which any bill or resolution shall be founded.

NOTICES TO BE IN WRITING UNDER PROPER SIGNATURES.

30. Notice of the action of either House to the other shall be in writing, and under the signature of the Secretary of the Senate or the Chief Clerk of the House from which such notice is to be conveyed.

SECRETARY, CHIEF CLERK, ETC., TO DISPATCH MESSAGES.

31. Messages shall be sent to the other House by an officer or attache to be designated by the Secretary, if it be a Senate message, or by the Chief Clerk, if it is an Assembly message.

MESSAGES MUST BE ANNOUNCED BY THE SERGEANT-AT-ARMS.

32. When a message shall be sent from either House it shall be announced at the door by the Sergeant-at Arms, and shall be respectfully communicated to the presiding officer by the person by whom it may be sent.

PASSAGE AND ENROLLING OF BILLS.

PASSAGE OF BILLS TAKING EFFECT IMMEDIATELY.

33. Each House shall act in the usual course upon all bills that may be made to take effect immediately, under the provisions of section 1, article IV of the constitution.

PASSAGE OF URGENCY PROVISIONS IN BILLS.

34. Upon the third reading of an act which is an urgency measure within the meaning of section 1, article IV of the State constitution, the presiding officer shall direct that the section of said act setting forth the facts constituting the necessity for such urgency (which shall be known as the urgency section) be then read and put to vote. The question shall be thus stated: "Shall this section setting forth the urgency features of this bill be passed?" If upon such final vote two-thirds of all the members elected to the House in which the vote is being taken shall not vote in the affirmative, no further action shall be taken on the bill; but, in case an identical bill without such an emergency clause be again introduced into such House, such bill shall be placed on file without reference to any committee.

PASSAGE OF BILLS PRECEDING FINAL ADJOURNMENT.

35. No Senate bill shall be passed by the Senate and no Assembly bill shall be passed by the Assembly within seven days of the time set for adjournment sine die of the two Houses of the Legislature, unless permission to vote on such bill shall be granted by a three-fourths vote of the House of its origin after being recommended by the presiding officer thereof.

ENROLLMENT OF BILL AFTER PASSAGE.

36. After a bill shall have passed both Houses, it shall be duly enrolled after being carefully compared, by the Engrossing and Enrolling Clerk and committee of the House in which it originated, with the engrossed bill as passed in the two Houses. It shall then receive the signatures provided for in joint rule 37, and be presented to the Governor of the State.

ENROLLING COMMITTEE TO PRESENT BILLS TO GOVERNOR.

37. After a bill shall have been thus passed in each House, it shall be presented by the Engrossing and Enrolling Committee of the House in which it originated to the Governor of the State for his approval (it being first endorsed by the presiding officers of the two Houses, and by the Secretary of the Senate and Chief Clerk of the Assembly). The said committee shall report the day of presentation to the Governor, which time shall be carefully entered on the journal of the House in which the bill originated.

AMENDMENTS AND CONFERENCES

AMENDMENTS TO AMENDED BILLS MUST BE ATTACHED

38. Whenever a bill or resolution which shall have been passed in one House shall be amended in the other, it shall immediately be reported as amended by the House making such amendment or amendments. Such amendment or amendments shall be attached to the bill or resolution so amended, and endorsed "adopted" and such amendment or amendments, if concurred in by the House in which such bill or resolution originated, shall be indorsed "concurred in," and such endorsements shall be signed by the Secretary or Assistant Secretary of the Senate or the Chief Clerk or Assistant Clerk of the Assembly, as the case may be; provided however, that an amendment to the title of a bill adopted after the passage of such bill shall not necessitate reprinting, but such amendment must be concurred in by the House in which such bill originated.

TO CONCUR OR REFUSE TO CONCUR IN AMENDMENTS

39. In case the Senate amend and pass an Assembly bill, or the Assembly amend and pass a Senate bill, the Senate (if it be a Senate bill) or the Assembly (if it be an Assembly bill) must either "concur" or "refuse to concur" in the amendments. If the Senate concur (if it be a Senate bill), or the Assembly concur (if it be an Assembly bill), the Secretary or Chief Clerk shall notify the House making the amendments and the bill shall be ordered to enrollment.

WHEN SENATE OR ASSEMBLY REFUSE TO CONCUR

40. If the Senate refuse to concur (if it be a Senate bill), or the Assembly refuse to concur (if it be an Assembly bill), the Secretary or the Chief Clerk shall notify the House making the amendments of such refusal, and ask that they recede from their amendments. If they refuse to recede, the presiding officer shall appoint a committee of three (3) on conference and the Secretary or the Chief Clerk shall immediately notify the other House of the action taken and request the appointment of a like committee. Two of the members composing such committee from each House shall be selected from those voting with the majority on the point about which the difference has arisen, and the other member from each House of such committee shall be selected from the minority, in the event there is a minority vote. The first Senator named on the Conference Committee shall act as chairman of the committee from the Senate, and the first Assemblyman named on such committee shall act as chairman of the committee from the House, and the chairman thus selected shall arrange the time and place of all meetings and prepare or direct the preparation of reports. The Committee on Conference shall report to both the Senate and Assembly.

COMMITTEE ON CONFERENCE.

41. In every case of an amendment of a bill agreed to in one House and dissented from in the other, if either House shall request a conference and appoint a committee to confer, the other House shall appoint a like committee and such committee shall meet at a convenient hour, to be agreed upon by the respective chairmen of the committees.

COMMITTEE ON FREE CONFERENCE.

42. If the conference fail to agree or either House refuse to adopt the report of the committee, a Committee on Free Conference shall then be appointed, which shall consist of three members from each House, to be constituted and appointed in the same manner as a Committee on Conference. The Committee on Free Conference is hereby directed to include in its report any amendments which it may adopt as a committee, and such amendments shall be attached to the bill.

The report of the Committee on Free Conference shall not be subject to amendment, and if either House refuse to adopt such report the conferees may be discharged and other conferees appointed.

It shall require the affirmative vote of not less than four of the members constituting the committee to agree upon a report. No member who has served on a Committee on Conference shall be appointed a member of a Committee on Free Conference on the same bill.

WHEN CONFERENCE COMMITTEE REPORT IS IN ORDER.

43. The presentation of the report of a Committee on Conference or Free Conference shall always be in order, except when the Journal is being read or a question of order or a motion to adjourn is pending, or during roll call, and, when received, the question of proceeding to the consideration of the report, if raised, shall be immediately passed upon, and shall be determined without debate.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

44. The Committee on Joint Rules shall be empowered to compile a list of suggestions as to the form of bills and resolutions prepared for introduction into the Legislature.

PRESS RULES.

45. A person desiring recognition by the Senate or Assembly as a newspaper correspondent shall make application in writing to the President of the Senate or Speaker of the Assembly.

(a) The applicant shall state in writing the name of the newspaper or newspapers he represents and that he is not engaged, and will not become engaged as a lobbyist for any person, copartnership, corporation or interest and that he is not and will not become the agent or representative of any person, copartnership, organization or corporation in advocating or attempting to defeat any measure pending in either branch of the Legislature, that he is not employed in any executive, administrative or legislative department of the State government and will not become so employed while accepting the privileges of a press representative.

(b) It shall be the duty of the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the Assembly to assign one or more rooms for the exclusive use of correspondents during the Legislative session, which room shall be known as the press room. The press room shall be under the control of the Superintendent of Capitol Building and Grounds; provided, that all rules and regulations shall be approved by the President of the Senate and Speaker of the Assembly.

ADJOURNMENT.

46. Adjournment for the constitutional recess and adjournment sine die shall be made only by concurrent resolution; and the resolution for adjournment sine die shall be passed by both Houses at least twenty-eight days before the date of such adjournment.

JOINT ADDRESS TO GOVERNOR.

47. When the Senate and Assembly shall judge it proper to make a joint address to the Governor, it shall be presented to him in his audience chamber by the President of the Senate in the presence of the Speaker of the Assembly and a Select Committee of six members from each House appointed by the respective presiding officers.

DISPENSING WITH JOINT RULES.

48. No Joint Rule shall be dispensed with except by a vote of two-thirds of each House; and Joint Rules 27 and 35 can be dispensed with only in the manner provided for in said Joint Rules. If either House shall violate a Joint Rule a question of order may be raised in the other House and decided in the same manner as in the case of the violation of the rules of such House; and if it shall be decided that the Joint Rules have been violated, the bill involving such violation shall be returned to the House in which it originated, without further action. Or, at the option of such House, the President or Speaker may direct the Secretary or the Chief Clerk to mark the section or sections in conflict with the rules as nonconcurred in or negatived.

ASSEMBLY CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 1.

Relative to investigation by the Legislature of the State Farm School at Davis.

WHEREAS, Agriculture is a basic industry in California upon which the general prosperity and welfare of the State is intimately dependent; and

WHEREAS, It is recognized that it is of high importance that this great industry be accorded every possible means to develop along modern lines; and

WHEREAS, It is of prime importance to the future welfare of the industry that it draw to its ranks, from the youth of our State, young men and young women who have received efficient training in the science of agriculture; and

WHEREAS, It is the function of the College of Agriculture of the University of California to offer such training; and

WHEREAS, It has ever been the policy of the people of California to be content with nothing short of the best in educational facilities; and

WHEREAS, The Agricultural Legislative Committee, representing twenty-five cooperative organizations with sixty thousand farmer members, has publicly stated, following a careful investigation, that hundreds of California boys and girls are seeking agricultural training outside of their home State; that grave conditions at the University Farm School, Davis, are becoming a State scandal; that the buildings at said institution are entirely inadequate and unsuited to their purpose; that said buildings are overcrowded; that the faculty is poorly paid and that the equipment is almost negligible, notwithstanding that in 1919 the appropriation for the College of Agriculture was one million three hundred thousand dollars, and other large amounts in previous years; and

WHEREAS, The Board of Regents of the University of California in their budget to the State Board of Control, have asked for an appropriation of seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars with which to purchase two hundred acres of land near Berkeley in order that the activities of the College of Agriculture can be extended at Berkeley; and

WHEREAS, There is a growing sentiment among the agricultural interests of this State that the time has arrived when it is important and essential that the State of California have a College of Agriculture second to none in the United States, and that the University Farm at Davis, because of soil, climate and geographical location, is the ideal location for such a college; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly, the Senate concurring, That the Speaker of the Assembly shall appoint three members, and the President of the Senate shall appoint three members, who shall investigate the present status of the College of Agriculture of the University of California and the University Farm School, inquire into the needs of the institutions mentioned, ascertain the views of the agricultural interests of the State, and report their findings and recommendations in full to the present session of the Legislature immediately after the constitutional recess, to the end that the agricultural industry of California can take pride in a College of Agriculture worthy of this great State; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall have power to employ such assistants as it may deem necessary, and that the expenses incurred in such investigation, not exceeding the sum of one thousand dollars, shall be paid equally by the Assembly and Senate out of their contingent funds.

Resolution read.

PRESENTATION OF PETITIONS.

The following petitions were presented, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By the President:

SAN FRANCISCO, January 21, 1921.

The members of the Southern Pacific Social and Outing Club of San Francisco, in a special meeting held this date, form resolutions and pass the following appeal to you that the bill now before you known as the proposed new tax measure for the purpose of increasing State taxes be defeated, for the following reasons:

WHEREAS, The present reports indicate that the State Legislature now in session at Sacramento proposes to pass a law to increase the taxes from 5¼ per cent to 7 per cent on the gross earnings of all the interurban and steam railroads of this State;

WHEREAS, The financial condition of these railroads cannot stand the further increase of financial burdens;

WHEREAS, The welfare of the workers depends upon the earnings of these railroads, and if these railroads are taxed over and above what would be allowed to pay the workers a fair compensation for their wages, they must be the sufferers; be it

Resolved, That we, the Southern Pacific employes banded together in a social organization known as the Southern Pacific Social and Outing Club of San Francisco, appeal to you, the Governor, the Senate, and the Assembly of the State of California not to add further taxes on our company, but that additional, needed revenue for State purposes, should come from other sources.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC SOCIAL AND OUTING CLUB OF SAN FRANCISCO.
A. C. HUSTLER, President.

W. J. MURRAY, Secretary.

Also:

SAN FRANCISCO, January 21, 1921.

The members of Golden Gate Local No. 135, of the International Association of Railroad Supervisors of Mechanics, in a special meeting held this date, form resolutions and pass the following appeal to you that the bill now before you known as the proposed new tax measure for the purpose of increasing State taxes be defeated for the following reasons:

WHEREAS, The present reports indicate that the State Legislature now in session at Sacramento proposes to pass a law to increase the taxes from 5¼ per cent to 7 per cent on the gross earnings of all the interurban and steam railroads of this State;

WHEREAS, The financial condition of these railroads cannot stand the further increase of financial burden;

WHEREAS, The welfare of the workers depends upon the earnings of these railroads, and if these railroads are taxed over and above what would be allowed to pay the workers a fair compensation for their wages, they must be the sufferers; be it

Resolved, That we, the Golden Gate Local No. 135 of the International Association of Railroad Supervisors of Mechanics, appeal to you, the Senate of the State of California, not to add the further taxes on our company, but that additional needed revenue for State purposes should come from other sources.

GOLDEN GATE LOCAL No. 135, INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF RAILROAD SUPERVISORS OF MECHANICS.
W. F. JOHNSON, President.

H. PREVOST, Secretary.

By Senator Rominger:

GLENDORA, January 20, 1921.

WHEREAS, The burden of taxation has become very heavy; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the board of control of the Glendora Chamber of Commerce, do earnestly favor retrenchment and curtailment of the State's expenses wherever possible; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded to the members of the Legislature from this district, with the urgent request that they do all in their power to reduce the State's expenses.

Given at Glendora, California, this seventeenth day of January, 1921.
A. M. BERNHARDT, President.

CHAS. A. MORRIS, Secretary.

Also:

LOS ANGELES, January 18, 1921.

The attached resolution was unanimously adopted by the board of directors of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange under date of January 12, 1921. This organization markets the output of 10,500 citrus growers.

We respectfully request your very earnest consideration.

WHEREAS, The expenses of government, national, State and county, has increased by leaps and bounds, at an astounding rate in the past few years; and

WHEREAS, The cost of government is met by taxes, either direct or indirect, paid largely by the producers of farm and orchard products; and

WHEREAS, Some states of the United States, notably that of Illinois, have by careful planning and diligent management been enabled to very materially reduce the expenses of government without reducing its efficiency; and

WHEREAS, It is apparent that this very desirable and necessary thing can be brought about in all lines of government; and

WHEREAS, The producers of citrus fruits in the State of California are face to face with a condition which they cannot long endure, caused by high taxes, high cost of production and high cost of transportation; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, By the board of directors of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, that we respectfully urge all branches of government, national, State and county, through their several executive and legislative bodies, that they give most diligent consideration to this question of reducing the expenses of government, at the same time maintaining reasonable standards; be it further

Resolved, That a copy be sent to Senators and Representatives in Congress from this State, to the Governor of the State of California, and members of the State Legislature from counties growing citrus fruits and to boards of supervisors in said counties.

Very truly yours,
CALIFORNIA FRUIT GROWERS' EXCHANGE.
E. G. DEZELL, Secretary.

RESOLUTION—(OUT OF ORDER).

The following resolution was offered:

By Senator Arbuckle:

WHEREAS, The Sacramento Chamber of Commerce established a bureau charged with the duty of assisting the members of the Legislature in procuring suitable housing facilities in Sacramento; and

WHEREAS, Such bureau has done most excellent work at considerable expense and effort to the members of the Chamber of Commerce; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate hereby expresses to the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce its thorough appreciation of the excellent, courteous and efficient manner in which it has contributed to the comfort and pleasure of the legislators of the forty-fourth session.

Resolution read, and on motion of Senator Arbuckle adopted.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER.

Senator Irwin moved to reconsider the vote whereby Assembly Bills Nos. 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 189 and 190 were passed.

During the discussion of the motion on reconsideration of the foregoing Assembly bills, the Senate resolved itself into a Committee of the Whole.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

At ten o'clock a.m., on motion of Senator Breed, the Senate, pursuant to a motion made and unanimously carried on the previous legislative day, resolved itself into Committee of the Whole, the President in the chair, for the purpose of seeking certain information from the Board of Control, the State Controller, and other department heads, in connection with the consideration of Assembly Bills Nos. 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 189 and 190.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE RISES.

At twelve o'clock and thirty minutes p.m., Senator Slater moved that the Senate now rise for further consideration of Assembly Bills Nos. 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 189 and 190 in the Senate.

Motion carried.

IN SENATE.

WITHDRAWAL OF MOTION TO RECONSIDER.

Senator Irwin asked for and was granted unanimous consent to withdraw his motion to reconsider Assembly Bills Nos. 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 189 and 190.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER.

Senator Chamberlin moved to reconsider the vote whereby Assembly Bill No. 183, an act making an appropriation to meet the deficiency in the appropriation for the support of the University of California for the seventy-first and seventy-second fiscal years, was passed.

The question being on the motion to reconsider.

The roll was called, and the vote whereby Assembly Bill No. 183 was passed was refused reconsideration by the following vote:

AYES—Senators Chamberlin, Eden, and Rominger—3.

NOES—Senators Allen, Arbuckle, Boggs, Breed, Carr, F. M., Carr, W. J., Dennett, Duncan, Flaherty, Gates, Godsil, Harris, Ingram, Juman, Irwin, Johnson, Jones, King, McDonald, Nelson, Osborne, Otis, Rigdon, Sample, Scott, Sharkey, Shearer, and Slater—28

Title read and approved.

Assembly Bill No. 183 ordered transmitted to the Assembly.

STATEMENT OF POSITION ON VOTE.

In order that my position on Assembly Bill No. 183, appropriating the sum of $370,000 to cover a deficiency of that amount in the appropriations made by the last Legislature for the support and maintenance of the University of California for the biennium period of 1919-1921, may not be misunderstood, I desire to have the following statement made a matter of record.

The appropriation is asked for by the Board of Control upon the theory that it, with the written authority of the Governor, has authority and power under the provisions of section 680 of the Political Code to authorize any deficiency in appropriations "whenever an actual necessity arises therefor," and that it is incumbent upon the Legislature to pass special appropriation bills for any amount that may represent any deficiency authorized by it under the said section. The Board of Control, with the written authority of the Governor, has authorized the University of California to incur a deficiency in the sum of $370,000.

It is my contention and belief that the Board of Control and the Governor possess no such legal or constitutional authority or power, but that, in the matter of authorizing any deficiencies, if any are found to exist between the sessions of the Legislature, they are limited to the funds appropriated by the Legislature for that purpose.

In the last session, the Legislature did appropriate a fund of $250,000 to meet the emergency financial needs of the State. The Board of Control and the Governor have not only spent this sum but have authorized the expenditure of over a million dollars in excess thereof, under the power which they claim to have under section 680 of the Political Code. Assembly Bill No. 185 is only one of eleven bills appropriating this excess of over a million dollars that the Board of Control and the Governor have authorized, and which the Legislature is now called upon to pass.

To place the construction on section 680 of the Political Code which the Board of Control now contends for, would be to authorize it and the Governor to lend or extend the credit of the State, a power and authority, which in my judgment and opinion, is directly prohibited by the provisions of section 31 of article IV of the constitution.

It is regretted that any deficiency has arisen in the appropriations made for the support and maintenance of the State University for the past biennium period, but the deficiency having arisen, it is imperative, in my judgment, that it should first be met out of the emergency fund furnished the Board of Control by the last Legislature. In the event that that fund proved insufficient to care for the growing needs of the University, or any other State department or institution, for that matter, the only solution would be a special session of the Legislature for the purpose of enacting such special appropriation bills as would furnish the required funds.

HARRY A. CHAMBERLIN.

It is my opinion that we have no power to expend money, or to contract any debt on the part of the State, in excess of appropriations made prior to such expenditure or prior to the contracting of such debt.

THIRD READING OF SENATE BILLS.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 10.

Selecting and designating two illustrious deceased persons whose statues in marble or bronze shall hereafter be provided and furnished by the State of California to be placed in National Statuary Hall.

WHEREAS, The Congress of the United States of America has by statute enacted and declared as follows, to wit:

"The President is hereby authorized to invite each and all the states to provide and furnish statues, in marble or bronze, not exceeding two in number for each state, of deceased persons who have been citizens thereof, and illustrious for their historic renown or for distinguished civic or military service, such as each state shall deem worthy of this national commemoration; and when so furnished the same shall be placed in the old hall of the House of Representatives in the Capitol of the United States, which is hereby set apart, or so much thereof as may be necessary, as National Statuary Hall, for the purpose herein indicated."

WHEREAS, The State of California has never designated the deceased persons whose statues shall be so provided and furnished by the State of California; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly, jointly, That the Legislature of the State of California hereby selects and designates Junipero Serra and Thomas Starr King as the two deceased persons who have been citizens of the State of California and illustrious for their historic renown or for distinguished civil or military service whose statues in marble or bronze shall be hereafter provided and furnished by the State of California to be placed in the National Statuary Hall, as so provided by act of Congress.

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION No. 12

Relating to the protection of citrus fruits and their by-products.

WHEREAS, Foreign competition is desperately seeking our unprotected markets; and

WHEREAS, It is reported that great quantities of citrus fruits have been placed upon the American markets in competition with the same products produced by American farmers and the American markets have as a result been almost completely demoralized and quotations reduced to a point where the American farmer must sell at a price less than the cost of productions; and

WHEREAS, California, the premier citrus fruit growing State, is confronted with this lamentable situation which is producing unrest in the minds of its people; and

WHEREAS, The citrus fruit industry of California, which is one of the oldest and most distinctive industries of the State, now faces extinction unless some adequate protection is granted; and

WHEREAS, Millions of dollars now invested in this industry is at stake; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and Senate, jointly, That the Legislature of the State of California hereby memorializes Congress to provide adequate protection to the citrus market in the form of an increased tariff upon the importation of such products and by-products; and be it further

Resolved, That our Senators and legislators in Congress be and they are hereby requested to use all honorable means to secure the adoption of such measures which will afford adequate protection to the industry; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be and he is hereby instructed to forward copies of the resolution to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress and to each of the members of the respective Committees of Ways and Means of the Senate of the United States and of the House of Representatives.

REPORT OF STANDING COMMITTEE— OUT OF ORDER.

The following report of standing committee was received and read:

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, JANUARY 22, 1921.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Committee on Federal Relations, to which was referred Assembly Joint Resolution No. 9—Relative to the passage of the World War Adjusted Compensation Act—has had the same under consideration, and respectfully reports the same back, and recommends that it be adopted.

Committee membership—5; committee vote—Ayes, 5.

EDEN, Chairman.

CONSIDERATION OF ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION— OUT OF ORDER.

Senator Inman asked for and was granted unanimous consent to take up for consideration, at this time, Assembly Joint Resolution No. 9 without reference to file.

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION No. 9.

Relative to the Passage of the World War Adjusted Compensation Act.

WHEREAS, The nation's debt to the veterans of the world war is unquestionably recognized by a grateful people, for valiant services rendered; and

WHEREAS, There is now pending before the Congress of the United States a bill known as the World War Adjusted Compensation Act (H. R. No. 14157); and

WHEREAS, It appears that the consensus of opinion of the veterans of the world war is overwhelmingly in favor of this bill in preference to any other solution of the problem of rendering to the veterans a part of their just due; and

WHEREAS, A failure to act promptly will in many instances be the equivalent of a denial of justice; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and the Senate, jointly, That the Legislature of the State of California memorialize the Congress of the United States for the passage of the said World War Adjusted Compensation Act at an early date; and be it further

Resolved, That the Senators and Representatives in Congress from the State of California be requested to use honorable means to secure the action desired in this matter for the purposes aforesaid; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the President of the United States, to the presiding officers of both Houses of Congress, and to each of the Senators and Representatives in Congress from the State of California, including those to assume office on March 4, 1921.

Resolution read.

The question being on the adoption of the resolution.

The roll was called, and Assembly Joint Resolution No. 9 adopted by the following vote:

AYES—Senators Allen, Arbuckle, Burnett, Carr, W. J., Eden, Flaherty, Godsil, Harris, Hart, Ingram, Inman, Irwin, Johnson, Jones, King, Lyon, McDonald, Nelson, Osborne, Otis, Purkitt, Rigdon, Rominger, Scott, Shearer, and Slater—26.

NOES—None.

REPORT OF STANDING COMMITTEE.

The following report of standing committee was received and read:

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 22, 1921.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment has examined Senate Joint Resolution No. 12 Relative to the appointment of a Congressional Committee to investigate the activities of the so-called lumber trust—and reports that the same has been correctly engrossed.

OSBORNE, Chairman.

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION—(OUT OF ORDER).

Senator Lyon asked for and was granted unanimous consent to take up for consideration, at this time, Senate Joint Resolution No. 12, without reference to file.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 12.

Relative to the appointment of a congressional committee to investigate the activities of the so-called lumber trust.

WHEREAS, It has been stated in the public press, particularly in the Los Angeles Examiner, that the profits exacted by the lumber trust in the United States is largely responsible for the high cost of building; and

WHEREAS, One of the greatest causes of popular unrest at this time is the lack of proper housing facilities in the larger cities of the United States; and

WHEREAS, It also appears that the Federal Trade Commission, in a report to Congress, has charged that a lumber trust exists and controls the price of lumber all over the United States; and

WHEREAS, Within the past few months the sovereign state of New York has brought out astounding facts relative to the building industry through the reports of an investigating committee appointed by its legislative body, showing combinations and agreements tending to keep the cost of building at a prohibitive figure; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly, That we memorialize the government of the United States, and particularly the Congress thereof, that a congressional committee be appointed with full power and authority to investigate to the ultimate such conditions as are in the premises of this resolution set forth, to the end that, if such a trust exists, swift and sure punishment be meted out to those responsible for its existence; and be it further

Resolved, That the Senators and Representatives in Congress from the State of California be requested to use their utmost endeavors to bring about the results above outlined; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be and she is hereby directed to forward a copy of these resolutions to the presiding officers of the respective Houses of Congress, and to each of California's Senators and Representatives therein, including those to assume office March 4, 1921.

READING OF THE JOURNAL.

During the reading of the Journal of Saturday, January 22, 1921, the further reading was dispensed with, on motion of Senator Rush.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were received, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By the President:

Having devised a method for preventing the theft of automobiles, trucks and all motor cars, and having the same copyrighted since March 15, 1920, and to be made effective will have to become a law. Therefore, I am placing the method before your honorable body for their purpose and your consideration in doing so that you may more readily see the merit of the method. I deem it proper I should outline some of the features:

First—Makes it very convenient for owners to register their cars.

Second—The fee for registering is very small as cars will have to be registered but once.

Third—The identification card is the means by which an owner and car can be identified in any state in the Union. The identification card is the means by which an officer or individual can find if the driver of a car is the owner, authorized agent, or a thief, should they be suspicioned.

With this method a law, I don't believe one thief in a thousand would steal a car, and if one did he would be caught. On the other hand an individual will not take the responsibility of owning hip of a car without the proper identification, as responsibility for identification of the car rests with the individual having it in his possession. I don't think there is a possibility of a thief duplicating the identification card as all cars will be registered by a number and will have the official seal of Registrar of Deeds, neither of which a thief could obtain. But to make the matter ironclad and render any attempt of duplicating the card useless, I pray your honorable body to include in the law, should you adopt this method, this clause:

"Require all owners to report the theft of their cars if stolen immediately to the Registrar of Deeds where their cars are registered."

Simply report by number. For example, say No. 14 is stolen. Owners can refer to their cards to find the number they are registered under. Then, should inquiry come from anywhere asking for the verification of that number, the answer would be this: If the car is reported stolen, the answer would be, "The car is stolen"; if not reported stolen the answer would be, "Identification O. K."

I also pray your honorable body to incorporate this clause in the law if adopted:

"Require all Registrars of Deeds to collect a ten cent royalty fee of each owner at the time of registering their cars, one half of the royalty to go to the State for the purpose of maintaining good roads. The other half of the royalty to go to myself for the first year's registration. After the first year nine cents to go to the State for the same purpose and one cent to myself."

With this method adopted and in operation a thief would not bring a stolen car into the State, as he could not properly identify himself or the car. Neither would they have a car in their possession. On the other hand, an individual will not accept ownership of a car without proper identification. Changing numbers on a car will be of disadvantage to a thief, as car would not then agree with identification card.

The penalty for crime will not prevent crime. To be effective, the law must provide the means by which the thief knows he will be caught if he steals a car. This I claim the identification card will furnish, as the driver of a car must have the card in his possession, especially when driving in a community in which he is not well known.

I am sending a copy of the method to all the different state Legislatures for their consideration.

Respectfully,

J. M. WHITNEY,
3204 I Street, Des Moines, Ia.

INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF MACHINISTS,
BURLINGAME, January 22, 1921.

At a special called meeting, the members of this lodge indorsed the following resolutions, on which they respectfully request that favorable action be taken by the Senate, as it is of vital interest to our welfare as railroad employees:

WHEREAS, The present press reports indicate a probable action by the State Legislature (proposed new tax measure) increasing the taxes from 5½ per cent to over 7 per cent on the gross earnings of the steam railroads and interurban lines of the State;

WHEREAS, The financial condition of these railroads can not further stand increased financial burdens;

WHEREAS, The welfare of the workers depends upon the healthy financial condition of the said railroads; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we ask the Governor, the Senate and the Assembly of this State not to place further taxes on the railroads, and further, that additional needed revenue for State purposes should come from other sources.

Respectfully,

JOHN L. DRAKE, President.
EDWIN W. DAVIS, Recording Secretary.

Also:

LOS ANGELES, January 19, 1921.

The Los Angeles Federation of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, in regular meeting assembled, do petition your honorable body to add a penalty clause to the Harris bill now before the Legislature. Also to give the bill, with that addition, your favorable consideration.

DR. M. L. HUTCHINS, Secretary.

Be it resolved by the Council of the City of Berkeley as follows:

WHEREAS, The water resources of California, if properly applied to the development of hydro-electric power, the irrigation of agricultural land, and the use of municipalities, are California's greatest asset; and

WHEREAS, California and the United States Government, under the direction of the United States Geological Survey, at a cost of over one million dollars, has conducted a complete survey of the State; and

WHEREAS, Using these surveys as a basis for his conclusions, Colonel R. B. Marshall has outlined a plan for the irrigation of 12,000,000 acres in California, and asks that this plan be investigated, now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the council of the city of Berkeley requests the California State Legislature to appropriate the necessary funds for the complete investigation of the feasibility of the Marshall plan, and to appoint a representative body of men to conduct this investigation;

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Governor, the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the Assembly, the Senators representing the Fifteenth and Sixteenth Senatorial Districts, and to the Assemblymen representing the Fortieth and Forty-first Assembly Districts.

Dated January 11, 1921.

Adopted by the council of the city of Berkeley by the following vote: Ayes—Councilmen Barlett, Harms, Heywood, Schmidt, and President Bartlett; noes—none; absent—none.

LOUIS BARTLETT,
Mayor and President of the Council.

ATTEST: E. M. HAWS, City Clerk and Clerk of the Council.

Also:

CHULA VISTA, January 9, 1921.

I have enclosed a copy of a ruling given to us rural letter carriers when we asked for United States exemption of annual tax on the machines we use to carry mail.

It seems that section 2 of the Motor Vehicle Act has been interpreted pretty fine; practically nullifies the exemption clause.

In behalf of the rural letter carriers who use automobiles in our State, I ask you to so amend the act that automobiles used primarily and for no other commercial purpose than to carry United States mail may be allowed the United States license plates. The symbol United States on our automobiles gives to us and to the mail all the protection that it represents.

We have 400 rural letter carriers in California, but not all can use automobiles in their work.

Sincerely yours,

C. E. AUSTIN,
Secretary California State Rural Letter Carriers' Association.

By Senator Rominger:

WHEREAS, The State taxes necessary to administer the State government are necessarily heavy, and enter into the cost of living, affecting every citizen of the State; therefore, be it

Resolved, That our members of Assembly and State Senate be urged to do everything possible to reduce the expense of State administration, eliminating all unnecessary employees, combining the different commissions so far as possible for the sake of economy without affecting their efficiency, and make such appropriations as are necessary for efficient administration for the State government, and the completion of those undertakings in State development that are under way and vitally necessary.

LYNN W. BALLARD,
Executive Secretary Long Beach Chamber of Commerce.

PRESS REPRESENTATIVE.

The President announced that he had approved the application of the following press representative, and had assigned him to a seat on the floor:

Better Health—Celestine J. Sullivan.

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OUT OF ORDER.

Senator Inman asked for and was granted unanimous consent to take up for consideration at this time Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 20 without reference to the file.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 20

Relating to an investigation of the procedure and decisions of the Railroad Commission.

WHEREAS, It is reported that a large number of consumers of products and services dispensed by public service corporations are dissatisfied with the decisions and procedure of the Railroad Commission of the State of California and are demanding relief; and

WHEREAS, Whether or not this dissatisfaction is well founded or is brought about by misinformation or ignorance of the legal points involved, it is for the best interest of both the people as a whole and of the commission itself that these consumers be of us an opportunity to present their complaints and of expressing their views thereon; to the end that such expression may be received to that confidence in the minds of the people sent to such committee as if said complaints be found so be based upon facts that it proper to report through legislative action, therefore be it

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That the Speaker of the Assembly shall appoint five members and the President of the Senate shall appoint two members, that shall act as a committee of the Legislature to investigate the matters herein referred to and of affording the public an opportunity of presenting their complaints and their suggestions as to remedies; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall hold hearings during the constitutional recess to obtain facts in relation to said matters and to submit their report thereon to the Committees on Public Utilities of both Houses on the first legislative day following the constitutional recess; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall have power to employ such assistants as it may deem necessary and that the expenses incurred in such investigation, not to exceed the sum of one thousand four hundred dollars, shall be paid equally by the Assembly and Senate out of their respective contingent funds.

Resolution read.

NOTIFICATION TO THE ASSEMBLY OF RECONVENING OF THE SENATE.

The following message was transmitted to the Assembly:

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, February 24, 1921.

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Senate on this day adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be directed to notify the Assembly that the Senate has reconvened, pursuant to Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 5, adopted on January 24, 1921, and is ready to proceed with the business of the State, with all officers heretofore elected on January 3, 1921, present, to wit:

President	Hon. C. C. Young
President pro tempore	A. H. Breed
Secretary	Grace S. Stoermer
Sergeant-at-Arms	Thomas A. Brown
Chaplain	Bryant Wilson
Minute Clerk	James A. Miller

GRACE S. STOERMER, Secretary of Senate.

RESOLUTION—(OUT OF ORDER).

The following resolution was offered out of the regular order, by Senator Inman:

WHEREAS, The Legislature, in pursuance of its constitutional duty, is now engaged in the task of equalizing the burden of taxes as between property taxed locally for local purposes and property taxed against the public service corporations and banks for state purposes; and

WHEREAS, Under the advice of the Attorney General of the State, whatever rates may be fixed as a result of the present equalization process must be fixed prior to the first Monday in March, in order to be effective for the ensuing fiscal year; and

WHEREAS, The charge has been made by representatives of the public service corporations and banks that the present budget, as submitted to the Legislature by the State Board of Control and the State Controller, is unduly large, and that it should be investigated prior to the completion of such equalization process; and

WHEREAS, In the opinion of the Senate the two matters are entirely distinct, and furthermore, to conduct any such investigation into the budget and at the same time perform the constitutional duty of equalizing taxes within the time necessary to effect such is impossible; and

WHEREAS, Every member of the Legislature is pledged to a policy of rigid economy in State affairs, and it is the desire of this body to obtain every possible criticism of the budget or suggestion for effecting economy, and to do this at the very earliest possible date consistent with the constitutional duties imposed upon the Legislature; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That immediately upon the completion of the process of equalization, so far as the Senate is concerned, this body from day to day resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole for the consideration of the budget, item by item, and that the representatives of said public service corporations and banks who have made said charges be required to appear before the Senate and submit any figures in their possession, showing what item or items can be eliminated without impairing the efficiency of the state government;

Resolved, further, That a committee of five be appointed by the President of the Senate to arrange and submit to the Senate a program and schedule of such meetings, to the end that all persons interested in the various items of the budget be given notice and an opportunity to appear before the Senate and be heard for or against such items.

COMMUNICATION—(OUT OF ORDER).

The following communication was received and read:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

SAN FRANCISCO, February 23, 1921.

Hon. A. H. Breed, Oakland Bank of Savings Building, Oakland, California.

MY DEAR SENATOR: I have before me your letter of February 18, 1921, in which you submit for the opinion of this office the question, is it

> "legally necessary to pass the tax bill before the first Monday in March, also is there any date prior to which the bill must be passed to be legally effective this year, and also, what is that date?"

I note also you state:

> "I have understood that some contend it is legally necessary to pass it before the first Monday in March, while others contend it is not."

You refer to the so-called "King Bill" now pending before the Legislature, which is designed to change the rates of taxation upon the properties assessed pursuant to the provisions of section 14 of article XIII of the State constitution.

That section in its original form prescribed the rates of taxation upon the properties to which the section applied, and expressly declared that the rates therein prescribed were to continue in force "until changed by the Legislature."

As a matter of history the rates so established continued to be the rates applied until 1913, in which year the Legislature exercised the authority conferred upon it by the constitution and established different rates upon some of the properties taxed pursuant to the provisions of that section of the constitution. The same authority was exercised by the Legislature in 1915 and in 1917, and no question is raised as to the right of the Legislature to establish new or different rates at its present session.

The rates of taxation established in section 14 of article XIII of the constitution continued in force until the enactment of the Legislature at its session of 1913 became effective, and the rates then adopted by the Legislature continued to be the rates until the Legislature, in the exercise of the power conferred upon it, changed the same from time to time as it did in 1915 and in 1917, and the rates fixed by it in the latter year, and which are now in force, will continue to be the rates until the Legislature again changes them.

The pending measure proposes a change in all of the rates now established by the existing law.

Section 14 of article XIII of the constitution makes the taxes prescribed by the existing law a lien upon the property assessed, which lien attaches on the first Monday of March of the year of the assessment. The language by which this is accomplished is as follows:

> "The taxes herein provided for shall become a lien on the first Monday in March of each year."

The properties assessed through this method comprise operative property of certain utilities, certain property of insurance companies, bank stock and corporate franchises. The rate of taxation upon the properties of the utilities is applied by a percentage of their gross receipts for the calendar year preceding the first Monday in March. Likewise this rate of taxation upon properties of insurance companies is computed upon a percentage of the gross premiums, less certain specified deductions, collected during the calendar year preceding the first Monday in March, while the taxes to be paid by banks is a rate of taxation upon the value of their shares of capital stock upon the first Monday of March, such value being ascertained and computed in the manner and method prescribed by the constitution.

Pursuant to statute, it is the duty of the State Board of Equalization to make the requisite computations to ascertain the amount of taxes due from the properties assessed under this method, and for which the lien attaches, on the first Monday in March. Obviously this labor can not be performed on the first Monday of March. Section 3668 of the Political Code provides:

> "The State Board of Equalization must meet at the State Capitol on the first Monday of March in each year * * *. Between the first Monday in March and the third Monday before the first Monday in July the board must assess and levy the taxes as and in the manner provided for in section 14, article XIII of the constitution of this State, and sections of this code enacted to carry the same into effect."

The taxes so levied and assessed become due and payable on the first day of July.

There would seem little room for question but that the rates of taxation in force pursuant to existing law on the first Monday of March are the rates to be used by the Board of Equalization in computing the taxes for which the lien attaches on that day. The obligation of the taxpayer to the State is the amount secured by this lien, computed at the rates then in force, in the manner provided by the constitutional provision, and it would seem plain that the payment of that amount, when payable, would discharge the taxpayer's obligation, regardless of any change that might be made in the law subsequent to the first Monday in March.

It is my conclusion that in the assessment of properties under section 14 of article XIII of the constitution, the rates in force on the first Monday in March would be the rates applicable for the assessment in 1921, and that any change in rates made by the present Legislature through an enactment taking effect subsequent to the first Monday in March, 1921, will be first applicable for the assessment to be made in 1922.

Very truly yours,

U. S. WEBB.

By Senator Scott:

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, February 25, 1921.

MR. PRESIDENT: In accordance with the provisions of section 2, article IV of the constitution, I request that the permission of the Senate be granted for the introduction of the accompanying bill, the title of which is as follows, to wit:

An act transferring the properties of the San Francisco State Normal School to the Regents of the University of California, providing for the establishment of a State Teachers' and Junior College in lieu thereof and in lieu of the Affiliated Colleges of Medicine, Pharmacy and Dentistry, relating to the courses of instruction to be given therein; making an appropriation therefor, and repealing all acts inconsistent herewith.

Request referred to Committee on Rules.

PETITIONS—(OUT OF ORDER).

The following petition was presented out of the regular order, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Senator Duncan:

Resolved, That we believe the time has come when California should follow the example of the government of the United States with regard to its territories, and of several states of the Union, and forbid the future acquisition of any lands by aliens; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Farm Center of Wyandotte, that the Legislature be requested to pass Senate Bill No. 14;

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Senator Duncan, with the request that he present the same to the Senate, and to Assemblywoman Hughes, with the request that she present the same to the Assembly.

I hereby certify that the foregoing resolutions were unanimously adopted at a regular meeting of the Wyandotte Farm Center held on the seventh day of February, 1921.

OSCAR THATCHER, Secretary.

The following petitions were presented, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Senator Rigdon:

At a meeting of the San Benito County Sportsmen's Club, held on the night of February 21, 1921, the following resolutions were offered and unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, There have been introduced into the Legislature of California certain bills having for their object the consolidation of the State Fish and Game Commission with other commissions; and

WHEREAS, The State Fish and Game Commission as at present constituted is self supporting and without expense to the State; and

WHEREAS, The propagation and preservation of our fish and game by adding to the food supply is of vast importance to the people of California; and

WHEREAS, In our opinion there is grave danger that the efficiency of the commission will be greatly impaired by any proposed consolidation; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Sportsmen's Club of San Benito County hereby strongly protests against any consolidation with any other commission; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to Hon. M. B. Johnson, Hon. E. S. Rigdon, and Hon. Dan McCloskey, and that they be requested to act in accordance with the import of this resolution.

THOS. FLINT, President.
G. W. GRIFFIN, Secretary.

Also:

MONTEREY, CALIFORNIA, January 19, 1921.

Unless misinformed, we, the undersigned, respectfully ask you to vote and use your endeavors to defeat Assembly Bill No. 3, as we consider it is only adding one more unnecessary law to the statute books of the State, and will work a hardship upon the legitimate dealers of firearms, etc.

If all dealers in the State live up to and try to conform to the present laws the same as we do, we see no reason of enacting any more laws. This law may work in such a way that it will drive the business to such firms as Sears-Roebuck, Marshall Field, and many others of the kind located outside of the State but doing business in California.

Hoping you will take our point of view and kill Assembly Bill No. 3, if possible, we are,

Yours truly,

PETITIONS.

The following petitions were presented and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Senator Duncan:

Resolved, That this farm center heartily approves and advocates the passage of Senate Bill No. 14, which will prevent aliens from acquiring California lands in the future. We believe the time has arrived when only those owing allegiance to the Stars and Stripes should be allowed to buy our soil, and we believe also that this measure will accomplish the desired result;

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Senator Duncan and Assemblywoman Hughes, with the request that they present the same to their respective houses.

I hereby certify that the foregoing resolution was unanimously adopted by a rising vote of the Gridley Colony Farm Center, at a meeting held on the twenty-third day of February, 1921. Members present 65.

J. F. DEWSNUP, President.
THOMAS SCHOW, Secretary.

By Senator Rigdon:

IN BOARD OF SUPERVISORS, COUNTY OF SAN LUIS OBISPO,

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, Tuesday, February 8, 1921.

Present: Supervisors E. C. Loomis, E. W. Black, J. H. Bradhoff, Henry Twisselmann and Chairman John Norton. Absent: None.

In the matter of the "King tax measure," Senate Bill No. 146, before the Legislature of the State of California.

Supervisor E. C. Loomis does now introduce the following resolution, viz:

Be it resolved, That the board of supervisors of the county of San Luis Obispo do hereby indorse Senate Bill No. 146, known as the "King tax measure," and approve of all the provisions thereof; and be it further

Resolved, That this board approves the action of Hon. E. S. Rigdon, State Senator from the Seventeenth Senatorial District, representing the counties of San Luis Obispo and Monterey, for his stand and action taken in his support of said bill; be it further

Resolved, That this board now recommends that the representatives of this county in the State Legislature, to wit: Hon. E. S. Rigdon, State Senator, and Hon. Carlton W. Greene, member of the Assembly, do support the said measure when the same comes up for consideration and action at the second session of said State Legislature; and be it further

Resolved, That the clerk of this board transmit a copy of this resolution to Hon. E. S. Rigdon, Hon. Carlton W. Greene, to the Clerk of the Senate of the State of California, and to the Clerk of the Assembly of the State of California.

On motion of Supervisor Loomis, seconded by Supervisor Twisselmann (the full board being present and voting therefor), it is ordered that the said resolution be and the same hereby is declared duly adopted.

State of California, County of San Luis Obispo—ss.

I, F. J. Rodrigues, county clerk and ex officio clerk of the board of supervisors, in and for the county of San Luis Obispo, State of California, do hereby certify the foregoing to be a full, true and correct copy of an order made by the board of supervisors, as the same appears spread upon their minute book.

WITNESS my hand the seal of said board of supervisors affixed this tenth day of February, 1921.

[SEAL]

F. J. RODRIGUES,
County Clerk and ex officio Clerk of the Board of Supervisors.

By the President:

SAN FRANCISCO, February 24, 1921.

DEAR SIR: A bill is before the California State Legislature for an appropriation of $300,000, to be used towards saving the redwood groves in California.

As a member of the "Save the Redwood League" I am writing you to ask your assistance towards the passage of this bill, and to ask you to urge the other members of the Legislature from San Francisco and other places to help in securing this money to protect our redwoods that are being devastated by lumbermen.

Unless substantial aid is received, many of the finest and most representative redwood groves, particularly those most accessible to the traveler, will this year disappear before the operations of the lumbermen. The State highway has facilitated lumbering and the demand for California redwood has constantly increased. The owners of the redwoods are entitled to be protected in their investment and can not be expected to wait much longer. Either the groves will be purchased for public purposes, or they will be cut.

Thanking you in advance for your efforts towards the passage of this bill, I am

Sincerely yours,

JOHN McLAREN, Superintendent of Parks.
[SEAL] JAS. DE SUCCA, Secretary.

Also:

LODI, February 27, 1921.

MY DEAR SIR: I beg to assure you, the executive board of the Alameda district, California Federation of Women's Clubs, the conservation department of the Alameda district, the Woman's Club of Lodi, 400 members, besides many other individual clubs of the district, heartily endorse Nelson Senate Bill No. 64, and Cummings Assembly Bill No. 80, calling for an appropriation of $300,000 for the purchase of redwoods situated along the highway in Humboldt County. Believing this to be a purely economic measure and an emergency measure requiring prompt action, we respectfully ask your strong support of these bills.

Very respectfully yours,

MRS. MAY CROCKER.

RESOLUTION OPPOSING SENATE BILL NUMBER EIGHT HUNDRED FIFTY-FIVE, KNOWN AS THE "KING BILL."

WHEREAS, At the first half of the forty-fourth session of the California Legislature a bill relating to taxation for State purposes, Senate Bill No. 146, commonly known as the King tax bill, was refused passage; and

WHEREAS, Said bill, subsequent to its defeat, was reintroduced in the Senate and is now known as Senate Bill No. 855; and

WHEREAS, During the constitutional recess of the Legislature the proponents and opponents of the said measure have argued its merits and demerits at great length before the people throughout the State of California, who, despite all arguments to the contrary, must eventually pay any increase in taxes; and

WHEREAS, Investigation shows that the rates of taxation proposed in said King bill would raise upwards of fifteen million dollars more revenue than is essential to provide for all of the necessary requirements of the State, including the eighteen millions additional voted by the people at the November, 1920, election; and

WHEREAS, The request for information from the fiscal officers of the State as to why fifteen million dollars should be added to the already heavy tax burden has been met by these servants of the people with the reply that it is not up to them to justify this extravagant proposed budget, but up to the people to point out how it should be cut down; and

WHEREAS, The Civic League of Improvement Clubs and Associations of San Francisco has ever been watchful of public expenditures, to the end that extravagance and waste might be eliminated from governmental affairs; and

WHEREAS, It appears from an investigation of the entire subject that the passage of said so-called King bill would place an unnecessary burden upon the people of this State and encourage extravagance in expenditures; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Civic League of Improvement Clubs and Associations does oppose the passage of said so-called King bill by the Legislature of this State; and be it further

Resolved, That the Legislature be called upon to keep the appropriations for the ensuing biennium within the amount budgeted for 1919-1921, a period when prices were at the highest war time level, with no additional appropriations except those voted by the people at the last election; and be it further

Resolved, That the chairman of the Executive Committee be directed to communicate this resolution by such means as may to him seem most effective to the Legislature now in session, and particularly the representatives therein from San Francisco, and that he urge upon said San Francisco members the necessity for economy in governmental affairs.

TURLOCK, CALIFORNIA, February 23, 1921.

DEAR SIR: Herewith please find a statement of the amount of taxes we would be assessed for if under the old system; also under the rate of 5.6 per cent; also under the proposed rate of 7.6 per cent:

At 40 per cent of real value, which includes State, County and City	$1883 64
At 5.6 per cent present rate	2325 80
At 7.6 per cent proposed rate	3156 45

Our statement shows that to be equalized with other taxes, our rate should be 4.53 per cent.

For purposes of comparison, Mr. D. F. Lane has shown three examples. Also there is a statement enclosed of an assessor's employee.

Our book value is $71,350.28.

Our gross income is $41,532.18.

May we ask that this be presented through the proper channels, that we may have our present taxes, which are inequitable, adjusted, so that we may not be compelled to submit to what we consider an injustice.

Yours very truly,

TURLOCK GAS COMPANY.

GENTLEMEN: The International Anti-Vivisection Society takes note of the demand made upon your honorable body for the appropriation of $750,000 for the endowment of an animal clinic at Berkeley, to be established, as we are advised, by surgeons affiliated with the American Medical Association and other societies definitely committed to vivisection.

We respectfully submit this memorial, duly adopted by the members of our own body, to protest against the diversion of public funds to the ignoble purpose proposed. Primarily, the State is already sufficiently encumbered with costly institutions, calling for monetary support far in excess of any return that can be anticipated, either in the advancement of science or in the permanent betterment of society, without adding to the number one so utterly opposed to the principles of righteousness as this.

Instead of granting financial assistance from the public treasury for the establishment of such an institution as this would be, devoted to the heartless torture of innumerable sentient creatures, as the period of its operation should be prolonged, the Legislature ought to enact laws for the instant abatement of the cruelties long since practiced in vivisection, which by their very nature cry aloud for relief, as already carried on in institutions heavily endowed. Many citizens who would experience personal increases in their taxes, in order to comply with the demands of the promoters of this clinic, are thoroughly opposed to the dastardly work it is sought to establish therein.

The knowledge that vivisection would be extensively practiced, should this clinic be set up and accorded monetary assistance by the State, at the onset condemns the proposition in the estimation of the 272,288 voters, who cast their ballots in favor of the abolition of vivisection in California at the last general election. Had the citizens at large been fully advised of the atrocities of vivisection at that time, doubtless there would have been a much larger vote recorded in opposition to the horrors of the laboratories already in existence. Nor can the plan of widening the operations of this atrocious practice be justified on any grounds. Adequate steps will be taken hereafter to acquaint the public generally with the utterly vicious nature of vivisection, its baneful effect upon both human and animal victims, and the hardening reflex action upon vivisectors themselves. It little behooves the representatives of the people to add this large sum of money to the staggering burden of taxation rolled up on other accounts.

We hereby express our own unalterable opposition to the plan of endowing an animal clinic at Berkeley, or at any other place, or of conferring upon vivisection in any way the seeming endorsement of the State. With confidence in your integrity, we call upon you, honorable members of the Senate and Assembly of California, to deny this audacious demand, and individually to do what you can to end the horrors of vivisection, instead of adding thereto.

Respectfully,

THE INTERNATIONAL ANTI-VIVISECTION SOCIETY.

GENTLEMEN: This is to certify that I have been in the employ of the Assessor's office for the county of Stanislaus and for the county of San Bernardino, and according to the usual practice and method of assessing properties in the county of Stanislaus I would, if called upon to make an assessment on the Turlock gas plant and lines valued at $71,350.28, place assessment thereon upon their physical properties the sum of $28,540, based upon the value for assessment purposes equal to 40 per cent of true valuation.

Yours very truly,

A. J. EDDY.

Turlock Gas Company, Turlock, California.

GENTLEMEN: This is to certify that, from your books, I have ascertained a book valuation on the Turlock gas plant and lines to be $71,350.28.

I have ascertained and verified that if this property was subject to assessment by the County Assessor of Stanislaus County, and by the Assessor for the city of Turlock, that the basis for assessment would be 40 per cent of its physical valuation. The taxes for 1919 on this property, based on a 40 per cent valuation, will be as in example 1:

Example 1:

Full state and county tax rate	$2 40 =	$684 96
Full school tax rate	2 25 =	642 15
Total		$1327 11
Full Turlock city tax rate	1 95 =	556 53
Total county, school and city tax		$1883 64

Example 2:

For the purpose of comparison with proposed corporation tax of 7.6% on gross receipts I find that under this item your books show gross receipts $41,532.18 = $3156.45 tax. Difference in favor of example 1, $1272.81.

Example 3:

For the purpose of comparison with the corporation tax of 5.6% on gross receipts, $41,532.18 = $2325.80. Difference in favor of example 1, $442.16.

For the purpose of comparing example 2 with example 3, the following result appears:

Example 2 = 7.6% gross receipts of	$41,532 18 =	$3156 45
Example 3 = 5.6% gross receipts of	41,532 18 =	2324 81
Difference in favor of example 3		$830 64

To reduce tax under example 2 to equal example 1, the gross receipts would have to be reduced to $24,784.73.

To reduce tax under example 3 to equal example 1, the gross receipts would have to be reduced to $33,636.42.

To reduce taxes under examples 2 and 3 equal to that of example 1, and without reducing gross receipts, the tax rate would have to be reduced from 5.6 per cent to 4.53 per cent.

The following communications were received and ordered printed in Journal:

By Senator King:

Copy of opinion given by Attorney General U. S. Webb to the Joint Committee on Revenue and Taxation, at the request of the committee:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF ATTORNEY GENERAL.

SACRAMENTO, February 25, 1921.

Hon. Frank L. Coombs, Chairman, Joint Committee, Revenue and Taxation, Sacramento.

MY DEAR MR. COOMBS: The King bill, now under consideration by the Joint Committee on Revenue and Taxation, is designed to change the rates of taxation upon the properties assessed under the provisions of section 14 of article XIII of the State constitution.

Yesterday I expressed before the Joint Committee the view that if this measure should be adopted by the Legislature the rates of taxation therein prescribed would not become effective for the assessment of the present year unless such act should be passed by the Legislature and go into effect prior to the first Monday of March, 1921. This view was orally expressed, and you requested that I give you a brief expression in writing, and in compliance I submit the following:

Section 14 of article XIII of the constitution, in its original form, prescribed the rates of taxation upon the properties to which the section applied, and expressly declared that the rates therein prescribed were to continue in force "until changed by the Legislature."

As a matter of history the rates so established continued to be the rates applied until 1913, in which year the Legislature exercised the authority conferred upon it by the constitution and established different rates upon some of the properties taxed pursuant to the provisions of that section of the constitution. The same authority was exercised by the Legislature in 1915 and in 1917, and no question is raised as to the right of the Legislature to establish new or different rates at its present session.

The rates of taxation established in section 14 of article XIII of the constitution continued in force until the enactment of the Legislature at its session of 1913 became effective, and the rates then adopted by the Legislature continued to be the rates until the Legislature, in the exercise of the power conferred upon it, changed the same from time to time as it did in 1915 and in 1917, and the rates fixed by it in the latter year, and which are now in force, will continue to be the rates until the Legislature again changes them.

The pending measure proposes a change in all of the rates now established by the existing law.

Section 14 of article XIII of the constitution makes the taxes prescribed by the existing law a lien upon the property assessed, which lien attaches on the first Monday of March of the year of the assessment. The language by which this is accomplished is as follows:

> "The taxes herein provided for shall become a lien on the first Monday in March of each year."

The properties assessed through this method comprise operative property of certain utilities, certain property of insurance companies, bank stock and corporate franchises. The rate of taxation upon the properties of the utilities is applied by a percentage of their gross receipts for the calendar year preceding the first Monday in March. Likewise this rate of taxation upon properties of insurance companies is computed upon a percentage of the gross premiums, less certain specified deductions, collected during the calendar year preceding the first Monday in March, while the taxes to be paid by banks is a rate of taxation upon the value of their shares of capital stock upon the first Monday of March, such value being ascertained and computed in the manner and method prescribed by the constitution.

Pursuant to statute, it is the duty of the State Board of Equalization to make the requisite computations to ascertain the amount of taxes due from the properties assessed under this method and for which the lien attaches on the first Monday in March. Obviously this labor cannot be performed on the first Monday of March. Section 3668 of the Political Code provides:

> "The State Board of Equalization must meet at the State Capitol on the first Monday of March in each year. * * * Between the first Monday in March and the third Monday before the first Monday in July the Board must assess and levy the taxes as and in the manner provided for in section 14, article XIII of the constitution of this State, and sections of this code enacted to carry the same into effect."

The taxes so levied and assessed become due and payable on the first day of July.

There would seem little room for question but that the rates of taxation in force pursuant to existing law on the first Monday of March are the rates to be used by the Board of Equalization in computing the taxes for which the lien attached on that day. The obligation of the taxpayer to the State is the amount secured by this lien, computed at the rates then in force, in the manner provided by the constitutional provision, and it would seem plain that the payment of that amount, when payable, would discharge the taxpayer's obligation, regardless of any change that might be made in the law subsequent to the first Monday in March.

That the tax rate to be applied in the assessment of properties for local purposes is, in accordance with the command of the statute, fixed by the board of supervisors in September of each year has been mentioned as a circumstance which it is contended supports the view that if the pending tax measure is not adopted until after the first Monday in March the rates therein prescribed may be legally used as the rates for the present year. This condition, however, I think furnishes no support for such construction. It will be remembered that the tax rate fixed by the board of supervisors for local purposes is fixed annually and that it is a rate for the single year only and is applicable to the assessment of that year only. On the first Monday in March there is not an existing county tax rate and by provision of the statute the tax rate applicable to the assessment which becomes effective as of that date is to be fixed by the board of supervisors in September following.

As pointed out to you yesterday, the rate of taxation for State purposes is fixed by law, and is a continuing rate, and exists as the law's rate until changed by the Legislature. If no legislation on the subject be enacted prior to the first Monday in March, on that day there would be in force and effect the rates carried by the present law. For local taxation the rate is an annual one, applicable only to the assessments of the year in which such rate is adopted, while for State purposes the rates fixed by the last Legislative enactment on the subject continue from year to year until changed by the Legislature.

It is my conclusion that in the assessment of properties under section 14 of article XIII of the constitution, the rates in force on the first Monday in March would be the rates applicable for the assessment in 1921, and that any change in rates made by the present Legislature through an enactment taking effect subsequent to the first Monday in March, 1921, will be first applicable for the assessment to be made in 1922.

Very truly yours,

U. S. WEBB.

Opinion of Judge Sloss:

LAW OFFICES OF SLOSS, ACKERMAN & BRADLEY, MILLS BUILDING.

SAN FRANCISCO, February 22, 1921.

Tax Investigation and Economy League, San Francisco.

GENTLEMEN: You have asked for my opinion on the following question: The Legislature of 1921, when it reassembles, will have before it a bill to increase the rates of taxation imposed upon certain classes of corporations for State purposes. Does the constitution require that such bill must become a law on or before the first Monday of March in order to be effective in fixing the rates of taxation for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1921?

In my opinion, the constitution does not so require, and an act increasing or diminishing the rates now in force would be equally valid and operative whether enacted before or after the first Monday of March.

Section 14 of article XIII of the constitution, which created the present method of levying taxes upon certain classes of companies for state purposes, fixes a scale of percentages of gross receipts, gross premiums, or value of shares, as the case may be, to be paid by the several classes of companies as an annual tax. In subdivision (f) of section 14, of article XIII of the constitution it is provided that, "The rates of taxation fixed in this section shall remain in force until changed by the Legislature, two-thirds of all the members elected to each of the two houses voting in favor thereof. The taxes herein provided for shall become a lien on the first Monday in March of each year after the adoption of this section, and shall become due and payable on the first Monday in July thereafter."

There is nothing in the language just quoted, or in the framework of the section as a whole, to limit the power of the Legislature in making changes in rates to a period of time prior to the first Monday of March. Those who suggest that such restriction should be read into the constitution seek to find a basis for their contention in the provision that the taxes become a lien "on the first Monday of March of each year." But the fact that the taxes become a lien at a given time has no bearing on the power of the Legislature to change the rate thereafter.

There is no necessary connection of time between the attaching of the tax lien and the determination of the amount of the tax. A tax may, and, under the general tax system of this State, does become a lien long before the amount of the tax is ascertained. This will readily appear from a consideration of the method of taxation applicable to all property prior to the adoption of section 14 of article XIII of the constitution, and still applicable to the taxation for county purposes of property not within the scope of that section.

Under the general tax provisions of the Political Code the lien of a tax attaches, like the lien of the taxes under discussion, "as of the first Monday of March in each year." (Political Code, section 3718.) Yet the assessment is made between the first Monday of March and the first Monday of July (Political Code, section 3652), the supervisors equalize the assessments between the first and third Mondays of July (Political Code, section 3672), and the actual levying of taxes by the supervisors does not take place until the first Monday of September (Political Code, section 3714). The amount of the tax is, therefore, not fixed when the lien attaches, but this uncertainty does not prevent the lien from having full force and effect.

If a legislature may authorize county, and other officers, to fix the rate and amount of tax after the lien has come into being, there is no reason why it, itself, cannot change the rate after the date of the origin of the lien, where it is given constitutional power, unlimited as to time, to make such change.

It is a fundamental rule of interpretation of State constitutions that the Legislature has all powers except those expressly withheld from it by the organic law, and in the absence of any limitation upon the grant of power to make changes in the rates of taxation, no restrictions upon the full exercise of that power should be raised by construction.

The taxpayer has no vested right in the existing rate, at any time prior, at least, to the time when the tax becomes payable. The lien is created for the protection of the State. Its purpose is to give the State security for such amount of tax as may lawfully be collectible and may subsequently be found to be due.

It may be noted that the prior practice of the Legislature and of the State authorities has been in accord with these views. The rates fixed by section 14 of article XIII have been changed by the Legislature on several occasions. The last changes were those made by an act approved May 11, 1917, Statutes of 1917, p. 336. By this act the rates of taxation for express companies, telegraph and telephone companies and banks were reduced by various amounts, and the rates for gas and electric companies were increased from 5.25 per cent to 5.6 per cent. This act, as stated above, was passed in May, long after the first Monday of March. Its validity has never, so far as I am advised, been questioned; yet, if there be merit in the contention that any change of rate must be made by act adopted on or before the first Monday of March, it must follow that for the past four years, or at any rate, for the year 1917, the State has unlawfully exacted from the gas and electric companies thirty-five one hundredths of one per cent of their gross receipts, and that it has, likewise, failed to collect the full tax due from express companies, telegraph and telephone companies and banks.

Whatever may seem to be the needs of the present situation, it should not be overlooked that the establishment of the rule limiting the power of the Legislature in this matter would carry with it the danger that at some future time when an emergency may require the raising of additional revenue after the first Monday of March, the Legislature and the fiscal authorities might find themselves unable to take advantage of the broad powers conferred by section 14 of article XIII of the constitution.

The brief time allowed for the preparation of this opinion precludes me from citing and discussing the authorities bearing on the subject.

Very truly yours,

M. C. SLOSS.

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NUMBER TWENTY-ONE.

Senator Chamberlin asked for and was granted unanimous consent to take up Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 21, without reference to committee or printing:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 21.

Relative to reorganization of State government.

WHEREAS, There are pending before this Legislature numerous bills and plans relating to the reorganization of the State government and the reduction of the expenses of State government; and

WHEREAS, It is of the utmost importance that all possible information and enlightenment which will be of assistance to this Legislature and the individual members thereof should be obtained, to the end that legislation will be finally enacted which will secure the desired results, to wit: the highest efficiency in State government with the least possible cost; and

WHEREAS, In the state of Illinois, during the administration of the Hon. Frank O. Lowden, the then governor thereof, a plan of government was evolved and placed in operation which it is claimed has resulted in increased efficiency in governmental matters with great economy; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Hon. Frank O. Lowden, former governor of the state of Illinois, who is now visiting in the State of California, be, and he is hereby, cordially invited to address the Senate and Assembly of the State of California in joint session assembled, on a day and at an hour to be selected, on the question of "Reorganization of State Government," and that he be particularly invited to describe and explain the methods and plans formulated and enacted into law during his administration as governor of the state of Illinois, whereby greater efficiency and economy was realized in the government of said state; and be it further

Resolved, That a special committee of two members from the Senate and three members from the Assembly be appointed by the presiding officers of the respective Houses to issue the invitation extended to Governor Lowden hereunder, and to make any and all necessary plans and arrangements for his address in the event of his acceptance, and that the privileges of the Assembly Chamber be accorded to such committee for the purposes of such meeting at such time as it may select.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communication to the President was received and read:

SACRAMENTO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, March 3, 1921.

My Dear Governor: Many thousand Sacramento people will [illegible] the Spring Flower Festival on the Capitol grounds Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, and the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce extends to the legislature an invitation to witness the event and take part in the "battle of flowers." Motion pictures will be taken and distributed to the theatres throughout the United States.

Will you kindly submit this to the Senate today and extend to the Senators this invitation to enjoy a half hour of pleasure on the Capitol grounds?

Very truly yours,

A. S. DUDLEY, Secretary Manager.

Also:

The Sacramento Church Federation, representing thousands of Sacramento taxpayers and voters, most earnestly petitions the California Legislature not to grant any one advocating the principles of Sinn Fein to address the people of the State of California through its Legislature.

The Sinn Fein group is dominated by that same autocratic philosophy which, finding expression in the rape of Belgium, opened the World War. This group, then advocating dual citizenship to Hohenzollern, Hapsburg, and the Vatican, today is carrying on, in camouflaged form, the same propaganda. While the United States of America was still a neutral the agents of autocracy destroyed munition plants. This group today, in attempting to advance the principle of Sinn Feinism in Southern Ireland, is virtually making war upon the principles of democracy, endeavoring to drive a wedge between America and the Allies. Hoping to assure the triumph of this autocratic ideal, this same group prevented conscription in Ireland and in Australia, and delayed it in Quebec, at a time when our allies were fighting "with their backs to the wall."

The Sacramento Church Federation would consider itself therefore, disloyal to our boys who lie buried in France, if it did not protest in this matter.

By Senator Sharkey:

WHEREAS, It has been learned that the proposed appropriation for the College of Agriculture, as submitted to the State Legislature by the Board of Control makes no provision during the next two years for any added work by any of the divisions of the College; and

WHEREAS, This condition affects agricultural extension or farm advisor work as well as other divisions; and

WHEREAS, This restriction of necessary working funds may prevent this county from procuring a home demonstration agent for whose necessary expenses the county board of supervisors has already made provision; and

WHEREAS, There will be absolutely no chance for other counties to procure farm advisors unless adequate provision be made for this purpose by the State Legislature; and

WHEREAS, The farm bureau of this county realizes that the agricultural extension service is the direct connecting link between the advancement in agriculture, as worked out by the other departments of the College of Agriculture, and the farmer, and any curtailment of the activities of the agricultural extension service through inadequate support will be contrary to the best interests of the farmers, and

WHEREAS, A special bill will be introduced in the Legislature providing an appropriation of $72,000 to be expended during the next two years for the purpose of farm advisors into new counties, the supplying of assistant farm advisors and home demonstration agents; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the directors of the Contra Costa County Farm Bureau, do favor the passage of the above mentioned appropriation for the agricultural extension service; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to our Assemblyman, Mr. J. N. Long of Richmond, and our Senator, W. R. Starkey of Martinez, requesting their support of this measure.

COMMUNICATION.

The following communication was received and read:

STATE BOARD OF CONTROL,

SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, March 3, 1921.

Senate of the State of California, Sacramento, California.

GENTLEMEN: Pursuant to the instructions contained in Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 9, adopted January 14, we submit herewith a complete report of the names of all the officers and employees in each and every office, department, board, bureau, commission, and institution of the government of the State of California, with their titles and their monthly salaries or wages, all as of January 1, 1921. Also is given a statement showing the number of persons engaged for temporary or emergency work during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, and the total amount expended therefor.

As a part of the report we are preparing the following four summaries which will show the totals of the monthly and yearly expenditures for salaries and wages as of January 1, 1921, of all the State agencies, the first of which summaries accompanies this report:

(1) All those agencies which appear in the general appropriation bill.
(2) The self-supporting agencies.
(3) State Highway Commission, which is financed entirely by bond issues and motor vehicle tax funds.
(4) University of California, which is supported partly by State appropriations and partly by endowment funds and other income. (The University payroll submitted in the report is the entire payroll, paid partly by the State and partly by endowment funds and other income.)

In these summaries nineteen salary groups have been set up, showing for each agency the number of officers and employees that fall within each salary group. The lowest of these salary groups include those receiving $75 or less per month, and the groups range in amounts up to $801 to $900 per month. The summaries will also show what percentage each group is of the whole number of employees.

Each of the four summaries will show the average monthly salary of all officers and employees as follows:

(1) Departments appearing in the general appropriation bill, average monthly salary, $131.35.
(2) Self-supporting departments, average monthly salary, $140.82.
(3) Highway Commission, average monthly salary, $135.07.
(4) University of California, average monthly salary, $134.48.

In addition to the salaries received, maintenance also is furnished to certain employees in hospitals, prisons, reformatories, institutions for feeble-minded, Veterans' Home, institutions for the blind, Women's Relief Corps Home and certain field parties of the State Highway Commission.

Respectfully submitted.

STATE BOARD OF CONTROL.
S. P. ALLEN, Secretary.
STATE CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION.
NOVA J. BEAL, Secretary.

MOTION.

Senator Carr, W. J., moved that the Committee on Revision and Printing investigate and report back to the Senate this afternoon as to the comparative cost of printing or mimeographing the report of the Board of Control in reference to salaries submitted to the Senate this date.

Motion carried.

RESOLUTIONS—(OUT OF ORDER).

The following resolution was offered:

By Senator Crowley:

WHEREAS, There are now before the Senate many appropriation bills relating to State institutions; and

WHEREAS, Complete and detailed information concerning the needs of schools, hospitals, prisons and other State institutions can best be secured by the Senate only by a personal inspection of said institutions by members of this body; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of California, That the President of the Senate be and he is hereby empowered and directed to appoint a special committee consisting of seven members of the Senate to visit said State institutions, ascertain the needs thereof, and render to the Senate its report thereon and its recommendations in respect thereto; and be it further

Resolved, That the sum of $2,500, or such portion thereof as may be needed, be and the same is hereby set aside from and out of the contingent expense fund of the Senate to the use of said committee in defraying the actual necessary expenses that may be incurred by said committee in making its investigation and report, including the traveling expenses of the members, the compensation and expenses of a clerk or secretary, and other incidental expenses.

Resolution read, and referred to Special Committee on Budget Hearings.

By Senator Sharkey:

WHEREAS, This day, Warren G. Harding has been inaugurated as President of the United States, and in that exalted position will be confronted by tremendous problems affecting this nation in a period of its history fraught with grave dangers by reason of the natural unrest which follows after a great war; and

WHEREAS, The people of the State of California are deeply and vitally interested in all forward looking aims and ideals; and

WHEREAS, President Harding has shown by his public utterances that he is a man of progressive thought; and

WHEREAS, The members of the Senate of the State of California desire to express to our President the deep feeling of confidence in his ability to meet the problems that will arise, and also to extend to him any assistance that lies within their power; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of California, That the Secretary of the Senate be and she hereby is instructed to telegraph to the President of the United States the sentiments herein expressed.

Resolution read, and on motion of Senator Sharkey adopted.

"SEC. 62. Every building hereafter erected shall be constructed in a safe and substantial manner; the materials used therein shall be of substantial stock and of the kinds in this act elsewhere provided; the footings, foundations, walls, joists, studding, girders, columns and all other bearing portions shall be of such sizes and so constructed to safely sustain in all parts all the live and dead loads transmitted thereto. Each floor shall be constructed to safely sustain a live load of not less than forty pounds to each square foot. Each roof shall be so constructed to safely sustain a live load of not less than twenty pounds to each square foot. The loads shall be computed on the basis of at least a factor of safety of four. Schedules for weights of materials, and formulas used for computing loads, shall be of standard recognized practice including those contained in "F. E. Kidders Architects and Engineers Pocket Book," "American Civil Engineers' Pocket Book," and other standard architects and engineers handbooks. For the purposes of this act the term "dead load" shall be deemed to be the weight of the walls, partitions, framing, floors, roofs and similar permanent construction that enters into a building, and the term "live load" shall be deemed to be all other forms of loading in the building including the assumed live loads for floors and roofs above set forth.

In every tenement house or hotel hereafter erected, the studs in every bearing wall and partition shall be not less than two inches by four inches (2"x4"), and in every such building that exceeds two (2) stories in height the studs in every bearing wall and partition below the second floor thereof shall be not less than two inches by six inches (2"x6") or the equivalent thereof. Every stud wall and partition shall have fire stops at each floor and ceiling and at approximately half way between the floor and the ceiling, except that where two (2) inch plates are used the full width of the studs at the floor and ceiling of a wall or partition, then the fire stops at the floor and ceiling may be omitted. Each stud wall and partition shall be diagonally braced at each corner and at least once in each twenty five (25) feet length thereof, except where such exterior walls and partitions are plastered and back-plastered with Portland cement plaster on expanded metal lath reinforcement that weighs not less than three and four-tenths (3.4) pounds to the square yard. Every such partition or wall that is plastered and back-plastered shall be plastered not less than three-quarters (¾) of an inch thick and back-plastered between the studs not less than one-half (½) of an inch thick in an approved manner so that the expanded metal lath will be thoroughly imbedded in the plaster. Over each bearing partition or wall and at the exterior walls, the space between the floor joists shall be blocked solid with blocks not less than two (2) inches thick and the full depth of the joists. No wooden floor joists less than two inches by eight inches (2"x8") shall be used to support any floor above the first floor of any such building and such floor joists shall not be spaced more than sixteen (16) inches apart. No span of such two inch by eight inch (2"x8") floor joist shall exceed fourteen (14) feet. All joists that span more than fourteen (14) feet or that otherwise vary from the foregoing dimensions or that support loads other than the live floor loads, shall be of such sizes as to safely sustain the loads transmitted thereto. No floor joist or other bearing support shall be cut or notched for any purpose unless reinforced to take up the weakness caused thereby. Every span of wooden floor joists shall be cross-bridged with two (2) inch cross bridging at intervals not more than seven (7) feet apart, and a bearing partition, wall, girder or other support under such joists that is blocked solid over the top thereof between the joists as hereinbefore provided shall take the place of a cross bridging. Wherever the soil conditions make it practicable to do so, every tenement house or hotel hereafter erected shall have a masonry foundation composed of hard incombustible materials and the footings of such foundation shall in no case be less than sixteen (16) inches wide at the bottoms thereof and the foundation walls shall not be less than six (6) inches wide at the tops thereof. The footings of such foundation walls shall not be less than ten (10) inches below the surface of the adjoining ground levels and such foundation walls shall extend at least six (6) inches above the adjoining ground levels. The widths of such foundation walls and footings shall be increased whenever necessary to support additional loads transmitted thereto."

Amendment adopted.

AMENDMENT NUMBER FORTY SIX.

On page 41, line 43, omit the word "building", and in lieu thereof insert the word "buildings".

Amendment adopted.

AMENDMENT NUMBER FORTY SEVEN.

On page 42, line 44, omit the word "Before".

Amendment adopted.

AMENDMENT NUMBER FORTY-EIGHT.

On page 42, lines 45 to 47, omit all the wording in all the lines inclusive of line 47, and in lieu thereof insert "Not more than two thicknesses of wall paper shall be placed upon any wall, partition or ceiling of any room in any tenement house or hotel. Where any such wall, partition or ceiling has two thicknesses of wall paper thereon the old wall paper shall be first removed therefrom before re-papering. Nothing in this section contained shall prohibit painting or calcimining over wall paper."

Amendment adopted.

Bill read second time, ordered to print, engrossment, and third reading.

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, March 4, 1921.

MR. PRESIDENT: In accordance with the provisions of section 2, article IV of the constitution, I request that the permission of the Senate be granted for the introduction of the accompanying bill, the title of which is as follows, to wit:

An act to add a new section, to be known as 9a 19, to an act entitled "An act to provide for the establishment and maintenance of county free libraries in the State of California, and repealing an act entitled, 'An act to provide county library systems,' approved April 12, 1909, and all acts and parts of acts in conflict with this act, approved February 25, 1911, as amended," said section relating to salaries of county librarians.

Request referred to Committee on Rules.

COMMUNICATION.

The following communication was received, and ordered printed in Journal:

By Senator Scott:

WHEREAS, Various measures have been and may be introduced in the Legislature of the State of California which have for their object the creation of a system of censorship of motion pictures or the drama; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, By Musicians' Union, Local No. 6, in meeting duly assembled, that this organization is unalterably opposed to any and all measures, bills or acts which have for their object censorship in any form, and we are likewise unalterably opposed to any act, measure or bill that has for its object anything that is kindred to censorship or which may be the first step in that direction. Censorship is fundamentally unpatriotic, un-American, illiberal and intolerant. It is a direct blow at free speech and the right of liberty of action within the law as these rights are guaranteed by the constitution of the United States and of the State of California. It is a sinister menace to the untrammeled right of organized labor to legitimately and properly present its cause to the American people. It will put in the hands of a small group the power to direct, regulate and control an important medium of information and to pervert and color the news. Censorship of the drama, whether it be screen or spoken, is no more to be justified than censorship of the speech or press or of the pulpit. Any invasion on the right of free speech is a threat to liberty itself.

There is no need for censorship. Laws of the country, both federal and state, are ample to protect any indecent, lewd or immoral exhibitions. The exhibition of films or the presentation of plays that shock the moral sensibilities of the people or that are corrupting or indecent, are of rare and infrequent occurrence. Immoral or indecent exhibitions are the exception, and not the rule, and the people should be permitted to judge, both of the character of amusement they desire and the kind of news they want. In short, censorship in its fundamental aspect, is an attempt to throttle free speech, and if carried to its logical development will produce in America the same sort of conditions that prevailed in Germany and in Russia at the outbreak of the war.

We protest against censorship of any and every sort as an attempt on the part of an intolerant and illiberal few to subvert American principles and to overthrow American institutions.

At two o'clock and five minutes p.m., on motion of Senator Carr, W. J., the Senate resolved itself into Committee of the Whole, the President of the Senate in the chair, the Secretary of the Senate acting as Secretary of the Committee of the Whole, for the purpose of further considering university and agricultural appropriations.

IN COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

NAMES OF PERSONS WHO APPEARED TODAY BEFORE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

During the discussion relating to the budget, the following persons appeared before the Committee of the Whole:

PETITIONS.

The following petitions were presented by Senator Ingram, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Senator Ingram:

GRASS VALLEY, CALIFORNIA, March 3, 1921.

DEAR SIR: The Grass Valley Sportsmen's Club, at its monthly meeting held Wednesday evening, March 2, 1921, unanimously resolved as being opposed to any measure or measures which would consolidate the State Fish and Game Commission with any other body, or legislate the said commission out of office. We believe that the funds raised by the sportsmen of the State in the payment of their hunting and fishing licenses should be forever kept separate and used for the propagation and protection of the fish and game of the State, and should not at this or any other time be paid into the general fund.

We would therefore protest the use of this money for any other purpose than the protection and propagation of fish and game.

We further believe the warden service as at present constituted to be in the best interest of all concerned and the most effective service that has ever been rendered in this State for the protection of fish and game.

As the commission is self-supporting we can see no good reason for its consolidation with any other body, and we would therefore ask your cooperation in aiding to defeat any measures which would destroy the present usefulness of the commission.

Thanking you for your consideration of this matter, we are,

Yours very truly,

GRASS VALLEY SPORTSMEN'S CLUB.
By A. B. CHAMPION, President.

J. J. PHILLIPS, Secretary.

By Senator Sample:

SAN DIEGO, CALIFORNIA, February 17, 1921.

SIR: We, the undersigned proprietors of barber shops in San Diego respectfully request you to give your support to the enactment of Sunday rest bill, designated as Senate Bill No. 713, and Assembly Bill No. 501.

It closes unnecessary businesses on Sunday and gives to employers and employees one general rest day in seven.

Very respectfully,

E. R. KELSEY,
And 66 others.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were received, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Senator Allen:

DEPARTMENT OF PRINTING, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
SACRAMENTO, March 4, 1921.

Hon. Newton M. Allen, Chairman Committee on Revision and Printing, Senate.

DEAR SENATOR: As per your request for an estimate on cost of printing 200 copies of the list of State officers and employees, wish to advise you that the Assembly is contemplating the printing of 2000 copies of this document, in which case we could print 200 additional copies at the same time we are printing the lot for the Assembly at a very small cost, approximately $25 or $30.

However, in case the Assembly does not desire to have this pamphlet printed, the cost of printing 200 copies will be approximately $1550.

You will understand all of our work is done on absolute cost basis, therefore you will be charged with the actual cost of this work, whatever it may be, this amount of $1550 simply being our estimate.

Very truly yours,

J. M. CREMIN, Superintendent.
By WM. L. RIGSBEE.

Also:

LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, March 4, 1921.

Hon. Newton M. Allen, Senate Chamber, State Capitol.

MY DEAR SENATOR ALLEN: Referring to the report of the State Board of Control, showing the salaries of State employees, which you submitted to this Bureau with the request for an estimate of the cost of mimeographing two hundred copies of the same, I beg to advise you that I estimate that it will cost approximately two thousand dollars to complete the same, with the exception of the first two pages, which are tables and would have to be white-printed, owing to the fact that they are too large to be successfully mimeographed.

Respectfully submitted.

GEORGE B. BUSH, Legislative Counsel.

MOTION.

Senator Breed moved that the Committee on Revision and Printing obtain from the Assembly 200 copies of the list of State officers and employees, heretofore submitted to the Senate, or, if this be impracticable, that the committee, in their discretion, obtain the same number from the State Printer, provided the cost be approximately $25 or $30.

Motion carried.

MOTION.

Senator Slater addressed the Senate on the occasion of the birthday of the Honorable Luther Burbank of Santa Rosa, California, and moved that the Senate forward birthday greetings this day by wire, to the said Honorable Luther Burbank.

Motion unanimously carried.

ADDRESS IN HONOR OF LUTHER BURBANK.

DELIVERED BY H. W. SLATER.

It is a great pleasure and privilege at this time for me to call the attention of the Senate to the fact that this day, March 7, by Legislative enactment is Conservation and Bird and Arbor Day, in honor of Luther Burbank's birthday.

Today in his home town of Santa Rosa, where for fifty years he has untiringly followed his great work in the realm of plant life, Mr. Burbank is celebrating his seventy-third birthday. Despite the fact that he has passed by three years man's allotment of three score and ten, Mr. Burbank is still full of vigor and at the present time is engaged in the perfection of many new fruits, flowers, cereals, shrubs and other forms of plant life. In his great work Mr. Burbank has been styled "God's Assistant to Nature." Throughout the years he has builded for himself name and fame that long since became world wide.

In common with many previous years, there came to Santa Rosa last year emissaries from a number of countries of the Old World and the Far East, to see Mr. Burbank and consult with him on new agricultural and horticultural products. Some of these men came from the war-torn countries where, following the war, agriculture had to be rehabilitated.

Mr. Burbank takes deep and abiding interest in the welfare of children, and today throughout this great State many hundreds of school children are planting flowers and trees in his honor and in commemoration of today joining with many clubs and other organizations.

I am sure, Mr. President, the Senate will join heartily with me in extending this great world man and distinguished citizen of California hearty birthday felicitations, and I am forwarding to Mr. Burbank the following telegram:

"The Senate joins with me in hearty birthday felicitations and grateful acknowledgment of your wonderful work."

CONSIDERATION OF DAILY FILE.

COMMUNICATION—(OUT OF ORDER).

The following communication was received, out of the regular order, and ordered printed in Journal:

By Senator Carr, W. J.:

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7, 1921

I have no figures in my possession showing what item or items can be eliminated from the State budget without impairing the efficiency of the State government. I signed an appeal to the citizens of California to call upon the representatives of the State to give most serious consideration to the question of equitable distribution of taxation burdens and of economy, as the present economic crisis can only be cured through rigid economy and exercise of common sense on the part of the State and its citizens. The whole subject of taxation, so far as the banks are concerned, was assigned to the California Bankers' Association, which was created to handle such subjects. We have absolute confidence in the officers of the association and accept their findings. I ask to be excused from appearing, as I can not add anything of value to the discussion as a result of a personal study.

FRANK B. ANDERSON,
President the Bank of California, N. A.

MOTION.

Senator Carr, W. J., moved that in view of the preceding telegram, received from Frank B. Anderson, President of the Bank of California, N. A., that said Frank B. Anderson be excused from attendance on the budget hearings.

Motion carried.

By the President:

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7, 1921.

Paul Shoup, Sacramento.

As vice president and assistant to the president of this company, in addition to your relation as president of Pacific Electric Railway Company, I hope the Committee on Hearings on Budget will accept your testimony as serving also for mine, as I stated in the joint committee hearing on Wednesday, February 23, all that I had to say on the subject, and I left the rest for you to develop, so far as this company is concerned.

WM. SPROULE.

MOTION.

Senator Carr, W. J. moved that in view of the preceding telegram received from Wm. Sproule, President of the Southern Pacific Railroad, that said Wm. Sproule be excused from attendance on the budget hearings.

Motion carried.

ADJOURNMENT.

At five o'clock and forty-five minutes p.m., on motion of Senator Breed, the President declared the Senate adjourned.

IN SENATE.

SEC. 4. The board of supervisors of Santa Clara County within thirty days after the ninetieth day after the final adjournment of the forty-fourth session of the Legislature of California, shall give notice of an election to be held in such proposed district for the purpose of determining whether or not the same shall be organized under the provisions of this act. Such notice shall describe the boundaries herein established, and shall be published for at least three weeks previous to such election, in a newspaper published within the proposed district. Such notice shall require the electors to cast ballots, which shall contain the words "Irrigation District—Yes," or "Irrigation District—No," or words equivalent thereto, and also the names of persons to be voted for at said election. For the purpose of said election the board of supervisors must establish a convenient number of election precincts in said proposed district, and define the boundaries of the same. Such election shall be conducted as nearly as practicable in accordance with the general election laws of the State, but no particular form of ballot shall be required.

SEC. 5. At such election there shall be elected as nearly as practicable in the manner hereinafter provided for general elections, a board of directors consisting of seven members, one to be elected from the first division, two from the second division, one from the third and fourth divisions together, two from the fifth division and one from the sixth division.

SEC. 6. No person shall be entitled to vote at any election held under the provisions of this act unless he possesses all the qualifications required of electors under the general election laws of the State.

SEC. 7. The board of supervisors shall meet on the Monday succeeding such election and shall proceed to canvass the votes cast thereat, and shall cause to be entered on its minutes the result of the canvass. If, upon such canvass it appears that a majority of all the votes cast are "Irrigation District—Yes," the said territory shall be duly organized as the Santa Clara County Irrigation District and all provisions of this act shall be in full force and effect. If it appears upon such canvass that a majority of all votes cast are "Irrigation District—No," this act shall have no further force or effect.

The board of supervisors, upon completion of said canvass by order entered in its minutes shall declare the persons receiving respectively the highest number of votes at said election in their respective divisions to be duly elected as directors.

SEC. 8. Such election, on organization, may be contested by any person owning property within the proposed district liable to assessment. The directors elected at such election shall be made parties defendant. Such contest shall be brought in the superior court of Santa Clara County; provided, that if more than one contest be pending they shall be consolidated and tried together. The court shall speedily try such contest, and determine, upon the hearing, whether the election was fairly conducted and in substantial compliance with the requirements of this act, and enter its judgment accordingly. Such contest must be brought within twenty days after the canvass of the vote and declaration of the result by the board of supervisors. The right of appeal is hereby given to either party to the record within thirty days from entry of judgment. The appeal must be heard and determined by the supreme court within sixty days from the time of filing the notice of appeal.

SEC. 9. The officers elected at the election hereinbefore provided for shall immediately enter upon their duties as such, upon qualifying in the manner for such officers herein provided. Said officers shall hold office respectively until their successors are elected and qualified.

SEC. 10. The directors, on the first Tuesday after their election, after they shall have qualified, shall meet and classify themselves by lot into two classes of three and four members respectively, and the term of office of the class having four members shall expire at the next general February election in this act provided for; and the term of office of the class having three members shall terminate at the next general February election thereafter. After such classification, said directors shall organize as a board, shall elect a president from their number, and appoint a secretary, who shall each hold office during the pleasure of the board. The salary of the secretary and the amount of the bond to be given by him for the faithful performance of his duties shall be fixed by the board of directors.

SEC. 11. The board of directors shall hold a regular meeting on the first Tuesday of each month at the place selected as the office of the board; provided, that the board may, by resolution duly entered upon its minutes, fix any other time as the time for its regular monthly meeting, but no change in the time of holding regular meetings of the board shall be made until after the resolution proposing such change has been published once a week for two successive weeks in a newspaper published in the district. Such special meetings of the board of directors may be held as may be required for the proper transaction of the business of the district, but a special meeting must be ordered by a majority of the board. The order must be entered of record, and five days' notice thereof must by the secretary be given to each director not joining in the order. The order must specify the business to be transacted, and no other business than that specified in the order may be transacted at such special meeting, unless all the members are present and consent to the consideration of any business not specified in said order. All meetings of the board must be public and four members shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business; provided, however, that on all questions requiring a vote, except a motion to adjourn or a motion to adjourn to a stated time, there shall be a concurrence of at least the number constituting a quorum. A smaller number of directors than a quorum may adjourn from day to day. All records of the board shall be open to public inspection during business hours. Whenever any act is required to be done or proceeding taken by this act, or by an act supplemental or amendatory thereto, on the first Tuesday in any month, such act may be done or proceeding had upon the day specified in the resolution hereinbefore referred to as the time for the regular meeting of the board of directors; provided, that when a day other than the first Tuesday in the month shall have been specified as the time for the regular meeting of the board of directors, thereafter the newly elected officers of the district shall take office at noon on the day fixed for the regular monthly meeting of said board in March and said board shall meet for reorganization and the transaction of any other business of the district in the afternoon of said day.

SEC. 12. The board of directors at their regular monthly meeting in January of each year shall render and immediately thereafter cause to be published a verified statement of the financial condition of the district, showing particularly the receipts and disbursements of the last preceding year, together with the source of such receipts and purpose of such disbursements. Said publication shall be made at least once a week for two weeks, in some newspaper published in said district.

SEC. 13. The board of directors shall have the power and it shall be their duty to manage and conduct the business and affairs of the district; make and execute all necessary contracts; employ and appoint such agents, officers, and employees as may be required, and prescribe their duties. The board and its agents and employees shall have the right to enter upon any land to make surveys, and may locate the necessary irrigation works and the line for canal or canals, and the necessary branches for the same on any lands which may be deemed best for such location. Said board shall also have the right to acquire, by purchase, lease, contract, condemnation, or other legal means, all lands, and waters, and water rights, and other property necessary for the construction, use, supply, maintenance, repair and improvements of said canal, or canals, and works, including canals, and works constructed and being constructed by private owners, lands for reservoirs for the storage of needful waters, and all necessary appurtenances, and also where necessary or convenient to said ends to acquire and hold the stock of other corporations domestic and foreign owning waters, canals, waterworks, franchises, concessions or rights. Said board may enter into, and do any acts necessary or proper for the performance of any agreements with the United States, or any state, county, district of any kind, public or private corporation, association, firm or individual, or any number of them, for the joint acquisition, construction, leasing, ownership, disposition, use, management, maintenance, repair or operation of any rights, works or other property of a kind which might lawfully be acquired or owned by the irrigation district, and may acquire the right to store water in any reservoirs or to carry water through any canal, ditch or conduit not owned or controlled by the district, and may grant to any owner or lessee of the right to the use of any water the right to store such water in any reservoir of the district or to carry such water through any canal, ditch or conduit of the district.

SEC. 14. The board of directors may also construct the necessary dams, reservoirs, and works for the collection of water for said district, and do any and every lawful act necessary to be done, that sufficient water may be furnished to each landowner in said district for irrigation and domestic purposes: provided, that where, within said district mutual water companies have been organized to furnish water to certain specified lands within said district, the board of directors are hereby authorized and empowered to contract for the delivery of water for such lands as lie within the boundary of said water companies, through said mutual water companies only. The said board is hereby authorized and empowered to take conveyances, leases, contracts or other assurances for all property acquired by it under the provisions of this act, in the name of such irrigation district, to and for the uses and purposes herein expressed, and to institute and maintain any and all actions and proceedings, suits at law or in equity necessary or proper in order to fully carry out the provisions of this act, or to enforce, maintain, protect or preserve any and all rights, privileges and immunities created by this act, or acquired in pursuance thereof. And in all courts, actions, suits or proceedings, the said board may sue, appear and defend in person or by its attorneys, and in the name of such irrigation district.

SEC. 15. It shall be the duty of the board of directors to establish equitable by-laws, rules and regulations for the distribution and use of water among the owners of said lands, which must be printed in convenient form for distribution in the district. Said board shall have power generally to perform all such acts as shall be necessary to fully carry out the purposes of this act.

SEC 16. The board of directors, when they deem it advisable for the best interests of the district, and the convenience of the electors thereof, may at any time, but not less than sixty days before an election to be held in the district, change the boundaries of the divisions or election precincts of the district or of both. Such change of boundaries of the divisions and precincts must be shown on the minutes of the board. The board of directors shall also have the power, and such board is hereby vested with the authority, to lease the system of canals and works in the district, or any part thereof, whenever such leasing may be for the benefit of the district; provided, that when the directors contemplate the leasing of the canals and works of such district, they shall give notice of such contemplation by publishing the same in some newspaper published in the district, at least three weeks prior to the making of any lease, and such lease shall be made to the highest bidder. But such board shall have the right to reject any and all such bids. Such lease shall in no way interfere with any rights that may have been established by law, at the time such lease is made; and further provided, that the board of directors shall require a good and sufficient bond to secure faithful performance of the lease by the lessees.

SEC. 17. In case of condemnation proceedings the board shall proceed, in the name of the district, under the provisions of title VII, part III of the Code of Civil Procedure of the State of California, and all pleadings, proceedings, and process in said title provided shall be applicable to the condemnation proceedings hereunder.

SEC. 18. The use of all water required for the irrigation of the lands of the district and for domestic and other incidental and beneficial uses, within such district, together with the rights of way for canals and ditches, sites for reservoirs, and all other property required in fully carrying out the provisions of this act is hereby declared to be a public use, subject to the regulation and control of the state, in the manner prescribed by law.

SEC. 19. An election, which shall be known as the general irrigation district election, shall be held in the district on the first Wednesday in February in each odd-numbered year, at which a successor shall be chosen to each director whose term shall expire in March next thereafter. The person receiving the highest number of votes for each office to be filled at such election shall be elected thereto. The term of office of each director elected after the organization election shall be four years, or until his successor is elected and has qualified.

SEC. 20. Within ten days after receiving their certificates of election hereinafter provided for, said officers shall take and subscribe the official oath, and file the same in the office of the board of directors, and execute the bond hereinafter provided for. Each member of said board of directors shall execute an official bond in the sum of five thousand dollars, which said bonds shall be approved by the judge of the superior court of Santa Clara County, and shall be recorded in the office of the county recorder thereof, and filed with the secretary of said board. All official bonds herein provided for shall be in the form prescribed by law for the official bonds of county officers and the premiums thereon may be paid by the district.

SEC. 21. At noon of the first Tuesday in March next following their election, except as provided in section eleven of this act, the directors who shall have been elected at the preceding general irrigation district election shall enter upon the duties of their respective offices. On the first Tuesday in March next following each election, the directors shall meet and organize as a board, elect a president and appoint a secretary, who shall each hold office during the pleasure of the board.

SEC. 22. Fifteen days before any election held under this act, subsequent to the organization of the district, the secretary of the board of directors shall cause notices to be posted in three public places in each election precinct, within the divisions wherein such election will be held, of the time and place of holding the election and shall also post a general notice of the same in the office of said board, which shall be established and kept at some fixed place, to be determined by said board, specifying the polling places of each precinct. Prior to the time for posting the notices, the board must appoint for each precinct, from the electors thereof, one inspector and two judges, who shall constitute a board of election for such precinct. If the board fail to appoint a board of election, or the members appointed do not attend at the opening of the polls on the morning of election, the electors of the precinct present at that hour may appoint the board, or supply the place of an absent member thereof. The board of directors must, in its order appointing the board of election, designate the house or place within the precinct where the election must be held.

SEC. 23. The inspector is chairman of the election board and may administer all oaths required in the process of an election; and appoint judges and clerks if, during the progress of the election, any judge or clerk cease to act. Any member of the board of election, or any clerk thereof, may administer and certify oaths required to be administered during the progress of an election. The board of election of each precinct must, before opening the polls, appoint two persons to act as clerks of the election. Before opening the polls, each member of the board and each clerk must take and subscribe an oath to faithfully perform the duties imposed upon them by law. Any elector of the precinct may administer and certify such oath. The polls must be opened at 8 a.m. on the morning of the election, and be kept open until 4 p.m., when the same must be closed.

SEC. 24. The ballot used at the election shall be provided by the board of directors, and one of the clerks of election shall deliver, to each of the electors, one of the ballots so provided. The ballots shall have printed on them the names of all candidates whose names have been filed as provided in this act, with a voting square behind each name. The names shall be arranged in groups, alphabetically, under the designation of the office for which each person named is a candidate. Where more than one person is to be elected for an office of the same title, the words "Vote for ___(inserting the proper number)" shall be printed under the title of the office. Each elector shall stamp a cross, with a rubber stamp to be provided by the board of directors, in the square behind the name of each candidate he wishes to vote for.

SEC. 25. Not less than ten days before the election, any ten or more electors in the division wherein a director is to be elected at such election, may file with the board of directors a petition, requesting that certain persons, specified in such petition be placed on the ballot as candidates for the office named in the petition. The names proposed by the various petitions so filed, and no others, shall be printed on the ballots. But there shall be sufficient blank spaces left in which electors may write other names if they so desire. The petitions shall be preserved in the office of the secretary of the district.

SEC. 26. Voting may commence as soon as the polls are opened and may be continued during all the time the polls remain opened, and shall be conducted, as nearly as practicable, in accordance with the provisions of the general election laws of this State. As soon as all the votes are counted, a certificate shall be drawn upon each of the papers containing the poll lists and tallies, or attached thereto, stating the number of votes each one voted for has received, and designating the office to fill which he was voted for, which number shall be written in figures and in words at full length. Each certificate shall be signed by the clerk, judge, and the inspector. One of said certificates, with the poll list and the tally paper to which it is attached, shall be retained by the inspector, and preserved by him at least six months. The ballots shall be strung upon a cord or thread by the inspector, during the counting thereof, in the order in which they are entered upon the tally list by the clerks; and said ballots together with the other of said certificates, with the poll list and tally paper to which it is attached, shall be sealed by the inspector in the presence of the judges and clerks, and indorsed "Election returns of (naming the precinct) precinct," and be directed to the secretary of the board of directors, and shall be immediately delivered by the inspector or by some other safe and responsible carrier designated by said inspector, to said secretary, and the ballots shall be kept unopened for at least six months; and if any person be of the opinion that the vote of any precinct has not been correctly counted, he may appear on the day appointed for the board of directors to open and canvass the returns, and demand a recount of the vote of the precinct that is so claimed to have been incorrectly counted.

SEC. 27. No list, tally paper, or certificate returned from any election, shall be set aside or rejected for want of form, if it can be satisfactorily understood. The board of directors must meet at its usual place of meeting on the first Monday after each election to canvass the returns. If, at the time of meeting, the returns from each precinct in the district in which the polls were opened have been received, the board of directors must then and there proceed to canvass the returns; but if all the returns have not been received, the canvass must be postponed from day to day until all the returns have been received, or until six postponements have been had. The canvass must be made in public and by opening the returns and estimating the vote of the district for each person voted for, and declaring the result thereof.

SEC. 28. The secretary of the board of directors must, as soon as the result is declared, enter in the records of such board a statement of such result, which statement must show: (a) The whole number of votes cast in each division of the district; (b) the names of the persons voted for; (c) the office to fill which each person was voted for; (d) the number of votes given in each precinct to each of such persons; (e) the number of votes given in each division for the office of director. The board of directors must declare elected the persons having the highest number of votes given for each office. The secretary must immediately make out and deliver to such person a certificate of election, signed by him, and authenticated with the seal of the board. In case of a vacancy in the office of director, the vacancy shall be filled by appointment by the board of supervisors of Santa Clara County, from the division in which the vacancy occurred. An officer appointed as above provided shall hold his office until the next regular election for said district, and until his successor is elected and qualified.

SEC. 29. A director shall be a resident and freeholder of the irrigation district and a resident of the division which he is elected to represent.

SEC. 30. The holder of any elective office of the district may be removed or recalled at any time by the electors: provided, he has held his office at least six months. The procedure to effect such removal or recall shall be as follows: A petition demanding the election of a successor to the person sought to be removed shall be filed with the secretary of the board of directors of such district, which petition shall be signed by registered voters equal in number to at least twenty-five per cent of the highest vote cast within such district for candidates for the office, the incumbent of which is sought to be removed, at the last general election in such district at which an incumbent of such office was elected, or, in the case of the removal of the incumbent of an office elected by a subdivision of such district, such petition shall be signed by a like percentage of qualified electors of such subdivision computed upon the total number of votes cast in such subdivision for all candidates for the office, the incumbent of which is sought to be removed, at the last general election in such subdivision at which an incumbent of such office was elected; and said petition shall contain a statement of the grounds on which the removal or recall is sought, which statement is intended solely for the information of the electors. Any insufficiency of form or substance in such statement shall in nowise affect the validity of the election and proceedings held thereunder. The signatures to the petition need not all be appended to one paper. Each signer shall add to his signature his place of residence, giving the precinct, and if within a town having named streets and numbered houses, street and number. Each such separate paper shall have attached thereto an affidavit made by an elector of the district and sworn to before an officer competent to administer oaths, stating that the affiant circulated that particular paper and saw written the signatures appended thereto; and that according to the best information and belief of the affiant each is the genuine signature of the person whose name purports to be thereunto subscribed and of a qualified elector of the district. Within ten days from the date of filing such petition, the secretary of the board shall examine and from the records of registration ascertain whether or not said petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified electors, and he shall attach to said petition his certificate showing the result of said examination. If by the said certificate the petition is shown to be insufficient, it may be supplemented within ten days from the date of such certificate, by the filing of additional papers, duplicates of the original petition except as to the names signed. The secretary shall, within ten days after such supplementing papers are filed, make like examination of a supplementing petition, and if a certificate shall show that all the names to such petition, including the supplemental papers, are still insufficient, no action shall be taken thereon; but the petition shall remain on file as a public record; and the failure to secure sufficient names shall be without prejudice to the filing later of an entirely new petition to the same effect. If the petition shall be found to be sufficient, the secretary shall submit the same to the board of directors without delay, whereupon the board shall forthwith cause a special election to be held within not less than thirty-five nor more than forty days after the date of the order calling such election, to determine whether the voters will recall such officer; provided, that if a general election is to occur within sixty days, from the date of the order calling for such election, the board may in its discretion postpone the holding of such election to such general election or submit such recall election at any such general election for officers of such district occurring not less than thirty-five days after such order. If a vacancy occur in said office after a recall petition is filed, the election shall nevertheless proceed as in this section provided. One petition is sufficient to propose a removal and election of one or more elective officials. One election is competent for the removal and election of one or more elective officials. Nominations for any office under such recall election shall be made in the manner prescribed by section twenty-five of this act.

There shall be printed on the recall ballot, as to every officer whose recall is to be voted on thereat, the following question:

"Shall (name of person against whom the recall petition is filed) be recalled from the office of (title of the office)?" Following which question shall be the words "Yes" and "No" on separate lines, with a blank space at the right of each, in which the voter shall indicate, by stamping a cross (X) his vote for or against such recall. On such ballots, under each such question, there shall also be printed the names of those persons who have been nominated as candidates to succeed the person recalled, in case he shall be removed from office by said recall election; but no vote shall be counted for any candidate for said office unless the voter also voted on said question of the recall of the person sought to be recalled from said office. The name of the person against whom the petition is filed shall not appear on the ballot as a candidate for the office. If a majority of those voting on said question of the recall of any incumbent from office shall vote "No", said incumbent shall continue in said office. If a majority shall vote "Yes", said incumbent shall thereupon be deemed removed from such office, upon the qualification of his successor. The election shall be conducted, canvass of all votes for candidates for said office shall be made and the result declared in like manner as in a regular election within such district. If the vote at any such recall election shall recall the officer, then the candidate who has received the highest number of votes for the office shall be thereby declared elected for the remainder of the term. In case the person, who received the highest number of votes shall fail to qualify within ten days after receiving the certificate of election the office shall be deemed vacant and shall be filled according to law. If the vote at any such recall election shall not recall the officer, no further petition for the recall of such officer shall be filed before the expiration of six months from the date of such first recall election.

SEC. 31. The legal title to all property acquired under the provisions of this act shall immediately and by operation of law vest in said district, and shall be held by such district, in trust for, and is hereby dedicated and set apart to the uses and purposes set forth in this act. And said board is hereby authorized and empowered to hold, use, acquire, manage, occupy and possess said property, as herein provided. The board of directors may determine by resolution duly entered upon their minutes that any property, real or personal, held by such irrigation district is no longer necessary to be retained for the uses and purposes thereof, and may thereafter sell such property; and a conveyance of any property held by said district, executed by the president and secretary thereof, in accordance with a resolution of the board of directors of such district, when sold for a valuable consideration, shall convey good title to the property so conveyed.

SEC. 32. Each year, at least fifteen days before the first day of the month in which the board of supervisors is required by law to levy the amount of taxes required for county purposes the board of directors of said district shall furnish to the board of supervisors and the auditor of Santa Clara County an estimate in writing of the minimum amount of money required by the district during the fiscal year for all purposes other than the acquiring by purchase or otherwise, of water or water rights, lands, rights of way or property of any kind to be used in the development, storage, conservation or distribution of water; the construction, operation or maintenance of reservoirs, canals, pipe lines or other means of development, conservation, storage or distribution of water; and the payment of principal or interest of bonds issued for any of the foregoing purposes. The said board of supervisors must annually, levy a tax upon the taxable property in said district sufficient to raise the amount of money so estimated by the board of directors. Such tax shall be levied and collected at the time and in the manner as the general tax levy for county purposes and when collected shall be paid into the county treasury of said Santa Clara County and credited to the general fund of the Santa Clara County Irrigation District and paid out on warrants as in this act provided.

SEC. 33. For the purpose of constructing or purchasing necessary irrigation canals and works, and acquiring the necessary property and rights therefor, and for the purpose of acquiring waters, water rights, reservoirs, reservoir sites, and other property necessary for the purposes of said district, and otherwise carrying out the provisions of this act, or any other act under which said district is or may be authorized to acquire property or construct works, the board of directors of said district must estimate and determine the amount of money necessary to be raised. For the purpose of ascertaining the amount of money necessary to be raised for such purposes, or any of them, said board shall cause such surveys, examinations, drawings and plans to be made as shall furnish the proper basis for said estimate. Said surveys, examinations, drawings and plans, and the estimate based thereon may provide that the works necessary for a completed project shall be constructed progressively during a period of years. In the estimate of the amount of money necessary to be raised by the first issue of bonds for any particular project, the board of directors may include a sum sufficient to pay the interest on all of such bonds for three years or less. All such surveys, examinations, drawings and plans shall be made under the direction of a competent irrigation engineer and shall be certified by him. The plans to be carried out may be divided by said board into separate portions or projects in such manner as will in its judgment best facilitate the levying of assessments or issue of bonds, for each particular portion or project in a just and equitable manner according to benefits upon the lands in said district. Said board shall enter in the minutes of the board, a resolution to the effect that the execution of each such separate portion or project which they may determine upon is a public necessity. Each such particular portion or project shall be designated by the board in such resolution by name and number. All assessments, plans, bond issues and funds intended for or connected with the execution of each particular portion or project shall be designated by such name and number and shall be kept separate and shall be used only for the purpose of carrying out such particular portion or project. For the purpose of apportioning the cost of any such project the board shall appoint three assessors who shall be disinterested persons, and shall have no interest in any real estate within said district, and each of whom, before entering upon his duties, shall make and subscribe an oath that he is not in any manner interested in any real estate within said district, directly or indirectly, and that he will perform the duties of an assessor to the best of his ability. Said assessors must assess upon the lands within said district the said sums so estimated by the board, and shall apportion the same according to the benefits that will accrue to each tract of land in said district, respectively, by reason of the expenditure of said sums of money. After said assessors have examined the plan or plans of the works contemplated and the said estimates of the cost, they shall make a preliminary report to board indicating the exterior boundaries of the lands that in their opinion will be benefited by the expenditure. The assessors shall then appoint a time and place in Santa Clara County when and where they will hear objections to the said report, and also evidence concerning the manner in which said estimated costs should be apportioned. They shall give twenty days' notice of said hearing by publication in a newspaper published in said county. They shall exclude any land that will not be benefited by the expenditure of said sums and shall assess all lands that will be benefited thereby. Said assessors shall make a list of the lands so assessed, which list shall contain a description of the tracts of land assessed, by legal subdivisions, or other boundaries or references sufficient to identify the same; the name of the owner, if known, or if unknown, that fact, and the amount of the charge assessed against each tract. No mistake in the name of the owner, or supposed owner of any real estate shall invalidate the assessment or bonds based thereon. Said lists when completed shall be filed with the secretary of the board and the same shall be open for inspection by the public for at least thirty days. The compensation of said assessors shall be fixed and allowed by the board. The board shall appoint a time and place not less than thirty days after said list has been filed with the secretary when and where it will meet for the purpose of hearing objections to said assessments, and notice of such hearing shall be filed with the secretary and published for two weeks in some newspaper published in said county. At any time before the date of such hearing any person interested in any real estate upon which any charge has been assessed, may file in the office of the secretary of the board written objections to such assessment, stating the grounds of such objections, which said statement shall be verified by the affidavit of such person or some other person who is familiar with the facts. At such hearing the board shall hear such evidence as may be offered touching the correctness of such assessment or the manner of its apportionment, and may modify or amend the same and may reapportion all or any part of the entire assessment. If said assessment shall be reapportioned, the board shall give two weeks' notice as before, and proceed to hear objections as before, and shall then reconsider said assessment and make an order approving said assessment as finally fixed; said assessment lists shall thereupon be by the board filed in the office of the county treasurer of Santa Clara County.

SEC. 34. The board of directors shall then submit a copy of the said estimate, the said engineer's report and the said order of approval to the commission authorized by law to approve bonds of irrigation districts for certification as legal investments for savings banks and for the other purposes specified in the act creating said commission. Said commission shall forthwith examine said report and any data in its possession or in the possession of said district and shall make such additional surveys and examinations at the expense of the district as it may deem proper or practicable, and as soon as practicable thereafter shall make to the board of directors of said district a report which shall contain such matters as, in the judgment of the said commission, may be desirable; provided, that it may state generally the conclusions of said commission regarding the supply of water available for the project, the nature of the soil proposed to be irrigated as to its fertility and susceptibility to irrigation, the probable amount of water needed for its irrigation, and the probable need of drainage, the cost of works, water rights and other property necessary for a complete and satisfactory project, the proper dates of maturity for the bonds proposed to be issued and whether in its opinion it is advisable to proceed with the proposed bond issue. If the estimate of the amount of said bond issue shall have included any amount for the payment of interest on the bonds of such issue, as provided in section thirty-three of this act and such estimate for the payment of interest, or any part thereof, is approved by the commission in said report, it shall be lawful for the board of directors, if the issuance of such bonds is thereafter authorized by vote of the electors of the district, to use for the payment of interest on any bonds of such issue so much of the proceeds of the sale of said bonds as may have been approved for that purpose in said report of the commission.

SEC. 35. If after such examination and investigation the said commission shall deem it advisable that the said plans be modified or that the amount of the bonds proposed to be issued be changed, or that certain conditions should be prescribed to insure the success of the project, or that in its opinion it is not advisable to proceed with the proposed bond issue, it shall so state in its report to the board of directors. After receiving said report, or if no report is received within ninety days after the submission of said data to said commission, said board of directors, if it shall determine and shall declare by resolution that the proposed plan of works or some modified plan recommended by said commission is satisfactory and that the said project or said modified plan is feasible, shall make an order determining the amount of bonds that should be issued in order to raise the money necessary therefor; and provided, further, that if any district shall issue bonds to carry out any plans approved by said irrigation district bond commission as herein provided it shall be unlawful for said district to make any material change in said plans thereafter without the consent of said commission.

SEC. 36. Within thirty (30) days after said resolution is adopted, an election shall be called and held by the board in that part of said district affected by said assessment or the issuance of said bonds, to determine whether the money necessary to pay the cost of the works and other expenses to be paid out of such assessment shall be raised and whether it shall be raised by calls to be made upon such assessment in such installments as may from time to time be determined by said board, or whether bonds of the district shall be issued in an amount equal to the amount of such assessment, which amount shall be entered by the board in its records and stated by said board in its order for said election, which order shall be entered upon the minutes of said board.

SEC. 37. The board shall in its order providing for said election specify the day on which said election shall be held and shall specify and designate one or more polling places as it may determine to be necessary for the holding of such election. In case the board shall consider it necessary or proper to provide more than one polling place for the holding of such election, the board shall in said order divide the lands affected by said assessment, into separate voting districts, and shall designate and provide one polling place for and within each such voting district at which shall be cast the votes of the owners of land within such voting district.

SEC. 38. The board shall also in said order providing such election appoint a board of election for each such polling place, which board of election shall consist of three owners of land assessed in and by said assessment and situated within such voting district where such polling place is located. Each member of such board of election, whether so appointed by the board or whether acting as a substitute as hereinafter provided, shall be entitled to the sum of five dollars for his services as such, to be paid by said board out of any funds of the district or of said board applicable thereto.

SEC. 39. Notice of such election must be given by the board by posting notices thereof in at least three public places in each voting district at least twenty-one days prior thereto, and also by publication for the same length of time in some newspaper of general circulation published in said Santa Clara County. Such notice must specify the time and place of holding such election, the aggregate sum of money proposed to be raised, and the names of the persons appointed to act as the board of election. Affidavits of publication and posting of such notices must be filed with the county clerk of said county, together with a copy of said order calling such election certified to by the secretary or assistant secretary of the board. Duplicate original affidavits of publication of posting of such notice shall also be filed in the office of the board.

SEC. 40. At such election the owner or owners of each tract of land assessed in and by such assessment shall have the right in person or by proxy to cast one vote for each one dollar of the amount for which said tract of land is assessed by said assessment. In case there shall be more than one owner of any tract of land separately assessed in and by said assessment, all of such owners shall unite in the ballot to be cast at such election for and on behalf of such tract of land, or shall authorize one or more of their number or some other person to cast such vote for them by proxy.

SEC. 41. Guardians, executors, administrators and other persons holding land in a trust capacity under appointment of court may vote, at said election without obtaining special authority therefor. The vote of any public or private corporation or any district, levee district, drainage district or other public agency entitled to vote at such election, may be cast by any person authorized by the board of directors or trustees or other managing body thereof, which authorization shall be in writing and certified to by the secretary or clerk thereof and attested by its seal duly acknowledged and filed with the board of election. No person shall vote by proxy at such election unless authority to cast such vote shall be evidenced by an instrument in writing duly executed, acknowledged and certified in the same manner as grants of real property and filed with the board of election. In case of the change of ownership of any tract of land, or in case the name of the owner of any tract of land be not correctly stated in the voting list, or in case it be assessed to unknown owners, the right to vote shall belong to the owner of such land at the time of the holding of such election; and if the right of any person to vote as the owner of any such tract of land be disputed or challenged, the question of his right to vote shall be determined by the board of election after examining him under oath, which oath any member of such board of election is hereby authorized to administer, and any person testifying falsely upon such examination shall be guilty of perjury. Any person voting or attempting to vote at such election who is not entitled to vote at such election, as herein provided, shall be subject to the same penalties and punishments as provided by the general election laws of this State, for voting or attempting to vote illegally.

SEC. 42. The board shall, prior to such election, cause to be prepared and certified by its secretary or assistant secretary, and furnished to the board of election in each said voting district, a true and correct voting list containing the reference number of each tract separately assessed upon the assessment list, to whom assessed, and the amount of the assessment thereon with reference to which the election is to be held, which voting list shall be used by the board of election in determining the right to vote and the number of votes to be cast by each voter, and shall be sufficient evidence thereof.

SEC. 43. For the purpose of determining the so-called "reference number" of each tract separately assessed upon the assessment lists, the board shall, before preparing such voting lists, cause each tract of land separately assessed upon the assessment lists, unless already done, to be given a seperate number to be designated as the "reference number" of such tract, which reference numbers shall be entered upon the assessment lists opposite the several tracts separately assessed, respectively.

SEC. 44. The ballot cast at such election shall contain the words "Assessment—Yes" or the words "Assessment—No" and the words "Bonds—Yes" or the words "Bonds—No," and also the signature of the person or persons casting the ballot, with the number of votes cast by such voter. If a ballot is cast by proxy, it shall also contain the name of the land owner for whom the ballot is cast and the signature of the person casting the said vote as such proxy. A list of the ballots cast shall be made by the board of election, containing the name of each voter, and if the ballot be cast by proxy, the name of the person casting it and the number of votes cast by each and whether the same be cast for or against the issuing of the bonds.

SEC. 45. If any person appointed as a member of the board of election shall fail to attend at the opening of the polls, the voters then present may appoint in his place any land owner of the voting district then present and entitled to vote at such election at such polling place, to fill the position of any such absent member thereof. Each member of such board of election must before entering upon the discharge of his duties as such, take and subscribe an official oath, which oath may be administered by any officer authorized by law to administer oaths, or by any land owner in said district. Such oath shall be to the effect that he will support the constitution of the United States and the constitution of the State of California, and that he will faithfully perform the duties of member of such election board to the best of his ability.

SEC. 46. The polls at each such polling place for said election shall be kept open from 9 o'clock in the forenoon until 5 o'clock in the afternoon of the day appointed for such election. At the close of the polls the board of election shall at once proceed to canvass the votes and declare the result, and shall forward a certificate showing each result and the number of votes cast for and against the issuing of bonds, to the board of directors of said district, and shall deliver a duplicate thereof to the county clerk of Santa Clara County, and shall also deliver to said board all ballots, voting lists and lists of ballots cast at such election, and all documents and papers used thereat. Thereupon the board shall examine and canvass said certificates received from such boards of election, and shall determine therefrom and declare, and enter in its minutes as the managing body of said district, the total result of such election. Any person interested may within ten days after the result thereof has been so determined and declared by the board contest such election by bringing suit in the superior court of Santa Clara County, and if no contest shall be so commenced within said time, the declaration of the result by the board shall be final and conclusive.

SEC. 47. If a majority of the votes cast at such election are in favor of said assessment and a majority of said votes are in favor of the issuance of bonds, the board shall cause bonds of the district, in the amount stated in said order calling such election, to be prepared and executed and delivered to the treasurer of Santa Clara County. Said bonds shall be of the denomination of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars each. They shall be signed by the president of the board and attested by the secretary of said board with the seal of said board affixed thereto, and shall be numbered consecutively in the order of their maturity and shall bear date either January first or July first, and shall bear interest at a rate to be fixed by the order of the board for issuance of the bonds not to exceed six per cent per annum, payable semiannually on the first day of January and the first day of July in each year, at the office of the said county treasurer upon presentation of the proper coupons therefor. Coupons for each installment of interest shall be attached to said bonds and shall bear the facsimile signature of the said county treasurer.

SEC. 48. The principal of said bonds shall by an order of said board entered in its minutes, be made payable on the first day of July or the first day of January and in such years as the board may prescribe, but such bonds shall be payable serially within twenty years from their date in the manner following, to wit: Not less than ten per cent of the aggregate face value of such bonds issued shall be payable within ten years from their date, and not less than nine per cent of the aggregate face value of such bonds issued shall be payable each year beginning with the eleventh year from their date, until the whole amount of said bonds have been paid.

SEC. 49. Out of the bond fund of such assessment the said county treasurer shall, on presentation at or after its maturity, pay to the holder thereof each such bond or interest coupon which shall have been sold or which shall have been issued and delivered upon an order of the board payable in bonds as hereinafter provided. If any bond or interest coupon shall not be presented to the said treasurer for payment when the same becomes due, it shall cease to bear interest, but if presented at or after such time and not paid for want of funds, the said treasurer shall so endorse such bond or coupon, together with the date of presentation, and thereafter such bond or coupon shall bear interest at the rate expressed in the bond until paid or until funds have been provided in the treasury applicable to its payment.

SEC. 50. Said bonds may be substantially in the following form:

Treasurer of Santa Clara County.

SEC. 51. The board shall deliver the bonds prepared pursuant to this act duly signed and attested, to the said county treasurer. Within ten days after said bonds have been delivered to the treasurer, an action may be commenced by the board in the superior court of the State of California, in and for the county of Santa Clara, against the land and all persons owning the same or interested therein, in that portion of the Santa Clara County Irrigation District affected by said assessment, to the issuance of said bonds, to have it determined that said bonds are a legal obligation of said district. Such action shall be in the nature of a proceeding in rem and the defendants in such action shall be designated as "All persons owning or claiming any interest in or lien upon any lands within the district affected by that certain assessment known and designated as (giving the name and number of the assessment)." It shall be sufficient to describe said lands as all lands affected by such assessment, without a more specific description. A summons shall be issued in such action, which summons, besides the matters required by section four hundred seven of the Code of Civil Procedure, shall contain a statement that the action is brought to determine the validity of the bonds of the district to the amount stated therein executed by the board and delivered to the said county treasurer and based upon and to be paid out of an assessment levied by said board upon lands within the district assessed in and by that certain assessment known and designated as (giving name and number of the assessment). Jurisdiction by the court over all parties interested in said action shall be obtained by publication of a copy of the summons at least once a week for three successive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation published in Santa Clara County, which newspaper shall be designated by the court or a judge thereof. Within thirty days after completion of the publication of such summons any owner of land assessed by said assessment or any one interested in any such land may appear and answer the complaint in such action which answer shall be verified and shall set forth the facts relied upon to show the invalidity of said bonds. The default of all defendants not so appearing may be entered. Such action shall be given precedence in hearing and trial over all other civil actions or proceedings in such court, and judgment shall be rendered therein declaring such bonds either valid or invalid. Any party not in default shall have the right within thirty days after the entry of such judgment to appeal therefrom to the Supreme Court of this State, which appeal shall be advanced upon the calendar of the court in which the appeal may be pending and shall be determined as early as possible. Judgment for the plaintiff in such action declaring such bonds to be valid shall be considered as a judgment in rem and shall be conclusive against said district and against all lands therein subject to said assessment and bonds and all owners thereof and all other interested persons. Costs may be awarded to or against any party appearing in such action as the court in its discretion may determine. Any action or proceeding commenced by any party other than the board to contest or in any manner interfere with the validity or disposition of said bonds must be tried in the superior court of the State of California, in and for Santa Clara County, and no such action or proceeding shall be commenced by any party other than the board until the expiration of ten days after such bonds have been so executed and delivered to the county treasurer, nor unless the action in this section provided for shall not have been commenced by the board within said period of ten days.

SEC. 52. The said county treasurer shall receive and place the said bonds to the credit of said district, and shall when and as directed by the board sell any of said bonds for the best price obtainable therefor, but in no event for less than ninety-five per cent of the face value of such bonds and the accrued interest thereon. Before making a sale of any of said bonds, notice shall be given by the treasurer that he will sell a specified amount of said bonds, stating the day, hour and place of said sale. Such notice shall state that sealed proposals will be received by him for the purchase of said bonds or any part thereof at the day and hour named in the notice. Such notice shall be given by publication once a week for three successive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation published in the city of San Jose. At the time and place appointed in said notice the treasurer shall open the bids and shall award the purchase of the bonds or any part thereof to the highest responsible bidder, or if the highest bid is not equal to par and accrued interest he shall notify the board of the amounts of the highest bids received, and reject any or all bids if so required by said board. At any time before all such bonds held by the county treasurer shall have been sold by him, said board may draw upon the said treasurer for, and issue and deliver any such unsold bonds at not less than the face value thereof in payment for any works or other expenses for which said assessment has been levied and for which such bonds have been authorized, and may make contracts for any of the said works or expenses, payable in whole or in part in such bonds and in making such payments in bonds, said board shall draw orders upon the said county treasurer payable in such bonds to the amount therein named, which orders shall be countersigned by the auditor of Santa Clara County and shall be paid with such bonds by the county treasurer upon presentation of the amount therein provided for, if there be sufficient bonds on hand to pay the same. In drawing any such order upon the said treasurer payable in such bonds as aforesaid, the board may specify the maturity of the bonds which are to be delivered in compliance with such order and such specifications shall be complied with by the treasurer as far as possible.

SEC. 53. The money derived from the sale of any of said bonds shall be received by the said county treasurer and shall be by him safely kept and placed to the credit of the district in a fund to be designated as the "construction fund of (giving name and number of the assessment upon which the bonds are based)," and may be drawn and expended upon warrants drawn by the auditor of Santa Clara County at the request of the board upon and payable out of said construction fund.

SEC. 54. The bonds of the district issued pursuant to this act which are investigated and approved by any commission or officer now or hereafter authorized by any law of this State to conduct such investigation and give such approval and by authority of which approval said bonds are declared to be legal investments for savings banks, may be lawfully purchased or received in pledge for loans by banks, trust companies, insurance companies, guardians, executors, administrators and special administrators, or by any public officer or officers of this State or of any county, city, or city and county, or other municipality or corporate body within this State having or holding funds which they are allowed by law to invest or loan.

SEC. 55. From the first money received from the sale of any such bonds the said county treasurer shall retain an amount which with the other funds in his hands applicable to the payment of such interest will be sufficient to pay the interest which will fall due during the period of one year thereafter upon all such bonds which have been so sold, or which have been issued and delivered on orders of the board payable in bonds, and which are still outstanding; and the treasurer shall at all times retain in his hands sufficient money from the sale of such bonds which, with other funds applicable thereto in his hands, will be sufficient to pay all interest to accrue within the period of one year next succeeding upon all such bonds so sold or issued and delivered and still outstanding; and the money so withheld by the treasurer shall be applied on said bonds and interest thereon and shall not be used for any other purpose.

SEC. 56. Whenever any of such bonds are sold or delivered by the treasurer either to a purchaser thereof or upon an order from said board payable in such bonds, the treasurer shall first detach therefrom and cancel all past due interest coupons and deliver such cancelled coupons to the board or its secretary, and shall also at once certify and deliver to said board or its secretary a list of such bonds so sold or delivered, showing the serial numbers, denominations and date of maturity of the bonds so sold or delivered, the price received for each bond sold, and the date of maturity of the earliest maturing interest coupon left attached to each bond so sold or delivered. The treasurer shall also certify and deliver to the said board or its secretary whenever requested, a statement of all such bonds and coupons for interest thereon paid by him and of all bonds or coupons presented for payment and not paid for want of funds, with the date of presentation.

SEC. 57. The board shall maintain in its office and open to public inspection at all reasonable times during office hours, a book or books to be known as the bond record of the district, containing a complete record of the existing condition of the whole of each such bond issue as compiled from time to time from such reports from the county treasurer, from which can be ascertained the amount of bonds outstanding and the interest accumulated and unpaid thereon.

SEC. 58. In case there shall be several bond issues under this act, based upon several different assessments, respectively, all of the proceedings, records and transactions of every kind herein provided for shall be had and kept separately with reference to each such bond issue.

SEC. 59. If a majority of the votes cast at any election held under the provisions of this act to determine the questions set forth in section thirty-six of this act are in favor of the proposed assessment, such assessment shall constitute a lien upon the lands assessed from the time the result of such election is declared by the board of directors. The secretary of the district shall enter in the minutes of said board the time of such declaration immediately after the same is made.

SEC. 60. If, at any such election the majority of all votes cast are in favor of the proposed assessment and a majority of all the votes cast are against a bond issue, the assessment may be collected at one time or in installments as may be determined by the board of directors. The board of directors shall declare the whole or any installment of said assessment to be due at any time by resolution duly adopted. A copy of such resolution shall be forthwith filed with the treasurer of Santa Clara County, who shall cause notice of the call for payment of such assessment or installment thereof to be published in a newspaper of general circulation published in said district for two successive weeks, the first publication to be at least twenty days before the date when unpaid part of said assessment or installment shall be delinquent. Said resolution of the board shall fix a time when said assessment or installment shall be payable and a date when the unpaid parts of the same shall be delinquent. The published notice shall be in form substantially as follows:

> NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN That an installment of Assessment (giving name and number) in the sum of $_____ is payable within _____days from date_____, by all land owners of said district subject to said assessment, to the treasurer of Santa Clara County. All or any part of said installment which shall remain unpaid on the _____, will be delinquent, with twenty (20%) per cent of such installment and interest added as penalty.

> County Treasurer.

All parts of said assessment or installment not paid by the delinquent date fixed by the board shall have added a penalty of twenty per cent of the amount due. Delinquent assessments shall be collected in the same manner as hereinafter provided for the collection of delinquent assessments for the payment of bonds.

SEC. 61. With the money received from the sale of bonds, or with the said bonds as hereinbefore provided, or with the money collected by assessment as hereinabove provided, the board as the managing body of said district shall proceed with the construction and completion or carrying into execution of the works or project for the purpose of which the assessment was levied or bonds issued, in the order that the same may be carried out and completed according to the best judgment of said board and without unnecessary delay. For the purpose of paying the cost and expenses of such works or project, and the expenses of making, bonding and collecting the assessment therefor the board shall from time to time as may be necessary present its written requests to the auditor of Santa Clara County for the issuance of warrants, specifying the amount of the warrant and the name of the payee thereof, and upon receipt of such written request the said auditor shall draw his warrants upon the treasurer of Santa Clara County, payable out of the said construction fund of the assessment upon which such bonds have been issued or money collected, and the said treasurer shall pay the same or make delivery of such bonds as provided herein. Warrants issued by the auditor and payable out of such assessment as provided by this act shall be paid by the treasurer out of and only out of the construction fund of such assessment, and in their proper order of registration as herein provided.

SEC. 62. When the bonds of the district have been authorized and issued as herein provided, based upon any assessment levied by the board, the board shall annually thereafter before the first day of July of each year, by an order entered in its minutes, ascertain and determine the total amount necessary to be collected upon such assessment for the payment of principal and interest of all such bonds which will or may become due on the first day of January and the first day of July of the succeeding year, and thereafter and before the first day of September of each year said board shall prepare in duplicate, retaining one original thereof, and causing the other original thereof to be certified by its secretary and delivered to the county treasurer of Santa Clara County, a statement of the installment of such assessment necessary to be collected for such year, to which there shall be added and collected an additional amount of fifteen per cent of the installment so due to cover possible delinquencies, which said additional sum, together with such installment, shall constitute the amount to be collected for bonds. Such installment for bonds shall, unless otherwise determined by the board by an order entered in its minutes, a copy of which duly certified shall be transmitted to the said county treasurer, be payable in two equal portions, the first of which shall be due and payable to such county treasurer, respectively, on the third Monday in October and shall be delinquent on the first Monday in December next thereafter at six o'clock p.m., and the remaining portion may be paid at any time before the last Monday in April next thereafter at six o'clock p.m., at which time the same shall become delinquent.

SEC. 63. For convenience in entering payments of such installment for bonds, the board shall furnish to the county treasurer an annual collection list in which shall be set forth the reference number of each tract of land assessed and the name of the owner to whom assessed, as stated in the original assessment list, and the total amount assessed upon each tract and the amount to be collected thereon for that year, together with appropriate columns for the entry of payments, sales and redemptions; and the county treasurer shall enter thereon in the proper column all payments, with date of payment, the word "sold" with date of sale, in case of sales for delinquency, and the words "sold to the district" with date of sale, in the case of sales to the district; and shall also enter the word "redeemed" with date of payment, in case such redemption be made. Said county treasurer shall also make a report to the board as often as requested of all entries so made by him on such collection list.

SEC. 64. When either portion of any such installment for bonds shall become delinquent, a penalty of one dollar together with twenty per cent of the amount of such installment on each tract so delinquent, shall be added thereto and collected for the use of the bond fund of said assessment. All money so collected by the county treasurer upon such installment for bonds or for the penalty thereon in case of delinquency shall be by him credited to the bond fund of such assessment.

SEC. 65. If both portions of said installments are not paid before the last Monday in April at six o'clock p.m., the board shall publish in one notice, a list of all said delinquencies, at least once a week for two weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in the county, which notice shall contain a description of each parcel of land assessed whereon such installment or installments are delinquent, as such description appears on the assessment list, the name of the owner to whom it is assessed or a statement that it is assessed to unknown owners if such be the fact, the amount of the installment or installments delinquent on such parcel, the amount of the penalty thereon, and a notice that each of said parcels will be sold at public auction by said county treasurer in front of the court house of said county at a specified day and hour, which shall not be less than thirty nor more than ninety days from the date of delinquency, to pay such delinquent installment or installments and penalty. At the time and place stated in said notice the county treasurer shall sell each parcel of land described in said notice to the highest bidder unless prior thereto he shall have received payment in full of said delinquent installment or installments together with such penalty. No bid for any parcel shall be accepted less than the aggregate sum then due for said installment or installments thereon, together with such penalty, except that the treasurer may receive from any purchaser at their face value, in lieu of cash, bonds of said district or their interest coupons, which bonds or coupons shall be then matured or will mature within one year after such sale. Any said bonds or coupons so received in payment shall be by the treasurer forthwith canceled. If the entire amount of any such bond or coupon tendered in payment shall not be required to complete payment of the purchase money, the county treasurer shall endorse thereon as paid the amount of such purchase money credited thereon. There shall be credited to the bond fund of such assessment the amount of purchase money so paid in bonds or coupons on such delinquent sales, and of all sums endorsed as paid upon account of purchase money on any such bonds or coupons, specifying the same.

SEC. 66. If no bid is made for any parcel at such delinquent sale equal to the amount of installment or installments delinquent thereon including such penalty, the county treasurer shall bid in and sell said parcel to the said district for the amount of said installment or installments and penalty.

SEC. 67. The county treasurer shall execute to each purchaser at such delinquent sale including said district, a certificate of such sale, which certificate of sale shall be recorded by said purchaser in the county recorder's office of said county.

SEC. 68. Out of the proceeds of said sales the county treasurer shall place the amount due on the property so sold to the credit of the bond fund of said district for the particular bond issue based upon said assessment. The county treasurer shall pay to the owner of said property any surplus remaining after such credit.

SEC. 69. The county treasurer may if directed by the board postpone the said delinquent sale from time to time for not less than ten nor more than thirty days by a written notice posted at the place of sale.

SEC. 70. Any person interested in any tract of land sold at such delinquent sale may redeem the same at any time within one year after the date of sale by paying to the county treasurer for such purchaser a sum equal to the purchase price stated in the certificate of sale with interest thereon at the rate of twelve per cent per annum from the date of sale to such redemption, together with the amount remaining due and unpaid of any installment upon any assessment on said land under this act, with the penalty herein prescribed for delinquency, if any. If no redemption shall be made within one year the board upon demand and the surrender of such certificate of purchase and the delivery of a certificate of the county treasurer that no redemption has been made within such year from date of sale, shall execute to the purchaser, his heirs or assigns, a deed of conveyance of the parcel of land described in such certificate, which deed shall convey to the grantee thereon named the said land free and clear of all encumbrances except state, county and municipal taxes, assessments levied or assessed by statutory authority, and the unpaid balance of the said or any assessment made by said district, each installment whereof may be called and collected as by law provided, except that no parcel sold and conveyed to the district shall thereafter, until redeemed or until sold and disposed of by the board, be subject to sale by the treasurer for delinquent installments of any assessment as in this act provided. Every deed by the board purporting to be executed under this act shall be prima facie evidence of the truth of the matters therein recited and of ownership by the grantee of the lands therein described. All deeds herein required to be executed by the board may be executed by the president and secretary thereof on behalf of said board.

SEC. 71. Any parcel of land bid in and purchased by the district at such delinquent sale shall be held in trust for the bond fund of the assessment upon which the same was sold and may be sold and conveyed by said board or their successors in office at any time after the expiration of said redemption period of one year at public or private sale and with or without notice to any person paying not less than the amount for which said parcel was bid in by said county treasurer at such delinquent sale for said district, with interest thereon at the rate of twelve per cent per annum compounded yearly from the date of such delinquent sale, and also the amount of all subsequent installments then delinquent, with accrued interest and penalties thereon. Payment for the land so purchased may be made by the purchaser either in cash or matured bonds and coupons issued upon said assessment taken at their face value, and the board shall execute a deed to such purchaser at such sale conveying said property, free of encumbrances except state, county and other municipal taxes, assessments levied or assessed by statutory authority, and the unpaid balance of the said or any assessment thereon levied by the board on lands in said district. The purchase price so received in cash shall be by the board forthwith paid over to the treasurer of Santa Clara County, and any bonds or coupons so received in payment by the board shall be by said board cancelled and delivered to the said treasurer; and all such money so paid over and such cancelled bonds or coupons so delivered to the treasurer shall be by him credited to the bond fund of such assessment. If any land so held by the district shall remain unsold after the final installment of the assessment shall have been collected by payment or sale, then the board shall sell all such lands so held by said district at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, upon two weeks' published notice substantially in the manner provided for notice upon such delinquent sales, and shall execute to the purchaser a conveyance thereof free of encumbrance except State, county and municipal taxes, and assessments levied or assessed by statutory authority, and shall deposit the proceeds of such sale with the county treasurer to the credit of the bond fund of such assessment.

SEC. 72. Any surplus remaining in the bond fund of such assessment greater than is necessary to pay all of the amounts due or to become due during the ensuing year may, in the discretion of the board, be devoted to the purchase in the open market and at the fair market price thereof of any bonds other than bonds of said district available for purchase by savings banks in this state, which shall thereupon be delivered to the county treasurer to be held by him for the benefit of said bond fund until the board shall direct it to sell the same, whereupon the treasurer shall sell the same and credit the proceeds to the said bond fund; and said board shall direct such sale to be made whenever necessary for payment of such bonds of the district or interest thereon.

SEC. 73. The said bond fund of each such assessment shall be held and safely kept by the treasurer and shall be applied by him toward the payment of the bonds and coupons thereon based upon such assessment, as such bonds and coupons fall due; and if any balance shall remain in the bond fund of such assessment after payment in full of the principal and interest of all outstanding bonds issued upon such assessment, such balance shall be held for the benefit of the lands upon which said assessment was made and in proportion to the amounts assessed thereon, and may be distributed to the owners or other persons interested in such lands by the board, or used in the maintenance and operation of the works constructed with the proceeds of said bonds.

SEC. 74. If within one year from the time said bonds have been authorized to be issued as in this act provided, the same shall not have been sold or disposed of, the board may at its discretion by an order duly made and entered in its minutes and a copy duly certified sent to the county treasurer, cancel all proceedings taken in connection with such bond issue.

SEC. 75. No county officer shall charge or receive any fee for any services required to be performed by him under the provisions of this act; but any reasonable and necessary expense actually incurred by any officer in carrying out any of the provisions of this act relating in any manner to the collection or enforcement of any assessment, shall be paid out of the funds of said district applicable thereto.

SEC. 76. If the amounts raised by means of and upon such assessment as herein provided shall in the end prove insufficient to pay in full all of said bonds and the interest thereon, the board shall levy and cause to be collected in the same manner as herein provided, a supplementary annual assessment or assessments from time to time as may be necessary upon the same lands previously assessed in the original assessment, which supplemental assessment or assessments shall be levied by resolution of the board entered in its minutes. It shall not be necessary to appoint assessors therefor nor to prepare new or additional assessment lists for any such supplemental assessment or assessments, but the same shall be levied and apportioned according to benefits and in the same proportion as specified in the original assessment lists for such assessment; and for the purpose of collecting the same said board shall prepare and cause to be certified to the county treasurer annual assessment collection lists in the same manner and at the same times as hereinbefore provided for the annual assessment collection lists upon such original assessment; and the same shall be collected by the county treasurer, and the same percentages, penalties and costs added for delinquency and the same proceedings had for sale of property, and for redemption thereof and for disposition of the proceeds of sale, and in all other particulars as hereinbefore provided in the case of such annual assessment collection lists upon the original assessment; and all money collected for or on account of any such supplemental assessment or assessments shall be credited by the treasurer to the said bond redemption fund of said assessment.

SEC. 77. If the board or any member thereof or any officer or appointee or employee thereof or any public officer in this act mentioned or referred to shall fail to perform any duties imposed by this act, at the time and in the manner in this act provided, the Attorney General of the State shall have the power and it shall be his duty to compel the performance of such act by mandamus proceedings or by any other appropriate remedy, legal or equitable; and in case the Attorney General shall fail, neglect or refuse so to do, it shall be the duty of the Governor to compel the performance of such act by mandamus proceedings or other appropriate legal or equitable remedy and to employ special counsel therefor at the expense of said district.

SEC. 78. If a majority of all votes cast at any election held under the provisions of this act to determine the questions set forth in section 36 hereof shall be against the assessment, no assessment shall be levied.

SEC. 79. In case the money raised by the original assessment or by the sale of bonds issued be insufficient, or in case the bonds be unavailable for the completion of the plan of canal and works adopted, and the acquisition of the necessary property, waters and water rights therefor, and additional bonds be not voted, it shall be the duty of the board of directors to provide for the completion of said plan, and the acquisition of such necessary property, waters and water rights, by levy of assessments therefor: provided, however, that such levy of assessments shall not be made except first an estimate of the amount required for such purposes has been made by said board and the question as to the making of said levy submitted to a vote of the landowners affected thereby in the manner hereinabove provided for the original assessment. Before such question is submitted the order of submission shall be entered in the minutes of the board, stating the amount to be levied and the purpose therefor. At such election the ballots shall contain the words "Assessment—Yes", or "Assessment—No", or words equivalent thereto. If a majority of the votes cast are "Assessment—Yes", the board of directors shall cause an assessment in the amount named in the order of submission to be levied; if a majority of the votes cast are "Assessment—No", the result of such election shall be so declared and entered of record. The said supplementary assessment shall be collected and the proceeds disposed of in all respects as hereinabove provided for an original assessment upon which no bonds were issued.

SEC. 80. Before beginning the construction of any canal or canals storage reservoirs, and works, as in this act provided for, the board of directors shall give notice, by publication thereof for less than twenty days in one newspaper published in the district, and in such other newspapers as they may deem advisable, calling for bids for the construction of such work, or of any portion thereof; if less than the whole work is advertised, then the portion so advertised must be particularly described in such notice. Said notice shall set forth that plans and specifications can be seen at the office of the board, and that the board will receive sealed proposals therefor, and that the contract will be let to the lowest responsible bidder, stating the time and place for opening said proposals, which, at the time and place appointed, shall be opened in public; and as convenient thereafter the board shall let said work, either in portions or as a whole, to the lowest responsible bidder; or they may reject any or all bids and readvertise for proposals or may proceed to construct the work under their own superintendence; provided, that in case of emergency or urgent necessity for the construction, extension or repair of works for irrigation or drainage, the board of directors, by unanimous vote of those present at any regular or special meeting, may award contracts therefor without advertising for bids, but the cost of such work shall not exceed five hundred dollars and such additional amount as shall be equal to five cents for each acre of land in the district. Contracts for the purchase of material shall be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. Any person or persons to whom a contract may be awarded shall enter into a bond, with good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by the board, payable to said district for its use, for twenty-five per cent of the amount of the contract price, conditioned for the faithful performance of said contract. The work shall be done under the direction and to the satisfaction of the engineer, and be approved by the board.

SEC. 81. During the construction of any irrigation works to be paid for out of the proceeds of any bond issue which has been certified by the state irrigation district bond commission as provided in the act creating said commission, the state engineer shall have access to all plans, specifications, and records of such construction, and shall from time to time make such investigations and such reports to the board of directors of the district as he shall deem to be in the interest of the public or of the district.

SEC. 82. The cost and expense of purchasing and acquiring property and constructing the works and improvements herein provided for, shall be wholly paid out of the construction fund of the particular project as hereinabove provided, provided however, that when any lands, waters, water rights or other property shall be acquired by the district by any lease or contract, under the terms of which the consideration or rental shall be payable in such installments that a like amount shall be payable in each year of the life of such lease or contract, then such rental or consideration shall be paid out of the funds derived from the levying of annual assessments, or from the collection of rates, tolls and charges fixed and collected as hereinafter provided for. For the purpose of defraying the expenses of the care, operation, management, repair and improvement of such portions of said canal and works as are completed and in use, including installments of rental or consideration accruing under any lease or contract as hereinabove in this section mentioned, the board may in lieu (either in part or in whole) of levying assessments as herein provided for, fix rates of toll and charges, for irrigation and other public uses declared by this act, and collect the same from all persons using said canal for irrigation and other purposes.

SEC. 83. The board of directors shall have power to construct the said works across any stream of water, watercourse, street, avenue, highway, railway, canal, ditch or flume which the route of said canal or canals may intersect or cross in such manner as to afford security for life and property; but said board shall restore the same, when so crossed or intersected, to its former state as near as may be, or in a sufficient manner not to have impaired unnecessarily its usefulness, and every company whose railroad shall be intersected or crossed by said works shall unite with said board in forming said intersections and crossings, and grant the privileges aforesaid; and if such railroad company and said board, or the owners and controllers of the said property, thing, or franchise so to be crossed, can not agree upon the amount to be paid therefor, or the points or the manner of said crossings or intersections, the same shall be ascertained and determined in all respects as is herein provided in respect to the taking of land. The right of way is hereby given, dedicated, and set apart, to locate, construct, and maintain said works over and through any of the lands which are now or may be the property of this state, and also there is given, dedicated, and set apart, for the uses and purposes aforesaid, all waters and water rights belonging to this state within the district.

SEC. 84. The directors when sitting as a board or acting under the orders of the board, shall each receive not to exceed ten dollars per day, and actual and necessary expenses paid while engaged in official business under the order of the board. The board shall fix the compensation to be paid to all officers named in this act, to be paid out of the general fund of the district; provided, that said board shall upon the petition of at least fifty freeholders within such district therefor, submit to the electors at any general election a schedule of salaries and fees to be paid hereunder, which may include the salary or per diem to be paid to the directors. Such petition must be presented to the board not less than twenty days nor more than forty days prior to a general election, and the result of such election shall be determined and declared in all respects as other elections are determined and declared under this act.

SEC. 85. No director or any other officer named in this act shall in any manner be interested, directly or indirectly, in any contract awarded or to be awarded by the board, or in the profits to be derived therefrom; and for any violation of this provision, such officer shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and such conviction shall work a forfeiture of his office, and he shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 86. The board of directors or other officers of the district shall have no power to incur any debt or liability whatever, either by issuing bonds or otherwise, in excess of the express provisions of this act; and any debt or liability incurred in excess of such express provisions shall be and remain absolutely void, except that for the purposes of organization, or for any of the purposes of this act, the board of directors may, before the collection of the first levy of taxes for the general fund, incur indebtedness in such sum or sums as shall amount to not more than ten thousand dollars, and may cause warrants of the district to be issued therefor, bearing interest at not more than seven per centum per annum, said rate to be fixed by the board of directors, and all such warrants must be made payable not later than the first day of July after the first tax levy shall be collected in the district: and provided, further, that nothing contained in this section shall be construed as limiting the right of the board to enter into any contract or lease for any lands, waters, water rights or other property, as in this act provided for, and by such lease or contract bind the district for the payment of the rental or consideration specified in such lease or contract.

SEC. 87. Whenever any warrant of the district payable on demand is presented to the treasurer for payment when funds are not available for the payment thereof, it shall thereafter draw interest at a rate to be determined by resolution of the board of directors, not, however to exceed seven per centum per annum, until public notice is given that such funds are available. Upon the presentation of any such warrants for payment, other than warrants issued under the provisions of section eighty-six hereof, when funds of the district are not available to pay the same, the treasurer of Santa Clara County shall endorse thereon the words "funds not available for payment," with the date of presentation and shall specify the interest that such warrants shall thereafter bear and shall sign his name thereto. He shall keep a record showing the number and amount of each such warrant, the date of its issuance, the person in whose favor it was issued, and the date of its presentation for payment. Whenever there is sufficient money in the treasury to pay all such outstanding warrants or whenever the board of directors shall order that all such warrants presented for payment prior to a certain date, be made and there is sufficient money available for such payments, the county treasurer shall give notice in some newspaper published in the district, stating that he is prepared to pay all warrants of the district for the payment of which funds were not available upon their original presentation, or all such warrants which were presented for payment prior to the date fixed by the board of directors, as the case may be, and no further description of the warrants entitled to payment shall be made in such notice. Upon the presentation of any warrant entitled to payment under the terms of such notice, the treasurer shall pay it, together with interest thereon at the rate specified by the board of directors, from the date of its original presentation for payment to the date of the first publication or posting of said notice, and all warrants for the payment of which funds are declared in said notice to be available shall cease to draw interest at the time of the first publication or posting of said notice. The treasurer shall enter in the record hereinbefore required to be kept, the dates of the payment of all such warrants, the names of the persons to whom payments are made and the amount paid to each person.

SEC. 88. The board of directors of said district may acquire, by purchase or condemnation the irrigation system, canals and works through which lands in said district have been or may be supplied with water for irrigation, and may exchange bonds of said irrigation district for such system of canals or works or for any portion thereof, or for any interest therein or for the capital stock of any corporation owning such system or any portion thereof, upon such terms and conditions as the said board of directors may deem best.

SEC. 89. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to authorize any person or persons to divert the waters of any river, creek, stream, canal, or ditch from its channel to the detriment of any person or persons having any interest in such river, creek, stream, canal, or ditch, or the waters therein, unless previous compensation be ascertained and paid therefor, under the laws of this state authorizing the taking of private property for public uses.

SEC. 90. The rights of way, ditches, flumes, pipe-lines, dams, water rights, reservoirs, and other property of like character, belonging to said district shall not be taxed for state and county or municipal purposes.

SEC. 91. No contest of anything or matter herein provided shall be made other than within the time and manner herein specified, and in any such action all findings of facts or conclusions of said board of directors upon all matters shall be conclusive, unless such action was instituted within six months after such finding or conclusion was made.

SEC. 92. For any willful violation of any express duty herein provided for, on the part of any officer herein named, he shall be liable upon his official bond, and be subject to removal from office, by proceedings brought in the superior court of Santa Clara County by any assessment payer of the district.

SEC. 93. When said district, in the development of its works as by law provided, may have opportunity, without increased expenditure, to utilize the water by it owned or controlled, for mechanical purposes not inconsistent with the provisions of said act, the board of directors may lease the same, as in this act hereinafter provided.

SEC. 94. Whenever the board of directors may desire to lease the use of water, as hereinbefore stated, they shall pass a resolution of intention to so lease the same,

Immediately thereafter the secretary shall cause notice of such intention to be given by publication in one newspaper published in the district for at least twenty days, and if the board thinks proper in such other newspapers as may be deemed advisable, calling for bids for the leasing of said water for the purposes hereinbefore mentioned. Said notice shall state that the board will receive sealed proposals therefor, that the lease will be let to the highest responsible bidder, stating the time and place of opening said proposals.

SEC. 95. At the time and place appointed the board shall proceed to open the proposals in public. As soon thereafter as may be, and the board shall let said lease in portions, or as a whole, to the highest responsible bidder, or they may reject any or all bids, and readvertise for proposals for the same.

SEC. 96. The rental accruing upon said lease may vary from year to year, as shall be specified in said lease, and shall be payable semi-annually, on the thirtieth day of December and thirtieth day of June of each year. All moneys collected, as in this act provided, shall be paid into the county treasury and credited to such funds of the district as may be deemed advisable by the board of directors.

SEC. 97. The board shall have power, as in this act provided, to execute a lease for any period not exceeding twenty-five years. If at any time the rental shall not be paid on the days hereinbefore mentioned, the amount of such rental then due shall be doubled, and if not paid within ninety days thereafter, the said lease shall be forfeited to said district, together with any and all works constructed, owned, used, or controlled by said lessee.

SEC. 98. Upon the letting of any lease, as in this act provided, the board may require the lessee to execute a bond for the faithful performance of the covenants of said lease, or give such other evidence of good faith as in their judgment may be necessary.

SEC. 99. Said district may provide for the construction, operation, leasing and control of plants for the generation, distribution, sale and use of electrical energy, including sale to municipalities, corporations, public utility districts or individuals of electrical power so generated, and said district, subject however to the conditions in this section contained, may make special appropriations of water for power purposes as required by law [illegible] such electrical power or energy at any given time of the year which is in excess of the water appropriated and beneficially used for irrigation purposes by such district at said period of the year, shall be subject to all prior existing appropriations by any municipal corporation, who or which is proceeding in good faith in the expenditure of money and the construction of works destined to divert the water appropriated; and the officers, agents, and employees of such districts shall have the same powers, duties and liabilities respecting such power and the construction, repair, maintenance, management, and control thereof as they now have or may hereafter have respecting such irrigation or such irrigation districts. This act shall be so construed, applied and enforced as to apply to such power as well as such irrigation.

SEC. 100. The board of directors of said district and its officers, agents, and employees shall do all necessary and proper acts for the construction, repair, maintenance, and management of such electrical power works for such purposes.

SEC. 101. In case funds are not otherwise available the district may issue bonds for such purpose and all of the provisions of this act relating to the issuance of bonds for other purposes in so far as the same are applicable to said bonds shall apply.

SEC. 102. The boundaries of said district may be changed in the manner herein prescribed; but such change of the boundaries of the district shall not impair or affect its organization, or its rights in or to property, or any of its rights or privileges of whatsoever kind or nature; nor shall it affect, impair, or discharge any contract, obligation, lien, or charge for or upon which it was or might become liable or chargeable, had such change of its boundaries not been made.

SEC. 103. The holder or holders, of title, or evidence of title, representing one-half or more of any body of lands adjacent to the boundary of said district, which are contiguous, and which taken together, constitute one tract of land, may file with the board of directors of said district a petition, in writing, praying that the boundaries of said district may be so changed as to include therein said lands. The petition shall describe the boundaries of said parcel or tract of land, and shall also describe the boundaries of the several parcels owned by the petitioners, if the petitioners be the owners, respectively, of distinct parcels, but such descriptions need not be more particular than they are required to be when such lands are entered by the county assessor in the assessment book. Such petition must contain the assent of the petitioners to the inclusion within said district of the parcels or tracts of land described in the petition, and of which said petition alleges they are respectively, the owners; and it must be acknowledged in the same manner that conveyances of land are required to be acknowledged.

SEC. 104. The secretary of the board of directors shall cause a notice of the filing of such petition to be given and published in the same manner and for the same time that notices of elections for the issue of bonds are required by this act to be published. The notice shall state the filing of such petition and the names of the petitioners, a description of the lands mentioned in said petition, and the prayer of said petition; and it shall notify all persons interested in, or that may be affected by such change of the boundaries of the district, to appear at the office of said board, at a time named in said notice, and show cause in writing, if any they have, why the change in the boundaries of said district, as proposed in said petition, should not be made. The time to be specified in the notice at which they shall be required to show cause shall be the regular meeting of the board next after the expiration of the time for the publication of the notice. The petitioners shall advance to the secretary sufficient money to pay the estimated costs of all proceedings under this act.

SEC. 105. The board of directors, at the time and place mentioned in the said notice, or at such other time or times to which the hearing of said petition may be adjourned, shall proceed to hear the petition, and all the objections thereto, presented in writing by any person showing cause as aforesaid why said proposed change of the boundaries of the district should not be made. The failure by any person interested in said district, or in the matter of the proposed change of its boundaries, to show cause, in writing, as aforesaid, shall be deemed and taken as an assent on his part to a change of the boundaries of the district as prayed for in said petition, or to such change thereof, as will include a part of said lands. And the filing of such petition with said board, as aforesaid, shall be deemed and taken as an assent on the part of each and all of such petitioners to such a change of said boundaries that they may include the whole or any portion of the lands described in said petition.

SEC. 106. The board of directors may require, as a condition precedent to the granting of the same, that the petitioners shall severally pay to such district such respective sums, as nearly as the same can be estimated (the several amounts to be determined by the board), as said petitioners or their grantors would have been required to pay to such district as assessments, had such lands been included in such district at the time the same was originally formed.

SEC. 107. If the board of directors deem it for the best interest of the district that the boundaries of said district be changed and if no person interested in said district or the proposed change of its boundaries shows cause, in writing, why the proposed change should not be made, or, having shown cause, withdraws the same, the board may order that the boundaries of the district be so changed as to include therein the lands mentioned in said petition or some part thereof. The order shall describe the boundaries as changed and shall also describe the entire boundaries of the district as they will be after the change thereof as aforesaid is made; and for that purpose the board may cause a survey to be made of such portions of such boundary as is deemed necessary; provided, however, that any public land of the United States of America adjoining the boundaries of any irrigation district may be included within the boundaries of any such irrigation district by order or resolution of the board of directors of such district without any petition being filed asking for such inclusion; and provided, further, that when additional land is included within said district and the board of directors of such district finds either that such inclusion without condition would work an injury to the land already in the district either by an impairment of water right or by requiring a greater expense for furnishing water to the lands proposed to be included, the board may prescribe conditions upon such inclusion of land, either by providing for priority of right to water or for the payment of an additional annual charge of such other conditions as may to the board seem just. If such inclusion is upon petition of property owners all such property owners must sign and acknowledge an agreement with the district, specifying such conditions and describing the land so to be included. Such agreement must be recorded in the office of the county recorder of Santa Clara County, together with a certified copy of the order including such lands, and thereupon such lands shall become a part of said district subject to such conditions.

SEC. 108. If any person interested in said district or the proposed change of its boundaries shall show cause as aforesaid why such boundaries should not be changed and shall not withdraw the same or if the board of directors deem it not for the best interests of the district that the boundaries thereof be changed so as to include therein the lands mentioned in the petition or some part thereof, the board shall adopt a resolution to that effect. The resolution shall describe the exterior boundaries of the land which will be included within the boundaries of the district when changed, but before calling the election provided for in the next section, the board may require an undertaking, with sufficient sureties, from the petitioners that they will pay all of the cost of holding such election for the inclusion of such lands in case such inclusion should be denied.

SEC. 109. Upon the adoption of the resolution mentioned in the last preceding section, the board shall order that an election be held within said district, to determine whether the boundaries of the district shall be changed as mentioned in said resolution; and shall fix the time at which such election shall be held, and cause notice thereof to be given and published. Such notice shall be given and published, and such election shall be held and conducted, the returns thereof shall be made and canvassed, and the result of the election ascertained and declared, and all things pertaining thereto conducted in the manner prescribed by said act in case of a special election to determine whether bonds of the district shall be issued. The ballots cast at said election shall contain the words "For change of boundary," or "Against change of boundary," or words equivalent thereto. The notice of election shall describe the proposed change of the boundaries in such manner and terms that it can readily be traced.

SEC. 110. If at such election a majority of all the votes cast at said election shall be against such change of the boundaries of the district, the board shall order that said petition be denied, and shall proceed no further in that matter. But if a majority of such votes be in favor of such change of the boundaries of the district, the board shall thereupon order that the boundaries be changed in accordance with said resolution adopted by the board. The said order shall describe the entire boundaries of said district, and for that purpose the board may cause a survey of such portions thereof to be made as the board may deem necessary.

SEC. 111. Upon a change of the boundaries of a district being made, a copy of the order of the board of directors ordering such change, certified by the president and secretary of the board, shall be filed for record in the recorder's office of Santa Clara County, and thereupon the district shall be and remain an irrigation district, as fully, and to every intent and purpose, as if the lands which are included in the district by the change of the boundaries, as aforesaid, had been included therein at the original organization of the district.

SEC. 112. Upon the filing of the copies of the order, as in the last preceding section mentioned, the secretary shall record in the minutes of the board the petition aforesaid; and the said minutes, or a certified copy thereof, shall be admissible in evidence, with the same effect as the petition.

SEC. 113. A guardian, an executor, or an administrator of an estate, who is appointed as such under the laws of this State, and who, as such guardian, executor or administrator, is entitled to the possession of the lands belonging to the estate which he represents, may, on behalf of his ward, or the estate which he represents, upon being thereunto authorized by the proper court, sign and acknowledge the petition in this act mentioned, and may show cause, as in this act mentioned, why the boundaries of the district should not be changed.

SEC. 114. In case of the inclusion of any land within any district by proceedings under this act, the board of directors must, at least thirty days prior to the next succeeding general election, make an order redividing such district into seven divisions, which shall be numbered first, second, third, and so on, and a director, or directors, shall thereafter be elected by each division as hereinabove provided. For the purposes of elections, the board of directors must establish a convenient number of election precincts in said districts, and define the boundaries thereof, which said precincts may be changed from time to time, as the board may deem necessary.

SEC. 115. All laws of the State of California providing for the dissolution of irrigation districts shall apply to said Santa Clara County Irrigation District as to other irrigation districts.

Amendment adopted.

Bill read second time, ordered to print, and re-referred to Committee on Irrigation.

REQUEST FOR INTRODUCTION OF BILL.

The following request for permission to introduce a bill was presented:

By Senator Sample:

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, March 8, 1921.

MR. PRESIDENT: In accordance with the provisions of section 2, article IV of the constitution, I request that the permission of the Senate be granted for the introduction of the accompanying bill, the title of which is as follows, to wit:

An act conveying certain tidelands and lands lying under inland navigable waters situate in the bay of San Diego to the city of Coronado in furtherance of navigation, commerce and fisheries, and providing for the government, management and control thereof.

Request referred to Committee on Rules.

RE-REFERENCE OF SENATE BILL.

On motion of Senator Chamberlin, Senate Bill No. 705 was withdrawn from Committee on Finance, to which it had heretofore been referred, and re-referred to Committee on Judiciary.

By Senator Carr, W. J.:

SAN JOSE, March 8, 1921.

Have not made study of appropriations and specific items incorporated in each. Do not feel my suggestions would assist in budget discussion. Would appreciate being excused from appearing before Senate tomorrow.

W. E. BLAUER.

Also:

FRESNO, March 7, 1921.

I hold the view that the revenue of the State would be conserved at all times and disbursements should be limited to essentials, and only such things that will insure the conduct of the State's business in an orderly and an economical manner. My presence as a witness or otherwise would not add anything to the testimony of those preceding me who are qualified to speak on account of their extensive study on taxation matters. Will therefore greatly appreciate being excused from service.

WM. F. WOODS.

Also:

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6, 1921.

As I have some exceedingly important business engagements in San Francisco on Tuesday next, I will appreciate very much if I may be excused attending the Senate hearing. I have no information to add to that already in the possession of the Senate.

MORTIMER FLEISHHACKER.

Also:

STOCKTON, March 7, 1921.

DEAR SIR: I acknowledge receipt of subpoena to appear before the Senate as Committee of the Whole with reference to the matter of taxation, on Wednesday, March 9, 1921, at 2 o'clock p.m., for the purpose, as stated, "of submitting any figures in their possession showing what item or items can be eliminated without impairing the efficiency of the State government."

In regard to the above quoted requirement, I desire to say that I have no figures in my possession, or do I expect to have by the date mentioned, or at any other time for that matter, any figures showing what item or items can be eliminated from the budget, without impairing the efficiency of the State government.

I desire, further, to state that I do not recall of having made any specific charge as to any specific item or items being unnecessary, or that they could be eliminated without impairing the efficiency of the State government, and I am now and will be on the date specified unable to give any testimony which in my opinion would throw any light whatsoever on the subject, or be of benefit to the Committee of the Whole. If I were able to be of any service I should be exceedingly well pleased to do so, but knowing that I cannot, and desiring to conserve the time of the committee and expedite the business of the Legislature, as well as incidentally to care for important business arising on Wednesday, March 9, 1921, in connection with the affairs of the bank, of which I am cashier, I respectfully request that I may be excused from attendance.

Respectfully yours,

THOMAS E. CONNOLLY,
Cashier of Stockton Savings and Loan Bank.

Also:

CHICO, March 8, 1921.

Will you kindly excuse me from appearing before Senate Budget Committee on Wednesday, March 9. Mr. Thelen and Mr. Fisher have all the facts in detail, and I have no further information.

ARTHUR H. SMITH.

MOTION.

Senator Carr, W. J., moved that in view of the preceding communications received from W. E. Blauer, William F. Woods, Mortimer Fleishhacker, Thomas E. Connolly, and Arthur H. Smith, that the foregoing named persons be excused from attendance on the budget hearings.

Motion carried.

REQUEST FOR USE OF SENATE CHAMBER GRANTED.

Senator Rush asked for and was granted unanimous consent for use of the Senate Chamber, Wednesday evening, March 16, 1921, for meeting of Committee on Drainage, Swamp and Overflowed Lands.

RECESS.

At eleven o'clock and thirty-five minutes a.m., on motion of Senator Breed, the President declared the Senate at recess until the hour of two o'clock p.m.

RECONVENED.

At two o'clock p.m., the Senate reconvened.

Lieutenant Governor C. C. Young, President of the Senate, in the chair.

Secretary Grace S. Stoermer at the desk.

COMMUNICATION.

The following communication was received, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Senator Carr, W. J.:

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7, 1921.

Pursuant to our understanding over the phone this morning, I enclose a letter from my medical adviser, Dr. Saxton Pope, explaining my inability to comply with your subpoena for tomorrow.

With many thanks for your courtesy and consideration in this matter, I remain,

Yours very truly,

A. H. PAYSON.

This is to certify that during the past two weeks I have been in attendance upon Capt. A. H. Payson, who has been sick in bed with tonsilitis and grippe. He has just recovered from the sickness and is still in a very weak condition. At present he is not able to travel nor to undertake any business whatever.

SAXTON POPE, M. D.

March 7, 1921.

MOTION EXCUSING FROM ATTENDANCE.

On motion of Senator Carr, W. J., Captain A. H. Payson was, in view of the foregoing communication, excused from attendance on budget hearings.

At two o'clock and five minutes p.m., on motion of Senator Breed, the Senate resolved itself into Committee of the Whole, the President of the Senate in the chair, the Secretary of the Senate acting as Secretary of the Committee of the Whole, for the purpose of further considering the budget.

IN COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

NAMES OF PERSONS WHO APPEARED TODAY BEFORE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

During the discussion relating to the budget, the following persons appeared before the Committee of the Whole:

W. R. Alberger, vice president and general manager San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railways, San Francisco, California.

R. H. Ballard, vice president Southern California Edison Company, Los Angeles, California.

Frank Karr, general counsel Pacific Electric Co., Los Angeles, California.

Max Thelen, general counsel California Bankers Association, and other public utilities of California, San Francisco, California.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE RISES.

At four o'clock and fifty-five minutes p.m., Senator Carr, W. J., moved that the Committee of the Whole do now rise and continue the hearing in reference to the budget at two o'clock p.m., Wednesday, March 9, 1921.

Motion carried.

IN SENATE.

Lieutenant Governor C. C. Young, President of the Senate, in the chair.

Secretary Grace S. Stoermer at the desk.

MOTION.

Senator McDonald moved that such portions of Mr. Max Thelen's discussion of the budget as practicable be ordered published in the Journal.

Motion carried.

PORTION OF MR. THELEN'S REMARKS ON BUDGET.

March 8, 1921.

After a very careful analysis of the proposed State budget of $81,387,692.51, I make the statement that this budget can and should be reduced at least $8,146,815.50.

In making an analysis of any State budget at this time, it is necessary to apply certain fundamental principles of State finance. I have applied the following principles:

1. No higher wage scales and no additional jobs.
2. Due consideration to the falling prices of food, clothing and supplies.
3. No other unnecessary maintenance or operating expenses.
4. No new functions or State aid.
5. New building projects and purchases of additional land to be deferred unless really necessary now.
6. Substantial permanent improvements in so far as urgently necessary to be included in the Governor's proposed $10,000,000 bond election.

The foregoing principles are, of course, subject to exceptions but each exception should be clearly proved.

My deductions from the budget may be summarized as follows:

1. Further salary increases and new jobs		$1,571,523 00
2. Failure to give effect to falling costs of food, clothing and supplies		412,959 00
3. Other unnecessary operating and maintenance expenses		1,144,820 00
4. Such new building projects and purchase of additional lands as can be deferred or abandoned		1,665,950 00
5. New or additional State functions or aid		839,676 00
6. Substantial permanent improvements to be included in the Governor's proposed $10,000,000 bond issue—
University of California	$1,127,887 50
Other State institutions	1,034,000 00
Total		2,211,887 50
7. Additional savings from reorganization of State government (taking the Governor's plan as the minimum)		300,000 00
Total deductions		$8,145,815 50

In making these deductions, I have reduced no existing salary and have abolished no State institution or agency. Full allowance has been made for support and maintenance. At every institution which needs additional housing facilities, full allowance has been made, either by retaining the items in the budget or by placing them in the Governor's proposed $10,000,000 bond issue.

What I have done, however, is to say that of the $14,000,000 increase recommended by the Budget Board over the budget of 1919, after making allowance for the increased expenditures voted by the people last November, the State shall at this time spend only about $6,000,000. In other words, a proposed increase for new and additional expenditures of $14,000,000 over the budget of 1919 is to be reduced to an increase of $6,000,000.

I know that these deductions can be made without in any way interfering with the proper and satisfactory performance of the State's obligations and that I speak the voice of every citizen and taxpayer in this State, other than a few office holders, when I earnestly urge that every effort be made to bring about these deductions.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE.

Explanation of vote of Senator J. M. Inman, on motion to expunge from Journal communication dated March 8, 1921, statement signed by Sacramento Church Federation:

In the first place, I can not subscribe to these words contained in this communication, "The Senate in California has felt the power of this group."

In the second place, the communication contains the words "The Senate is the victim of insidious propaganda." This I can not subscribe to.

In the third place, I can not permit to go unchallenged this statement also contained in this communication: "if we did not again protest against the humiliating action of the Senate of the great State of California in receiving the agent of a foreign political power unrecognized by the federal government, and seek to disrupt our friendly relations with our chief ally during the great war".

J. M. INMAN.

NOTICE OF MOTION TO AMEND STANDING RULES OF THE SENATE.

COMMUNICATION.

The following communication was received, and ordered printed in Journal:

By Senator Carr, W. J.:

SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, March 8, 1921.

Miss Grace S. Stoermer, Secretary of the Senate, Sacramento.

MADAM: I am here in answer to a subpoena to attend on the Senate in relation to the budget and the possibility of its reduction.

While I am one of the signatories to the signed advertisements issued by the Tax Economy League, I have not been in a position to personally go into the question of the economies that might be adopted, but Mr. Max Thelen, whose services have been retained by the league for this express purpose, can and will give information on the subject that will be valuable, and be based upon a precise and careful survey of the subject.

As I am personally unable to shed any light on the subject, and am urgently needed elsewhere, I most respectfully ask to be dispensed with.

I am, madam, yours very respectfully,

W. CLAYTON.

Vice President and Managing Director, San Diego Electric Railway Company.

By Senator Scott:

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8, 1921.

Will you ask the President of the Senate to excuse me from appearing tomorrow before the Budget Committee? I am ill.

GEORGE SKALLER.

EXCUSED FROM ATTENDING BUDGET HEARINGS.

Senator Carr, W. J., moved, in view of the foregoing communications received from W. Clayton and Geo. Skaller that they be excused from attendance on the budget hearings.

Motion carried.

COMMUNICATION.

The following communication was received and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Senator Flaherty:

WHEREAS, Various measures have been and may be introduced in the Legislature of the State of California which have for their object the creation of a system of censorship of motion pictures or the drama; therefore be it

Resolved, By San Francisco Labor Council in regular meeting assembled that this organization is unalterably opposed to any and all measures, bills or acts which have for their object censorship in any form, and we are likewise unalterably opposed to any measure, bill or act that has for its object anything that is kindred to censorship or which may be the first step in that direction. Censorship is fundamentally unpatriotic, un-American, illiberal and intolerant. It is a direct blow at direct speech and the right of liberty of action within the law as those rights are guaranteed by the constitution of the United States and that of the State of California. It is a sinister menace to the untrammelled right of organized labor to legitimately and properly present its cause to the American people. It will put in the hands of a small group the power to direct, regulate and control an important medium of information and to pervert and color the news. Censorship of the drama, whether it be silent or spoken, is no more to be justified than censorship of free speech or censorship of the pulpit. Any invasion of the right of free speech is a threat to liberty itself.

There is no need for censorship. Laws of the country, both federal and state, are ample to protect any indecent, lewd, or immoral exhibitions. The exhibition of films or the presentation of plays that shock the moral sensibilities of the people or that are corrupting or indecent, are of rare and infrequent occurrence. Immoral or indecent exhibitions are the exception and not the rule and the people should be permitted to judge both of the character of amusement they desire and the kind of news they want. In short, censorship in its fundamental aspect is an attempt to throttle free speech and if carried to its logical development will produce in America the same sort of conditions that prevailed in Germany and in Russia at the outbreak of the war.

We protest against censorship of any and every sort as an attempt on the part of an intolerant and illiberal few to subvert American principles and to overthrow American institutions.

Adopted by San Francisco Labor Council March 4, 1921.

[SEAL]

JNO. A. O'CONNELL,
Secretary San Francisco Labor Council.

PETITIONS.

The following petitions were presented, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Senator Harris:

We the undersigned residents of California, believing in the principles of American liberty and the entire separation of church and state, do hereby protest against the passage by the California Legislature of Senate Bill No. 743 and Assembly Bill No. 501, entitled "An act to provide for the more general observance of Sunday as a day of rest," or any other such measure.

W. A. HOPKINS, Fresno.
And 4672 others.

By Senator Boggs: A petition of similar nature, signed by Mrs. A. S. Peterson, Lodi, and 2869 others.

By Senator Nelson: A petition of similar nature, signed by Mrs. L. F. Shields, Eureka, and 1069 others.

By Senator Inman: A petition of similar nature, signed by W. A. Mason, Sacramento, and 2613 others.

By Senator Duncan: A petition of similar nature, signed by Mrs. H. H. Howard, Oroville, and 2245 others.

By Senator Eden: A petition of similar nature, signed by Walter L. Hunting, Santa Ana, and 2559 others.

EXPLANATION BY SENATOR PURKITT IN REFERENCE TO PETITIONS.

MR. PRESIDENT: I am in receipt of petitions containing several thousand names protesting against the passage of Senate Bill No. 743 (Sunday closing). Not desiring to encumber the record by such lengthy petitions, I respectfully ask that this tsatement be printed in the Journal in lieu thereof.

CLAUDE F. PURKITT.

REPORTS OF SELECT COMMITTEES.

The following report of Select Committee was received, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Senator Inman:

REPORT OF JOINT COMMITTEE.

Your joint committee of the Senate and the Assembly appointed pursuant to Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 20, by Senator J. M. Inman, organized by selecting Senator Inman chairman.

It was decided to hold hearings at different points in the state in order that citizens might be enabled without undue expense or loss of time to present any matters they might desire and concerning which the committee had jurisdiction. Pursuant thereto your committee held a hearing lasting two days at Sacramento, January 31 and February 1; at San Francisco on February 2 and 3; at Stockton February 4; at Modesto February 7; at Fresno February 8; at Los Angeles February 9 and 10, at which time individual consumers, as distinguished from municipalities, were heard, and on February 11, when municipalities were heard; at Bakersfield February 14 and at Visalia February 15, where individual consumers were heard, and at San Francisco on February 16 and 17 where municipalities were heard and a general discussion was had with the railroad commission, at which time the commission and heads of departments expected to detail the work of their departments and the committee went over the plant of the commission and viewed the work of the commission in operation.

In presenting this report your committee approaches the task with a good deal of hesitancy, knowing that upon this report much depends and that perhaps to a large extent the future policy of the State rests upon questions that are considered. And many of the preconceived ideas of members of the committee with regard to the work of the commission and of the Public Utilities Act have undergone a complete change as a result of this investigation. And it is perhaps only fair to say that it is with some degree of embarrassment that these members of the committee have been compelled to abandon their preconceived conclusions in the light of the facts that have been disclosed.

Honesty and desire for fair dealing, with only the best interests of the state in view, however, renders it incumbent upon these members of the committee to join without restraint or reservation in this report.

The belief of your committee is that this investigation will be of great value in the free expression of views by the consumers and the opportunity extended for the people of the state to come to an understanding of the work of the commission, to say nothing of the findings and recommendations of this committee, hereinafter set out.

We think it only fair to say that the commission and its members have worked in perfect accord with the committee throughout these hearings and that the members have placed themselves and their records and employees unreservedly at the disposal of the committee and have at all times been entirely fair and frank in their discussions of matters coming before the committee.

Of the personnel of the employees of the commission we think a word should be said. We cannot speak too highly of the heads of the departments with which the committee came in contact during these hearings. It is apparent that only loyalty to their work hold many of these men with the state and were pecuniary benefit only held in view by them the public service corporations would have long since added these men to their forces.

Respectfully submitted.

Senator J. M. INMAN, Chairman.
Senator WALTER EDEN.
Assemblyman C. W. CLEARY.
Assemblyman B. S. CRITTENDEN.
Assemblyman ISAAC JONES.

The abrogation of contracts existing at the time of the passage of the Public Utilities Act.

One of the most difficult questions [illegible] the abrogation of contracts between consumers and public service corporations. In numerous cases the corporations [illegible] forced consumers to accept a rate higher than that provided in their contracts. This of course was the case of most [illegible] of the utilities [illegible] And the underlying reasons for these abrogations were not understood by the consumers.

Your committee finds, however, that the theory of [illegible] inatory and preferential rates is sound and, in fact, without applying that theory the effect of the Public Utilities Act would be [illegible] we accept the theory that a public service [illegible] consistent [illegible] SUMERS RECEIVING THE SAME CLASS OF SERVICE SHOULD BE COMPELLED TO CONTRIBUTE ALIKE TO THAT FAIR RETURN. [illegible] many cases the abrogation of [illegible] consumers the failure of the commission to enforce the [illegible] hardship upon all other consumers.

And further, to permit one consumer to have a preferential rate, [illegible] doubtless would place that consumer at a decided [illegible] in a like pursuit competing with him and [illegible] the ultimate destruction of that one discriminated against. It would be apparent that if this discrimination were [illegible] a better position to [illegible] rates ultimately [illegible] consumers and [illegible]

In many instances consumers had paid value received in rights of way or other concessions for these favorable contracts and the consumers [illegible] the power of the commission [illegible] restore that which [illegible] then one for the courts alone to decide.

Regulated monopolies.

Your committee, without expressing [illegible] ownership of public utilities, is of the opinion that, in the absence thereof, the only solution of this problem is through regulated monopolies. It has been [illegible] Commissioner John M. [illegible] in the [illegible] page 231.)

At first glance [illegible] along with others of our traditions, go into the [illegible] utility service is fundamentally [illegible] regulation regulates and [illegible] more economically served by two or more utility companies.

The commission has encouraged, and we think rightly so, the consolidation of utilities, especially where [illegible] the rendering of good service [illegible] tion. This is no longer a necessity [illegible] regulates."

In the past it was a common [illegible] a field already occupied and well served by a [illegible] Sometimes this [illegible] often by the desire or belief that the first [illegible] the invading company, which [illegible] bills. For it must be apparent that [illegible] and CHEAPER than two. At all times [illegible] MONOPOLIES IN NAME ONLY [illegible] REGULATION.

Permitting municipalities to withdraw from the jurisdiction of the commission.

An amendment to the constitution is pending before this Legislature to permit municipal corporations to withdraw from the jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission, at least in so far as the fixing of rates is concerned.

Many elements enter into a fair consideration of this question.

In the first place, to permit a municipality to withdraw, might, and we think ultimately would, work a great hardship upon consumers outside the municipalities. Probably one of the prime reasons for desertion and does so to withdraw [illegible] the desire now really exists, and the commission found little if any expression of such desire) is the belief that rates have been unduly raised.

That reason alone convinces us that such withdrawal should not be permitted. For, if the municipalities were permitted to withdraw and should lower rates, and we accept the proposition that the utility company should receive a "fair return."

then it becomes evident that consumers outside municipalities would be compelled to make good that deficiency.

Another objection that might be logically raised against this amendment, would be the utter impossibility of the general run of municipalities being able to fix a fair return, owing to the lack of proper facilities for determining that fair return. In fixing a rate the actual physical value of the utility company must be taken into consideration and a large portion of the investment is outside the municipality, in many cases. One of the most insistent complaints on the part of municipalities that has been called to our attention, is their inability to cope with the large utilities in rate making cases. How utterly impossible then, would it be to fix a fair rate if left alone without the assistance of the commission and its records.

Another element that might enter into the fixing of rates by municipalities is the danger of politics entering into the question to the exclusion of fairness. If a municipal body had the question of rate making in its power, in many cases a struggle would ensue between the utility on the one hand and the consumer on the other, as to who would control that body.

And finally if we are to accept the principle of rate making as sound, then that principle should apply to all consumers alike.

The committee is convinced that rates for all consumers should be fixed by a central state body.

Activities to which should be applied the Corporations Act.

One of the most distressing and dangerous conditions to exist and one for which there is no apparent remedy relates to certain districts where individuals or corporations sold agricultural land on long ties, agreeing to furnish water or other necessities at a very low rate as an inducement to the purchase of that land or lot. A period of time would elapse, the land would be sold and the seller, either through death or dishonesty or because in many instances cannot serve, abandons it. In most of the instances noted the commission could not enforce an order to furnish service owing to the financial integrity of the seller to respond. In many instances the cost of reproduction, maintenance and service, not taking into consideration any value placed upon the properties is wholly out of proportion to the value of the rates received. As before stated in many of these distressing cases there seems to be no remedy whatever. BUT YOUR COMMITTEE DESIRES TO IMPRESS UPON THE LEGISLATURE AS STRONGLY AS POSSIBLE THE NECESSITY OF PREVENTING BY APPROPRIATE LEGISLATION THE RECURRENCE OF THESE CONDITIONS. We recommend that legislation be passed, placing under the supervision state department, all enterprises hereafter undertaken whereby any of the commodities enjoyed by the Public Utilities Act are agreed to be furnished to the end that such as may need see to it that the person promoting such enterprise shall be in a position to furnish service as agreed.

Minor complaints.

Many complaints are now before the committee with complaints against the commission growing out of poor service, overcharges and general dealings with public service corporations and their employees.

Many of these complaints, while apparently trivial in themselves, pointed to much of the dissatisfaction found to exist. We think it only fair to say that in a large percentage of cases that complaints were found to rest upon misunderstanding, misinformation and lack of knowledge of the laws and of the powers of the commission. We think, too, that much of this dissatisfaction could be removed by the public utilities and their employees by adopting a different attitude toward their customers. If the employees would come to the realization that the good will of their customers is one of their greatest assets they would be more careful in the selection of those of their employees who come into direct contact with the public.

As to many of the other complaints coming before the committee we are of the belief that action due to the attention of the commission will result in their immediate correction, and that specific review would be of no value in this report.

Delays and postponements.

It is apparent that delays and postponements are frequent. But in most instances these delays and postponements are unavoidable. It must be apparent where so large a number of cases are considered and such a large amount of business is transacted that delay and continuance of matters is inevitable. Much of the time covered by this report the commission was seriously handicapped by depleted forces. During the war most of the engineering and other forces enlisted in the service and to a large extent did not again join the state service after their discharge.

We are of the belief that the business of the commission has been transacted, on the whole, as expeditiously as possible.

If a hearing is set for a particular day and it becomes necessary to consume two or three times the amount of time allotted to it, it at once becomes plain that other cases set for the intervening time must go over.

In the years 1919 and 1920 approximately 2447 formal cases and [illegible] complaints and orders were issued by the commission; that during the same period approximately 5261 informal complaints have been received and acted upon and that 472 communications of general official character and letters have been received and answered daily by the commission.

So large a volume of work must necessarily entail [illegible], delay and postponement.

Regarding the raising of rates of utilities.

As your committee progressed with this work it became more and more apparent that of the several causes of dissatisfaction with the commission's [illegible] one of the prime causes was the cause of rates allowed utilities. That these [illegible] must be raised. In fact, it appears that while the cost of operation went up, the rates were kept down to the lowest level consistent with reasonable service. For instance, while the cost of one of these [illegible] materials for the manufacture of some of the commodities raised 9 price 180 per cent, and skilled labor 60 per cent, and the cost of living generally 98 per cent, the utility rate raise during a corresponding period has been 50 per cent, and gas rates but 18 per cent. And while the gross receipts increased during the years from 1916 to 1919 36 per cent, the net revenues increased but 10 per cent during a like period, and the operating expense mounted 61 per cent. And while the gross earnings of public companies increased 20 per cent during this period the net return was but 8½ per cent, and the operating expense increased 28 per cent.

Three years of drought during the period that these abnormal conditions prevailed was an element entering into the increase of rates.

It appeared that poor service or lack of service was as bitterly complained against as was increased cost of service. So if we concede that good service is essential, we must concede that the utilities should receive sufficient revenue to furnish that service. No one was found to contend that a utility was not entitled to a fair return.

Uniformity of fixing rates by the commission as to time.

One of the situations which appears to your committee was that existing where municipalities were called upon to fix a budget for an ensuing period and were faced with the possibility that the rates of a public utility corporation might be raised during the time covered by that budget thereby rendering the budget to that extent at least, and the amounts called for thereunder insufficient, and working a real hardship.

The committee can make but one suggestion, and that with some hesitancy, owing to the apparent difficulty of carrying this out. That suggestion is that the commission might fix a certain period of time for taxing rates, or failing in a contrary wise, have a certain time in which rates will not be changed. Thereupon the consumer would be in a position to enable him to estimate exactly what the cost of the commodity would be for a given period of time.

We repeat that there are numerous apparent difficulties to be encountered in carrying out this suggestion.

The "cost plus" fallacy in rate fixing.

Many people are of the mistaken belief that the commission fixes a rate that guarantees a certain return on the money invested regardless of the extravagance of that investment or of the cost of operations. In other words that a condition has come about through regulation and the examination of accounts that makes the utility company extravagant and careless in the expenditure of its money. It has even it has been openly charged that the California Railroad Commission is fixing rates on a "cost plus" basis.

Your committee finds that the facts in no wise justify such a conclusion. It is apparent that the commission cannot prevent extravagant expenditures either in construction or operating costs, but by reason of its cost data records it can and does prevent the utility company from being protected in such extravagance.

The commission does not in any sense "guarantee" anything. In fixing a rate, the commission proceeds to find the fair value of the property of the utility used and useful in the service of the public. It then puts its accountants to work analyzing and checking up the operating expense. It then fixes a fair return on the value of the property and fixes the rate accordingly. Out of that fair return must come interest on bonded indebtedness and borrowed money, amortization and losses before dividends can be paid. If the fair return happens to pay interest on the outstanding bonds and stocks of the utility, the company is fortunate. Otherwise it is unfortunate. Whether or not that fair return will pay a dividend to the stockholders or interest upon outstanding bonds is not taken into consideration by the commission.

Consequently the only too common belief that "the more a company spends the more it earns," should be completely and finally discarded. And the further belief that the commission allows dividends on "watered stock" is also without justification.

Some errors were found to have been made by the commission, but the committee is of the opinion that the commission's record in that regard is an enviable one.

Bringing the work of the commission closer to the people.

The work turned out by the commission in the past few years has been tremendous. Of their work the public has seen but the results. The means by which these results have been attained and the reasons underlying them are not so readily apparent. We are of the belief that should the people actually see the workings of the commission, much of the misunderstanding would be eliminated and a much more satisfactory feeling would result.

As the work of the committee advanced it became clear that some means must be devised to bring the people and commission into closer touch.

The average citizen views the commission with mingled feelings of awe and fear. He believes it to be an august body, sitting wrapped about with legal forms and formalities, with which he has nothing in common, and which if approached at all, must be by devious method and with reverent mien. Of course, nothing is further from the truth, but it is a condition and not a theory with which we are faced and so your committee cast about for a possible means of bringing this most valuable state agency into closer touch with the people.

This, we are of the opinion, can only be done by bringing the commission TO THE PEOPLE. This can be accomplished by having a representative of the commission in each community. The organization of a NEW FORCE is neither desirable, nor do we believe necessary. We have now a body functioning in every community and whose work is closely allied with the work of the commission. We refer to the Department of Weights and Measures.

This department, we think, can and should be consolidated with the Railroad Commission and be placed under complete control thereof. This can be done, we believe, without in any degree lessening the splendid results achieved by the Department of Weights and Measures, and without any added costs to the state to speak of, and at the same time place within the reach of the average citizen an agent and representative of the commission, to whom he could take his complaint or suggestion without formality and with the knowledge that he would receive prompt and effective results.

Appropriation for the work of the Railroad Commission.

One of the considerations coming most often and most prominently before the committee was the feeling on the part of the consumers that a fair representation of their side of the case was not had before the commission in rate making cases owing to the lack of facilities for the investigation and presentation of their case. One of the demands on the part of the consumer most frequently voiced was that the commission should have increased appropriations in order that the rights of the consumer might be more adequately protected through augmentation of the working forces of the commission. We call this matter to the attention of the Legislature in order that it may take such action as the matter seems to justify and the state of our finances permit.

In this connection many complainants coming before the committee expressed the belief that much could be gained by having an attorney or representative of the commission vigorously and openly prosecute the case of the consumer at hearings where evidence was being presented upon which rates were later to be determined. The committee was not unanimously convinced, however, that the amount of practical benefit to be derived from such procedure would be sufficient to justify the added expense, but was of the opinion that the effect of such open and vigorous prosecution, while admittedly satisfying to the consumer, would be more psychological than practical.

Recommendations.

We recommend that a standard form of contract for service be formulated by the commission and that utilities be compelled to use such general form. We further recommend that such general form of contract contain a provision in plain type showing that the rates therein set forth are subject to change by the commission at any time, anything in the contract to the contrary notwithstanding.

We recommend that all literature relating to the sale and advertising of the stocks, bonds and securities of any public service corporation or its agents be supervised by the commission and that nothing in that literature be permitted which can in any manner be construed by the public as being an endorsement or guarantee of said stocks, bonds and securities or of the rate of the return thereon by said commission or the State of California.

We recommend that the commission more strictly enforce the penalties provided by the Public Utilities Act for violations of the act and of the rules and regulations of the commission and more particularly with regard to overcharges for extensions and service.

Conclusion.

And in conclusion permit us to call attention to the fact that the public utilities are as necessary a part of our future economic development as any other agency; that they are entitled to fair treatment at the hands of the people, and to a fair and just return upon their money invested in property used and useful in the public service. That the time is rapidly approaching when our fuel and supply will be exhausted, or so nearly so as to become prohibitive in cost, and that the development of the State depends largely upon hydro-electric energy.

That capital must be encouraged to enter that field and the only manner in which capital can be interested is to give it to understand that investments in utilities will be respected and will be permitted to earn a fair return. Otherwise, capital will look for fields where they can expect such treatment. The sooner that these public service corporations and the people learn that their interests are mutual and not antagonistic, the better off both will be.

And finally the committee earnestly commends this great law, the Public Utilities Act, to the commendation of the people. It has worked well and is working well today. Strengthen it rather than weaken it. During times such as have just passed have faith in your commission that they will be a tribunal between you and the utilities, so that the people on the one hand will receive good service at a fair price and that the utility will receive such treatment at the hands of the people that will encourage capital to come to the state and help develop our wonderful resources.

PETITIONS

The following petitions were presented by Senator Carr, W. J., and ordered printed in the Journal:

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, MARCH 10, 1921

WHEREAS, There is imperative need of State aid to continue the flood control work now under way in Los Angeles County; and

WHEREAS, In its present state of incompletion there is constant danger of flood waters destroying approximately $50,000,000 worth of work already done; and

WHEREAS, Approximately one-third of the State's income from taxes is derived from the property that will be protected by a completion of the flood control work, thus making any appropriation by the State for this work a direct saving to a guarantee that future taxes will be paid; therefore be it

Resolved, By the board of directors of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, that we do endorse heartily and urge the passing of Assembly Bill No. 641 now before the Legislature, entitled "An act appropriating money in furtherance of the objects of the Los Angeles County flood control work."

I hereby certify that the above is a true and correct copy of resolution adopted by the board of directors of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, at the regular meeting on Thursday, March 10, 1921.

SYLVESTER L. WEAVER, President.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 17

Authorizing the Attorney General to institute and prosecute such suits in equity, actions at law or other appropriate proceedings as may be necessary to protect certain rights and enforce certain boundaries of the State of California.

WHEREAS, There has arisen and does now exist a controversy between the State of California on the one hand and the United States on the other concerning the proper construction and application of that portion of the Legislature of the State of California entitled "An act authorizing the United States Government to lower the water levels of any or all of the following lakes: Lower or Little Klamath Lake, Tule or Rhett Lake, Goose Lake and Clear Lake, situated in Siskiyou and Modoc Counties, and to use any part or all of the beds of said lakes for the storage of water in connection with the irrigation and reclamation operations conducted by the reclamation service of the United States, also ceding to the United States all right, title, interest or claim of the State of California to any lands uncovered by the lowering of the water levels of any or all of said lakes not already disposed of by the State," approved February 3, 1905; and

WHEREAS, Though more than seven years have elapsed since the passage and approval of said act, the United States has not constructed the contemplated or any works for lowering the waters of Lower or Little Klamath Lake, or of Goose Lake, or made the contemplated, or any provision for using all or any part of the beds of said lakes last named, or either of them, for the storage of water, and has not made any beneficial use of the waters of either of said lakes or of any lands uncovered by lowering the water levels of said lakes, or either thereof; and

WHEREAS, The use of said waters for the irrigation of lands in California susceptible of irrigation by the waters which ever since said third day of February, 1905, have been and are now going to waste will be of great and permanent value to the state and to the people thereof; and

WHEREAS, Subsequent to said date last mentioned the Congress of the United States has passed, and the President has approved, legislation providing for the disposition of certain of said lands in a manner other than that prescribed by the provisions of said Reclamation Act of June 17, 1902, and without making any provision for the reclamation or irrigation of such lands; and

WHEREAS, In the judgment and determination of this Legislature the subject matter of such existing controversy is one which may properly be submitted to the courts for adjudication; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly, jointly, That the Attorney General of the State of California be and he hereby is authorized, in the name of the State of California and as the act and deed thereof, to institute and to prosecute to final judgment any and all suits in equity, actions at law, and other proceedings which he may deem adequate and appropriate to enforce any and all rights and remedies of the State of California in any manner arising from or growing out of or pertaining to said act of February 3, 1905, including all rights and remedies in any manner relating to the lands and waters, or any part thereof therein named; and in and by any and all such suits, actions, or proceedings the Attorney General shall, in such manner as he shall deem appropriate, assert all rights and remedies existing in favor of the State of California relating to the subject of such suits, actions, and proceedings, including the claim on behalf of the State that certain of the lands and waters granted by said act and certain rights and privileges with respect to the use and manner of use thereof, or any part thereof, have been and are forfeited to the state by reason of any breaches or violations or nonperformance of any of the terms or conditions of said act which may be alleged and established in any such suits, actions, or proceedings; it not being intended hereby to determine the right of the state to any such forfeiture or forfeitures, but it being intended to fully authorize the Attorney General, in and by such suits, actions, or proceedings to assert on behalf of the State in any court or other tribunal wherein such suits, actions, or proceedings may be instituted or pending the claim and right of the State to such forfeiture or forfeitures, and, if found, to enforce the same.

Resolution read.

COMMUNICATION.

The following communication was received, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Senator Sharkey:

WHEREAS, The scenic beauty of the California State highway through the redwood region in Humboldt County is immediately menaced through impending destruction of the redwoods by lumbering operations; and

WHEREAS, These trees are one of the great natural assets of this State, possessing great historic and scientific interest as well as great economic value; and

WHEREAS, The State highway through the redwoods is destined to become one of the great attractions of this State for future generations; therefore, be it

Resolved, That Carquinez Parlor No. 205, Native Sons of the Golden West, of Crockett, Contra Costa County, California, strongly urges upon the Governor of the State, and the members of the California State Legislature, the passage of the redwoods preservation bill (Senate Bill No. 64, Assembly Bill No. 840 now pending, providing for the appropriation of $300,000 to purchase those redwood groves along the State highway which otherwise will be cut; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Governor of the State of California, and to Will Sharkey, State Senator, and James N. Long, Assemblyman of this district in the State Legislature, and to the "Save the Redwoods League."

THOS. CAHALAN
Secretary Carquinez Parlor No. 205, N. S. G. W.

Also:

WHEREAS, There is now pending in the Legislature of the State of California legislation proposing that oil and gas be made a public utility; and

WHEREAS, The enactment of such a measure would take from the county of Contra Costa and the municipalities many millions of dollars of taxable property; and

WHEREAS, The placing of the oil industry under the Public Utilities Act would seriously jeopardize the development of this usually promising industry, which means so much to the county of Contra Costa and its several municipalities; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Martinez Chamber of Commerce petition the Senate of the State of California and the Assembly thereof to defeat such measure; and be it further Resolved, That the secretary of the Martinez Chamber of Commerce be instructed to forward Senator Will R. Stephens and Assemblyman James N. Long a copy of this resolution.

Adopted this eleventh day of March, 1921.

W. J. PILGRIM, President.
W. FLORENCE MOORE, Secretary.

Also:

WHEREAS, There has been introduced in the Senate of the State of California a bill known as the Anti Alien Land Bill; and

WHEREAS, The said bill proposes to prohibit the acquirement of lands by purchase or otherwise by persons who are aliens and also prohibits the leasing of lands to said aliens for a period longer than three years; and

WHEREAS, In the State of California there are many foreign corporations and many persons whose investments aggregate to many millions of dollars would be jeopardized through the adoption of such legislation; and

WHEREAS, In the county of Contra Costa county a great portion thereof is industrial property and in many instances that would be impaired through such legislation and the progress and development of the county materially affected; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Chamber of Commerce of Martinez [illegible] its legislative representatives in the Legislature Senator Will R. Stephens and Assemblyman James N. Long, these resolutions of protest against the adoption of Senate Bill No. 14, and that they be requested to exert their influence to defeat the adoption of said Senate Bill; be it further

Resolved, That the secretary of this organization be instructed to send to the members of the Judiciary Committees of the Senate and Assembly copies of this resolution.

Adopted this eleventh day of March, 1921.

W. J. PILGRIM, President.
W. FLORENCE MOORE, Secretary.

By Senator Duncan:

Resolved, That the Thermalito Farm Center hereby expresses and expresses its passage of the Anti Alien Land Bill introduced by Senator Lewis.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to our Senator and Assemblywoman, with the request that they present the same to their respective Houses.

I hereby certify that the foregoing resolution was duly adopted at a meeting of the Thermalito Farm Center held on the third day of February, 1921.

ELIZABETH A. FRICK, Secretary.
